George knows he's stacked up with some of the best players in the country and is also keenly aware that when the Bullets face George Mikan and company in the National Basketball Association opener on Nov. 1, the Bullets will have a 10 - man squad. He wants to be in that number.

Anxious to Make Squad

"I am trying hard to make the squad," he said, "because it may help in other things." By the "other things," George was speaking of other local sports teams that confine their squads to white players.

George got his first feel of the leather ball, when he was a little fellow at the Joseph H. Lockerman School No. 100.

at the Booker T. Washington Jr. High School under Coach Mack Payne, George learned the fundamentals of the game and really got in the swing of things when he began hitting the strings for the Douglas Senior High five.

George and Ernie live at 5306 Denmore Ave. They finished Morgan in June of 1949. While George hooks and feints in a "sincere" effort to make the Bullet squad, Ernie's got his work cut out for him —a date with Uncle Sam on Oct. 5.

Until the Cambridge training setto, Jeanette had never seen Washington or Rhodes perform on the hardwood.

Out in Toledo, Lennie played under Coach Jerry Bush, who played with Jeanette on the Fort Wayne team. It was through Bush that Lennie was signed up.

The 23 - year - old player, known for his ability on backboard play, was born in Richmond, Ind., where he netted his first 2 points as a 5th grade pupil in the public schools there.

Conscientious Trainer

A conscientious follower of training rules, Lennie doesn't smoke or drink. After graduating from Toledo University last June, he took a job on a city truck to keep in shape.

Suffering from many players, workouts alone. He received his Lennie prefers to take his practice notice to report to Baltimore on Tuesday afternoon, when he returned from a four - day visit in Louisville with relatives.

Hurriedly assembling his gear, Lennie missed the 7:05 p.m. train by two minutes and caught a plane out at 9:40 the following morning. Arriving at Friendship Airport at 12:30 p.m., he was just in time for the main course of the going away luncheon.

N.E. Tour Scheduled

The Bullets will train at Cambridge until Oct. 17, when they will take a 15 - man squad on an exhibition tour of the New England States. On Oct. 25, they meet their "across the road" rivals, the Washington Caps, in a game sponsored by the Variety Club.

Washington and Rhodes are pitted against 21 of the finest basketball players. Buddy Jeanette wants what he considers the 10 best men.

If either or both of these men make the squad, it will set a new high in local sports. Baltimoreans are keeping their eyes on Cambridge, where 23 topnotchers are battling for the 10 berths.

Langston Beats Baltimore Team In Intercity Tilt

Playing heads-up ball, the Langston A.C., 15-18-year-old baseball champions from Washington, D.C., beat Baltimore's intermediate champion Dolphin Jrs., 10-4 to cop the Intermediate Baltimore-Washington Intercity Championship.

Coached by Ki Yi Ballard, ex-Cardozo High School great, the visitors warmed the cool atmosphere of Druid Hill Park Sunday with a powerful hitting attack and steering defensive play.

The contest, sponsored by the local Bureau of Recreation, was a pitchers' duel for three innings. Richard Doswell's Dolphins opened with a run in the first inning on two walks, a bunt, and a fly ball.

Langston came back to tie it up in the second inning, and broke the game wide open with a five-run splurge in the fourth. The intercity champs added three more runs in the sixth inning and added one for good measure in the final frame.

Mellon kept the local batting attack well under control until the final inning when Holt doubled in three runs to climax the Dolphins only real offensive effort.

Rhome, ace Dunbar High School moundsman was blasted from the hill in the fourth. Neither Smith or Britton, ho succeeded Rhome, could stop the determined Langston attack.

The Softball play-offs scheduled for last Sunday did not come off due to the inability of the Washington champions to appear.

Bears Play York Eleven

Interracial Contest Set for Westport

The interracial football game between the Harlem Bears and the York 49ers, originally scheduled for Friday night, Sept. 29, at Westport Stadium, will be played Saturday night, Sept. 30, at 8:15.

The switch in dates was made after the all-star baseball series was scheduled for the Westport Park.

The Bears, in preparation for the York eleven, went through a two-hour scrimmage at Druid Hill Park, which Coach Burge termed highly impressive.

Coach Impressed

Burge was particularly impressed by the work of Floyd Harding, Hank Moore, Doc Jones, Chic Case and Jim Pool, holdovers from the undefeated team of 1947.

The York eleven is loaded with standout talent. Outstanding players on the team are Milton Jones and Bill Campbell. Jones is a former University of Tennessee tackle, and Campbell was outstanding quarterback on Villanova's 1946 freshman squad.

The York eleven averages 200 pounds on the line with a speedy backfield.

Stadium Victory Record in Jeopardy on Saturday

Yellow Jackets Favored by 18 Points as Hiltoppers Open Home Schedule

WASHINGTON

A hopeful Howard University eleven, shackled by Bluefield on its CIAA opener, is aspiring to upset West Virginia State, Saturday, at 2 p.m. on the Bisons field.

Although the Hiltoppers will enter the fray at least three-touchdown underdogs, they are shuttling through their paces this week in high spirits. They are aspiring to keep their new stadium record of till being undefeated intact, and pin their first defeat on the Yellow Jackets.

The locals going into their renovated stadium in 1949, romped over all opposition including tested Hampton, 6-0 last season. However, against West Virginia, the Bisons will try to turn back the only team Coach Eddie Jackson has been unable to defeat since becoming head football coach at Howard.

Last Win in 1932

Howard's last win over West Virginia was in 1932, a 6-0 triumph. Relationship between the two school was severed until 1945 when Coach Jackson made his debut there. In five meetings, the Mark Caldwell-coached team copped four victories, and settled for a scorless tie.

The series from 1945 through 1949 were 6-0, 21-13, 0-0, 21-6, and 27-6.

Husky linesmen averaging 215 pounds to the man, were subjected to extra drills in charging fast and tackling low. Meanwhile the backfield performers, Clie Dale, Harry Davis, Bill Greenfield, Andrew Chambers, Andrew Gibson, Andy Carr, Milton Penny, Aaron Davis, Sarty Sarty, at Wednesday's meeting, and Sammy Hooton drilled overtime on pass defense.

Miss Opportunities

Commenting on the Bluefield defeat, Coach Jackson said the team didn't appear as bad as it had on some previous opening games. Howard outplayed Bluefield both offensively and defensively statistically, but games are won on touchdowns — not statistics, he opined.

"Our squad rolled up 17 first downs to 8 for Bluefield, and amassed over 300 yards to around 200 for the Blues, but they capitalized on their opportunities which were drives in the second and third quarters.

"We didn't uncork any sustained drives. Once we moved to the one - foot line, and then failed to score. Some of the players claimed the ball was carried over the goal line but the officials ruled it dead, despite the protest of some of the players. I didn't know whether the ball was carried over or not since I was on the bench at the 50-yard stripe.

To stop West Virginia's running attack, the Bisons mentor is grooming newcomer, Donald Entry of Kittanning, Pa., 190, Joe Graves, 185, Philadelphia; Dan Beckett, 165, D.C., and James Turk, Scott Lutcheckera, one of the lowest chief weaknesses in the Bluefield tilt.

Howard will have double trouble on their hands with two area lads clamoring for their best season with the Mountaineers. They are Oliver (Bubba) Ellis, 185 - pound senior from nearby Alexandria, Va., and Jack Taylor, 165 - pound halfback from Dunbar. Ellis tallied two of West Virginia's TD's in the 41-6 route of Virginia Union while Taylor now shifted to quarterback spot despite his elusive running ability, was the spark in West Virginia drives against Union.

Out of the fullback has come Ellis who will romp from the halfback slot since Coach Caldwell has found Robert Hawkins, freshman from Middleton, O. Clyde Marshall, and Willie Smith suitable replacements for both the fullback and halfback positions.

Taylor in Lineup

Expected to be as troublesome as the running attack is the visitors aerial strategy. Coach Caldwell has two expert passers in Taylor and Ellis, who will find a capable receiver in William Canaveral, who tied Jackson for the most men who stood out in the walloping of Union.

Howard expects to be at full strength with John Harrington, 175-pound end from Orange, N.J., the only seriously injured player.

The two teams will play a twin bill at the same stadium Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Members of the Baltimore Elite Giants will form the nucleus of the NAL all-star aggregation. Among the Elites scheduled to see action are Peewee Butts, Junior Gilliam, Fleming Reed, Butch Davis, Bob Hendry and Ed Finney.

Pearson to Play

Also expected to be in the NAL all-star lineup is Lenny Pearson, 1949 District 160-pound semi-pro grid crown, will meet the Junior Pioneers, Sunday at 2 p.m., on Parkside field.

There's No Smoke Like a Good Cigar...
BOUQUET 2 FOR 25¢
Of all the good things Nature made
Since first the world began
Tobacco is the kindliest gift
One may give to man.
But good tobacco, at its best,
Most comforting by far,
When it goes up in fragrant wreaths
Of smoke from your cigar.
