Varied Citizens to Honor Late AME Bishop Brooks

Citizens from many walks of life will pay tribute, Sunday, to the late Bishop W. Sampson Brooks at Memorial services at Bethel AME Church.

Main speaker will be Dr. Charles E. Stewart, pastor of Bethel AME Church in Buffalo. The services are for the benefit of the W. Sampson Brooks Memorial Electric Organ Fund for Hemingway Temple AME Church, now under construction at Cherry Hill. The Rev. M. C. Swann is pastor of Hemingway Temple.

Various Representatives

Church, civic and fraternal representatives including Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, national figure, and Bishop L. H. Hemingway, AME area prelate, have been invited to participate Sunday. The program will begin at 3 p.m. and the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant is host pastor.

Bishop Brooks was born in Calvert County, Md., in 1856, and attended the Bibical Institute which was elected bishop in 1920.

Raised $100,000 in 8 Years

The conference of that year assigned Bishop Brooks to West Africa. Largely through his efforts, Monrovia College developed into an influential institution. During eight years in Africa, he helped raise $100,000 for the college and built a $50,000 steel and concrete school which is the largest school building in Liberia.

Bishop Brooks died in 1934.

The organ will be demonstrated Sunday by Charles Stanley, organist of Memorial Baptist Church, and dean of the Patapsco chapter of the Guild of American Organists. The choir of Douglass Memorial Community Church will sing.

REV. M. C. SWANN

The above picture shows Bishop Tucker at the new Hammond Organ during the Dedication Services of the Church and Organ last Sunday.

LOOK WHAT THE MIRACLE BISHOP HAS DONE!

If you remember that just 4 months ago, Bishop Tucker came to our city and worked in a tent at 1321 Whatcoat St., with Dr. Davis. They came here from Detroit, Michigan, walking and no place to preach or live.

At his tent he helped over 5,000 people. One night he fed them. "I am camping in your beautiful city on the old tent ground, but if I can help others to get cars and homes, I can also help myself." Putting Faith, Hope and Charity in his mind and believing all things are possible, and with the encouragement of the people and those whom he had put on their feet and raised their bowed heads. So many had been blessed.

Truly God is able to make a way for those who trust in Him and don't doubt.

Now, after having walked to Baltimore, Bishop Tucker has a Chevrolet car and a 1950 Cadillac which he calls "Catty Boy." He has bought a home on Druid Hill Ave. in the 2500 block. He now plans to buy a White Cadillac Station Wagon with a gold cross on it.

All the things I have came from my brain and God's blessings, says Bishop Tucker. He says, "I'm a mess in Baltimore." He has also bought the church building for $5,000 and paid cash for it.

Each night, over 200 persons attend services at the church and his membership is over 300.

If you are in need, Bishop Tucker says, "See me and I will bring you out through the power of God. I can do nothing myself, but with God all things are possible. The Lord said, 'I have ten thousand blessings in my hand to satisfy the poor.'"

The Bishop has now bought a $3,000 Hammond Electric Organ and has advanced in every way through God's wisdom and power.

Bishop Tucker further says: "God sent me here to raise up bowed heads, help the sick, feed the hungry mothers and children, and put clothes on their backs. Hallelujah! My soul is satisfied through Christ Our Lord."

Bishop Tucker is a true, honorable citizen and is here doing a great work and won't come down until he finishes his work. All the devils in hell can't frighten him from this shore.

He says: "All I want the people of Baltimore to do is: COME AND LET JESUS FIX IT FOR YOU."

SERVICES EVERY SUNDAY – 11:00 A.M. - 1:30 P.M. - 8:00 P.M.

Cooking School Crowded With Women; Men Displeased

Every seat was taken at the opening of the AFRO's cooking school, Tuesday night at Metropolitan Methodist Church Hall. Because of the demand for the 600 seats, only women were admitted. Many were turned away. Men and children were excluded and they voiced their complaints. Similar crowds attended the Wednesday and Thursday sessions. Next week's AFRO cooking schools will be held at Christ Methodist Church, Chase, and Washington Sts. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

take several years before the final decision is reached by the President.

This brings up the question in just what are the appellate powers of the average layman-jurist? Judge Advocate General Brannon says that in such a case the case, following full appellate manner:

At the outset, in a case in which a sentence of death has been adjudged, the only confirming authority is the President of the United States; and until he has acted on the case, following full appellate review, the sentence of death cannot be carried out.

Following the trial of the accused, the authenticated verbatim record of the proceedings of the court martial is reviewed by the staff judge advocate of the appointing authority.

In this case he is the commanding general of the 25th Infantry Division. Such staff judge advocate is, in all instances, a member of the Judge Advocate General's Corps and thus a qualified lawyer and a member of the bar.

All Evidence Weighed

He will, in his written review, give full consideration to the evidence to determine whether, upon the whole record, the findings of guilty are sustained and, in turn whether the findings of guilty sustain the sentence adjudged by the court martial.

The staff judge advocate then submits his opinion and recommendations on the case to the Commanding General. In the case where the court is reported to have imposed the death penalty, the appointing authority is limited to two courses of action:

(1). He may disapprove the sentence and order a rehearing or he may disapprove and not order further hearing.

(2). He may approve the sentence and forward the record for action in the Office of the Judge Advocate General under Article of War 48. In the latter event he may, in his own discretion, recommend clemency for the accused.

Upon receipt of the record of trial in office, it is reviewed anew by a Board of Review consisting of three officers of the Judge Advocate General's Corps, who, as required by law, are qualified members of the bar.

3 Officers Review Case

At the time of this review, attorneys or others representing the accused are permitted to appear in person or to submit briefs, or to do both as they see fit, bearing in mind, however, that the statutory function of a Board of Review is to determine the legal sufficiency of the record of trial to sustain the findings of the court and the sentence adjudged.

The Board of Review will in due course submit its opinion in writing to General Brannon. Should board find the record legally insufficient to sustain the findings and sentence it will so state in its opinion.

If General Brannon should concur in the holding of the legal sufficiency, the findings and sentence are thereby vacated and the record will be returned to the Commanding General, 25th Infantry Division, for rehearing or such other action as may be proper.

New Trial Possible

It may be noted at this point that a new trial may be ordered following such review and a holding of legal insufficiency and that no claim of double jeopardy may properly be asserted.

This is so in view of the provisions of Article of War 48 that no proceeding in which an accused has been found guilty by a court martial shall be held to be a trial until the confirming authority shall have taken final action upon the case.

On the other hand, if the Board of Review should be satisfied as to the legal sufficiency of the case, findings and the sentence, it would cause it involves a sentence of death, must be referred to the Judicial Council, consisting of three general officers of the Judge Advocate General's Corps for additional review.

Still Has Counsel's Aid

The council will carefully examine and consider the whole record of the trial and prepare an independent opinion in writing, setting out its view as to whether the evidence is legally sufficient to support the findings of guilty.

It also examines the sentence and determines whether any errors of law have been committed in the course of trial which have prejudicially affected the substantial rights of the accused.

At this juncture, also, representatives of the accused may be heard in oral argument or in brief. The opinion of the Council is then submitted to General Brannon for concurrence or disapproval.

Should the Council and the Judge Advocate General determine, after full consideration that the case is legally insufficient to support the findings and the sentence, it would then be returned to the convening authority, who may order a rehearing or take such other action as
