Rayford Logan to Open Forum Series at N.C.C

DURHAM, N.C. — Dr. Rayford W. Logan, head of the department of history at Howard University, will open North Carolina College's annual Fall Forum series here in Duke Auditorium, Monday, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m. Dr. Rayford will be introduced by Dr. J. H. Taylor, chairman of NCC's History Department.

"UNESCO and Its Possibilities for Improving and Extending High Education" will be his topic. Dr. Logan, a graduate of Howard University, Frank DeVyver, Duke University, and Frank Porter Graham, University of North Carolina, will address the forum on "