K-R-I-T CARS.

At the motor show to be held in Baltimore January 20th to 24th, we will exhibit the entire production of our Detroit factory, both assembled and disevered, showing the mechanical construction throughout; also the beautiful body effect of this handsomely finished car.

At the New York show just closed, this wonderful car attracted marked attention, even compared with cars considerably higher priced.

To those contemplating purchasing a car this season, we extend a cordial invitation to visit the show, where we will be pleased to compare each feature with cars near the price or cars selling for even more money, and this will be a most excellent opportunity of seeing the difference.

Respectfully,

The Beehler & Ogden Motor Co., count of the thin ice and the absence of a boat or board, the lad sank to his death. The drowning was witnessed by a crowd on the ice and by residents along the waterfront from windows and everyone was powerless to ren assistance because of the treacher ice. The news of the sad drowning spread rapidly, and soon Dr. Cain, the president of the College, several of the professors, and a crowd of the dead boy's college companions and friends were on the scene and began the work of rescuing the body. Several used grappling irons attached to long ropes but were unsuccessful. Sheriff Brown got a pair of oyster tongs, and after tonging for a short time he found the body just where it had gone down.

Even the eyeglasses which young Currie wore were in place, and everything in his clothing was intact. The body was brought ashore and Coroner Frank Smith was notified, but he deemed an inquest unnecessary. The remains were taken to the home of Undertaker Charles L. Dodd, and prepared for shipment on Thursday afternoon to the home of the parents in Reisterstown, Baltimore county. The death of young Currie is a distressing circumstance.
He was 17 years old, a member of the Junior Class at Washington College, a splendid student, and very popular with the authorities and students of the college, as well as with those who knew him in town. He was the idol of his parents, and on the evening of his death there arrived by mail a large package from home, which is always so welcome by college men. He had just received his skates in the noon mail. We understand that the young man's sister is to be married next week, and young Currie was looking forward with pleasure to a trip home for the happy event. To Dr.
Cain, the president of the college, fell the duty of notifying the parents of the distressing accident, and they were dazed and horrified by the message. The remains were prepared for burial and shipped by Undertaker C. L. Dodd to the stricken home in Reisterstown on Thursday afternoon. The remains were accompanied by Dr. Cain and Mr. Dodd, also by Messrs. Guy L. Doub, his roommate, and W. G. Mann, president of the Junior Class. The student body furnished beautiful flowers. The entire faculty and student body formed in line of march at the home of Undertaker Charles L. Dodd, and followed the remains to the train. The pall-bearers were from the Junior Class as follows: Messrs. Charles H. Lickle, Edmund S.
Graves, James W. Davis, Allan H.
White, Troy F. Biddle, and John H.
Coppage. Class recitations were suspended on Thursday, and President Cain delivered a beautiful eulogy upon the life and character of the young man at chapel exercises, while the student body sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and other hymns.

We Appreciate This.
