THEY'RE
STILL COMING AND STILL GOING!

Not so briskly as 30 days ago. But Mr. A sees Mr. R's SUIT or OVERCOAT made-to-measure by us, and recognizes the superiority of material and fit compared to ready-made and prices.

NOW, our prices, 20% LESS, hence those who deferred buying early are coming to us. By comparison, the observant consumer is rapidly learning the difference.

No stock, large upkeep and no volume of business and minimum margin is how.

Respectfully,

W. E. Moody,

Authorized Representative of the International Tailoring Co., New York, Chicago and London,

Office under the Voshell House, next to Robert McWhorther's,

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

This sale was made to r... Delmar, Del.

Here is another—One of the merchants in Chestertown bro... our office last week two letter... different sections of the count... taining orders for articles which ... advertised in the TRANSCRIPT a... duced prices. The merchant expres... his pleasure at the results the TRA... SCRIPT was bringing, and said ... thought the editors should know it. Such reciprocity in business relations is most gratifying.

Here is another—A gentleman from the upper section of the county while in Chestertown last week, stopped in the office to renew his subscription to the TRANSCRIPT. In speaking of the pleasure and profit he finds in reading the paper, he stated that he was advised to take the paper some years ago by one of the ministers of the county, who told him that the TRANSCRIPT is the best paper published in the county. He said he believed the minister knew what he was talking about, and he has been taking the paper ever since.

And last but by no means least—While walking down the street one morning this week in company with a gentleman who was talking about the publication of certain articles in newspapers, the gentleman said: "I did not get to see your paper last week. I buy it at one of the news stands every Friday night, and the paper is gobbled up so quickly by those who are anxious to read it, that unless I get it Friday night I have to take my chances of getting it on Saturday."

These testimonials speak for themselves, and if you are a wise man you will know what they mean.

A Splendid Entertainment.
The Lyceum Theatre was well-filled on Monday and Tuesday evenings to greet the performers in the drills and charming little dutch comedy entitled: "The Loan of a Lover." The entertainment was given under the direction of Miss H. Elizabeth Latchum, of Milford, Del., a young lady of fine dramatic ability and force of direction, and the proceeds were for the benefit of the public library. It is needless to specialize as to characters. Every one was just fine, and performed the part assigned them with the ease and grace of a professional. The order of the program was as follows:

"A Passing Show" preceded the comedy. The first musicale number being rendered by thirty-eight children. Miss Helen Boyd, assisted by eight young ladies, sang a sweet solo entitled, "When Grandma Was a Girl." William Smith, as Dr. Tinker, assisted by a large chorus, rendered a selection. Miss Louise Armstrong then rendered a sweet solo entitled, "Knockwood," assisted by Misses Russell, Smith, Brown, Toulson, DeCorse, Messrs. Shartle, Moore, Davis, Byrnes, Chiswell. "Maybe It's a Robber" was then rendered by Miss Cora McWhorter, soloist, and Misses Marguerite Hudson, Sara Graham, Ann Welch, Ernestine Jarrell, Martha Crossley, Marie Bennett, Lida Wheat, Margaret Rasin, Anna Pippin.

The cast of "The Loan of a Lover" was as follows: Swyzel, the Stewart, Mr. Joseph Wheatley; Delve, the Gardener, Mr. J. Herbert Caldwell; Peter, in love with no one, Mr. A. Hanson Stavely; Gretchen, in love with Peter, Miss Ida Smith; Ernestine Rosendaal, Gretchen's mistress, Miss Rebecca Aldridge; Captain Amersfort, Ernestine's suitor, Mr. Philip Kratzer.

Misses Loureine Smith, Elizabeth Russell, Rebekah McFeely, Grace DeCorse, Cynthia Clendaniel, Helen Brown, Marion Horn, Rebecca Toulson, Jean Stokes, Helen Baxter, then rendered a selection entitled "Gretchen, Madchen Mine." "Mother Goose" was then rendered by the following cast: Mother Goose, Helen Rouse; Jack Horner, Dorothy Woodall; Boy Blue, Harriett Reed; Jack, Sadie Brown; My Son John, Amy Wheat; Humpty Dumpty, Elizabeth Burk; Bo-Peep, Gladys Beauchamp; Jack Spratt, Beatrice Smith; Miss Muffett, Helen Maslin; Jill, Mary Jones; Simple Simon, Irene Kirby; Tommy Tucker, Bessie Collins; Man Wondrous Wise, Bessie Burke. Miss Louse Armstrong closed the entertainment by rendering a selection entitled "Sweathearts."

Thanks for Kind Expressions.
The following card of thanks was received this week from Rev. G. A. Morris, whose recent letter published in the TRANSCRIPT concerning the Coleman murder, created so much favorable comment:

DEAR FRIENDS:—I am not worthy to receive your laudation. I accept it, however, in humbleness of mind and spirit. The terrible onslaught in your county, and all things concerning it, compelled me to do only my duty. Hence, I wrote. If I forget thee, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I do not remmber thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth. Please accept (through the courtesy of the TRANSCRIPT) my sincere thanks for the many kind expressions and communications from you. I regard your friendship as one of my most substantial assets in life. Believe me, as one who will ever champion your rights.
G. A. MORRIS.
