Animals for Research Vital, Say Physicians

Provident Hospital and the Monumental City Medical Society have pledged their support to the fight against the City Charter amendment which would prevent the use of dogs for medical research.

J. L. Prospero, administrator at Provident, voiced the official position of that institution and Dr. Gilbert L. Banfield, president of the medical society, expressed its views.

The two organizations are working with The Maryland Society for Medical Research which is spearheading the fight to defeat the proposed amendment. The vote is on Nov. 7.

Mr. Procope said: "If the amendment is adopted it would retard medical progress in Baltimore, seriously cripple medical research, and would hurt all of us."
