Walker Gets Big Role in Fox Pic.

HOLLYWOOD—(NPB) — One of the most outstanding and lucrative roles to be handed a colored screen actor this year went to Bill Walker, versatile actor, by Twentieth Century-Fox studio.

The actor is playing a sizeable and important role in the current production, "wait 'Til the Sun Shines Nellie," a semi musical of the late '90's. Most of the important scenes take place in the State of Kansas.

The action begins during the Spanish-American War and travels on down towards modern times. Walker, who gets into the story when travelling about the country as a knight of the road, finds himself removed from the farm in a small Kansas town. Hesoon hustles himself a job in a barbershop where things begin to happen.

Walker's role, played straight, is that of a very important character. He plays the banjo and joins in with the village quartet to make excellent harmony. Member, Owen Pettigrew and Cluphey members of the cast includes Jean Peters, David Wayne, Hugh Milo and Joyce Mckenzie.

'First Run' Films of The Week in Review

By E. R. REA

HARLEM HAS STORY OF SANTA FE STAMPEDE

The story of the great Santa Fe stampede, "Cattle Drive," is currently showing at the Harlem.

Starring Joel McCrea and Dean Stockwell, "Cattle Drive" is a thrilling Western film, telling the daring story of a two-week cattle drive across the burning New Mexico desert.

The supporting feature, "Katie Did It," is a highly delightful comedy dealing with a small-town girl, played by Ann Blyth, who has been brought up in a strict manner in a prudish New England community.

The comedy reaches a high laughing pace when Miss Blyth falls in love with a city slicker commercial artist, played by Mark Stevens.

Miss Blyth's portrayal is thoroughly delightful.

'CAPTAIN FABIAN' NOW AT THE NEW ALBERT

One of the outstanding action-adventure stories of the year with dashing Errol Flynn and fiery Micheline Price in the co-starring roles is currently being seen at the New Albert in Republic's thriller "Adventures of Captain Fabian."

In strong supporting roles are Vincent Price, Agnes Moorhead and Victor Francen.

The gripping story concerns the famous ruling family of New Orleans, the Brissacs, who ride roughshod over everything that stands in their way.

Flynn has the role of a notorious, swashbuckling sea captain and the beautiful Miss Prelle co-stars as an exotic Creole girl.

'DAVID AND BATHSHEBA' CONTINUES AT REGENT

Continuing for a second week at the Regent Theatre, where it is playing to good crowds daily, is the mighty Technicolor "David and Bathsheba."

The film is being shown as part of the 35th anniversary of the theatre.

Filmed on the Arizona desert, the film with Gregory Peck and Susan Hayward in costarring roles, has a cast of thousands to authentically reproduce the historic battle between the Philistines and Israelites.

This Biblical spectacle should be a "must see" on your picture list.

GAMBLER BETS LIFE, LOSES IN MET FILM

The relentless pursuit of a killer by a police homicide squad is narrated with fascinating detail in "Never Trust a Gambler," now at the Met.

Dane Clark, Cathy O'Donnell and Tom Drake are starred and Jeff Corey is featured.

The painstaking detective work revealed in the film as Drake and Corey hunt for one man in two million (Dane Clark), had to be the murderer, smoothly carries the story from one thrilling incident to another.

The operation of the homicide squad, whose members work locally and methodically to trap a real-life killer, proves of great interest to many moviegoers.

Kemp's Band to Resume Rehearsals

Kemp's Concert Band will begin fall rehearsals for this season's concert work on Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 6:30 p.m. in the music studio Johnson's Young People's Center, which it shares with Shellman munity choir, at 1133 Harlem Ave.

This band is believed to be the only youth band of its kind in the State. It was formed three years ago and since has grown from an initial season of six engagements to an increase to 18 for last year.

Its list of engagements included requests from Mount Winans, Pimlico, and a Mother's Day visit to Fort Meade.

Has 10 Members

The band featured some 10 youthful artists in its programs and took part in the anniversary celebration of Gospel Tabernacle Baptist Church. It also shared combined affairs with the YPC Choir, The Mel-Tones, a swing band, led by J. Phillip Wiete, and the Trinity Baptist Church orchestra, directed by W. Goff.

Charles M. Kemp, founder and director, is a member of class 12A4, music curriculum, Douglass High School. He is now serving his second term as student director of the Douglass band, under Stanley L. Williams, instrumental instructor at Douglass.

Plans Extensive Program

The band plans an extensive program this season and concert requests are being accepted at the moment. New members are being sought also as the group wishes to augment its number.

There are members in the group from Dunbaas, Dunbar, Booker T. Washington and a few other high schools.

The officers are: Charles M. Kemp, director; Shellman Johnson assistant director; Sylvester Reese, treasurer; Adell Clark, librarian; Earl Borum, John Wiggins, executive seating committee; Veralyne Mosely, Gloria Stewart, Darzell Tarver and Ruby Williams, secretaries; Shelman Johnson, organ, and Sophie Williams, piano accompanists.

Rev. Dantini to Hold October Revival Here

The Rev. Mr. Dantini, mentalist and revivalist, will hold a 10-day spiritual meeting at the Good Hope Hall, 600 block Fayette St. from Oct. 18 through Oct. 28, assisted by local ministers and singing groups of various denominations.

He recently assisted the Rev. Rajah Rabold in a successful revival just concluded at the Pythian Castle.

Dantini

Both will leave the city this week for Washington, where on Sunday they will open a week's meeting at the Carver Theatre, followed by other locations in the Capital City.

Benefit Theatre Party to Hilltop

A benefit theatre party to Hilltop to hear the opera, "The Bartered Bride," will be held Sunday evening. The opera, which will be sung in English, is based on a Czecho-Slovakian story and is being presented by the Hilltop Musical Company.

Hugo Weisgall is conducting and there is duo-piano accompaniment.

This will be the closing performance by this company at the summer theatre. Later in the fall there will be performances of a modern opera at the Baltimore Museum of Art.

The party is for the benefit of the Baltimore Fellowship and is being sponsored by Miss Estelle Resnick and Mrs. Adah Jenkins. Further information may be obtained by calling the sponsors or the Fellowship House, 21 W. Preston St.
