LOCAL MATTERS

Open Gym. Class Work.—The open class work of the Gymnasium classes will be held in the Gym. next Friday evening at 8 P. M. The public is cordially invited to attend and witness these novel features.

Library to Be Improved.—The Chestertown Public Library is to be improved and it will be closed on Tuesday next, March 17th, for that purpose. Those having books due on that day may return them on the following Saturday.

Prof. Weber Injured.—Prof. Charles Weber, bandmaster of the Fifth Regiment, and also leader of the Gayety Orchestra, Baltimore, who was in a street car collision Sunday night, is still confined to his bed and is in an exceedingly nervous condition. It will be some time before he is able to leave his bed.

Spring Style Week in Wilmington.—The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has inaugurated a spring style week for Wilmington merchants. The dates are March 16 to 21. Every merchant of Wilmington, Del., is in the movement. They will pay car fare from all points on the peninsula on the purchase of a certain amount of goods.

To Pay Four Per Cent.—A committee from the Third National, the Kent County Savings and the Chestertown Bank of Maryland, held a conference in the law library of the Court House on Wednesday afternoon, and after thoroughly discussing the banking situation it was agreed that each of the banks should offer savings depositors 4 per cent. annual interest on their savings deposits. The Third National Bank, which is the only National Bank in Kent county, offers the inducement in their adv. on page 1 of the TRANSCRIPT this morning. The bank offers gilt edged protection.

Peaches Not Hurt.—Mr. James G. Harris, one of the largest and most successful peach growers in this county, was in our office on Tuesday, and he states that so far as he has examined his trees the peaches are not seriously hurt. He states that on young trees just in good bearing condition there are plenty of good healthy buds, while on older trees there are enough good buds to insure a good crop yet some varities have been affected. Mr. Harris says the general prospect is for a good crop, if the April frosts don't affect them. Reports from other parts of the State say the fruit is very badly damaged.

Some Lawyers are Paid, Others are Not.—A great deal of comment has been caused during the last few days owing to the published statement that the three lawyers of Senator Orlando Harrison, who won his suit in the Senate, were paid $500.00 each and the three lawyers of Senator Ashburn, who was defeated, were also paid $500 each. This is the usual legislative proceedure. In the contest where Judge James A. Pearce contested the seat of Charles T. Westcott, who was returned elected, only the attorneys of Mr. Westcott received payment for their services but the attorneys of Judge Pearce were paid nothing for the manifest reason that his contest was unsuccessful while that of Senator Harrison, thanks to the friends of John Walter Smith, including the election committee, of which Senator Beck was chairman, was successful in the contest he instituted.

Medders & Co., Still Pond, have a great sale of Rubber Shoes on for next week. Children's 50 cent Storm Rubbers 39 cents; Women's 75 cent Storm Rubbers 39 cents; Men's $1.00 Storm Rubbers 59 cents. His big adv. on page 8 will tell you all about it.

SENATOR BECK AGAINST REPEAL

During the Great Debate in the Senate on the Oyster Culture Law Senator Beck Declares Against Repeal and Says the Shepherd Bill is Better for the Planters Than the Haman Bill.

During the debate on the oyster question in the Maryland Senate on Tuesday, Senator Beck, of Kent, made a strong argument.

He contended that the criticisms directed against the Shepherd measure were unfair and unjust. He held this was an honest effort to cure existing defects in the law and was in conformity with the Democratic platform. He denied the bill prevented culture. Personally, he was opposed to repeal, believing that in as much as the state had entered into a contract with certain parties, this agreement should be observed. But the Shepherd bill, he held, did not affect the rights of those who had acquired the property.

The Senator contended this measure was a decided improvement on the original act and that of two years ago. It preventad the occupation of natural bars and confined them to barren bottoms. He had no faith in the propagation of oysters on these grounds, but if anyone chose to expend time and money in trying it, he wished them Godspeed.

Referring to the objection that the state had no right to condemn land already leased, he said that was a matter to be decided by the courts and the only one to suffer if the decision was adverse, is the oysterman.

He then presented the three amendments previously adopted by the House, namely, the extension of the penalty for dredging on natural bars to all persons, the limitation of the time for filing protests on leased grounds to June 1, 1915, and making the lessee a party to a suit.

Mr. Beck voted to substitute the Shepherd bill in the Senate for the Milbourne or Anderson bill which provided for absolute repeal of the Haman law.

In our judgment the Shepherd bill will help neither the oystermen nor the planter. It has simply left the oyster question in a position to be made a political football of every time the politicians want to use the oyster to political advantage.

We numbered them among our most highly esteemed friends when it was our pleasure to live in Easton.

Newsome, of Chestertown, several years. This quiet life passed to the great beyond with scarcely a ripple upon the social world, yet those who knew her well, admired her for her womanly character and for her deeds of love and devotion. She was a good woman and lived for others as well as for herself. Funeral was held Monday at 10 A. M., interment at Centreville, Dr. H. B. Martin officiating. The bearers were: Messrs. W. B. Suspicious Character in Town

A colored boy by the name of Albert Wickes is the man suspicioned by the town authorities of having entered the M. P. parsonage and the home of Mr. George B. Westcott on Thursday night of last week. Wickes came here from Clayton recently, where it is alleged he robbed four houses and for which he is wanted by the local authorities. Wickes stopped at the home of Susie Johnson on Court street alley. His actions have been regarded as suspicious ever since he came here, and on Monday morning he went to Mr. F. D. Leary's store for two loaves of bread for which he offered a $5 bill in payment and seemed to have considerable money. This led some of the officers to think that he is the man who stole Mr. Lee Robinson's $22.90 on Sunday night, but it is not believed that he is the man. Sheriff Brown received a letter from the Clayton authorities on Monday night stating that Wickes had bought a ticket at Clayton for Chestertown, and to be on the lookout for him. The sheriff did not return from Elkton until Tuesday evening, and strange to say Wickes took his departure from Chestertown on that afternoon train. The authorities in various parts of the country have been notified to be on the lookout for the boy. While here he displayed several articles he had stolen from houses in Clayton.
