QUEST OF EL DORADO.

That Elusive Land of Gold and Jewels In South America.

Guiana is bounded on the north by the great river Orinoco and on the south by the still greater river Amazon. These two grand rivers are connected with one another, the Cisiquiure, a branch from the Orinoco, falling into the Rio Negro, a tributary of the Amazon. Within Guiana itself are many rivers of very considerable size.

The kingdom of El Dorado was reputed to exist somewhere between the Rio Branco and the Essequibo, called by the Indians the Brother of the Orinoco. Manoa, the capital, was said to be somewhere between the Rio Branco and the Rupununi, a tributary of the Essequibo. From the thirties of the sixteenth century some eighteen expeditions had been sent by the Spaniards to Guiana in search of the golden kingdom. Diego de Ordas, one of the captains of Cortes at the conquest of Mexico, led the first attempt in 1531. After him followed many a brave cavalier, but all was in vain, and disasters as well as failure attended nearly all the expeditions.

From a state paper in the public record office, London, it appears that in 1580 persons who traveled in America had reported that there was a place where the women wore great plates of gold, covering their whole bodies like armor. In every cottage pearls were to be found; in some houses a peck. Banqueting houses were built of crystal, with pillars of massive silver, some of gold. Pieces of gold as big as a man's fist were to be found in the heads of some of the rivers. Raleigh read accounts of these expeditions, but their want of success did not deter him from attempting to find the golden region.—Blackwood's Magazine.

A LIGHT IN AN AUTOMOBILE.

Use One of the Spark Plugs When You Have No Matches.

Did you ever while making an automobile tour find yourself on a lonely country road, perhaps miles from the nearest house, and suddenly discover that you had no matches? If you were anxious to light the lamps or eager for a smoke such a discovery would not prove at all conducive to the smoothness of your temper.

There is a simple way in which any one may secure a light without the aid of matches. You may be anxious for a smoke or it may be getting dark and you want to light your lamp, but in any event you can secure the necessary light if you will follow these directions:

Unscrew one of the spark plugs and let it lie on the cylinder head. Wrap a small wisp of waste around the end of any small stick of wood or if there is none handy wrap it around the end of a screwdriver or any other tool. Dip the waste in the gasoline until it is thoroughly soaked. Of course you should have only a very small piece of waste; otherwise the blaze will be too big for you to handle. After dipping this in the gasoline lay it close to the spark plug and turn the engine over until this plug sparks. This will ignite the waste and you will have a little torch sufficient for lighting your lamp. Even if there is a heavy rain or snow, you can secure a light in this manner sufficient for your needs.—Detroit Free Press.

Fear of Old Military Service.

A prisoner's appeal to the court of criminal appeal for a longer sentence, although the first on record before that tribunal, is not altogether unparalleled at the assize, for offenders who have had the advantage of inside knowledge of the working of the prisons acts have been known to ask the judge to give them penal servitude instead of a short period of hard labor. They shrink from the more Spartan diet and severer restrictions that attach to the nominally lighter sentence. A century ago, when capital punishment was inflicted for many trivial crimes, a prisoner was sometimes given a choice—death or service in the army or navy. And the services in those days had such a terror for some criminals that many elected to be hanged instead of serving their country.—London Spectator.

Government of Japan.

The government of Japan is not an absolute monarchy, the mikado being largely responsible to the parliament and, to a degree, to the people back of the parliament. Under the mikado is the house of peers, composed of the princes of the blood and the nobility and the representatives of the vested interests, and the house of representatives, which is made up of some 380 members, representing the masses of the people.—New York Journal.

An Exception.

Little Mary was coloring pictures with her set of paints. She used a tint that failed to please and exclaimed: "Oh, I didn't mean to do that! However, what's done is done and can't be undone—except shoe laces."—Chicago News.

Poor Dora.

"Dora must have suffered some terrible disappointment. One never sees her smile now. What is the matter?"

"She's had two front teeth pulled out."—London Telegraph.

Up In a Balloon.

To remain motionless and watch the earth fall away from you as rapidly as a baseball falls from you when dropped from a window is the sensation of going up in a balloon.

There is only one cure for public distress, and that is public education, directed to make men thoughtful, merciful and just.—Ruskin.

Exclusiveness.

The pinhead puts a barbed wire fence around himself because he instinctively knows he's a fourflusher and is afraid you'll find it out if you get too close.—Indianapolis Star.

FARM PRODUCTS BY PARCEL POST.

It is Believed That the Plan to be Tried by the Postoffice Department Will Reduce Cost of Living.

Carrying out the plan announced sometime ago by Postmaster-General Burleson, whereby farmers will be enabled to sell their products direct to the city consumer, by means of the parcel post, orders were issued from the Postoffice Department Monday to start work on the new scheme at once.

The new plan is to be tried first in ten cities, of which Baltimore is one. The plan is to secure a list of the farmers who are willing to supply farm produce in retail quantities through the parcel post. The list with the names and addresses of the farmers are to be printed and distributed through the city and suburbs to those who may wish to buy their provisions in this way. By this means it is argued that the middleman's profit can be cut out and the high cost of living brought down.

"By the use of lists," said first Assistant Postmaster General Roper Monday, "the city customer will be able to get in touch with a farmer who will fill his weekly orders for butter and eggs and other farm produce. The consumer will receive the produce fresh from the country and the personal relationship established will no doubt tend to improve the quality. The farmer will be relieved of carrying his produce to market as the rural carrier will make daily collections at the farmer's own door of these retail shipments to city consumers.

"The point has been raised that difficulty will be experienced in the return of hampers and other containers. This problem does not appear to me to be difficult of solution. The farmer may use inexpensive hampers whose value would not warrant their return or he may use the higher grade hampers for which he may include an additional charge to be credited to the consumer upon the return of the hamper by parcels post."

NOW is the one time of the year to do your Summer Sewing, as these cold, blustry days one feels better in doors anyway, and when the weather once gets settled you may be out and enjoying the balmy breezes and know that your sewing is all complete, and Carmine's new Spring Goods are all in now and wait your inspection.

Tub Silks

¶We have a very attractive line to select from, and right here you will find the kind that looks better after they are laundered than before; full yard wide, 75c.

Silk and Cotton

¶This is an entirely new creation this season, and is a beauty for full dresses, laundries nicely, 30 in. wide, only 50c per yd.

White Waistings

¶Matertials for the Ladies' White Wash Waists. We can save for you from 15 to 20 per cent., as we bought early and caught a firm who was going out of business and took his entire line, hence this wonderful saving.

Grocery Dept.

¶This end of our business is never overlooked, and now during the Lenten season you can find just what you want and the prices are right. If you want something just a little bit better than you are in the habit of getting, GO TO CARMINE'S, HE HAS IT. ¶Call up 67-A.
