transferred title?

Dr. A.—I said it is her because I gave her another piece of property which was 1317 to 1319 Pennsylvania Avenue. I gave her that, but Druid Hill Avenue, I didn't.

Dr. R.—What are these properties on Pennsylvania Avenue you are talking about you gave her?

Dr. A.—That is where the Club Casino is.

Dr. R.—You gave her that property?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Dr. R.—That is 1317 Pennsylvania Avenue?

Dr. A.—Yes.

Dr. R.—Those are three parcels there?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—That is all Club Casino?

Dr. A.—No, sir. One is a little bootblack next door. The other two are Club Casino.

Dr. R.—How about 1500 Pennsylvania Avenue?

Mr. A.—That belongs to Mr. Chandler Wynn and myself.

Dr. R.—What type of tenancy do you have? Joint tenancy or tenancy in common?

Mr. R.—What is that?

Mr. A.—It is the one where I have my equal rights to my share and to his his equal rights to his. I don't know whether that would be in common.

Mr. A.—Store fronts and apartments upstairs.

Mr. R.—It is an apartment building?

Mr. A.—It has three or four apartments.

Mr. R.—You are in 50-50 with Chandler Wynn?

Mr. A.Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—How about 1811 Pennsylvania Avenue?

Mr. A.—I own that.

Mr. R.—What is that?

Mr. A.—That is a store front. That is where the store Charm Center is.

Mr. R.—1923 East Madison Street?

Mr. A.—My wife owns that now.

Mr. R.—What is that?

Mr. A.—That is a building with a store front, one apartment upstairs.

Mr. R.—A business building?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—You wife owns that?

Mr. A.—Yes sir.

Mr. R.—Did you give it to her?

Mr. A.—No, sir. She just bought that last year.

Mr. R.—Where did she get the money to buy that?

Mr. A.—She paid $1,700 out of her account in Adams Realty.

Mr. R.—Does she have an account in Adams Realty, too?

Mr. A.—We handle her account the same as we handle the other clients, what you call a fiduciary account. All her money goes in there.

Mr. R.—3101 Carlyle—that is where you live, isn't it? Do you or your wife own any other properties?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—What other properties do you have?

Mr. A.—I have 1819½ and 1821 Pennsylvania Avenue and 630 Rutland Avenue, and 1923 Ashland Avenue.

Mr. R.—Going back to 1819½ Pennsylvania Avenue, what is there?

Mr. A.—Just dwellings, private homes.

Mr. R.—On Rutland?

Mr. A.—Just a private dwelling.

Mr. R.—Who lives there?

Mr. A.—My sister.

Mr. R.—What was the last one?

Mr. A.—1823 Ashland Avenue.

Mr. R.—Who lives there?

Mr. A.—Mrs. Robinson.

Mr. R.—Is that a dwelling?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—Who is Mrs. Robinson?

Mr. A.—Mrs. Mary Robinson.

Mr. R.—Is she a relation to you?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. R.—Is she a tenant?

Mr. A.—She is an elderly lady. She is a tenant. She doesn't pay any rent. In fact, it was her house and she turned the house over to me sometime ago, because she was sick.

Mr. R.—Is she somebody you are taking care of?

Mr. A.—I do not take care of her. It is sometimes necessary for me to give her something. I give her something if it is necessary. She has a son. I do not collect rent from her.

Mr. R.—Do you know Hiram Butler?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—Who is he?

Mr. A.—Sgt. Hiram Butler of the police department.

Mr. R.—Baltimore Police Department?

Mr. A.—Yes.

Mr. R.—How well do you know him?

Mr. A.—Very well.

Mr. R.—Do you see him every day?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. R.—Did you ever take many trips with him?

Mr. A.—We have been gunning, I think once.

Mr. R.—You went gunning?

Mr. A.—Yes.

Mr. R.—Where did you go gunning?

Mr. A.—Up in Frederick County

Mr. R. — Frederick County: Dr. Adams' place up there?

Mr. A. — Dr. Bourne, Eulis C. Bourne.

Mr. R.—Up in Frederick County?

Mr. A.—Yes.

Mr. R.—How long did you stay up there?

Mr. A.—Just a day.

Mr. R.—Who else went besides Butler?

Mr. A.—Dr. Fred Adams and a fellow named Pat Ball.

Mr. R.—Pat who?

Mr. A.—Pat Ball

Mr. R.—Pat Ball?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—Wht did you hunt up there?

Mr. A.—Rabbits.

Mr. R.—Any other persons from the police department go along?

Mr. A.—Not as I know of. I do not recall any.

Mr. R.—Think about it a little bit. It wasn't so long ago.

Mr. A.—It was two years ago.

Mr. R.—Yes. Did anyone else go along?

Mr. A.—I don't recall.

Mr. R.—Did Butler ride with you?

Mr. A.—I beg you pardon?

Mr. R.—Did Butler ride with you in the car when you went up there?

Mr. A.—I really do not know. I do not know if I rode with someone or I went up by myself. I do not know. I really do not recall who rode with whom.

Mr. R.—Have you ever transacted any business with Butler?

Mr. A.—Not as I know of.

Mr. R.—How did you happen to be friendly with him?

Mr. A.—I have known him. I am right there on Pennsylvania Avenue and they work that territory, more or less up and down there—Sergeant Butler and Sergeant Johnson—and I think I have given them quite a bit of information pertaining to some certain things.

Mr. R.—Ever give them a bottle of liquor?

Mr. A.—I do not know if I ever gave them a bottle of liquor. He probably got a bottle of liquor from the place.

Mr. R.—From the Casino?

Mr. A.—I wouldn't say offhand

Mr. R.—As a gift, you mean?

Mr. R.—As a gift, you mean?

Mr. A.—I say I wouldn't know if it it was. It would be more or less, I guess.

Mr. R.—As a matter of fact, you know about it, don't you? You know about him getting some liquor from there?

Mr. A.—I wouldn't say one way or the other.

Mr. R.—You wouldn't say you wouldn't know about it?

Mr. A.—I couldn't say exactly I do, either, but if he wanted it and asked for it, I am quite sure he probably would get it.

Mr. R.—Without paying for it?

Mr. A.—Probably a bottle, not a whole lot.

Mr. R.—Have you ever transacted any money business with him?

Mr. A.—No sir.

Mr. R.—Never gave him any money indirectly?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. R.—How about at Christmas time?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. R.—Have any of you employees ever given him any money?

Mr. A.—Not that I know of.

Mr. R.—Ever handle any property transactions for him?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. R.—Has the realty company handled any property transactions for him?

Mr. R.—Do you know Captain Kriss?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. A.—In the northwest?

Mr. R.—Yes, sir.

Mr. A.—Yes.

Mr. R.—Have you ever transacted business with Captian Kriss?

Mr. A.—No, sir.

Mr. R.—Sure about that?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. R.—How often do you see him?

Mr. A.—Haven't seen him for a long time.

Senator O'Conor.—I think there might be some misunderstanding. You said Captian Kriss in the Northwest. Captain Kriss is the captain of the detectives.

Mr. A.—I was thinking about Captain Pentley.

Senator O'Conor — Captain Kriss was captain of detectives.

Mr. R.—I am talking about K-r-i-s-s

Mr. A.—I don't know him.

Mr. R.—Did you ever discuss Captain Kriss with Sergeant Butler?

Mr. A.—Not as I can recall.

Mr. R.—Tell us the story about Baltimore Blinkey. You know Baltimore Blinkey, don't you?

Mr. A.—I just know him if I probably would see him, that is all.

Mr. R.—Tell us about the time that you or he had that the trouble with the car, somebody wanted his take.

Mr. A.—With his car:

Mr. R.—Yes, the time the Pennsylvania car came.

Mr. A.—That was the time of the bombing?

Mr. R.—That is right. Tell us about that.

Mr. A.—I remember I was walking out Madison Street, which is East Baltimore.

Mr. R.—Yes.

Mr. A.—Around ten or eleven hundred block. That car drove up beside me. There were some Negroes there. There were no houses in front where it approached me. Someone called me over to the car and said somebody wanted to talk with me.

Mr. R.—A white man?

Mr. A.—No, sir. It was all white men in it.

Mr. R.—Pennsylvania plates on his car?

Mr. A.—Whatever my testimony was in that case. It was Pennsylvania. I am pretty sure.

Mr. R.—Yes.

Mr. A.—So this fellow steps out of his car and he calls me a little away from the car and talks with me and tells me that he is coming into Baltimore and he wants 5 percent. They were going to take over and they wanted 5 percent of my take. I did not pay any attention to him. I did not pay very close attention to what he was saying, because I really was not concerned. I don't know why, I just thought it was something that probably was not as serious as it turned out to be. So I left and they said, "I will be in touch with you in a few days.

Mr. R.—What kind of take?

Mr. A.—I guess he assumed that I understood what he was talking about.

Mr. R.—Did you know what he was talking about?

Mr. A.—I had an idea, but I didn't, as I recall it, ask him or go into detail about what he meant with respect to 5 percent of my take, because I wasn't concerned.

Mr. R.—Did he mention numbers or horses?

Mr. A.—As I recall it, he did not talk about anything. He just said, "We are coming in and we want 5 percent of your take. We are taking over Baltimore," or something like that. I did not think anything of it. If I had, I would have taken down the license plate of the car for some reason.

Mr. R.—Yes.

Mr. A.—So I left and probably—don't know what date it was, it was like on a Tuesday of Wednesday or could have been any day of this week, and I didn't think anything about anybody until the following Sunday—not that Sunday, but the following Sunday—that week when my place was bombed.

Mr. R.—This fellow said he wanted 5 percent. Did you tell him "Yes" or "No"?

Mr. A.I just listened to him and said, "Yes, sir; yes, sir." I don't know what I said.

Mr. R.—Did you arrange to meet him again?

Mr. A.—I did not arrange to meet him. They said they would get in touch with me.

Mr. R.—Get in touch with you?

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

(Senator Tobey entered the hearing.)

Mother Left Baby, Went 'Visiting' for 4 Months

A young mother who left her one-month-old baby with another woman "temporarily" and did not bow up again for nearly four months, was placed under suspended sentence, this week, in juvenile court.

Policewoman Violet Hill Whyte who spent three months tracing Mrs. Avry Miles told Judge Charles Moylan that since the mother's arrest, she has done "a good job" of rehabilitating herself.

Mrs. Lena Mathews of the 1600 block Madison Ave., testified that Mrs. Miles asked her on May 17 to keep the child while she went to visit a sister. Mrs. Matthews said she did not see the woman again until September.

counsel for Mrs. Miles stated that Mrs. Matthews would be paid for keeping the child for four months.

It was agreed that the mother will keep both the baby and another child age two, that was staying with its father back in May

Mrs. Miles said that she had no place else to take the baby when her circumstances became desperate in the spring.

She said that she now is able to earn money by caring for her sister's children, and doing work for her landlady. Her children, meanwhile, were placed under supervision of the welfare department.

HERO OF BLOODY PEAK:

Fabulous Big Boy Williams Recovering at Walter Reed

By FRED LEIGH

WASHINGTON

His spirit boosted to a new high by the arrival of his family from Tokyo, Tuesday, Oct. 16, M/Sgt. Howard (Big Boy) Williams, the highly decorated soldier in the Korean War, is recovering from wounds at Walter Reed Hospital.

Awarded the Silver Star for gallantry after being hit six times when caught in an enemy ambush on Bloody Peak, Sergeant Howard has undergone three operations, two being last Friday, Oct. 12, and still expects another. Still a giant of a man with 203 pounds on a 6-foot 4-inch frame, he appeared in a jovial mood, and exchanged pleasantries with his family and close friends whom he was seeing for the first time since June.

Family Cheers Him

The doctor in his quiet came from his comely wife, Mazie E., and son, Ted, who left Tokyo, Saturday, Oct. 13, by plane to join him here. Accompanying them to the hospital was Miss Ella Williams of D.C., and a soldier pal, Sgt. Clyde Ruffin.

Big Boy's ordeal began when by his friends, it is pounds under his previous weight of 258 pounds. Shortly after he was wounded, his weight dropped to 183.

Highly Decorated Soldier

At Walter Reed since June 26, Big Boy, holder of the Bronze Star and Purple Heart in addition to the Silver Star, is a fabulous soldier character. Some of his buddies call him the Ageless Wonder since he always hedges when asked his correct age. He's closer to 40 than 20, goes the story.

He's an eight-year Army man who intends "to stay in until I am retired because on the outside the taxes and all the other expenses are too much for me."

Retired Army Champion

Known for his fistic prowess, he copped the All-Army heavyweight boxing crown in 1948, and for three years, 1947 through 1949, before retiring, he was undisputed king of the Far East Command, and All Japan heavyweight divisions.

From the time Big Boy shipped out to Korea and his arrival back in the States, his experiences sound like that of a movie serial. He told this story:

"It was August, 1950, when we were attacking Bloody Peak. Me and Baker Company had the enemy hemmed in on two sides. Charlie Company went around, and came up through the village where a jeep platoon ran into an ambush.

Buddy Killed in Ambush

"My platoon went in to give them a hand. That's where Levi Jackson of Philadelphia was killed. With bullets raining all around him, he made two trips into the trap to bring out wounded.

"On the last trip, I guess his luck ran out. After Jackson was hit, I covered the retreat of my few remaining men with a Browning Automatic Rifle, and in doing so, was hit six times in the face, back and legs.

"I stretched out and played dead when the North Koreans moved in on me. On either side were two soldiers who were moaning. Both got bullets in their heads, then the Koreans cleared out.

Crawls to Freedom

"I lay in the rice paddy from 7 a.m. until nightfall, then crawled out to the main road. Once on the road, I found I could walk, and stumbled a mile back down the road to the 35th Infantry road block," he concluded.

Big Boy was hospitalized, and later shipped to Pusan. But learning he was going to be sent to a convalescent hospital away from his family, then stationed at Gifu, Japan, he got off a sick bed, and hot-footed it back to his old outfit to be with his buddies.

He stayed with his old outfit until January, 1951, despite aggravating thigh wounds where one bullet remained after hitting an artery.

Operated on Self

The doctors wouldn't take it out, so Big Boy operated on himself.

"The doctors said the bullet would work itself out," said Big Boy. "I couldn't wait, so I took a razor blade, sterilized it, and cut until I hauled the little rascal out. It's one of my prized possessions," he beamed.

Big Boy pulled his second AWOL stunt when on a hospital plane bounded for the States, he gave the officials the slip by asking to use the men's room at one refueling point. He later made his way to see his family in Gifu, and caught a later plane.

Big Boy didn't say what punishment was dealt out for his AWOL escapes.

Defeated Rex Layne Twice

The gangling Paul Bunyan character would rather talk about boxing than eat. He is proud of the fact he holds two wins over Rex Layne, whom Ezzard Charles layoed last week. He defeated Layne twice, 1947 and 1948 in the All-Japan boxing tourney.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Big Boy didn't see the fight between Charles and Layne on television because he fell asleep, and his buddies forgot to wake him up. He is still peeved about it.

Big Boy's war exploits are not limited to the Korean War either. He was one of the few tan soldiers who requested demotion and were busted in order to fight in combat units in World War II. And for five months, he was in almost hand-to-hand combat with the Germans.

Lost Rank

He was busted from technical sergeant, but earned the Bronze Star, and numerous Battle Stars.

Longing to leave Walter Reed, Big Boy faces the realization he will be there at least until January, 1952. Where he will be assigned, he doesn't know, and frankly he doesn't care.

Housing Workers in Annual Confab

Approximately half of the more than 500 employees of the Housing Authority of Baltimore City met Thursday at the Latrobe Community Building, 904 East Madison St., for the annual employees' meeting designed to keep them abreast of the Authority's affairs and progress.

The other half were gathered together this morning (Friday) at the same place.

Oliver C. Winston, executive director of the Authority, acquainted the employees with recent developments.

Won National Award

Of major interest to the employees was the thanks and congratulations of Mr. Winston, his staff, and the Board of Commissioners for helping Baltimore win the National Association of Housing Officials award last week as the outstanding housing authority in the country.

The appearance of Mayor D'Alesandro and Dr. Don Frank Fenn, who preceded G. Cheston Carey as chairman of the Board of Commissioners, were added attractions at the meeting this year.

Congratulated by Mayor

Mayor D'Alesandro, in congratulating the employees for their achievements remarked that "The road ahead is long and rough if we are to realize the objective of a decent home in a good living environment for every Baltimore family."

Mr. Carey lauded the Rev. Dr. Fenn's administration of the Housing Authority and gave him most of credit for making Baltimore's position in the field of public housing one of first national rank.
