WHEN YOU WAKE UP.

When the tax-payers wake up to the great number of high salaried offices created by the last Legislature, not one of which is of the slightest benefit to the tax-payers who pay the high salaries, they may see the importance of remembering who is responsible for such extravagance when another primary contest rolls around. Just think of the tax-payers of the State paying $19,000 a year in salaries and $30,000 for other expenses to unify the assessments of property throughout the State, when the debt of the State is $25,000,000, and the State tax is soaring on its way to 50 cents on the $100. It is estimated that under the new tax reform law that not less than $5,000,000 will be deducted from the taxable basis of the county owing to the exemption on household furniture, etc. To make up this deficiency the county tax rate must be increased, and with the additional increase in the State rate, where in the world does the tax-payer come in? But we tax-payers are such foolish people that we never stop to think when a candidate comes to ask for your vote. We are so anxious to vote for men rather than for our own interests. If a voter would have the nerve to say to a candidate when he solicits his vote—How do you stand on questions affecting my financial interests; how does the faction you represent stand, and how has it stood in the past? we feel sure that the tax-payers would get a set of men in the Legislature who would protect the tax-payers' interests rather than resort to reckless extravagance in order to mend some politician's political fences. Would that the tax-payers would think more; would that they would study their condition more, and oh! for that awakening on the part of the people that would make them stop voting in a primary election for the best man, and vote for the man who will best represent my interests as a tax-payer and citizen.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mr. Charles Pippin has gone to Philadelphia, where he has accepted a position with Mr. Harry Rust in a barber shop and cigar store combined.

Mrs. John H. Greenwood had the misfortune to fall and injure one of her limbs several weeks ago. The injury is causing Mrs. Greenwood considerable pain and suffering.

Mr. Lewin S. Fowler, one of our oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, had a second fall the other day and slightly injured himself.
