REPORT OF THE FEDERATED CLUB.

The Federated Club, of Chestertown, Has Been a Great Aid in Making Conditions Better Generally.

The Federated Club of Chestertown was organized as a result of much importuning on the part of the officers of the State Federation.

In January, 1913, a few ladies met at the home of the present delegate for the purpose of organizing a club for civic improvement and better social order. At this meeting officers were elected the name of the Federated Club of Chestertown was adopted, and it was decided to join the State Federation. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws, and by invitation it was decided to hold the meetings at the home of the President. This was only a preliminary meeting. The real launching of the club occurred on April 14th, 1913, when Mrs. Benjamin F. Corkran visited Chestertown. She was a former President of the State Federation, and had repeatedly urged forming a club.

Mrs. Corkran's well-known enthusiasm in regard to work of women was transmitted to her audience, and our club started with thirty-five members. A social feature was added by holding a reception for Mrs. Corkran after her lecture and serving refreshments.

We were informed last April that we were too late in applying for membership to the State Federation to send a delegate, so this is our first report. The initial work that may be attributed to the club was the vast improvement made in the wharf property of the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia Steamboat Co., situated in the heart of our town, its terra cotta color, the standard color adopted by the Company, was an eyesore. After repeated interviews and letters with Captain Thompson, the manager of the company, we succeeded in having the wharf property painted, we being allowed to select the color. We also succeeded in having neat hitching posts placed at one side and we planted California Privet at our own expense to hide some unsightly places.

Captain Thompson has also promised to us a bed of planting this spring. Our next effort was directed towards dredging the harbor. This was confined to the people living immediately on the river and deeply interested some of the gentleman who had boats. Correspondence was repeatedly carried on with the Maryland Dredging Co., who sent an engineer to examine the harbor. We found that to dredge the river and carry the mud away in scows, would cost something like $2,500. We later discovered that we might pump the mud out of the harbor into some wharf property where they would pay us for the mud. We sent for the second engineer of the Maryland Dredging Co. and learned from him that the sea wall that had been placed around the wharf property was not strong enough to stand the immense suction of the mud as it was pumped in. We also learned that the Maryland Dredging Co. only had a small machine available at that time to do this pumping, which would take fifteen days, while a large machine would do it in four or five days, making it much cheaper. We had about $500 subscribed to do this work, but decided to postpone it until a large pumping machine was available.

In June, by invitation, the Paint and Powder Club of Baltimore gave the songs and dances from the opera "Florodora," as given at Easter in Baltimore. The ladies of the club, with the true hospitality of the South, entertained the young men in their homes, also tendered the use of their automobiles to take them to and from Tolchester, a distance of twelve miles. The entertainment was well advertised down the Shore, and the auto parties came a distance of twenty-five miles to attend. Captain Eliason, of the Tolchester Co., presented free round trip tickets to the Federated Club for all the governors and members of the Paint and Powder Club, who made the trip to Chestertown. Fisher's Orchestra, of Baltimore, furnished the music. A dance was given immediately after the play at the home of the president of the Federated Club. The proceeds were something over $400, but the expenses were heavy, and amounted to something over $200.

In October Dr. J. Park Cadman, of New York, delivered an address at the Lyceum as a compliment to the Federated Club, the object being not to secure funds, but the educational advantages of Dr. Cadman's lecture to our community. A public reception was tendered Dr. and Mrs. Cadman at the home of the president after the lecture.

During October a series of five entertainments was planned to be held throughout the winter. The tickets for the series of five entertainments were sold for the small sum of $1.00. This was planned also as an educational measure, that the community might have the benefit of a better class of entertainments than usually visit small communities. The entertainments were lectures, musicals and impersonations. The club engaged these at the expense of about two hundred dollars.

In November the meeting was held and the club was addressed by Mrs. Hester Dorsey Richardson and Mrs. Robert G Hogan, also Chief Judge James Alfred Pearce, all of which were educational in their nature. The same evening, by invitation of the club, Professor J. L. Smyth, the County School Superintendent, gave a talk on industrial education as it is now conducted in Kent county. We learned from him of the Emma Jean fund. Only one county in a state can have this fund, and Kent county has taken the forward step in securing it. We receive forty-five dollars a month for seven months, simply to pay an industrial supervisor, who supervises twenty-seven colored schools. The teachers and pupils by means of organizing clubs get sufficient funds for materials and running expenses. The State last year appropriated fifteen hundred dollars, which enables us to have a Central Industrial School and send a man and woman supervisor to every colored school in the county. This talk aroused the club's interest in the work that was going on in our midst which both surprised and delighted us with the work that Prof. Smyth was doing, but our county superintendent said he could not make the colored children attend regularly enough to do any permanent good. This inspired the club's interest in the compulsory school attendance law. We subsequently invited Mrs. Edward C. Wilson, vice-president of the State Federation, our State Senator W. W. Beck and one member of the House, Howard Turner, also a member of our School Board, John D. Urie, and we again invited Prof. Smyth, our County School Superintendent, to make practically the same talk on industrial education as being the solution of the problem of compulsory school attendance for the colored race.

Mrs. Wilson made a strong plea for the Maryland School for Girls, which arroused much enthusiasm for our vice-president as well as the school for girls. Senator Beck gave a short talk in which he expressed his deep interest and approval of both the compulsory school attendance law and the Maryland School for girls, but the paramount question Senator Beck stated, was "Funds," as the State had been called upon for such enormous appropriations.

Mr. Urie, of the school board, also made a talk expressing his approval of the subjects discussed.

November the 12th, we had a meeting addressed by Mr. Raymond Moody, formerly of Chestertown, now of Baltimore, telling of the work that he was doing in helping to organize "The Social Welfare League of Baltimore."

In January of this year, we had Mr. Harris, the general superintendent of the telephone service of Kent county, meet with the club and a very amicable discussion of the telephone service was held, resulting in a much better understanding, and much better service in the county. A resolution was passed requesting the corresponding secretary to communicate with the State censor denouncing the exhibiton of films portraying the Coleman murderers in charge of the Baltimore detectives and protected by the Maryland State troops. The club felt the possibility of getting in the limelight of a moving picture show would encourage crime among the colored race.

We next interested ourselves in State roads of Kent county and a correspondence was read between W. B. Miller, Chief of the State Roads Commission, and the President of the club, consisting of four letters in regard to a State road from Chestertown to some point on the Bay to conserve the Eastern Shore from Baltimore. A running fire of correspondence between Mr. Miller, Senator Beck and the Federated Club was continued up to the time of the action of the legislature upon the state roads appropriation. The correspondence between the Club and Mr. Miller was sent to the Automobile Club of Kent county asking that they join in seeking this road to the Bay and they appointed a committee so to act. The Federated Club was also in correspondence with Capt Eliason of the Tolchester company and also with Capt. Thompson of the M. D. & V. Company as to which Company would offer the best service. The result of all of this activity is the engineers are now surveying the road and the contract is let.

The Club is also interested in the bills of the State Board of Health. Dr. J. M. Fulton, in correspondence with the Club, sent copies of the bills that were before the legislature to us and asked our assistance in having them passed. Copies of the bills were taken by members of our Club to Senator Beck at his home asking his assistance; after looking them over he expressed his approval and promised to do what he could. We later received a letter from Dr. Fulton thanking the Club for their assistance and expressing great appreciation of Senator Beck's attitude in regard to the bills. At the last meeting of the Club action was taken in applying the bills which have now become laws of the State Board of Health.

A bond issue is to be voted on soon, for the purpose of laying more sewer pipe, in the paving of streets in Chestertown. Much opposition has developed in regard to it, and several years ago a similar bill was defeated in the county. The club has decided upon a campaign of education, have engaged a hall and an orchestra at their own expense and have secured Mr. Robert B. Morse, Chief of Bureau Sanitary Engineering to lecture with slides, also Mr. Miller of the State Roads commission to present the importance of paved streets. The result of this campaign will not be known until next Monday, April 27th.

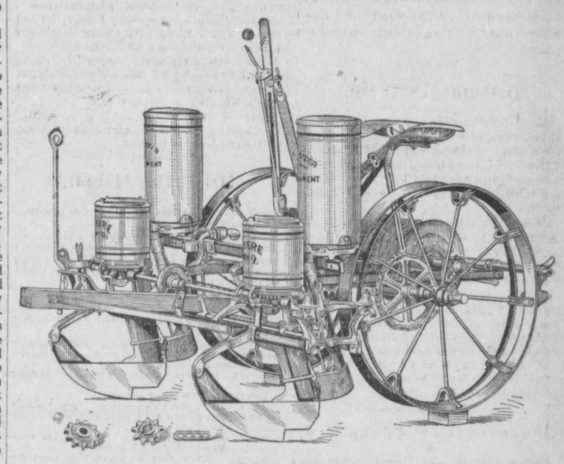

Federated Club work is new in Kent county, and it has had its share of criticism and ridicule, but the women of the Club have watched the bills in the Legislature the Federation was backing, particularly those concerning women, children and health as never before, and we feel that the interest and work is bound to grow.

Thanking all who have come to our assistance.

(Mrs. W. W.) Etta R. Hubbard,
President of the Federated Club of Chestertown, Md.
