THE LAST 24 HOURS IN BALTIMORE

Found In Raw

HARRISON Allen, of NYC, was taken to Northeastern police station naked early Friday morning by officers answering a complaint by Mrs. Irma McQuary, of the 1200 block M St., who charged Allen with making improper advances. Arresting policemen found the man seated on the sofa in his birthday suit. In court, Allen said he was drunk and was fined $25.

Morning Hold-Up

A dry cleaner shop in the 1400 block Druid Hill Ave., was robbed Friday morning by two men, one tall, the other short, who told Mrs. Lila Frazier, clerk, that "If you keep quiet, your child won't get hurt." Her four-year-old daughter, Judith, was playing outside at the time. The bandits made off with $15.

Keene Seriously Injured In Prelim To Title Bout

PHILADELPHIA

Whether or not Julian Keene has met or will meet the same fate as another young Washington fighter of the same age and equal ability was a matter of grave speculation at Municipal Stadium Pingside, Thursday night, before the Jersey Joe Walcott, Ezzard Charles.

Keene was rushed to Methodist Hospital following a fourth round technical knockout at the hands of Oakland Billy Smith.

He was in a semi-cenosis; state when stretcher bearers placed him in an ambulance at the direction of Pennsylvania State Athletic Commissioner Dr. Joseph Bartone.

Hurt Like Sonny Boy

His condition at the time was similar to that of his fellow townman, Sonny Boy West, when the youthful lightweight was mortally hurt fighting Percy Bassett at New York's St. Nicholas Arena in December, 1950.

One bright aspect of the Keene disaster, however, was the fact that he was able to open his eyes and nod assent when asked whether he recognized his manager, John Carter, also of Washington.

Carter pleaded with his young charge: "Say something, Julian, please say something. Do you know who I am?"

Keene, his lips parted but motionless, stared stonily at Carter and then, with considerable effort, nodded his head ever so slightly.

Thinks It's Concussion

Dr. Bartone, who had examined the fighter in the ring along with Dr. W. B. G. Terry, another commission medic, said he thought the injury would prove to be a concussion, suffered when Keene's head hit the canvas as he fell backward.

"I won't be sure, though, until we have made X-ray pictures at the hospital," he remarked.

Keene was down five times during the brief bout and in the second round had been saved an earlier knockout when the bell sounded at the toll of nine.

Fighting since 1947, the slender middleweight has had 55 fights winning 49. This was his sixth loss and his first by knockout.

In one of his most recent outings, he stopped the highly rated Art Jenri. Married, he is the father of two children.—SAM LACY.

Ezz's Camp Has Mixed Emotions

PHILADELPHIA

Wide difference of opinion existed in the dressing room of Ezzard Charles, the unsuccessful challenger in Thursday night's heavyweight title fight when newsmen crowded into the place for a summation by the Charles camp.

The fighter himself appeared philosophical and displayed little, if any bitterness over the outcome. His manager, Jake Mintz, and co-trainer, Ray Arcel, however, were in an aeidous frame of mind.

"I thought I won," declared Ezzard, himself the champion this time a year ago. "I felt that I won at least eight rounds, but the scoring said differently. So that's all there is to that.

"Naturally, I would like to fight him again, but I guess there isn't much likelihood of that. Anyway, I'll continue to fight and, as always, to do the best I can. Maybe another break will come along someday."

Handlers Acidous

But there was no such sportsmanship emanating from the lips of Mintz and/or Arcel. Both were outspoken in their criticism of Zack Clayton, who became the first tan boxing official to referee a title bout in the history of the heavyweight class.

"That's the guy who made the decision," whined Arcel. "He kept nagging Charles all night about low blows. Low blows. The fighter can't do his best when a referee is constantly on him about what he thinks are low blows, but aren't. It's bad psychology. The judges hear it, the fighters hear it, and there you are."

Caused Previous Rhubarb

Mintz, who caused a rhubarb and held up the Pittsburgh fight last July for nearly ten minutes while complaining about the assignment of an official save ent to his wrath against Clayton:

"Who ever saw a referee jumping in between two heavyweights and pulling 'em apart every time they got in close. Charles couldn't do anv inside fighting for the guy, yanking on them and yelling 'Let's go!'

"He didn't have any business in there. He hasn't had enough experience to know what he's doing in this kind of fight."—BROWN.

Man, 47, Reported Beaten In Alley

A 47-year-old man, identified by attendants as Sonny Ford, 600 block Hoffman St., was treated at Provident Hospital Saturday night for bruises of the forehead, face, elbow and ear after being beaten in an alley near Greenwillow St. His assailants were unknown.

Schedule Rites For Heroic Lad

Other Victim, 9, To Be Buried Sat.

WASHINGTON

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. at the Way of the Cross Church, Fourth and Virginia Ave., SW, for 15-year-old Joshua Wilson who drowned Tuesday in a vain attempt to rescue Arnold Lee Nero, 9, from the Anacostia River.

Arnold's funeral will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Bibleway Church, followed by burial in Lincoln Memorial Cemetery with Stewart's Funeral Home in charge.

The Rhines Funeral Home has charge of burial arrangements for Joshua who will be interred at Woodlawn Cemetery.

One Youngster Saved

Wilson had pulled a third youngster from the icy water before making the fatal attempt to save Arnold.

According to Melvin Gray, 13, of the 1300 block Half St., SW, an eyewitness to the double tragedy, Wilson was swimming at the foot of First St., SE.

The two younger boys, came along and decided to join him.

After getting into the water, they became panic-stricken upon discovering that they were in deep water.

Second Attempt Failed

They screamed for help. Wilson pulled one boy to the nearby wharf and came up for air.

Although he told Gray that he was nearly out of breath he went back in for Nero. He managed to reach the struggling youngster, but his strength gave out and they both sank.

Arnold's survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Nero of the 900 block of Third St., SE; two sisters, a brother and two aunts. Mrs. Marie Allen and Mrs. Josephine Andrews, both of Washington.

Joshua is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jervey Wilson of the 500 block of G St., SE, brothers and four sisters.

W. Md. Railroad Gets High Praise

The Western Maryland Railroad is the subject of a feature article appearing in the current issue of Business Week magazine. Western Maryland's present management has the satisfaction of knowing the road is no orphan in Wall Street. The first preferred commands $184 a share. Even the common is considered an "interesting flier" by many Wall Street rail analysts.

WM is one of the few roads that can boast of covering its fixed charges fully in every year of the depression 1930's. It owed that to the pruning of its capitalization in the reorganizations. The funded debt was squeezed to conservative size. And WM managements have kept it that way ever since, despite millions spent on the property. The business management weekly article says.

Crown Cork Nips Johnny Caps, 3-2

The Crown Cork and Seal nine edged out Johnny Used Caps in a segregation, 3-2, Tuesday, at Eastwood Park.

The Johnny Caps tied the score at 3-all in the top half of the seventh inning, but Crown Cork came back with a run in the bottom half of the frame.

Stevenson drove in the winning run with a single with the bases loaded. Both teams played a tight ball, but alert base running enabled Crown Cork to win.

BOWLING NEWS

By GEORGE M. STAINBACK

Well, here I am back again with the latest in hot tips on bowling around Baltimore and the east.

With the Strand, Rockette, Jolley Imps and Unknown winning their respective leagues and with only the Friday night ten pin league to be decided. The Aetna and the Keglers are really going with only three games separating and the Keglers are really going down to the wire in one of the hottest struggles of recent years. With only three games separating the two teams, they are in hope of giving the fans a real treat before it's over.

In the minor league the Windsors won their fourth straight championship when they clinched first place. The runner-up Druid Station and Jr. Tonkers made a great stand when the latter won 31 out of its last 33 games.

June 6, at 9:30 p.m. in the feature matches Aetna vs. Had-A-Solong for now I'll be seeing you next week.

Henderson's Comment

WASHINGTON

It thrills me no little to note that our athletes continue to make America more democratic.

Several years ago, Althea Gibson and Reginald Weir broke through the barriers set up by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. On June 23, colored high school boys will test their tennis skills against the best scholastic players in the nation on the courts of the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.

On the courts of Virginia Union University at Richmond, Va., on May 23 and 24, twenty-three lads from the high school of Virginia Station and Jr. Tonkers made a great stand when the latter won 31 out of its last 33 games.

June 6, at 9:30 p.m. in the feature matches Aetna vs. Had-A-Solong for now I'll be seeing you next week.

$58,000 YMCA Building Underway In Arlington

ARLINGTON, Va. — Groundbreaking ceremonies for the first unit of the new $58,000 Veterans Memorial YMCA Branch were held here, Sunday before some 300 persons.

Edwin B. Henderson, director of Health and Safety and Physical Education, delivered the main address. Dr. Harold M. Johnson, chairman of the YMCA broke the ground where the new building will be erected.

A total of $15,000 was raised recently by Arlington citizens in a campaign drive. This sum was added to $10,000 raised in campaigns in previous years, making a total of $25,000.

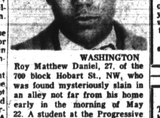
Cost $58,000

The first unit will cost around $58,000. Arlington citizens are floating a loan for the difference between this sum and the amount they have raised.

Other participants in the program were:

Mrs. Annie P. Belcher, Mrs. Nora Drew, Lawrence Michael, who will supervise the erection of the new building, and L. T. Goodman, director of Arlington's Community Chest.

In Mystery Slaying



WASHINGTON

Roy Matthew Daniel, 27, of the 700 block Hobart St., NW, who was found mysteriously slain in an alley not far from his home early in the morning of May 22. A student at the Progressive School of Tailoring, he was also employed at the Wardman Park Hotel. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruby Daniel, and a son, Ronnie, 2. Police are seeking information as to Mr. Daniel's movements between 12 midnight on Wednesday, May 21, and 2 a.m. the following Thursday when he is believed to have been killed.

Leroy Harris New D.C. Golf Titlist

WASHINGTON

Leroy Harris, undistrubed by the presence of veteran performers, played consistent golf to win the District amateur championship, Sunday on Langston Course.

The 19-year-old Carver of Rockville, Md. pupil edged Otis Jefferson, 1 up in a 20-hole match in one of the best contested matches in the tourney.

Harris's margin of victory was the parring of the 425-yard second hole.

Beats Crawford

Advancing to the championship, Harris beat Bob Crawford, 2 and 1. Jefferson entered the final round with a 3 and 2 decision over Herbert Beltsea.

In an exhibition contest, featuring the dedication of the new clubhouse, Pro Vance Watts and Billy Mays nosed out Bill Brown and Raymond Thomas, 1 up.

Others results of the matches follow:

Consolation — Tim Thomas d. Brainard Belifield, 2 up. Second flight — Nathaniel Wilkins d. Charles Wright, 5 and 4. Consolation — Prince Brooks d. Luther Mills, 1 up in 21 holes.

Third flight — Joe Pugh d. Charles Marshall, 6 and 5. Consolation—Ed Lane d. Connally Hatton, 4 and 3. Fourth flight —Joe Cole d. Ernest McCloud, 1 up in 19 holes. Consolation —James Brown d. Willard Savoy, 4 and 2.

Yokley All Stars To Play Kokomos

New York Clowns At Westport Sunday

Norman Yokley's Baltimore All-Stars will be gunning for their six sixth and seventh straight wins without defeat when they take on the colorful Kokmo Clowns of New York, at Westport Stadium Sunday afternoon.

The two teams are booked for a double-header, getting under way promptly at 2 p.m.

Sunday's bill marks the third time within ten days that the newly-formed Stars will be asked to get in their licks against the Funmakers, two previous dates having been postponed by rain and wet grounds. The teams were set for a clash on Memorial Day but were washed out. And they were hoping to get a game but a muddy field altered their plans.

Carry Odd Names

The Kokomo, boasting a strong array of topline semi-pros, are the great kin to the Indianapolis Clowns that Baltimoreans are likely to see in some time. They even go fathers than the original segregation in that the Kokomo lineup is composed of such names as are usually applied to legitimate comics.

The batting order reads: Ha

Chick Webb Swimmers Hold Aquatic Show

An aquatic version of the fictional story, "Peter and the Wolf," was presented by 27 members of the Chick Webb Center Swimming Club Wednesday and Thursday.

The 16 scenes of the play were carried out in the Center's swimpool, with demonstration on each level of swimming.

Basic strokes were demonstrated by Franzel Booker Jr. and T. Madison Garrison. Both are members of the pool staff. The technique of spring board diving were also demonstrated.

T. M. Garrison, M.C.
