INTERNATIONAL Harvester manure spreaders have a score of good features in their construction. Each one is the result of careful field experiment.

An I H C spreader is low enough for easy loading, yet it has plenty of clearance underneath. The rear axle is well under the load, rear wheels have wide rims and Z-shaped lugs, insuring good traction under all conditions. Frame, wheels, and all driving parts are of steel. Apron tension is adjusted by a simple device. Winding of the beater is prevented by large diameter, and beater teeth are strong, square and chisel-pointed.

International manure spreaders are built in several styles and sizes, low or high, endless or return apron, for small farms or large. Examination will show sturdiness of construction in every detail. Repairs, if ever needed, may always be had of the local dealer.

Examine International spreaders at the dealer's. We will tell you who sells them, and we will send you interesting catalogues.

Keeping the Talk-Tracks Clear

The telephone you see before you is a very small part of the telephone system—one of the finger tips, as it were. More than 60% of the telephone plant is located outside of the central office and the subscriber's premises.

Thousands of dollars in telephone plant is hidden under the city streets and strung out along the country road. When you talk over a telephone line, you have thousands of dollars worth of equipment at your exclusive service.

It is the unseen telephone plant which enables you to send your voice where you will.

When you telephone—smile.
