Eastside Youngsters Enjoy Camp Life

Mrs. Jones

Approximately 110 boys spent last week at city-owned Camp Francis M. Wood under auspices of the Eastside Community Committee. These youngsters are enjoying a softball game. In background is one bungalow which housed 40 boys.

CORRECTION

A story appearing in the June 21 issue of the City Edition of the AFRO concerning the holding of a reunion by the graduating class of 1942 listed "William H. Cherry, government worker." The story should have read: "Mrs. Lillian H. Cherry, government worker."

The AFRO regrets the error.

Changes Slated On '53 Auto Tags

All fraternal and civic organizations that submit their applications in a group, will be issued license plates in consecutive order, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Thomas B. Mudd announced this week.

Commissioner Mudd also announced that triple zero numbers, such as 123-000, will be longer be reserved for political or economic big-wigs.

Instead of the small clip inserts, Maryland motorist will receive one single license plate next year. Another invasion will be the use of letters, in addition to figures, on license plates for the year 1953-1954.

Dr. W. W. Allen Rejects Offer

Dr. Willard W. Allen, chairman of the Church and Fraternal Youth Council, rejected an invitation this week to serve on the Mayor's Youth Commission.

The Council wasrefused financial aid from the city recently on the recommendation of the Mayor's group.

In turning down membership on the city commission, Dr. Allen told James M. Hepburn, chairman, that the invitation served to ignore further the Church and Fraternal Council which was set up with the same objectives as the Youth Commission, and set up first.

Dr. Allen reminded Mr. Hepburn that he (Hepburn) had advised against the allocation of city funds to the Youth Council, and that the Mayor's Youth Commission created a sub-committee on church and youth.

Calling this inconsistent, Dr. Allen declared, "In effect, it (the creation of a city commission) says the city cannot cooperate with you, but we are inviting you to cooperate with the city."

Dr. Allen asserted that the creation of the Youth Commission seemed to be a "deliberate duplication of effort in the same field," and an "afterthought" following the organization of the church and Fraternal Youth Council.

He added, however, that the field is too large, and the need too great "for us to operate as strict opponents." The Fraternal Council, Dr. Allen promised, will continue its efforts to arouse the community to a fuller sense of its responsibility to young people.

Ceiling Deadline On Cafes Delayed

The deadline for restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments to adjust their ceiling prices, if they can qualify for adjustments, has been extended to Aug. 1, it was announced Friday by Hugo R. Hoffmann, Maryland District OPS director.

The restaurant ceiling price regulation, which became effective April 7, forces prices to be rolled prevailing during the week February 3 to 9, but permitted adjustments by operators who were charging prices during that week lower than were permitted under the old restaurant regulation.

Restaurants had been given until June 1 to make the adjustment and post new ceiling prices.

"The deadline is being extended," Mr. Hoffmfan said, "because many operators were unable to determine their eligibility for an adjustment by the June 1 date and many applications which had been filed with OPS had not been processed in time."
