Dr. Wallace Honored By State Medical Group

"For unfaltering courage, faith and trust, acceptance of a most distasteful duty..."

Only an outstanding person could warrant these words in good faith.

And that's what Dr. E. B. Wallace, a local physical therapist with offices at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., is in the opinion of the Maryland Academy of Physical Medicine.

Banquet In His Honor

Last week, at a banquet held in his honor at the Park Plaza Hotel, the Academy presented Dr. Wallace a fellowship.

Being the twelfth of his profession to be so honored, he is the first colored to receive an award of this type.

Fellowship Rules

Academy rules state that a candidate for the award must meet one of two requirements.

One requirement is the writing of 50 complete theses on the physical therapy treatment of patients.

The other requirement is for outstanding and meritorious services in the field of physical therapy.

Faced False Charges

Dr. John I. Becker, president of the organization, paid high tribute to the man who several months ago fought and won a case charging him with the false practice of medicine.

The honor was a complete surprise to Dr. Wallace.

In citing him for the fellowship, Dr. Becker stated:

"In the past few months, this member has shown unswerving faith in the state organization in his every deed, thought, and action.

"Not in one instance has he wavered from the path he was forced to travel. He had great courage to hold and continue the trust he has held.

"He chose to fight and uphold his principles and beliefs, in keeping with the trust he was not disappointed."

Last April, Dr. Wallace faced court charges of unlawfully practicing medicine because as a physical therapist he used the title "doctor."

Approximately 2,800 spectators participated in the solemn rites for they read responses as they joined into every available space in Tindley Temple, Broad and Fitzwater Sts.

Other ceremonial functions were performed by Bishops Willis J. King, John W. E. Bowen, Robert E. Jones, Robert N. Brooks and Edward Kelly. The latter three are retired. Visiting Bishop Glenn R. Phillips, white, read the prayer.

Among the spectators were Drs. Oscar J. Cooper and Frank Coleman, who along with newly elected Bishop Love founded Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. Dr. Cooper is a local practicing physician and Dr. Coleman is on the Howard University faculty.

Africa In Limelight

Assignment of bishops by the committee on episcopacy ended the business of the conference. Approval of the 34-member committee with confirmation of sending the prelates to the following areas:

Bishop King, Liberia; Bishop Clair, St. Louis; Bishop Brooks, New Orleans; Bishop Love, Baltimore, and Bishop Bowen, Atlantic Coast.

Korean Vet Who Killed Son, Again In Trouble

A Korean veteran who shot and killed his infant son—but went scot free—was back in trouble again this week.

Cpl. William B. Graves, 26, 823 Pierce St., was arrested by Southwestern district Patrolman Elmer Guberatis on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon.

This time Magistrate Martin K. Miller suspended a fine of $25 and costs, but turned Graves over to waiting military police.

The military police indicated that the soldier was wanted for desertion.

Sleeping With Gun

Shortly before 5 o'clock Wednesday morning the police officer found Graves sleeping in a chair outside his home.

The sleeping soldier had a 22 cal. revolver clutched in his hand.

When he appeared before Magistrate Miller that same morning, the soldier could offer no reason for having the gun.

Declaring "there's no sense in my fining or jailing you when the Federal government has a graver charge against you," the magistrate turned the soldier over to the military police.

Killed Son In May

In May of this year, Cpl. Graves shot his 9-month old son, William Jr., while cleaning a gun.

The man told police that he and his wife, Mrs. Odessa Graves, age 20, had quarreled on the morning of the fatal accident.

After the couple "made up," Graves began cleaning the gun and his wife played with their child.

Suddenly the weapon discharged and the bullet struck the baby in the brain—killing him instantly.

Wife Tells Same Story

The soldier and his wife both told similar stories, insisting the shooting was an accident. Southwestern district police, however, held Graves without bail pending action of the grand jury.

On June 2, the grand jury refused to indict the soldier for killing his son.

The young couple has been married two and one-half years, and Graves has spent 15 months of that time in Korea.
