Tiptons On 'Break The Bank'

A Washington couple competed for $1,100 in cash recently when they appeared as contestants on the quiz show "Break the Bank." Queried by Emcee Bert Parks were the Cortez Tiptons, 3749 Jay St., who were chosen from the studio audience for a category called Famous Last Words." They raced through five questions without mishap, then were counted out with $100 to the good for failing to identify a quotation from the Ancient Mariner." Mr. and Mrs. Tipton were visiting in NYC. Mr. Tipton is on the staff of the Bureau of Rehabilitation.

Great Jazz Performances Reissued On Okeh Label

By THE REVIEWER

Louis Armstrong, Bessie Smith, Jimmie Lunceford, Count Basie and Cab Calloway are featured in a multiple re-issue of jazz classics on Columbia's current Okeh label.

These recordings, issued originally under the famous Okeh banner of the late twenties and early thirties, are the first in a series which will include some of the greatest instrumental and vocal performances of that Golden Era of jazz.

Armstrong, undisputed king of trumpet and gravel-throated vocalist is heard in two of his most celebrated renditions, "I'm Confessin'" and "If I could Be With you.

Miss Smith, Empress of the blues, backed by an all-star group including Benny Goodman, Jack Teagarden, Chu Berry and Frankie Newton, sings the famous "Gimme a Pigfoot" and "Take Me For a Buggy Ride."Both songs were recorded at the last Bessie Smith session to take place before her death.

"Cheatin' On Me," a Lunceford classic, features his trio led by the popular James (Trummie) Young. This was Jimmie Lunceford's first Okeh recording and his all-time disc best seller. Coupling is a rousing instrumental, "It's Time to Jump and Shout."

The Count Basie band, one of the greatest swing groups ever to rock a bandstand, plays "Jump the Blues Away" and "Wiggle Woogie. These exciting examples of the Basie rhythm style feature the tenor sax solos of the inimitable Lester Young.

One of the finest alto sax solos on records is played by Hilton Jefferson on Calloway's recording of "Willow Weep For Me." The reverse features the late Chu Berry, one of the great tenor sax men in jazz history in an up-tempo version of his own gomposition, "At the Clam-Bake Carnival."

Cooling Out On The Sand

Mrs. Gloria Settler of NYC was among hundreds of holiday visitors to Oyster Harbor Beach, Md. on July 4 to escape the heat before the thunderstorm.

To Perform At Festival

HOLLYWOOD—(ANP) — Hollywood's tan ballet troupe is planning a national tour.

The group has been signed to open the annual California Ballet Festival, August 8, at the Mariners' Memorial Theatre, San Francisco.

Negotiations are also underway to present the troupe in Mexico City next November.

Group Called Outstanding

Under the direction of Joseph Rickard, the dancers make up what is considered the outstanding ballet company in southern California.

Other festival attractions will be Devi Dja and her Indonesian Ballet, Mata and her Cambodian Dancers, the Ballet Allegro and the San Francisco Opera Ballet.

Stellar Cast

Featured performers are Graham Johnson, Bernice Harrison and Theodore Crum, principal dancers, and a brilliant ensemble recruited from the Katherine Dunham group and the current "Lydia Bailey" film.

Let's Look And Listen

BY MILDRED JOVIEN and GEORGE DANIELS

CHICAGO—(ANP)—One of the first moves of NBC radio this fall will be to revive Tuesday as "high-powered" comedy night.

Despite the loss of Bob Hope, and others, NBC is sloganizing one of its most expensive evenings in radio for some time.

This will include a new version of "Baby Snooks," Martin and Lewis, Fibber McGee and Molly, Fred Allen and Red Skelton.

Offers of $500,000 for television and radio rights to the Kid Gavilan-Gil Turner welterweight title fight, July 7, in Philly, were given the "thumbsdown" routine by Promotor Herman Taylor.

There will be no home television, no theatre television and no radio broadcast of the fight.

It seems that everytime a major fight for a championship comes up or one that would be natural for big gate receipts, money-thirsty" hawkers always get the idea that the public will either pay at the gate or not see the fight at all.

Before television, radio could get any fight and every fight without extra-curse for alarm. Now that TV has entered upon the scene, both must be made to suffer.

Mills Bros. Click

There should be another quartet like the Mills Brothers who made another guest appearance on TV Wednesday and, as usual, they were merely sensational. The slot was the "Perry Como Show."

Prediction: The next president of the U.S. will be picked by the largest and best informed electorate in American history.

Reason: Over 65,000,000 Americans will watch the Presidential conventions at home via TV as hundreds of top newsmen make the history-making coverage.

Wins $2,000 Scholarship

Two thousand dollars scholarship winner, little Gladys Maria Knight, eight, of Washington, D.C. was announced winner of the $2,000 top award on the 1952 Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour Radio Contest. She chirped "Too Young" in final competition in New York, June 12.

Eddie Cantor's got it: If there's any record you want to hear and don't know where and who has it, Eddie Cantor's got it.

He began collecting records almost 43 years ago and his collection goes back beyond the first record ever made by his close friend, Al Jolson in 1911 "Movin' Man, Don't Take My baby Grand."

On Cantor's radio program, "Show Business," he spins some of the greatest records ever waxed by such outstanding entertainers as Will Rogers, Sophie Tucker, Bert Williams, the late Fannie Brice and W. C. Field.

Sensational Vocal Group From Washington

The Clovers, sensational vocal group, whose first four disco releases have made the hit columns in all trade journals, range in age from 19 to 21. All five hail from Washington, D.C. Left to right: Harold Lucas, baritone; Harold Winley, bass; Bill Harris, guitar accompanist; Buddy Bailey, lead tenor, and Matthew McQuarter, tenor. They are currently rounding out a tour of Texas.

On the AVENUE

By E. B. REA

DON'T LOOK NOW! But the paving crew will soon be in your block along the Avenue, which, with the new buses, will mark this town's greatest and most needed improvement in its history.

THE FINISHING TOUCH, of course, must be the modern, high-powered, electric street lights which will not only lend more big town glamour to Pennsylvania Avenue, but will help reduce some of the unethical and unlawful practices along the thoroughfare.

THIS IMPROVEMENT is destined to return some of the lost business back to the Avenue and to attract some that hasn't been coming this way. Let's hope it does just that.

THERE IS GOING to be one sad disappointment for the "hot rod" pushers and the lead-footed excelerator mashers. Betcha "The Strip," from Green St. to Fulton Ave., will be patrolled around the clock by the motorcycle brigade.

THE JOSEPH NOELS, he a D.C. patrolman, she the former Myrtle Maddox, Independence Day guests of the Albert Maddoxes, 1206 block Gilmor St., Bobbie Bishop, formerly at the Olde Mill for nearly nine years, now in her third week at Rector's.

JOSEPH JACKSON, Walter Holley Jr., Clarence Roberts, Susie Hamlett and Clifton Young dropping in at Club 2700, where Elizabeth (Betty) Moss, ex-P. and M. server, is on duty. The spot, formerly Al's Tavern, is now operated by Meyer Friedland, with Jake, his brother; Phil Bachkin, bros.-in-law, and Rudy Dixon on the managerial staff.

WALTER ROUSE, general manager at Dowell's, 2600 block, surprised over rumors that patrons are not admitted in sport shirts, or without coat and tie. "It's absurd," he says. "We are not that formal and we wouldn't insult anyone by suggesting such a thing. The only thing we require about our patrons dress is that they be presentable and on the cleanly-dressed side."

RAN ACROSS A NUMBER of out-of-towners. Among them:

VIOLA JORDAN and Mary Lee Thomas, both of Brooklyn, N.Y., dining with Florence Gross, Ruth Holloway, and Jimmy Beck. The John Sessoms and Clara Chavis, From New York City, Ethel Moore and Harriett Sherrill, the guests of Peggy Harris, a sister, the H. Misses of N. Arlington Ave., and Mal Clarke, hotel operator.

EDDIE SHORTS and Olander Ingram, of Chester, Pa., guests of the John E. Campbells, 542 N. Carey St., with Grace Barnes, Willie Mae Stafford and Leroy Coates helping make things lively for them along the Strip.

ALSO AT DOWELL'S were: The Clarence Burleys, Grace Smith, formerly at 1017; Joseph Haynie, Tiny Outland and Robert Swepson. Head waitress here is the personable Lucille Anderson... Also on the Stroll were Carolyn Adams, former beartbrob of the late John (Spider Bruce) Mason.

DOROTHY PAUL, son, Vincent, and daughter, Sandra, widow and children of Walter Paul, former Vilma barman, vacation guests of the William Paulses, 1343 N. Calhoun St. They new reside in New York City. Dot was being chaperoned around the familiar Vilma by Helena Mason, A. Sampson and Thomas Carr.

BEACH CAPERS—Beach police approaching a guy with a towel around his head, discovered that instead of ice in the towel, it held 15 miniatures... A "prophet" invading a nearby beach hawking "blessings" in the form of "numbers." He was given the "heave ho," with a warning not to return, but he did. Now, he just gives prospective "suckers" his mailing address, telling them to enclose FIVE bucks and the "blessing" will be mailed to them. The "he she" boys report odd making good pickings from among the males clad in beach togs.

WE HAVE OBSERVED, that despite the fact that Avenue owners have been cleared for "Bus Stops," many of them fail to pull to the curb to load and unload passengers... Some of the trainers of colored bus drivers have been taunted by some of their fellow workers as "B—lovers," says an anonymous tipster. This I only heard.

OTHO CHURCH, well-known around the Vilma, Club Frolic and other spots, recuperating at the home of the Joseph Neals, 613 Baker St., following a recent major operation at Johns Hopkins.

A FAMILIAR FIGURE along the Avenue, supposedly, away on vacation, is really doing a short prison stretch in another town???... Watch the court files for a separation suit which has been hanging fire for more than a year. The correspondent, if named, will bring out a lot of "I wouldn't have believed it."

LEWIS (CY) GREY, 2200 block Madison Ave., full of smiles these days since Dorothy of Danville, Va. (now a N.Y. model), is in town trying for a reconciliation after four years, for the sake of two swell little kids, Timothy and Lewis Jr... Don't look now, but the marriage column on Tuesday carried the name of a newlywed, couple who will make bigger news if and when the legal mate of one of the party should decide to come to Baltimore to find out what it's all about.

GLORIA CASTER OF NYC, GUEST OF Margaret Moore, ex-Alhambra waitress, taking in spots along with Johnny Carter... Also listening to the organ tonsils of Michelle at the Casino, Wednesday night, were: Michael (Mike) Graham, Nudie Williams and Patricia (Pat) Reid, a real brown bombshell of Washington... Ditto for Florence Reid, (no relation to Pat), William Jones, Theodore Smith, Juan Jesus Oquendo (Wan Weyou Okandoor) and Marie Jackson.

SURPRISE GUESTS of the week: The lovely Sarah Lou Harris, now New York's top model, backstage at the Royal with hubby, Buddy Bowser, and Lucky Mulinder, who has shelved his band, temporarily, to promote Joe Louis whiskey, doing the spots and radio appearances... Tiny Tilghman and Cuf Morris joining old acquaintances at the Alhambra... If you have missed the doin's at the Melody Club, you had better hop down and take a gander at the fine brown frames doing their numbers... or, better yet, Ike Dix, organist, Chester Slater, has been held over, just because of public demand.

QUIP OF THE WEEK: Nudie Williams, blues singer, introduced at the Casino, did an impromptu ditty made up on the spot. When Michelle asked him what key he wanted, Nudie shot back, "Joe Louis Whi—KEY." Lucky was so impressed with it, he's going to put music to it and record it.

AMONG THE BOYS, shaving off from around the Vilma to witness the Gavilan-Turner fight, and some the All Star game in Philadelphia this week, were:

Jean Barnes, E. Seaborne, Lucius Barber, Thomas Going, Lester Gardner, Riley (Patrick) Palmer, Louis Butler, James Hawkins, Vernon Boyer, Brother Barnes and "Fruits" Laws.

MOST REPEATED SAYING along the Avenue this week: "Did you see Jackie Robinson hit that Ball?"... Whose home run won the game for the National League All Stars—Jackie's or Hank Sauer's?

AND, THAT'S AS FAR as we got On and Off the Avenue this week.

'Pygmalion' Cancelled At Howard University

WASHINGTON

Because "The Word" was not successful at Howard University last week, the university summer school has had to cancel its next scheduled production, "Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Frederick O'Neal and Carolyn Hill Stewart were to have started in the drama which was set for July 10, 11, and 12.

However, the extended run of "The Word," which continued through last Saturday, made it impossible to hold rehearsals as planned. Owen Dodson, drama director, announced last Wednesday.

Accordingly, "Pygmalion" was cancelled and efforts will be concentrated on T. S. Eliot's "Family Reunion" set for July 23-27 and starring Earle Hymand and Miles Stewart.
