Lad, Who Prayed To God, Wins $1250 Tele Prize

NEW YORK — A 12-year-old tap dancer from Winchester, Va., won second place and the Ted Mack Original Amateur TV show here Tuesday night.

Benny Brown Jr. received $1250 in cash and a silver cup, when the votes were totaled following a series of contest eliminations.

Who asked by Ted Mack what he planned to do with the money, little Benny replied that he was going to buy his mother and electric stove, and bank the rest for his education.

The midget dancing marvel said he knew he was going to win, because he had "prayed to God."

Two Irish girl dancers from Brooklyn, both 16, shared first prize of $2,000 and a gold cup.

2nd BIG HIT!

ON LOCAL SCREENS THIS WEEK

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis as bungling sky soldiers in "Jumping Jacks," now at the New Albert.

Charles McGraw and Jacqueline White in an exciting scene from "The Narrow Margin," now at the Met Theatre.

Ralph Meeker and Leslie Caron form the dynamic team in "Glory Alleny," now at the Harlem.

Dinah Washington, queen of the juke boxes, is currently headlining the all star stage revue at the Royal.

Gene Tierney and Cornel Wilde confronted by a strange turn in "Leave Her to Heaven," now at the Regent.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG IN HARLEM'S 'GLORY ALLEY'

Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, known as the world's greatest jazz trumpet artist, has a good role in "Glory Alley," now at the Harlem.

In top starring roles are Ralph Meeker and Leslie Caron as sweethearts in the exciting drama of a prizefighter and a New Orleans dance girl.

Armstrong not only plays a straight acting role but also reveals both his singing and trumpet-playing skills on "That's What the Man Said" and South Rampart Street Parade," with Jack Teagarden and his band featured.

New Orleans' colorful night life, its underworld and the prizefight sector provide an electric background for "Glory Alley."

'LEAVE HER TO HEAVEN,' ACCLAIMED DRAMA, HERE

'Leave Her to Heaven, starring Gene Tierney, Jeanne Crain and Cornel Wilde, is currently creating raves at the Regent.

It tells of the relentless and savage fight of a young wife to completely monopolize the interest and affections of the man she loves.

When Miss Crain, as Miss Tierney's half-sister, finds herself attracted to Wilde, the psychopathic woman stops at nothing, including murder, to create some dramatic experiences.

ACTION MYSTERY DRAMA NOW ON MET SCREEN

RKO Radio's thrilling action-mystery drama, "The Narrow Margin," featuring Charles McGraw, Marie Windsor and Jacqueline White, opened Thursday at the Met Theatre.

Most of the action, which centers around the efforts of a detective to safely escort a gangster's widow to Los Angeles so she can testify before the grand jury, takes place on a streamliner train enroute from Chicago to the West Coast.

Gunmen are intent on murdering the widow and stealing a payoff list she is carrying and which incriminates police officials. Clever work by the detective in concealing the identity of the widow adds to the suspence as the story moves swiftly to a spinetingling climax.

Charles McGraw gives a convincing performance as the detective with Marie Windsor and Jaloquoline White also giving finished portrayals in their respective roles.

MARTIN AND LEWIS IN NEW ALBERT COMEDY

Hal Wallis' "Jumping Jacks," the Paramount Picture now at the New Albert Theatre, and co-starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis gives a riotous demonstration of what happens when an anemic song-and-dance man and his girl-happy buddy join the paratroops.

Punctuated with bright music, lively dancing and romance, the demonstration stacks up as the screwball team's freshest and funniest screen chore to date.

To state it another way, "Jumping Jacks" is one you have to see.

To get down to cases, the story casts Dean and Jerry as a vaudeville team. For a while, that is. Then Dean answers the call to the colors.

Jerry can't follow because his rickety frame just isn't up to the rigors of Army life. But while visiting Dean, he's mistaken for a genuine GI. Before Jerry can explain to the colonel that it's all a terrible mistake, he's clipped into a soldier suit and marched off with Dean to Fort Belding, to become a paratrooper.

What happens when Dean and Jerry undergo the rugged training for 'chute-jumping sky soldiers marks one of the wildest military episodes since the invention of the gun.

Municipal Band In Two Concerts

With the No. 2 concert bands this year are playing to larger audiences then ever before, two more concerts will be offered to the public this week end, one tonight (Friday) by the No. 2 Municipal band, conducted by Harrison M. Dodd, at 800, at the Gilmor Project, and the Sunday concert in Lafayette Square.

Mr. Dodd has included in his program for both of these concerts the Raymond Overture," "Goddess of the Dawn," "Sky Pilot;" "Lustspiel Overture," "Back Beat Boogie," "Tell Me Why," "Circus Bee March;" and many other outstanding musical selections.

The public is invited to these two concerts and also to the combined concert which wil be held on Sunday, August 10, at Druid Hill Park.

Hilltop Slates 'The Physician'

"The Physician in Spite of Himself" will be presented by the Hilltop Musical Company at the Catonville High School, July 25 and 26.

The production will be repeated at Milford High, July 25 and 26, and on Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Hilltop Theatre, Emerson's Farm. "The Physician" is the Gounod operatic version of Moliere's famous comedy.

Hilltop's fourth production, "Don Pasquale," will open our July 30.

Swinging The Music In Detroit Nitery

The Peptones, a Baltimore trio, are producing the sweetest music in Detroit at the Chesterfield Lounge in the heart of the Motor City's black and tan spots. Left to right: Charles Beekles, leader and pianist; Earl O'Mara, bongo drums and vocalist and William McGee, bass. They formerly played at Ike Dixon's Comedy Club before hitting the out-of-town spots.

Rex Ingram

Plays Lady Pirate

In it she is a lady pirate, ruling both by her charms and her fiery will, a reckless ship-load of blood thirst buccaneers. Incidentally I must check on whether or not Jones has dropped plans to film a story of his life, which was being written a year ago.

"Chris Columbus Brown," all colored cast stage musical comedy, which opened at the Las Palmas theatre last week made a hit with patrons, and was treated kindly by theatrical critics.

They made allowance for the fact that it was written here by Horace Stewart, a local Hollywood writer and composer, and that there were only a few top names, available for the cast.

Rex Ingram, former De Lawd of "Green Pastures," back in nearly his old form as an actor, was there with comedian Nickodemus, Mauri Lynn, plus a small boy, McHenry Norman, good in supporting roles.

Both the Oasis and the Club Alabam made special preparations for the Fourth of July triple holiday crowds, content that beach and mountain pleasure seekers would be back in town for nightcaps and some dancing.

Dinah Heads Royal Show

The incomparable Dinah Washington moved into the Royal Theatre today (Friday), heading an all-star revue.

Appropriately titled, "Queen of the Juke Boxes," Miss Washington is rated as the nation's top blues and ballad chanteuse.

She is the one entertainer who has established "the unbroken frequency mark" at many of the country's top night clubs, ballrooms and theatres.

Her recordings have led the Tan Song Hit Parade more than any other artist. She opened her Royal date with some of her best selling numbers.

Miss Washington is ably supported by the Ravens, sensational recording quartet, who have become Baltimore's favorite singing group.

Also featured is the team of Red Foxx and Melvin White, who are billed as the "laff twosome" Harold King, dancing dynamite and Janice Day, glamour in motion.

The musical background is under the capable direction of Reuben Wood, who fronts his Melody Men, a well-known group of top ranking musicians.
