Morgan Begins 86th Year, Faculty Shifts Announced

Fifteen new teachers and five returning from leaves of absence will be on hand when Morgan State College begins its 86th year Monday, Sept. 29.

Increase in the number of new appointments is due largely to fact that a total of 10 teachers will be on leave during the 1952-53 school term.

Two of the appointees are in the field of business education; Mrs. Amy J. Atkinson, assistant professor, and Mrs. Jessie C. Williams, instructor.

Mr. Atkinson, a Howard University graduate, holds the M.A. degree from New York University and taught at Morgan during the 1949-50 and 1950-51 terms. Mrs. Williams, a graduate of N.C. State College, also holds the M.A. from New York University.

Other new teachers are:

Darwin T. Turner, M.A., University of Cincinnati, instructor of English; Mrs. Estelle Starr, Mount Holyoke College, lSUbstitute instructor of biology; Jake Cox, M.A., New York University, instructor of education in charge of audio-visual laboratory; Donald G. Hill, M.A., Toronto University, instructor of sociology.

Miss Jeanette R. Temple, M.A., Northwestern University, instructor of English; Mrs. Marion Gregory, M.S., University if Pennsylvania, instructor of science education; James S. Kennedy, M.A., New York University, substitute instructor of English; Miss Alayne Turner, M.A., University of Minnesota, substitute instructor of histyr.

Also, Embra C. Bowie, M.A., University of Michigan, instructor of health and physical education. Stewart A. Brooks, M.Ed., Springfield College, instructor of health and physical education.

Leonard A. Ford, B.S., substitute instructor of chemistry; Richard A. Long, M.A., Temple University, instructor of English; and Marshall B. Payne, M.A., New York University, assistant in the department of sociology.

Returning from leaves of absence are:

Charles W. Stallings, assistant professor of art; C. Philip Butcher, assistant professor of English and speech; Norvell W. Hunter, associate professor of biology; Sandy J. McNeill, II, assistant professor of modern languages and Mrs. Rosalyn P. Stevens, instructor of music.

Teachers on leave this year include:

Dr. John W. King, biology; Arthur C. Lamb, Sr., speech and drama; Robert A. Smith, English; O. B. Moseley, music; Isaiah A. Woodward, history; Vashti history.

W. Joyner (extension), history; Dr. Clifton R. Jones, sociology; Dr. Gladyce H. Bradley (extension), education; Luther M. Hardin (extension), chemistry and histor.

Faculty members who resigned as of September 1 include Dr. Samella S. Lewis, assistant professor of art; Mrs. Rosalyn P. Stevens, substitute instructor of music.

New staff personnel at Morgan includes:

Miss Bernadine Maynor, junior stenographer; Miss Edith I. Gibbs, director of residence hall; Timothy Engram, electrician, and Miss Joslyn L. Ferrell, registered nurse.

Mrs. Virginia T. White, library assistant; Mrs. Phyllis K. McBurney, junior stenographer; Miss Jeanette M. Thompson, senior account clerk; John N. Nichols, senior account clerk and Gary T. Plowden, kitchen helper.

Elmer S. Patterson has been promoted from the post of superintendent of buildings and grounds to supervisor of building maintenance II, and Charles B. Payne has been promoted from senior account clerk to principal account clerk II.

Man Runs And Has A Reason Officer Says

Assault and robbery charges were dismissed Monday morning in Criminal Court against Alex Donaldson, 25, 700 block W. Fayette st. and James Hatton, 29, 600 block W. Fayette st., but not before Judge Herman Moser heard an unique explanation for running.

Hatton and Donaldson were arrested Aug. 8 on the complaint of one James Jones who gave his address in the 800 block Vine st. Jones didn't show up in court Monday but Officer Ernest O'Connor of the Southwestern District said the man had claimed the two defendants had taken a cigarette lighter, some cigarettes and some loose change from him.

J Block Chase

The officer said he got Jones right away but that Hatton fled down Pine st. causing a 7-block chase before he was apprehended.

When caught, the officer said, Hatton told him "he always saw police running and thought he could outrun them."

Later it developed, however, he fled because he had a one-half pint bottle of bootleg whiskey in his pocket.

New Methodist Men's Group Is Organized

An organization called the Methodist Men in Eastern Methodist Church, 1400-N. Eden st., has been chartered by Methodism's General Board of Lay Activities.

The local group, which will become one of 10,000 such organizations in Methodist churches across the country, is headed by Thomas Harris, 1508 N. Caroline st.

Five star Woman Struck No. 7

A 27-year-old woman, Miss Eva Alexander, was slightly injured when struck by an automobile at North ave. and Bentalou st., while waiting for a streetcar about 7 p.m. Saturday.

The driver of the car, Winfred L. Hunt, 18, white, 3300 block Edmondson ave., was charged by police with reckless driving.

The woman, who lives in the 200 block Nam st., was treated for bruises at Lutheran hospital.

Family Wants 10Gs For 'Impure' Ham

A damage suit for $10,000 was filed Monday in Superior Court on behalf of two adults and four children who allege that a ham bought at the S. and S. Provision Co., 1313 N. Fremont ave. caused them to become "violently ill."

Naming the wholesale grocers as defendants in the suit was the law firm of Brown, Allen and Watts who represent each of the plaintiffs.

The suit was instituted by William David Henderson and his wife, Mrs. Lily Teachey Henderson of 812 N. Mount st.

Bought ofy 3

The Hendersons claim they bought the "impure" ham on July 3 and as a result the whole family became ill.

Besides the husband and wife, the suit claims that the Henderson children, Loelly, Juanita, Mathew, John and Lawrence Preston were all made sick from eating the ham.

The suit charges that the whole family ate some of the ham and "as a result of such, the plaintiffs became nauseated and violently ill, requiring medical care and attention."

Lost Earnings

The Hendersons also claim that "as a result," they "have been unable to pursue their usual employment and have not been compensated for loss of earnings."

They further charge that "their illness was solely due to the negligence of the defendant without any negligence on the part of the plaintiff, claiming that the defendants "knew or should have known that the ham was impure, unwholesome and not fit for human consumption."

When contacted by the AFRO, William Blum, manager of the supermarket, said his company never even knew of any complaint about any meat purchase until he received a letter from Henderson's attorneys.

Has Inspectors

Pointing out that meat inspectors are in the store more than once a week, Mr. Blum said the matter had been turned over to his insurance company.

Referring to the Henderson's allegations, he said "Your business doesn't get better when you do things that way."

The store manager pointed out the supermarket has been in Northwest Baltimore for the past 14 months, "with prices cheap and national brand merchandise."

Dr. I. Bradshaw Higgins is the first of our Baltimore physicians to be honored as a fellow of the International College of Surgeons. He was inducted in Chicago last week, having qualified for this famed professional group on the basis of merit and examination by the board of the College. There are only about six men throughout the State so honored. Dr. Higgins senior visiting surgeon at Provident Hospital and an active civic worker became a fellow of the American College of Surgeons four years ago.

Window Smasher Given 60-Day Jail Sentence

A brick tossed through a 5 by 8 foot plate glass window will cost Bernard F. Thomas 27 2200 block Division st. 60 days in jail Magistrate E. Everett Lane ruled Friday.

Thomas was charged with breaking the window in the Silver Dollar cafe 1300 block Fremont ave. about 4:30 p.m. Thursday after being ordered from the place following an argument with the cook.

New Grand Jury Warned On Increases In Attack Cases

The incoming September grand jury which began sitting Monday morning was warned that although lottery, and drug cases have been reported on the decrease in Baltimore there have been reports that "some serious cases, such as rape, show a tendency to increase."

"Any study you make tending to show the reason for such increase," Judge E. Paul Mason said, "is desirable and should be helpful in controlling the increase in the number of such crimes."

Sitting along Judge Mason in Criminal Court as he addressed the new jury were Judges John T. Tucker, Herman Moser, and Joseph Carter, the latter to be among the new criminal court judges in January.

Three Tan Jurors

Three colored jurors are sitting with the new grand jury. They are Mrs. Bernice C. Monroe, 2200 block Madison ave., wife of a Morgan College professor; James H. Carter, 2400 block Mentebello terrace, assistant to the Morgan College president, and Otho P. Pinkett, 1500 block N. Bentalou st., member of the Baltimore Housing Authority.

The September grand jury will sit through Jan. 9, 1953 at which time a new jury will be impaneled.

The jury began sitting at a prominent time, since it is believed sometime this week it will get the famous Grammer "perfect" murder case to consider.

Judge Mason not only warned of the increase in rape cases but also said the last grand jury had "advised of a considerable increase in the stealing of cars, particularly by teen-agers.

Age No Excuse

"And," he continued, "in connection with these crimes, you should be told that if the facts before you make out a prima-facie case of larceny or unauthorized use, even though the offender is a teen-ager is no excuse for the commission of the crime."

Named to serve on the grand jury penetentiary committee was Mr. Carter. This committee "inquires into the management" of the state penitentiary.

SHAKESPEARE

Recess Politics Until School Is Open

Presidential campaigns get under way every four years during the first week in September.

They may not know it but the average American family has no time for politics in September's first two weeks.

That is the time the average American family (millions in number) buys the children's wardrobe, gets their thinking transferred from play to school work, and stands around after school is out to check the schedule and to provide pencils, pens, copy books and other needed equipment.

For parents and children this is the year's busiest season. Politics have to wait until school routines are settled.

No wonder the question, "Who is your choice, Adlai or Ike?" gets the response:—"I haven't made my mind up yet."

Defiance In S. Africa

Millions of black, brown and mixed-blooded natives of South Africa are suffering under humiliating segregation laws imposed by Prime Minister Daniel Malan.

Last Spring, the Union of South Africa's Supreme Court declared unconstitutional Malan - inspired law which took the vote from thousands of natives.

Malan promptly set up Parliament as the highest court of the land and made the pseudo court upheld the Malan distrranchisement rule.

But the natives are not taking it lying down. Since June, leaders of the African National Congress and the South African Indian Congress have joined hands to sponsor a civil disobedience campaign, a revolution without bloodshed.

Under this campaign, natives defy the Union's rigid segregation laws, turn the other cheek if physically abused, expect to end up in jail. Thousands have gone to jail. They ignored the sign on the train which reads, "White Europeans Only," and for their "crime" were thrown in jail.

It is safe to suppose that the Union's white supremacists will soon run out of jail space.

The faces of the natives in our picture show they are tired of "white only" signs and prepared to endure their defiance.

How long Malan and his followers, who are in the minority, can continue to harass, humiliate and brutalize the natives who compose the majority in South Africa, without bloodshed, remains to be seen.

This much is certain: If Malan and Co. persist in imposing their version of democracy, and don't heed the handwriting on the wall, they must shoulder the blame for the anarchy which is sure to follow.

Why Porgy And Bess

Porgy and Bess, an opera by George Gershwin in 3 acts and 9 scenes, deals with life in Catfish Row, a Charleston, S.C., slum area.

The characters are waterfront gamblers, dope peddlers, prostitutes and murderers.

The tone of the play is set by such songs as "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin' (Nothing)," "Bess, You Is My Woman" and "Bess, You Is My Woman Now."

This was the play the state department sent to Europe last week to show our contribution to music and world culture.

It would do better to acquaint Europe with our music if it would send instead the Howard and Tuskegee choirs or Etta Moten, Dorothy Maynor, Paul Robeson and Marian Anderson.

Europe already knows Lena Horne and Billy Eckstine from records. They would make excellent musical ambassadors.

"To the department's credit, it has sent a number of colored Americans abroad. It continues to do so the world will get a true picture of life in the U.S.A. despite the mistake made in calling attention to Porgy and Bess.

Too Much Progress?

The last citadel of privacy is falling.

British engineers have disclosed, at London's annual radio show, the invention of a telephone over which the speakers can see each other.

It is a sort of TV phone, with little screens at the end of each circuit on which each party can see the other.

A representative of the manufacturer, a salesman to be sure, assured that the device "would be invaluable for high-level, intergovernmental talks when people speak.

"must be certain of each other's ability."

Certainly there is merit in what he says, but there is no assurance that the device will be confined to that element.

What of TVphone's invasion of the rumpled bedroom and the lovely female lounging under the weight of the debris of last night's celebration?

What of the boss, deep in midafternoon slumber, who implores his secretary, "Tell that worry wart I'm not here?"

Horror of horrors, what will be the solution to the problem of the phone that rings, as they always do, when a man is in his bath?

Verily, this business of progress can go too far.

Didn't Scare Him

Joe Black, Brooklyn Dodger relief pitching star, had an FBI escort over the weekend, following receipt of a threatening letter against his life apparently his privilege as a fanatic Giant fan.

If the threat, believed to be the work of a crank, was designed to make the former Morgan State College athlete lose his pitching power, it obviously failed in its mission.

Black, playing against the Giants on Monday, appeared at the Polo Grounds unperturbed, and went through his regular routine without any strain or concern.

Fact of the matter is, he did such a brilliant relief job, the Giants got only six hits while striking out six batters in the 7⅓ innings he pitched and Brooklyn won a real thriller, 10-2. Black did not permit a single run to be scored on him although he filled the bases in the eighth.

With the Giants and the Dodgers only three weeks away from a decision in the hot National League pennant race, these are tense days for avid diamond followers.

Anything can happen. The Brooks could blow their season-long lead, or the Giants could pull a miraculous finish for the title.

Threats against players only add to the confusion. But it is gratifying to note that Black and his teammates are not lost their heads and are concentrating on the business at hand.

It was unfortunate that the game, played before more than 21,000 spectators, had to be marred by bad sportsmanship, characterized by the "missing off" of batters on both sides—particularly by Giant pitchers, who hit three Dodger batters with high, hard-to-miss pitches.

In the heat of the battle, however, and with both teams trying desperately to win, a fan can understand, even when he cannot condone, practices which are not of the noblest in our "great American sport."

PARIS—Maybe it's because Washington folks have more money with which to travel, or maybe the Seine river is more attractive than the Potomac—I don't know. But—whatever the reason, it's a cinch that somebody—from DeeCee will knock on my door each and every week.

Let's get the show on the road with Rufus Byars, public relations director, District Theatres (formerly Lichman)—who invaded the Social Register to come up with a real live contest while in Paris. Meets Former Pupils

Pianist Hazel Harrison, of the Howard U. faculty, making her way leisurely through France and Switzerland. Most happy to meet two of her former pupils here—Andre Wheatley and Cecile Roberts. Miss Harrison made one appearance here, before a very select group of international artists.

Down from Germany for a quick weekend being on manoeuvers was Capt. Lonnie Reid (doctor) and his wife, also a doctor, Margaret. They live at 356 E. Washington, Suffolk, Va. Capt. Reid is stationed with the 517 medical clearing company, Binlin, Rhine, Germany — but will be back in private practice next February.

Stopping at the same hotel Ambassador) were Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Atkinson, 1214 S. St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles. They have a restaurant and bar there. For two months they have been sight seeing and posting up on "Treasures in Italy, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, London and Paris.

Never mind the crowds inside the Louvre, I let them persuade me to go along when they went to see some masterpieces of art. But when we got to the Olympic pool, I left them when it's closed. But I'll get inside that Louvre if it's the last thing I do!

Took a fast whirl through Pigalle with Coach Joe Yancey. Then back to the hotel to say hello once again to Herb McKenley and wife, and George Rhoden, of the terrific Jamaica track team. Yancey and the Jamaican team have been burning up the cinders in half a dozen post-Olympic meets on the Continent.

Military Sends Hello

With the military: A big hello to Washington, Philly, and Norfolk — from Cpl. Charles Daniel, 1120 Oates st., ne., Washington; Cpl. Frederick Jones, 3320 Wallace st., Philadelphia; and Cpl. Israel Dildy, 735 Lanvale st., Norfolk, Va. These men are all in the 118th Army Band, and are are stationed at Chaumont, France.

M/Sgt. Lucius T. Gilbert, 340 Church st., Trenton, N.J., can retire any time he wishes. He's already put up 26 years in the Air Force. Airman 2/c B. E. Carter, 44 West st., Newark, N.J., has 13 years of service behind him while S/Sgt. Charles J. Johnson, San Bernardino, Calif., has been 8 years in uniform. These men are stationed at Chaumont, France.

Other service men seen recently include Airman 2/c Kent Giles, Kansas City, Mo.; Airman 3/c Livingston Smith, Miami, Fla. Sgt. James Gullick, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Pfc. Leo Maxwell, Youngstown, Ohio; Cpl. Carl Brown, Cornelia, Ga.; and Airman 1/c David Wellman, Chicago, Ill.

Attention Mrs. Lillian Strickland, of 201 4th st., sw., Washington, D.C. Your son, Sgt. Curtis L. Strickland, now with the 40th Supply Sq., Chaumont, France, lets everybody know how proud he is of you.

He told me about your fine work with the American Legion Auxiliary, and your singing at Friendship Baptist Church. Having recently lost my mother—I listened to everything he had to say about you. Love from both of us, if you don't mind.

Martel Davis, son of Frank G. Davis, agriculture expert who works in Liberia, was home for a few days last week after visiting his parents in Monrovia. He must choose whether to accept a scholarship at Yale or Dartmouth. Finished Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass. The Davis home address is 605 56th st., ne., Washington.

HOLIDAYS AND HOLY DAYS
September 17, 18, 30 - Rosher Days (Catholic) — Holy Communion and confessions. Rosary check at start of each day. Rosary beads to do penance and purify the soul; to recall the mind of others who have sinned; to remind the faithful never to waste the fruits of the earth. Observed by some Protestant groups.

September 18, 19 - Rosh Hashanah (Jewish) — The Jewish New Year, which is based on the lunar calendar. (This will start the year 5713). Main feature of public worship is the blowing of the ram's horn (the shofar) to remind the people to obey the Word of God. The New Moon begins 10 days of repentance.

September 22-Fast of Gedaliah (Jewish) — Immortalized last governor of Palestine, Gedaliah, who was appointed by Nebuchadnezzar and later assassinated.

September 28 - October 5 — Religious Education Week (Protestant)—Provided by the National Council of Churches.

September 29 - Yom Kippur (Jewish) — Considered a Sabbath of the days of the Jewish year. So set aside by Moses to repent of sin, fasting and prayer from sundown to sundown; the occupation pursued, rigorously observed.

What Our Readers Say...

POLITICAL CONFUSION

New York — If I am to judge by what I have heard the common, run-of-the-mill, average colored voter say, there is great consternation among them in regard to the coming presidential election.

These people cannot understand how their so-called leaders can swallow some or all of the men being offered to the country for the loftiest positions in the land.

The unseemly rush of these men who were at first dissidents to get on the Eisenhower and Stevenson band wagons (or is it gravy train?) is disgusting and suspicious.

There seems to be a lack of principle and consistency. We can next expect to see those leaders and the lesser lights supporting Sparkman and Nixon whose Congressional records have been marked by everything but friendship for the legitimate and constitutional aspirations of colored for equal rights and justice in this country. But, as the saying goes, "wonders never cease."

One of our Philadelphia AFRO columnists, Mrs. Barbara Pringmore, wrote a delightful story about the project which Gerd took with her when she returned to Sweden.

Many, many thanks to the AFRO for publishing the story.

I feel very strongly that if each of us tries to make a contribution to international friendship, we can make this a better world for our children. — (Mrs.) WILLIAM F. CANNADY, JR.

BRAGG EDITORIAL

Baltimore — I wish to thank you for the many kind expressions given my nephew, Arthur Bragg. Especially am I grateful for last week's editorial with the kindly reference to my father (The Rev. George F. Bragg), for it seems to me too often the "good men do is oft interred with their bones."

(Mrs.) NELLIE B. SORRELL

ABOUT LAWYERS

Baltimore — Buddy Lonesome said last week that we gave "too much of our legal business to white attorneys while our own starve."

I am not aware that there is any virtue in the color of a lawyer or of a man . . .

Those who suffer most from color prejudice should be the last to invoke it.—ALICE LONG.

Catonsville — Having lawyers is a matter of judgment. I have the man I think can win my case.—PERRY T. CHARLES.

Cherry Hill — If I thought like Lonesome, and I don't, I'd have it to meet . . .

CYRUS MALLORY

Brooklyn—Mr. Lonesome's idea is jim crow . . .

(Mrs.) MYRTLE ASH

Baltimore — Does anybody agree with Buddy, or is he all by himself? I think he's all wrong.

ARTHUR WORK

Baltimore — Mr. Lonesome is an ass if he thinks he can do anything for those of us who happen to have been born white. We h a d nothing to do with our color of our birth.—HERBERT WIENER.

Annapolis—It's outrageous to be so color conscious.

HOLMES-HARRISON CASE

Winston-Salem, N.C. — Concerning the Harrison-Holmes case, I do believe within my heart that the Rev. Mr. Harrison is guilty —his every word proves so.

I am a married woman in somewhat the same shoes as Miss Holmes. I have two children very beautiful, born out of wedlock, and I have been up against the mean people. But through my children I found Christ and He has made my life so worthwhile. I truly know that God has forgiven me and has made a way for me and my kids without me having to do wrong things.

The AFRO is doing a mighty fine job in printing the story on this case.

MISS. J. R. M.

Kannapolis, N.C. — After our young people read such stuff, they will not want to have faith in any preacher.—M.L.A.

Milwaukee, Wisc. — Some churches are full of dead bones. "Do anything you wish," they say, "just keep it hid."

READER

Dayton, O.—You have gone far afield to paint a picture of the Rev. Earl Harrison which is unwarranted by the facts . . . you have given a portrait of a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Many of us hope and pray he will free himself from a grave situation. — H. LAWRENCE McNEIL, pastor Zion Church.

Washington—Think about all the fat they had until they got caught. Then think how long and how much she will have to suffer because she was not afraid to tell the world her troubles.

I don't blame him. Both are wrong. Can he look his Maker in the face and say he didn't father the child?—AN UNWED MOTHER

Newark — I wholeheartedly agree with T. V. B. and Mae Martin, concerning Miss Holmes's situation. Common sense tells anybody that a man doesn't go any further than a woman lets him. If he does, he should be labled as a sex maniac. We have staunch statutory laws to punish such men of that calibre.

I am sure it wasn't that way with Rev. Harrison. If so, she should have reported him before she did.

If she won't be satisfied with what support Rev. Mr. Harrison may voluntarily give her for Diane, then she should grieve her heart out.

JOSEPH MANDERVILLE

Washington—As a middle-aged I want to suggest that young girls stay away from some other woman's husband.—G.E.S.

Washington—Miss Holmes is not a child, but a woman 33, who has lived long enough to have had more sense.—Rev. Harrison has built his monument for good that will last.

L. B. GADSDEN

Jacksonville, Fla. — Since this was not a case of rape, it had to be an agreement between the two of them.

Why not let these two keep their business to themselves, instead of publishing it to the world?—REV. E. M. MOORE

Washington—If only for the sake of thousands of teenage readers let's have less prattle and more on this most unfortunate (Harrison) case—MRS. L.M.L.

Baltimore—Even if the Rev. Mr. Harrison is the father of children by Miss Holmes and Mrs. Robinson, the court should free him. Deep in my heart, something tells me he is innocent.—GEORGE W. BYRD

CHURCH PLEASED

Columbus, Ohio—We, the minister, officers and members of the Shiloh Baptist Church, sincerely appreciate the feature story appearing in your paper. ("This Boy Preacher Made Good." — AFRO Magazine, Aug. 23). Our people read with much interest the story of our church and its program. This sort of publicity helps the church immeasurably.

—REV. JAMES W. PARRISH

LONELY GI

In Korea — I have been a resident of Baltimore for the last 20 years and also a weekly reader of your paper. Since my arrival in Korea, I have had the privilege and pleasure of receiving the AFRO which is sent to me by my wife. There is a soldier in my unit who receives no mail because he has no one to correspond with him. I am sure that the people of Maryland would be only too glad to write to him. He is a real swell guy who feels very lonesome especially at mail call each day.

His address is as follows: Pfc. William E. Ganaway US53138640

FAT BOY'S DIET

DARBY, Pa. — I am a regular reader of the AFRO and enjoy reading it. Please send me one of your Fat Boy's diet charts as I wish to reduce. — Mrs. B. B.

OXFORD, N.C. — I am about 50 pounds overweight. Please send me your Fat Boy's diet chart. I was about ready to give up when I saw this feature in the AFRO. — Mrs. — L. C.

BOSTON — Please send my sister, Mr. M. H., a copy of your reducing chart. She has tried to reduce many others without result. She weighs 185 pounds.—Mrs. K. H.

THOUGHTS OF THE FOUNDER

Example is better than precept. To teach young men one thing and practice another is hardly the right thing after all. Better practice what we preach.

JOHN H. MURPHY SR. 1907

My Favorite Quotation

In case of dissension, never dare to judge until you've heard the other side. — Euripides

WASHINGTON

Arnold Bauman, counsel for the Buffalo District of Columbia crime investigating committee, hasn't yet made public the testimony of Murray Oil, who was reputed to be the go-between for Frank Costello, big-scale New York gambler and tossed parties here for several members of Congress.
