Set Premiere Of Duke's New Song

NEW YORK — Three distinguished artists will appear in a program here Thursday, Sept. 18, featuring the premiere of a song "Heart in Harlem," by Duke Ellington.

The artists are Langston Hughes, who wrote the lyrics; William Marshall, actor and Margaret Bonds, pianist-composer.

The literary-musical event will be held at Carnegie Hall.

The program will climax a series of concerts featuring members of the NBC and Philharmonic orchestras and other outstanding artists.

Blues Chirp Set For Bright Lights

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Blues chirper Jerie McDonald, is breaking it up at the El Capitan Lounge, Kansas City, with Tommy Dean's orchestra.

Miss McDonald is being groomed for the bright lights by her personal manager Chick Finney.

Both Mercer and Trumpet Records are bidding for her services.

Vacationland NOTES

By MELVINA A. JACKSON

For those who consider Autumn as the ideal time for their vacation, California "Mission Trail" is the idea vacation spot.

When it comes to a unique and inspiring vacation land, there are few places that can match the famous "Trail" that stretches from San Francisco to the Mexican border.

The historic El Camino Real, or Spanish King's Highway, laid out by monks during the 17th and 18th centuries, represents one of the most beautiful 600 miles in America.

Marked By Churches

Extending from San Diego, at the Mexican border, to San Francisco's Golden Gate, the route is still marked with the 21 old mission churches that played an important part in California's colorful history.

If you like scenery on par with the world's finest, you'll find it there.

Take a spectacular marine panorama from Point Loma at San Diego, or the marine view from the Golden Gate bridge on San Francisco's Lincoln park.

Then, too, there's the world famed 17 mile drive on the Monterey peninsula, or the scenic California Highway One, south of Monterey.

A Solid Readbed

Parts of Highway One, which includes the Carmel-San Simeon route, were blasted out of solid rock on the sheer edges of mountain cliffs, above the Pacific.

World travelers rank sections of this two lane highway, for sheer grandeur of scenery and color, with the French Riveria, the Dalmatian Coast and the Amalfi region of Italy.

In addition to the historic missions such as song-famed San Juan Capistrano, the "Mission Trail" route offers a variety of route offers a variety of sports entertainment.

You can golf on excellent courses throughout the year, and there is spectacular fishing for every taste whether deep sea, surf, pier, or stream. Water sports, of course, are offered along the coast.

LETTERS FROM PLEASED AFRO READERS:

Dear Mrs. Jackson:

Here I am at Windsor Hotel in Montreal, Canada, thanks to you and your wonderful Vacation Guide. The Windsor Hotel is opposite the Dominion Square in the heart of the shopping center, also near the Windsor station, where you can get a train 2 or 3 times daily to other provinces.

Montreal is a friendly city there are many tourist homes near Dominion Square for our people. It seems as if I have lived here for years. It seems like 14th and Vou in Washington, D.C. or a little like Harlem.

Travel Guide Help'ul

Yesterday, I went to the Seville theatre to see a stage show. Billy Daniels was the top attraction, also on the same bill was Fred and Sledge, tap dancers. They were a big hit.

I just stop in Windsor, Vermont, on my return trip, also New York City. Thank you very much for being so helpful in making this vacation the best I have ever had.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. Iva Weaver

CIVIL RIGHTS VIOLATED:

Iowa Ballroom Bars Two At Armstrong Dance

CLEAR LAKE, Ia.—Two Louisiana Armstrong fans have filed civil suits against the Surf Ballroom here.

They charge that they were denied admission to the ballroom after purchasing tickets, because of their race.

The charges were filed under a misdemanor statute before a justice of the peace at Mason City.

Subject To Fine, Jail

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of $100 fine or a 30 day jail sentence.

The ballroom is operated by the Prom, Inc. of Chicago which has a string including the Trianon and Aragon, in Chicago; the Prom in Minneapolis and the Terp in Austin, Minn.

The local Surf is managed by Carroll Anderson.

An attorney for the ballroom says he denied that it is the policy of the management to bar persons because of color, and "no such policy has been dictated or set by any officials in Chicago."

The attorney, however, said that frequently, persons are denied admission if it is thought their presence might tend to create a disturbance.

The turn-about came as a surprise since one of the colored patrons denied admission to the Armstrong dance said he had danced at the Surf on at least two previous occasions.

Marian Anderson Sings In New RCA Victor Album

PHILADELPHIA — Contralto Marian Anderson is featured this month in a new RCA Victor classic album on a coupling with famed cellist Gregor Piatigorsky and her accompanist Franz Rupp.

The album of "Great Combinations" feature the finest of modern-day vocal and instrumental artists.

Miss Anderson sings two traditional American favorites from her extensive repertoire of folk music "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" and Stephen Foster's "My Old Kentucky Home," with accompaniment by Piatigorsky and Rupp.

All the artists in the current album are among the most famous in their respective fields and present a collection of songs immensely popular with the public and not usually found in the repertoire of concert stars.

Other selections in the album include:

Robert Merrill and Yehudi Menuhin, "Ombra Mai fu" from Handel's "Xerxes" and "In the Silence of the Night (Rachmaninoff); Jan Peerce and Mischa Elman, "Angel's Serenade" (Braga) and "O Dry Those Tears" (del Riego);

Also Ezio Pinza and Nathan Milstein, "None But the Lonely Heart" (Tchaikovsky) and "Calm as the Night" (Bohm) and Rise Stevens and Mischa Elman, the "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman" and Massenet's "Elegie."

Garner Shrugs Off Dope Count Arrest

'Just One Of Those Things,' Pianist Says Of Shore Incident

WASHINGTON

"It's just one of those things," shrugged diminutive Erroll Garner, current favorite of the juke box set, when asked to comment about his recent arrest in Atlantic City, N.J.

Garner, who is displaying his piano styling at the Howard Theatre this week, described his current plight as the result of "playing around with a bunch of wild guys in my younger days."

The jazz pianist was arrested during a raid on a narcotics ring for failing to register as a convicted felon in Atlantic City.

Back in 1943 in Los Angeles, Garner explained, "I was convicted on a narcotics charge and sentenced to 45 days to an honor farm.

"It was all a frame," he said. "I was turned in by a fellow whose job I took in a night club in which I was playing. The guy was salty and squealed.

"But, I am not complaining because it did happen. At the time I was a youngster and went around with a bunch of wild guys.

Through With "Heavy"

"I saw them do all kinds of things. And you know how young fellows are—I smoked some of the same stuff."

The keyboard wizard, who was interviewed by an AFRO reporter backstage between shows, stated emphatically that he was through with that kind of stuff now."

"I have too much to lose," he explained. "I am getting near the top now and I have seen too many musicians ruin their lives.

"If they don't ruin their health, the law catches up with them; so they can't win. The narcotics men are really moving in these days."

Frank (Tony) Randolph, 36, who was reportedly arrested as a dope peddler and listed as a roommate of Garner's, was employed by Garner as a valet.

"I hired him in Chicago before coming into Atlantic City," Garner explained. "They didn't find anything on him when he was arrested, but a couple witnesses said that they bought some stuff from him.

"I imagine that he thought that he had a good front in working for me," Garner added.

Unfair Publicity

"The only thing is that I was the least involved and got most of the publicity. This is one time that I wished I was digging ditches."

As for the law which Garner has reportedly violated, the pianist asserted:

"When I was booked in Mack's Tavern the manager didn't tell me about the registration law. I hear that it was passed on June 1.

Just A "Bad Break"

The Glaser agency which handles Mr. Garner's bookings, verified the fact that the pianist was ignorant of the Atlantic City law on registration of convicted addicts and points out that it was unfortunate that he even was in town when the raids occurred.

Said Glaser:

"Incidentally, he (Garner) has been working at Mack's for three weeks this summer. The manager of the spot asked him to stay one extra day, Labor Day, which Erroll did, as a favor.

"As a result he was in Atlantic City on that day, and on that day the police made their pinches, including Erroll. I guess you could call it bad breaks.

"Obviously if Erroll, or his attorney or his agency knew of the narcotical ordinance, they would have made the proper registration when Erroll was booked into Atlantic City."

Garner explained that his other legal entanglement with a Miss Harriet Joslyn of Los Angeles as a "phony deal."

"Nothing Much To It"

"She gave me some money, I imagine, to take off of her income tax. What was I to do, turn my back on money? I accepted it. There is really nothing much to it," he said, and added:

"It's in the hands of my lawyer."

Garner faces a hearing on the Atlantic City case on Sept. 16. He says that he believes the case will be proved to a higher court in Newark, N.J.

"One thing more," he said. "I am only 27, not 30 as reported in the papers."

Garner's latest records are in a Columbia album titled "Solo Flight." The best of the group is his version of "Cocktails For Two."

"MY SKIN TROUBLE ANNOYED ME A LOT"
I. Margaret Sharp, 2109 Druid Hill Ave., Baltimore 17, Md.:
"My skin trouble annoyed me a lot. It was on my face and would itch and burn painfully. The doctor called it Acne. I tried a lot of ointments but none seemed to do any good, until I tried Black and White Ointment. It certainly is a fine ointment. I recommend it to everybody."

Counsel Calls Slayer Crazy

Has New Evidence To Convince Jurors

CLEVELAND — The trial of Lawrence (Loony Larry) Goldsby for the murder of a policeman and three strangers on a crowded downtown bus, last May, got under way here last week, with the defense laying the groundwork for the plea of mental deficiency for the prisoner.

As the trial opened Monday, Norman S. Minor, chief defense counsel, promised that "we have evidence that will make the jurors in this case see the entire thing in a new light."

Goldsby was charged with first-degree murder a few days after he had gone berserk on a bus which Police Officer Eugene Stinchcomb had boarded to stop him from smoking a cigaret.

Took Policeman's Gun

The 22-year-old ex-Air Corps veteran had snatched the patrolman's gun from his holster, killed the officer and, in crazed rage, continued to fire until every bullet was gone from the gun and three other persons—all strangers to him—lay dead.

The victims of the mad attack, in addition to Patrolman Stinchcomb, were Miss Annabelle Frank, 26, who had complained of Goldsby's burning her hair with his cigaret; Mrs. Helen Garrison, 50; and William Powers, 60. All were white.

When Goldsby had emptied the pistol, other passengers on the bus beat him until he was taken into custody by Patrolman Walter Phillips, 25, a colored policeman who is a Navy veteran.

Raps Psychiatric "Exams"

There was an expression of grave doubt about the psychiatric examination which affirmed Goldsby's sanity during his arraignment, when the first panel of three doctors returned it to Judge F. L. Lybarger shortly after Goldsby was arrested.

Of the three medics who "studied" Goldsby, one was out of the city attending a funeral most of the time.

Of another, Minor said "I doubt very seriously that this man spent 45 full minutes with Goldsby before returning his findings."

Minor placed all three of the doctors before Judge Lybarger, who conducted the hearing, and was able to bring out a disagreement between them on most major points they had claimed to study.

Admitted Sex Pervert

It was on the basis of this that he has asked a more thorough study of the prisoner, an admitted sex pervert, who at the present time has a brother in an insane asylum.

Goldsby, who admitted to police that "I have never had a normal sexual relationship in my life," said that as a child, he and his brother were attacked by a sex pervert.

Neither he nor his brother have been normal since that experience, he said.

Goldsby had his first brush with police in 1949, when he was arrested in Cincinnati on suspicion of stealing a car.

Deep Anti-Police Bias

He reported that he was beaten by police and for days after that "I felt silly and people told me I looked silly."

After his arrest in the quadruple slaying, Goldsby moaned and sobbed throughout his brief hearing that he killed because he was "just mad."

Judge Samuel Silbert is presiding over the current murder trial, which is expected to last for two or three weeks.

The case is being prosecuted by the heaviest battery of "top brass" that has been used in any recent case, including Frank Cullitan, chief county prosecutor; John Mahon, his chief assistant; and Theodore M. Williams, assistant proseculor.

Morgan Prof Queried In British Girl's Death

CLEVELAND — A professor of languages at Morgan State College in Baltimore has cleared himself of implication in the strange death of a British nurse who died on a lonely French beach last August.

The instructor, Sandye John McIntyre, 28, whose Cleveland address is 10214 Columbia ave., had recently arrived from Paris where he had been studying on a Fulbright scholarship since 1951.

Reading that he was sought by French police for questioning in the death of Sybil Johnson, whose body was found Aug. 22 near Wimereux, in the Boulogne area of France, Mr. McIntyre consulted local police.

Told Cleveland Detectives

He walked into the Cleveland detective bureau, told what he knew of the dead woman and was cleared by officers after they checked his story.

Mr. McIntyre said that he and the English girl were not "intimate friends in the love sense. If there was any feeling between us it was strictly platonic."

He had met her in 1944 at a Red Cross dance while he was with the armed forces in Europe.

He told detectives that he did not know of her death or that he was being sought until he arrived from Paris last week.

Very Intelligent

He had not seen her since the middle of July. Terming her very intelligent, he said that he had only seen her three times in Paris while as a GI but had never taken her out.

"We corresponded a few times after I came home," he said, "and when I returned to Paris, I saw her about three more times."

French police theorize that Miss Johnson's death was suicide since she was an excellent swimmer.

Cleveland Woman Wins High Honor

CLEVELAND (ANP)—A Cleveland woman placed third in competition with several thousand insurance workers during the nation-wide examination held by the Life Office Management Association in New York, it was announced last week.

She is Mrs. Emma Stewart, assistant to the president of Dunbar Life Insurance Co., of Cleveland. She is the first of her race and one of the few women to rank among the top three in the periodic contests.

First to congratulate Mrs. Stewart for her "significant accomplishment" was L. L. Rowland, managing director of the association, which embraces the country's largest insurance companies.

Meanwhile, colored insurance executives and workers throughout the nation have sent letters of commendation.

Set Business League Parley For Oct. 29
WASHINGTON (NNPA) — The 52nd annual convention of the National Business League and the National Housewives League scheduled for a three-day session here beginning Oct. 29, may well be the most significant meeting since the league was launched by the late Booker T. Washington.
Horace Sudduth, NBL president and Cincinnati hotel owner and financier, said reporters that every effort will be made to attract an attendance of delegates and representatives from a great number of the 300 or more NLB affiliates located in more than 40 states.
Although the convention agenda has not yet been completed, Mr. Sudduth said national and international developments and trends make it imperative that business leaders this year address themselves to developments, trends and all problems affecting colored businesses.

Panicky Vet Dies Escaping Fire

CLEVELAND — A 26-year-old war vet from Jackson, Tenn., was killed here last Wednesday when he either fell or jumped from a third floor window in panic after his mattress caught fire.

Funeral services for the man, Wendell Burgess, who came to Cleveland from Jackson six years ago, were held Monday at the House of Wills. He lived at 10001 Bryant ave. and is survived by four brothers and a sister.

How to prove to yourself Luckies are made better—to taste cleaner, fresher, smoother
Strip the paper from a Lucky by carefully tearing down the seam from end to end. Be sure it's from a newly opened pack, and that you don't dig into the tobacco. Then gently lift out the tobacco cylinder.
Free from loose ends
Here's why Luckies taste cleaner: You can see that Luckies hold together without crumbling—without loose ends to get in your mouth and spoil the taste. Lucky Strike remains a perfect cylinder of clean tobacco—round, firm and fully packed.
Free from "hot spots"
Here's why Luckies taste fresher: Note how free Luckies are from air spaces—those "hot spots" that give you a hot, harsh taste. Luckies' long strands of fresh, good-tasting tobacco give you a fresh, smooth smoke.
Here's why Luckies taste smoother: L.S./M.F.T., Lucky Strike means fine tobacco—fine, light, naturally mild tobacco. So, for a smoke that's cleaner, fresher, smoother, for truly mild tobacco, for a cigarette that tastes better ...make your next carton Lucky Strike!
