farm programs,' to a speech he made in support of a bill "to make it possible for worthy farm tenants to become farm owners," support of the school lunch program "without discrimination," and the fight he has waged for "good housing for all segments of our people."

Sparkman hit back at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the talk the New York governor made for the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket over a state-wide CBS television and radio network from New York City last Thursday. Dewey labeled Sparkman a "jim-crow agent" and cited the Alabaman's votes in the Senate 23 times against civil rights measures.

Quotes Nixon's Record

Sparkman said he must have got under Dewey's "skin because he came out with this tremendous blast against me." He said he did not have "the slightest idea what the 23 measures were."

"If Governor Dewey wants to be absolutely fair, I wonder why he didn't give the record of the Republican candidat, for Vice President, who doesn't come from the South, but from the great liberal State of California," Sparkman said, adding:

"Why didn't he say how he voted on the amendment to change the cloture rule in the House? Why doesn't he tell his people how he (Senator Nixon) voted against practically every measure that would raised the economic level of all the people of this country?"

Practice What We Preach

Before Sparkman arrived, Dwight R. G. Palmer, chairman of the board of the General Cable Company and treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, spoke briefly.

Mr. Palmer, who is a member of the President's Committee on Government Contract Compliance, said in his campaign "we practice what we preach." He added that he does not believe that the National Urban League and other agencies with which he has worked "have begun to accomplish what they are going to accomplish."

The leaders from the North and the South also were addressed by Democratic National Committee Chairman, Stephen Mitchell.

Former Illinois Congressman, Arthur Mitchell, praised Sparkman as a true liberal and compared him to Supreme Court justice Hugo Black.

Warnings Voiced

Warnings were voiced by Philip Weightman and William Oliver of the CIO that colored persons would suffer if Republicans won.

Congressman Dawson, who chaired the meeting, declared:

"This gathering marks the greatest forward step over taken by our group in politics. Colored voters will not stand idly by and see the great Democratic program started by Roosevelt and carried forward by Truman destroyed."

He stated, "The desperate attempt of the Republicans to confuse the issues by falsehoods and half truths is doomed to failure. The colored man is a mature citizen who can no longer be bought, bullied or bamboozled."

Samples of wit and wisdom heard during the speeches:

Definition of a Dixiecrat — "A dixiecrat is not a democrat. He is a republican who poses as a democrat in order to get elected to office. When he is elected he votes with the republicans."

A dixiecrat is "a person who doesn't know the Civil War is over."

Republican Senator Bricker was quoted as saying: "Dixiecrats are illegitimate republicans. They always vote with us. Lets take them in and make them legitimate."

Slogan Answered

Answering the republican slogan that democrats have been in office too long, Congressman Dawson said — "How long is too long when it so good."

On General Eisenhower's statement that he enjoys rebel yells and heard them at the battle of the Bulge:

"It sounds like he is telling a tall story. You don't fight a modern war running around yelling. Silence and concealment is a war's strategy.

"Who ever heard of a 5 star general getting close enough to the shooting to hear any yelling.

Needed Changes

Answering its time for a change: "It's time to clean out those who will not support the Democratic platform and the Democratic candidates."

On the dixiecrat-republican combination—"An unholy alliance in Congress. The same group which votes against labor, votes against us."

On prosperity—"We are keeping more homes and cars, we are eating better than ever before."

Claims Debunked

On Republican claims they have always been on our side:

1. Whenever did a Republican Attorney general go to the U.S. Supreme Court and urge them to protect our rights?

2. In the Hayes-Tilden case Republicans sold us down the river after the Civil War. Republicans got the presidency, but union troops were withdrawn from the southern states and we lost every senator, congressman and lieutenant governor we had elected. We never heard of Civil Rights again until we elected Roosevelt.

Voters in South

Who made it possible for 120,000 colored voters to register in Florida, 100,000 in Georgia, 100,000 in North Carolina?

Answer: The Democratic Party.

platform as his own and spoke out as boldly for it in Richmond as in New York.

WHERE ARE OUR FRIENDS?

Both Stevenson and Eisenhower woo the Catholic, Jewish, labor and farm vote.

Of these elements, one of the strongest and most vocal is labor. Labor is for Stevenson.

Labor is also our strong ally in the fight for civil rights. Labor is going our way. We can support Stevenson together.

Mr. Eisenhower alone seeks the Dixiecrat vote. He has made two excursions into the South and plans a third.

Every dispatch from the Eisenhower train in Dixie monotonously says three things:

1. The Dixiecrats have taken over weak Republican organizations.
2. The candidate is greeted by Confederate flags and rebel yells.
3. Few colored people are in the audience.

Certainly our friends are not among the Dixiecrats whom Ike loves.

THE CANDIDATES THEMSELVES

General Eisenhower has a miserable record in race relations in the Army.

He commanded a jim-crow army and wanted it kept that way. He went to Washington and argued before the Senate for a continuation of this policy. He closed the Red Cross clubs in London to colored soldiers over his own signature.

This is Ike's record and it's bad.

Stevenson, as governor of Illinois, worked hard for a statewide FEPC and lost by one vote. He abolished separate schools and slapped down riotous Cicero so hard, the town wants to change its name.

He outlawed segregation in the Illinois national guard by executive order. He removed all references to race on application blanks for state employment.

Here are the two candidates. Both of them have many high qualities.

If we are to decide where our best interest lies, we need only to open our eyes.

The weight of the evidence is in favor of Governor Stevenson.

REAL GOP IS DEAD

The national party of Lincoln and Thaddeus Stevens is dead.

The Supreme Court knifed it in the back with an 1883 decision killing a national civil rights law, which Congress had enacted.

Since then, reactionaries have thrown at us all the oppressions and exploitations in the book.

An impotent Republican national machine under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover could not even pass an anti-lynching law.

To be sure, the spirit of liberty and equality persists in Republicans like Dewey, Driscoll, Lodge and others, but there is not enough of it to make their will prevail.

Under Roosevelt and Truman, the Democratic party has been the champion of the little people.

Adlai Stevenson has promised to carry out its platform and programs.

To us he looks like a president, thinks like a president, talks like a president, and acts like a president.

Safety Rules For Fire Prevention

Every day nearly 1,000 American homes are struck by fire. What causes these fires, and who is to blame for them?

The Baltimore Fire Department and the Baltimore Safety Council now observing Fire Prevention Week, have announced statistics which provide the answer to these two important questions.

On the basis of these findings obtained through the National Board of Fire Underwriters on a nation-wide scale, the fire-safety leaders put the blame for fire in the home on the carelessness of the home-owner or tenant and the cause for most fires is the carelessly discarded lighted match or cigarette.

Careless Smoking

Careless smoking habits caused one third of all reported fires last year, the safety leaders said, cautioning that a smoldering cigarette can destroy your home as surely as a stick of dynamite.

To safeguard your home, your life and the lives of your loved ones, follow these five simple rules:

1. Keep ash-trays handy, use them, and forbid smoking upstairs.
2. When emptying ash-tray, make sure every cigarette butt is out, especially before disposing with other refuse.
3. Always inspect your living room before going out or before retiring and dispose properly of burning cigarette butts.
4. Never smoke in bed.
5. Never toss a lighted match or cigarette carelessly away.

was used as that presented at the 1950 trial.

Ingram and Palmer also contended the indictment against Rouse was too general and not specific enough to prepare a defense.

Adams and Rouse were granted a second trial by order of the Court of Appeals. Rouse contended that he was out of the numbers business when he was indicted for conspiracy. He was found guilty by a jury that deliberated but 15 minutes in his second trial.

Judge Convicts Adams

Adams was convicted by Judge E. Paul Mason after he chose a court trial.

A ruling on the argument for a third trial is expected from the Supreme Bench this week.

Since their numbers convictions, both men have been hit by tax liens filed by the U.S. Government for back income taxes. Adams' indebtedness was set at more than $830,000. The lien on Rouse was reported to be $17,000.

Deans At Maryland State

Applications Taken

Applications for jobs as custodial laborers and foreman of laborers are now being accepted at the Social Security Office, 109 Market Pl.

Two classifications of the laborer's job pay $2,420 and $2,552 per year. The foreman's job pays $2,750.

These jobs are subject to a U.S. Civil Service examination and are open to both veterans and non-veterans.

Ten-Year Sentence For Gatewood Thief

William (Slick) Smith, tried as one of the three men who robbed Asker Gatewood, night club operator, of $6,000 in 1949 was sentenced to 10 years in the Maryland State Penitentiary Friday in Criminal Court.

Judge Herman M. Moser said he normally would have given the man 20 years but was lenient because he was suffering from arthritis and was only released from the Eastern penitentiary in Pennsylvania a week before his arraignment here on Sept. 2.

Robbed At Home

A second man, charged with the robbery earlier this year, was released to a Pennsylvania sanitarium after he was reported to be dying of tuberculosis.

Mr. Gatewood was held up at gun point by three men at his home in the 1800 block Edmondson ave. on April 11, 1949.

Taken from his safe at the time were a $2,000 platinum ring, a $1,200 solitaire platinum ring, a $1,500 cluster diamond stick pin, a $1,000 diamond ring and $850 in cash.

At the time of the robbery only Mr. Gatewood and his niece, Miss Elaine Nelson were in the house. After forcing the night club operator to open his basement safe, both he and the young woman were tied up.

Defense Questions Money

At Smith's trial for robbery with a deadly weapon, defense counsel A. A. Levin mentioned to the court that Mr. Gatewood had not been "perfectly frank" about how and why so much money and jewelry was in the safe.

Mr. Gatewood identified himself as being in the restaurant business.

Smith was prosecuted by Asst. State's Attorneys Theodore A. Waters and John A. Romano.

Smith and Vernon Fields, along with a third man were seized in Philadelphia in a similar holdup as the Gatewood robbery in August, 1949. Fields and Smith were identified as having participated in the Baltimore heist but couldn't be charged here until they served the time due the state of Pennsylvania.

Boy Killer, 17, Sentenced To Life In Prison

Alvin T. Tyson Jr., the 17-year-old youth who was convicted in a first degree murder on Sept. 26, was sentenced to life imprisonment, Monday morning in Criminal Court by Judge John T. Tucker.

The youthful teen-ager was convicted in the "yoking" death of a white war veteran, Andrew Verrazzo, 44, who was hammered to death on May 24 in an alley off Penn st. near Pratt st. during a robbery.

A co-defendant of young Tyson and the alleged wielder of the death hammer, Joseph H. (Little Joe) Butler, 15, was found not guilty at the trial on the grounds of insanity.

Was Crownsville Escapee

Young Butler was committed to Crownsville State Hospital, a place from where he escaped on Jan. 25.

Tyson lived in the 700 block Redwood st. and the Butler youth in the 900 block W. Mulberry st.

Judge Tucker found Tyson guilty of first degree murder at the end of a two-day trial, although the youth did not actually wield the death weapon.

The court held that the two teen-agers had planned to rob someone the night Verrazzo was slain and by law it doesn't matter which one uses the death weapon since both are guilty of a planned robbery in which a victim is killed.

The court gave its verdict without recommending capital punishment.

Letter Writing Week Oct. 12-18

'National Letter Writing week' will be observed from Oct. 12-18, Postmaster Neal A. Silsbey has announced.

This year's slogan is "Write Today to Those Away," and, Postmaster Sibley said, the Post Office department is trying "by every means" to publicize the observance.

He urged the writing of letters to friends and relatives during the week.

Numbers Guilty Plea Draws Fine, 6 Months

Nathaniel Campbell, 52, 1400 block Harlem ave., received a 6 months sentence and 1,000 fine Monday after he pleaded guilty to a lottery violation before Judge E. Paul Mason in Criminal Court.

Campbell was arrested on June 3 in the 800 block N. Stricker st. by Officers Leroy Moody and John Blackwell. Police said they found slips representing 188 numbers on the man.

Do you feel like a change from light, dry brews? Isn't it worth a few cents extra to get the deep satisfaction of a full-bodied drink . . . with a flavor stronger than beer, bolder than ale, more velvety than both?
Then try a tall, dark and husky glass of Guinness. Find out what malt and hops can really do! Guinness Stout is lusty, not light. Hearty, not heavy. It's a bold-bodied, brawny brew with flavor twice as strong as beer . . . and for the best of reasons!
None of the goodness is filtered out of Guinness. All of that ruby color and bracing flavor is brewed in to stay . . . the slow, natural way.
Mix Guinness half and half with beer. Or, to really appreciate that racy, robust flavor, drink it straight. Either way, Guinness makes good food taste better!
You can enjoy it often, because a bottle of world-famous Guinness Stout costs far less than you think . . . actually less than a pack of popular-brand cigarettes.
