SUMMING UP THE EVIDENCE.

Many Chestertown People Have Been Called as Witnesses.

Week after week has been published the tsstimoay of Chestertown people—kidney suffers—backache victims—people who have endorsed many forms of kidney, bladder or urinary disorders. These witnesses have used Doan's Kidney Pills. All have given their enthusiastic approval. It's the same everywhere. 30,000 American men and women are publicly recommending Doan's—always in the home papers. Isn't it a wonderful, convincing mass of proof? If you are a sufferer your verdict must be "Try Doan's first."

Mrs. I. M. Blyman, High St., Chestertown, says: One of our family had backache and other symptoms of weak kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally procured from Toulson's Drug Store and they gave relief."

Mrs. Blayman is only one of many Chestertown people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—If your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Blyman recomends thn remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. THE PAST.

WRITTEN FOR THE TRANSCRIPT.

That past which is so presumptaously brought forward as a precedent for the present was itself founded on some past that went before.

July and August are now past and the farmer has gotten back from the camp meetings and ready to cut his flax about the first of September. We also pulled the blades as we raised no hay in those days, and as the blades were full in the day we worked until ten o'clock at night tying up these blades. When they were through with the blades they cut the tops off and shocked them because they were easily tied up when damp. They then put the blades in a building and stacked the tops. The next work was to get in the flax and sow the wheat in the corn without phosphate. The farmer would get on his horse and sow the wheat, then plow it in with small plows. When this was finishud he gathered his apples, putting the best ones in his cellar and grinding the small and decayed ones into cider. Often they built long fodder houses out of the tops and put the corn in the house to be husked in cold weather and some husked in the field. After the corn was husked they butchered their hogs, which took a week to render the lard, salt the pork and make the sausage. At this time they would have a great feast with the crackling johnny cake and the finest sausage that anyone ever ate. The farmer was particularly careful with his hams and chimes. After this he gets his wood as we had no coal and no stoves, we used fireplaces. The fireplace in the house required wood about two feet, in the kitchen it took a full cord stick. After this he kills an ox which I told you about last week. Then the kersey was gotten home for the men and generally we had a man to go through the neighborhood to do the cutting and our people at home made the clothes which were finished before Christmas, and with our new hose and new boots we were ready for that day and never have happier people lived than the farmer, his family and servants.

Now there moved among us a Mr. Rhoeder from Pennsylvania, who bought the Frank Cann farm, generally known as the Mose Ginn farm, on the left of the road going to Kennedyville, within a little distance of the village. He came from a section of the country where agriculture had advanced very much. He brought all his help with him; also the large Pennsylvania wagon and very large horses; these wagons were the first our people had seen. I think he was the first man to introduce timothy in this section. He was an excellent man, a good citizen and helped our people a great deal. Many of his posterity are now in Kent county, and I think that Tilghman Shafer, at Kennedyville, is his grandson. I went to school with some of his boys. At the same time Mr. Rhoeder came here, another large family came from Pennsylvania and settled the Hopewell farms by the name of Goff. Another came on the farm afterwards owned by John Corey. Soon after another family moved up in the Second District where my great friend, Josiah Lusby, lived for many years, and I think most of his children were born there. This family was named Gebhart, and his boys and I went to school together.

At Turner's Creek boats took our grain, lambs, poultry, eggs and butter, and the captains sold them, as we had no commission people to sell the products. In those days we did not get daily papers, but a weekly and a small paper published here, but we read the Bible and went to church and Sunday school.

Now we had one or two very prominent men in our neighborhood, one being a man of considerable means, who did a great deal to help our people. About this time there came a Frenchman, who, after taking off his hat, would almost pull off his coat to speak. He went to the farmers and told them that in France the farmers turned all the corn stalk tops into manure to enrich the land, and I want to teach you peopeople to do this so that you can have it for your land. He had a pit dug 80 or 100 feet long and about 15 feet wide. The stalks were put in the pit and pumps were used to pump the hard lye into the stalks. He worked this about six months with very little decay and little change in the stalks, and he made an excuse saying it was the weather. Before six months had expired he said he had urgent business in France, but when I get back your stalks will be decomposed. He has never been back yet. What he was paid I don't know, but in talking to these men some years after, they did not care to talk about Gonlard. The stalks stayed in the pits 5 or 6 years and when taken out there was no change only the stalks were rusty.

Soon after this another Frenchman came with a story about silkworms that were grown in France. He was surprised at us wearing sheep wool while the people in France were wearing silk. I will do great things for you people if you will let me. So our farmers looked at it as a get-rich quick, so they had meetings and organized a silk company, bought a farm of 200 or 250 acres and planted what we called the moro multicaulus tree nothing more than the mulberry tree. So he had trees brought here and planted in this and other sections of our county. He said he would furnish the silkworms and teach the method, and that the worms would feed on the leaves. They had what they called the cuckoonery on the farm. The farm was bought by the stock-holders of the silk company, the shares sold as low as $10, it was a poor farm and did not cost much. He went to France, brought the worms back at the time the leaves were plentiful, and they did not know what to do when winter came. Many of the farmers had small cuckooneries on their own farms, and the women worked hard to raise silk and

This property consists of a LOT OF LAND fronting 293 feet 4½ inches on the east side of Washington avenue, and extending back 445¼ feet to Philosopher's Terrace, running parallel with Washington avenue. The front half of said lot will be divided into each of them fronting 49.08 feet on Washington avenue with an even depth throughout of 225 feet (except lot No. 1, which has a width on College avenue of 46.08 feet, and in the rear a width of 48.83.)

It is the same property which was conveyed unto Stephen E. Ford by deed of Assignment of Lease from Emily Jane Sparks et al, bearing date the 23d day of October, 1904, recorded in Liber J. T. D., No. 10, folios 116, etc., one of the Land Records of Kent county, Md. It is also designated as Lots Nos. 44, 45, 46, 49, 50 and 51 on the plot of the lands of Washington College recorded in Liber S. B., No. 4, folios 224, etc.

Your Own Porch Better than a Country Cottage

You need not go into the country during the hot summer months if you have your porch equipped with

AEROLUX
NO-WHIP
PORCH SHADES

These water-proof shades come in a great variety of colors. They admit just the proper amount of good fresh air yet maintain perfect seclusion to those upon the porch.

They transform any porch into a perfect resting place. The NO-WHIP ATTACHMENT with which these shades are equipped prevent flapping of the shade. The shades successfully keep out the hot rays of the sun and while they maintain the porch cool and comfortable, admit just the proper amount of light.

Call and see our display or a telephone call will bring the "Aerolux" man who will show you color samples and then if you wish, take the measurements of your porch.
