Harris To Match Strategy Against Hurt In Classic

WASHINGTON

When Morgan State College and Virginia Union University meet on the gridiron at Griffith Stadium in the Capital Classic, Saturday night, Nov. 8th, it will mark the first meeting of football teams coached by the rival coaches.

Tom Harris, now in his fourth season as coach of the Union Panthers, is anxious to make this first clash with the veteran Eddie Hurt, Morgan's national-known mentor, a winning effort and is working overtime to prepare his charges for an upset.

Harris has been concentrating on air attacks in Union's recent drills and obviously hopes to use passes as the Panthers' chief offense weapon. Too, Harris has drilled his team in secret with defensive maneuvers designed to check the Bears' tricky laterals and pitchouts.

Black To Appear

Both teams will move into the Capital Classic with the big aim to gain a victory to offset what has been in-and-out seasons, and judging from past experience which has seen classic foes produce unarpassed performances, a nip and tuck contest is in the making.

Joe Black, former Morgan star and now the Brooklyn Dodger ace pitcher, will be on hand as honored guest. Black, who won Rookie of the Year honors in the National League, will crown "Miss Capital Classic" during the half-time ceremony which will feature the Bolling Field Air Force band, an intercacial outfit, which won national acclaim at the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans last January.

Black, now on tour with Roy Campanella's all-stars, wrote classic officials at 1003 U st., nw, this week, declaring "I am looking forward with much pleasure to Saturday night, November 8th."

Dunbar (B) Trips Dunbar (W), 14-6

McCoy, Taylor Score TDs To Spoil Tide's Homecoming

By FRED LEIGH

Stalled repeatedly on touchdowns drives, Dunbar of Baltimore rose up with a pass interception and a 60-yard TD march to spoil the celebrate homecoming festivities of Dunbar of Washington with a 14-6 triumph, Friday in Brooks Stadium.

Punching out their third South Atlantic Conference victory in four starts the Bruins climbed into second place behind front-running Armstrong before some 1500 fans. Dunbar of Washington, defending city and South Atlantic Conference champions, suffering its second straight setback tumbled into fourth place with a 3-2-1 record.

The contest, played in 75 degree weather in almost sufocating dust on a field which needed sprinkling badly, was marked by frequent penalties and frustration of by both teams. A total of 125 yards in penalties were meted out to the eleven, with Dunbar of Baltimore being charged with seven for 85 yards.

Cain Voices Disapproval

While the officiating was efficient as could be expected with only three officials present, Dunbar of Baltimore Coach William (Sugar) Cain voiced his disapproval over the use of only three officials on the field. In the absence of Referee Welford Jackson, who was scheduled to handle the game, no apparent effort was made to secure the fourth official.

This was observed despite the fact that several officials were in the stands. Also, one official had his uniform parked outside the gate in his car. No efforts were made to secure his services it was learned.

Dunbar of Baltimore held a big edge in the running department, and elected to stay on the ground for the major portion of the contest. The scintillating quartet of Quarterback James Tyler, Halfbacks Jerome McArthur, Nelson Taylor, and Fullback Glen Wilson had a field day snapping at the Dunbar flanks and ripping off gains on cross bucks and slants from their T-formation strategy.

Tide's Ground Attack Weak

On the other hand, Dunbar of Washington, hampered by the lack of a dependable ground attack went to the air with Fullback Warren Williams, 190-pound junior, the Crimson Tide's chief offensive weapon. On the ground, Dunbar had a game little runner in Lawrence Boone, a rugged little 140 pounder, who carried the bulk of the locals' ground attack. However, he spent the evening fleeing for his life as the giant Dunbar of Baltimore line surged through repeatedly to nail him with the Poets' devastating gang tackling.

The locals felt the loss keenly of Edgar (Ice Man) Phoenix, a 6-foot, 3-inch, 180-pound triple-threat back, who was lost for the season after suffering a back injury in the Cardozo game. With Phoenix out, the Dunbar eleven depended on a two-prong attack centered around Williams and Boone. When this pair was stopped, Dunbar had few dependable performers to which to turn.

Dunbar of Washington held the visitors on their four-yard line in the first period after the Baltimore eleven had marched 76 yards from their 20 in seven plays. The Dunbar line of Tackle Walton Bethea, Judge, End Carl Tate and Guard Lorenzo Ford ganged up on Quarterback James Tyler of Dunbar of Baltimore on the four.

Lee Intercepts Pass

Halfback Vernon Lee, an alert defensive halfback, hauled in a pass by Williams on the locals' 30, and fled 25 yards before stepping out of bounds on the five-yard marker. On the next plays Fullback Glen Tayler started through the center on a handoff from Tyler, but fumbled.

End Ben McCoy followed the fumble into the end zone, and pounced on it like a hungry cat for the first Baltimore score. Jerome McArthur, a reeling, twisting halfback, and one of the visitors' biggest ground gainers, slipped over for the extra point.

The punting of Carl Tate, a southpaw kicker, was a big factor in keeping the score down. Tate booted one out on Dunbar of Baltimore's nine-yard line. Quarterback Tyler engineered a drive to the midfield stripe, and electing to gamble on fourth down with about two yards to go, paved the way for the Washington eleven's opening the way for the lone Tide score.

Williams Finds Tate

Williams, getting off two of his best throws of the game, tossed a 35-yard pitch to Hilton Overton on Dunbar of Baltimore's 15 for a first down. Although harassed by the surging Dunbar of Baltimore line, Williams, kept the Dunbar's bid for victory alive by running wide to his right with a pack of tacklers on his heels, and heaving the ball into the end zone. End Carl Tate, there waiting, snatched the ball just before he stepped out of bounds for the score.

End Donald Brown, bothered by a groin muscle, hobbled out on the field for the extra point try, and missed. It was Brown's first miss of a placement since the Phebs' game last season when Dunbar won, 6-0. As a result, Dunbar of Washington trailed 6-7.

McArthur, 185-pound halfback, scooted 45 yards for a touchdown midway of the fourth quarter, but it was nullified because of illegal use of hands by his teammates. Dunbar of Baltimore aroused to a fighting fury then lashed out with a drive to paydirt on four plays.

Drives 40 Yards

With the ball back on the visitors' 40, Taylor slipped over Dunbar's left tackle, picked up two good blocks in the secondary, then at the 30 laterialed the ball to McArthur. The latter churned his way to the 15 before being hit, then slipped to the eight-yard line. Tyler fumbled and recovered on a quarterback sneak. On the next play, Taylor shot into the end zone like a sabre jet, leaving Dunbar of Washington players scattered in his wake. He came right back to run over the extra point to make it 14-6.

Dunbar of Baltimore marched to Dunbar's four - yard line at the close of the half after Sam Frye returned a punt to the locals' 39. The visitors used their "swinging gate" spread play, one which sent the major portion of the line to the right of the pivot man. On the snap of the ball, Tyler pitched to the halfback, McArthur, who used the "gate" as his convoy down the field. This play carried Dunbar to the locals' 10 from the 23. Two intercepted consecutive 15-yard penalties nullified the drive.

Dunbar of Washington put up a strong left side with End Norman Ford, Adrian Dorsey and Lorenzo Ford. This trio was so formidable, that Dunbar of Baltimore shuttled most of its plays to the other end, Bernard Scott, a game little 140 pounder, turned in a creditable performance at the right end.

Outstanding linesmen for Dunbar of Baltimore were End Ben McCoy Tackles, Romeo Tillery and Al Bracey, Guards Robert Holt and Thomas Irving.
