Former Y Official Home On Vacation From India

Eugene Sawyer, Druid Hill avenue YMCA secretary in the 1940's, returned to the city this week after some years abroad.

He was on the staff of the New York YMCA from 1942-45 before going abroad with UNRA.

Employed by the State Department. He held an executive position in Liberia, 1949 to 1951, and, 1951-1952, in India.

To Brief New Assignment

He is now on a three-month vacation in the U.S. before returning to a new assignment on the West African Gold Coast.

Liberia, he said, is going ahead at a tremendous rate, and in India the administrations Point 4 program is an effective service.

He expressed admiration for the work of U.S. Ambassador Dudley and President W. U. S. Tubman in Liberia.

NEW YORK STYLES

Mrs. Bessie Pullen of 814 N. Gay St., says:

"For perfect fitting latest New York styles in ladies' wear and these famous nationally advertised Saks New York Shoes, Baltimore Joy has one store which can fill all my shopping needs. I no longer have to go to five or six stores. I can select, and try on, to my heart's content, latest New York fashions in dresses, suits, and coats at Lincoln Credit Shoe Store.

"Lincoln Credit Shoe Store also has Jarman Shoes for men and Chapman's for children. And too, you can open a Charge Account while you wait and take the clothes or shoes home with you. Payments are $1.00 weekly."

Terpsichoreans Sponsor Party

Approximately 300 persons attended a cocktail party given by the Terpsicoreans, a young women's social club, at Dowell's Sea Food restaurant Sunday evening.

Part of the funds from the affair will be donated to the children's ward at Crownsville State hospital, the club announced.

Entertainers

Party entertainers included Johnny Hartman, RCA recording star; Happy Jack, well known master of ceremonies; Maurice (Hot Rod) Hulbert Jr., radio disc jockey; Al Bundy, night club organist; Dot Green, vocalist; Gwendolyn Biddle, interpretive dancer; the Starlteers, a vocal combo; and the orchestras of Bill Swindell and Skippy Williams.

Members of the Terpsicoreans are:

Mrs. Edmonia Robinson, president; Mrs. Doris Jackson, secretary; Mrs. Dot Greene, treasurer; Mrs. Mati Robinson, business manager; Mrs. Ann Branson, Miss Margaret Matthews, Miss Anges Yates, Mrs. Bernice Tubbs, and Mrs. Catherine Corbin.

Plan Made For Gala Homecoming At Morgan

Plans for a full week end of festivities, are being whipped into shape at Morgan State College for the gala home-coming celebration on Nov. 15.

Main attraction of the day will be the football encounter between Morgan and Hampton at 2 p.m., in Hughes Stadium.

Plans are also being detailed for a variety of activities beginning Friday, Nov. 14 with a campus bonfire, and ending Sunday with worship services at the Morgan Christian Center.

Details for home-coming activities, are being planned by an overall committee of 14 headed by Mrs. Frances B. Hill, and Dr. Earl Jackson, faculty members. Joe Black of the Brooklyn Dodgers, a Morgan alumnus, is scheduled to be the guest of honor at the annual Varsity Club meeting on Nov. 14.

Additional highlights include the entertainment of "Queens" from each high school in Maryland, and of the former "Miss Morgans."

Teas by each of the fraternal groups on the same day, and a reception for alumni by President and Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins; and a parade will precede the 2 p.m. kick-off in Hughes Stadium.

Hospital Auxiliaries To Meet On Thursday

Three hundred women, members of the Maryland Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, will hear a panel discussion on "The Role of the Hospital in Civil Defense," at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Thursday at 10:30 a.m.

"The Importance of the Hospital in Disaster Planning" will be the subject of an address by Anthony Eckert, director of the Perth Amboy General Hospital in New Jersey.

Following the panel, delegates from 22 hospital auxiliaries, representing a membership of 12,000 women, will elect officers for the coming year.

Flowers For "Miss Morgan"

Following her election Tuesday as "Miss Morgan", Miss Lueye Stockton, center, was given a bouquet of flowers presented by two freshman admirers, Miss Nancy Womack, left, and Florence Starks. A Morgan senior and honor student, Miss Stockton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. N. Stockton of Roanoke, Va. She will represent Morgan at the Nov. 15 homecoming at Hughes Stadium, and the Capital Classic in Washington on Nov. 8.

Needlecraft News

SANTA CLAUS at a sewing machine—that's you, if you want to be economical and yet plentiful with gifts for the children. While the tots are napping away at school, you could whip up a few bright toys in your "workshop" for that gleeful Christmas morn. Cuddly toys, or a new wardrobe for daughter's doll are joy-insured gifts that take only a few remnants of material to make.

THE VERSATILE DACHSHUND

This well-stuffed dachshund is a toy with a personality that varies according to your choice of material. In a sturdy cotton fabric, and with securely stitched seams, this pup is most practical, because her endurance will be inexhaustible and she can be laundered. She's gay in a flowered or dotted gingham; she's funny when made of striped material which tends to exaggerate the length of her body. Make her in a solid denim and she becomes a really personal possession when the child's name is written, with textile paints or embroidery, on her side. If you've recently sewn drapes for your child's room, perhaps you have enough scraps of material left, so that the dog can be made to match. Incidently, teen agers, too, like stuffed toys as decorative accessories in their rooms.

USE INGENUITY IN GIFT WRAPPING

If you would like to be a little different in presenting this stuffed toy at Christmas, place it in a shallow oblong basket, with a little rubber bone. Use any extra cotton batting for making a pad for the bottom of the basket. Tie a big, bright ribbon around dog and basket. Or, you could construct a simple dog house of several pieces of cardboard and cellophane tape or glue.

PATTERN FOR MAKING A DACHSHUND

Daisy, the gingham dachshund, who measures approximately 15 inches from nose to tip of tail, can be easily made and requires only 1/3 yard of cotton fabric and enough cotton batting for a firm stuffing. The instructions for making Daisy, which I would like to send you, include full sewing and stuffing directions and a pattern that can be traced onto tissue for easier cutting. Just send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and request Leaflet No. E-251, DAISY DACHSHUND.

Ministers Plan Christmas Party

Plans for the annual Christmas party were made at the AME Preachers meeting, Monday.

The Rev. I. M. Gray and Mrs. M. C. Swann are co-chairmen of the committee.

The Rev. R. W. Williams, presiding elder of Portsmouth district of the Virginia conference, was guest at the meeting and delivered a short sermon.

In absence of the president, the Rev. M. C. Swann, the vice president, the Rev. W. T. Holland, presided.

The Rev. Mr. Holland requested that all members be present at the meeting, Nov. 10, when George S. Whyte, principal of School No. 108 will speak on "Youth and the Church."

Science Professor To Attend Southern Meet

Dr. Robert L. Gill, professor of political science at Morgan State College, will participate in the 21st annual meeting of the Southern Political Science Association, Nov. 6-8, at the Hermitage Hotel Nashville, Tenn.

He will be a member on a panel discussing "Party Organization in the South: The Effects of the Campaign of 1952."

Shoe Repairing, Cleaning Still Under Price Ceiling

Have you ever thought of how much of your family budget goes for services?

The latest government figures show that about eight cents of every consumer dollar go each year into such services as having your dress dry-cleaned, your shoes repaired, your radio or television set fixed, or your car overhauled.

Most consumer services are under OPS price ceilings.

So that you may know that you are paying no more than ceiling prices, OPS requires your neighborhood retail service store to display an official OPS poster where you may readily see it.

You may expect to find listed on the poster the ceiling prices of the services that you most frequently buy. For example, you may see on the poster in your neighborhood electrical appliance repair shop the ceiling price for cleaning and lubricating the motor of your electric refrigerator.

The tailor shop will probably list, among others, the ceilings on lengthening or shortening your skirt. The shoe repairman will have listed his ceiling charge for half-soling shoes or whole-soling shoes.

Some repairmen offer such a variety of services as to make it impracticable to list the principal ceiling charges. For example, your radio and television repairman may simply list on his poster his average charge per hour for service to customers, together with the maximum time for which he may charge for specified jobs.

The dealer for your make of car will, in addition, list the OPS-approved automobile flat-rate manuals or labor schedules which he uses in setting charges to customers.

Posting of these service charges helps the homemaker, who does most of the family buying, to make sure she is paying no more than ceiling prices. If she is in doubt, the careful buyer of services may call on the local OPS office for advice.

QUICK-FROZEN FOODS

Cooking Fun

Tomorrow when you buy bananas, tuck away a few on the top cupboard shelf or in the wall safe for a special dessert.

Bananas have a way of melting like snow in Jul, when the children come home from school, so you'll have to be cunning. But these bar cookies are worth it.

Banana Bar Cookies

1⅝ cups flour
2 tsps. baking powder
½ cup shortening
½ tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. lemon extract
2 well beaten eggs
3 ripe bananas, mashed

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together sugar and shortening. Add extract and eggs. Mix well. Add dry ingredients alternately with mashed banana to the shortening mixture and beat well.

Pour into a greased pan 8x13 inches or into smaller pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool and cut in bars. If desired, ½ cup chopped nuts may be added before baking.

Perhaps you know about banana tea bread. If you've made it, it's a luscious leaf perfect to serve with fruit desserts, spread with butter or peanut butter for a snack, and for that sweet in the lunch box. Nice, too, for serving with tea or coffee when guests drop in.

Banana Tea Bread

1¾ cups flour
2 tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
1/3 cup shortening
2/3 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup mashed ripe bananas (2 to 4)

Sift together first four ingredients. Cream shortening with sugar until fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour mixture alternately with bananas beating well after each addition.

Pour into greased loaf pan (9x5x3). Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hr. and 10 minutes. For a richer loaf add ½ cup chopped walnuts or pecans or 1 cup chopped pitted dates.

Or suppose you're not in a mood for baking, but want a special dessert anyhow.

With Strawberries

3 bananas peeled and cut in half lengthwise. Cut again in half crosswise. Cream 1 pkg. cream cheese with 2 tbsps. cream until smooth. Spread bananas with cream and put together sandwich fashion. Roll in crushed cornflakes or chopped nuts. Spoon strawberries over.

Grapefruit A.M. and P.M.

The flavor of grapefruit, just tart enough, just sweet enough and with a distinctive pungency, is a perfect combination for freshness which accounts for its popularity at breakfast table.

But that same flavor is equally refreshing in salads where sharp things are important. Or in the mid-night dessert to end a festive dinner.

This salad has the crispness of apples and nuts to complement the grapefruit.

Fresh Grapefruit Mold

¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
½ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
1 cup grapefruit juice
1½ cups grapefruit sections
1 cup diced, unpeeled apples
¼ cup broken walnut meats

Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Stir in hot water to dissolve. Add sugar and salt. Cool. Stir in grapefruit juice. Chill until syrupy.

Add grapefruit, apples and nuts. Divide among oiled molds or pour in oiled square baking pan. Chill until set. Unmold on lettuce or endive.

A chilly dessert of fresh fruit perked up with a little brandy and with crunchy almonds for texture. What could be nicer to serve in a crystal bowl with thin crisp cookies after a special dinner.

Brandied Fresh Fruit Bowl

2 large grapefruits
4 large oranges
2 cups halved seeded grapes
¼ cup blanched almonds
2 tbsps. sugar
3 tbsps brandy

Pare oranges and grapefruit with a knife, carefully removing all white pulp. Cut into sections on either side of membranes and lift section out whole. Heap grapes in center of bowl.

Circle with orange and grapefruit sections and sprinkle with almonds. Dissolve sugar in juice from sectioning process and add brandy. Pour over fruit and chill for several hours.

Another light dessert well worth your attention is a combination of grapefruit and orange sections tossed with grated or shredded coconut. For an unusual note, serve it in orange or grapefruit shells.

NOW WHO WOULD YOU LIKE to own a Good Luck Pie? You can if you send twenty-five cents in coin and a half of the inner seal from a can of Calumet Baking Powder to me, Susan Carter, P.O. Box 9, Providence, Rhode Island. You'll love it . . . it's twenty-four karat gold-plated, designed in the shape of a flower with a handsome stone in the center. On any suit or dress it's a clever factory. But even more important think of the flattery you'll receive when you serve delicious homebaked treats if you use Calumet Baking Powder. Because Calumet insures baking success . . . it lifts and lightens baked treats twice, guarding against baking failure. So start right with the best you can buy—Calumet—and you'll finish light with the best you can bake. You can always count on Calumet—America's Quality Baking Powder.

IF YOU'RE EXPECTING A BABY, no doubt he (or will it be a "she"?) is already uppermost in your mind. So I'd like to remind you that 8 out of 10 mothers who give their babies Carnation formula say, "My doctor recommended it". Yes, Carnation is one milk that has been recommended by leading baby specialists for generations. Doctors will tell you that no milk is better for baby . . . that Carnation is fine whole milk specially homogenized and heat-refined to make it more digestible . . . that it is fortified with Vitamin D . . . and that it is processed with prescription accuracy. So be sure to ask your doctor about Carnation . . . the milk every doctor knows.

WHEN YOU TAKE a laxative, you naturally want one that gives you pleasant, comfortable relief . . . not one that leaves you limp and weary. Millions have found that FEEN-A-MINT, the famous chewing-gum laxative, is wonderfully DEPENDABLE. Leaves you feeling fine! Here's why. Doctors say many other laxatives start their "footwork" action TOO SOON, right in the stomach where food is digesting. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion. Rush every nourishing food you need for health and energy. But FEEN-A-MINT is different! Taken as recommended, it acts chiefly in the lower intestine where it REMOVES mouldy WASTE, not good food. You AVOID that typical tired, dragging feeling. Instead, you feel "FULL OF PEP". So get delicious FEEN-A-MINT, the chewing-gum laxative. 25c, 50c or only 10c.

EASY DOES IT

Badly neglected or soiled furniture will benefit if you use an all-turpentine wash made by adding 3 tablespoons of linseed oil to 1 tablespoon of turpentine mixed in a quart of hot water. Wring a soft cloth out in the mixture and wash a small area. Dry immediately with a soft cloth. Go over the whole piece of furniture, doing a small area at one time.

When washing furniture with an oil-turpentine mixture does not help it, try dipping a cloth in lemon oil, then in rottenstone and rub over the furniture, in the direction of the grain. Wipe off immediately with a cloth dipped in lemon oil. Polish dry with clean flannel, then use furniture polish.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Marinated Chicken Wings
(Serves 4)

2 pounds chicken wings
¼ cup melted butter or substitute
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons prepared mustard.
½ teaspoon curry powder

Wash chicken wings in cold water, dry carefully and place in large bowl. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well and pour over wings. Stir to coat wings with sauce. Let stand for ½ hour, then place in shallow baking pan in a single layer. Bake in a moderate (350 degree F.) even until tender, about 45 minutes. Wings may be turned two or three times.

Hot dishes set on wood surfaces leave white spots. To remove these, dampen a cloth in oil of camphor or peppermint. Rub spot and allow to dry, then polish with furniture polish.

Many scratches on polished wood surfaces can be darkened by using extra furniture polish on these portions.

Cigarette burns on wood finishes should be treated as follows: wrap fine steel wool around the eraser end of a pencil and rub with grain of wood to remove burned portion. Brush off scrapings. Apply kerosene and let dry. Apply carefully, with very fine paint brush, some shellac and let dry. Repeat shellac coatings as necessary, then use furniture polish to finish.

FLOWER TROUBLES

To cut down on bacteria decay, vases and "frogs" used for fresh flowers should be washed daily in hot soapsuds. Then refill with fresh cold water, sprinkling a little on the blossoms and leaves.
