celebration fracas testified that four celebrants figured in the climax.

Leroy Collins of the 200 block Chestnut st., Sparrows Point, brother of Ronnie, was also fined $25 and sentenced to 180 days in jail for his part in the melee.

Sgt. William H. Earkins of Fort George G. Meade and Mrs. Ronnie Collins drew fines of $25 each on charges of disorderly conduct, but Judge Lane later suspended the fine meted Mrs. Collins because she has two small children.

Stopped Police Car

The trouble started, witnesses state, when Ronnie Collins suddenly appeared in the middle of Pennsylvania ave., and caused a passing auto to have to stop to avoid hitting him.

As fate would have it, the car was a patrol car en route to the police station with two prisoners, driven by Sgt. Joseph Hagerty. Also inside were Officers William Rose, William Burke and Leroy Moody.

Reconstructed accounts of what happened then are that Collins ordered the sergeant out of the car, and when Officer Rose emerged from the opposite side of the car, came around and identified himself, Collins let loose a barrack of vile language and flailing fists.

Brother Joins In

Officers Moody and Burke had jumped out of the car to help their belabored fellow officer when they were set upon by Leroy, who had been standing on the sidewalk with Mrs. Collins and Sgt. Earkins.

During the tussle that followed, Mrs. Collins is reported to have acted as referee with a beer bottle in her hand, and Sgt. Earkins made up the cheering squad.

Although no one was hurt seriously, the coats and hats of two of the officers were ripped or damaged.

Wife Denies Guilt

In the Edmondson ave., domestic difficulties, Mrs. Lucile Johnson pleaded not guilty to the charge of shooting her husband who did not want to press the charge.

He testified before Magistrate two younger sisters, Mrs. Martha Groom and Mrs. Emma Holly and Mrs. Cooper's husband, Ben Cooper.

Other survivors of Mrs. Campbell are three sons, William, Norman and Charles Cooper; a daughter, Mrs. Rose Warren; 16 grandchildren and four great grandchildren, all of Baltimore.

Charlotte Maine, however, that when he came home from work at about 2:30 on Saturday afternoon, he and his wife began to "argue over little things."

She followed him into the kitchen, he said, and fired at him with a .32 calibre pistol, the bullet hitting him in the left shoulder just above the armpit.

Their 21-year-old son, Samuel H. Tomison, stated that he was in the kitchen at the time and held his mother when she threatened to "finish Sammy off." He was held on $500 bail as a state's witness.

Officers Testify

Officers Fred Johnson, William Ellinghaus and Norman Kelly testified that Mrs. Johnson admitted to the shooting Saturday night.

They were unable to locate the gun which Mrs. Johnson said was in a sewer at Schroeder and Edmondson ave.

Mr. Johnson was treated at University hospital.

money was that while seeking a divorce from her husband, Arthur, both Mrs. Richardson and her mother claimed that the wife had lived in Baltimore at the 23rd st. address since 1937.

In addition, the mother posed as her daughter's aunt and gave her name as Mrs. Maggie Baugh.

When interviewed later by Det. Lt. Philip Gerrase who investigated the case, they both said that they were advised by Mr. Payne to give this false testimony.

Clears Attorney

In court, however, they retracted these statements, saying they implicated Mr. Payne because they were "extremely nervous and frightened" at the time.

Mrs. Richardson testified "I didn't mean to say that." Her mother declared emphatically "Lawyer Payne didn't tell me to lie about anything."

The two women said Mrs. Hayes used her stepfather's name of Baugh and pretended to be her daughter's aunt, believing that a mother's testimony would not be acceptable as a substantiating witness in a divorce case.

Often Visited Here

Although both mother and daughter lived in Philadelphia for the better part of 30 years, they said they considered Baltimore Mrs. Richardson's home because she had been born here, went to school here and often visited her grandmother here.

In the Dempsey case, the wife and her uncle both testified originally that she had lived in Baltimore for 12 years and at the Aisquith st. address for six years prior to her divorce action against Arthur Dempsey.

Mrs. Dempsey told Judge Mason, however, that she meant that she had lived in Baltimore "off and on" during that time, and that she didn't know that a full year's residence immediately before filing the divorce was required.

Uncle Confused

Her uncle maintained that because Mrs. Dempsey had lived in Baltimore for the two-year period 1945 to 1947, he thought that that time could apply, not realizing that the law requires the one-year residence just before the divorce is filed.

Mrs. Smith and her aunt, Mrs. Rawlins also told Judge Mason that they meant that Mrs. Smith had lived in Baltimore "off and on" during the period required in her divorce case against Alphonso Smith.

In the Dempsey case, in an effort to establish the husband as a Baltimore resident, Mr. Payne called the judge's attention to a registered letter directed to Mr. Dempsey at a Madison ave. address. The letter was returned to the lawyer marked "not in during delivery hours."

Besides Mr. Payne, other defense attorneys were Foster H. Fanseen and Isadore Levin.

chest and hand. Mr. Driver was dismissed following a hearing in Northwestern Police Station.

Pictures Introduced

Milton B. Allen, attorney for Mr. Driver, introduced pictures and witnesses to show that the friendship between Mrs. Driver and Mr. Bolling had existed for more than a year. He also produced pictures taken by Mrs. Driver at the country home in Cockeysville of her brother, J. G. Nash, which showed Mr. Bolling in the background.

A former friend of the wife, Mrs. Elmira Tucker, testified that she has served as a "cover" for Mrs. Driver.

She said that when Mrs. Driver entertained Mr. Bolling in her home that she was usually there, so that if the husband came in he would think Mr. Bolling was her friend and not that of the wife.

Mrs. Lillian Merritt, sister of Mr. Driver, testified that she had also seen Mrs. Driver and Mr. Bolling in affectionate poses, but that she had been embarrassed at the discovery and had left without making any comment.

Mr. Bolling On Stand

Mr. Bolling, in his testimony, said that on the night of the shooting he had gone to the Driver home to seek employment at the night club. He denied that he was in the closet in a state of undress. He said that he had taken off his jacket and was reading a paper when the husband appeared.

Testimony Discounted

His testimony was discounted when Officer Donald Sutton testified that he had examined the clothing of Mr. Bolling upon taking him to Provident Hospital, and that there was no bullet hole in the shirt worn by him.

A cross bill filed by Mrs. Driver charging that her husband had deserted her and asking for custody of the child and alimony was dismissed.

Associated with Mr. Allen as attorney for the husband was George Parrish. Mrs. Driver's attorneys were Eugene A. Alexander, Harry Vaffe and Anthony S. Federico.

wars. I remember going along with the crowd; they'd take you along with them anyway, whether or not you wanted to go."

MRS. HELEN PRINCE, church-worker and grandmother, recalls that she was living at 2013 Druid Hill ave. then.

"I remember I heard the news from my husband (the late Oliver Prince) over the telephone. They had no radio in those days. My husband was working as a government storekeeper at Canton but he was about to be inducted.

Watched From Window

"After he called, I remember the celebrating started all up and down the streets. I hung out the window and watched until around 11 p.m. I never thought there would be another. I had the hardest time that night with a lady who was living with me. Her husband overseas and she went into hysterics.

"Both my husband and I were happy it was over. I had no relatives in the army, just friends. I had a brother who worked at the shipyard and another who worked at the quartermasters.

MRS. KATIE MILLER of 1321 Edmondson ave., remembers:

"The day was a happy one but it had one sad part, too. I was living at 1013 Saratoga st., at the time and a young white fellow living across the street from me was scheduled to go in the army. On Nov. 10 he hanged himself. And peace came the very next day.

Songs Rang Out

"I learned the news about the armistice when I was attracted by the children outside the house. I went to the door and saw them blowing horns and singing patrotic songs, like "Over There." We didn't have such things as radio and television in those days. "I believe there was a parade sometime when the grownups had their time, but I can't remember if it was the same day or sometime later.

"It was a happy time, though, other than the suicide of the young white fellow."

'Peace' Wins In City Vs. Father Divine

NEWARK

"Peace" has finally settled over a long dispute between the city and some of Father Divine's followers over alleged zoning violations.

William Piverson, city zoning enforcement officer, said here Thursday the local followers of the evangelist have agreed to evacuate the 16-room mansion in a swank neighborhood by Dec. 1, ending dragged out litigation with the city.

The city agreed to withdraw complaints against Father Divine and his followers. In its complaint, the city had charged 10 persons, none of them related, resided in the mansion which is in a single-family zone.

was invalid, and only individual bids would be considered.

The highest bid of the 6-hour auction sale was an ultra-modern walnut bedroom suite that sold for $154. This included the complete bed, vanity, chest, bureau, and night table.

Frederick Lee, colored neighbor of Scarlett's at Westminster, purchased this furniture.

The next highest bid was $110 for a 20-inch television set, sold to a white Westminster businessman.

In addition to Mr. Lee, other colored bidders were B. Harris, Wilson st. radio and television dealer; Glenwood Bailey, Silver Spring farmer and night club owner; Norris Brown, Centreville, Md., tavern owner; Abraham Wicks and Clifton Nichols, owner of the Pleasant View Inn, located near Hertryton, Md.

Lee Is Active Bidder

In addition to his $154 bid for the modern bedroom suite, Mr. Lee was also the lucky bidder who won the kitchen sink for the high bid of ten cents. He also secured three additional bedroom suites for approximately $30.

Several lots of miniature bottles of Scotch and rye whiskies sold at fractions of their cost. A case of 192 bottles of Scotch whiskey, packed in an original carton, sold for $50.

A solid mahogany dining room set, including six chairs, extension table, buffet, and breakfront, was sold to a white bidder for $50.

Ingram Purchased Club

Palmer Ingram, who offered the opening bid of $1,700 for the bulk merchandise, was identified as the person who purchased the country club for $34,000 at an auction sale of Scarlett's real estate, Saturday, November 3.

Josiah Henry, local attorney, is associated with Mr. Ingram in that transaction. Mr. Henry was also present at Monday's auction, accompanied by his client, Alonzo Moore, local sportsman.

The last item sold at the auction was a huge six-door restaurant-type refrigerator, which went to a white bidder for $10 at 3:38 p.m.

A sale of farm equipment was continuing, late Monday afternoon.

Post Office Needs Trucks For Holiday Parcel Deliveries

Baltimore Post Office is in need of trucks with drivers for delivery of Christmas parcels from Dec. 15 to Dec. 27, Postmaster Neal A. Sibley announced.

It costs us more to do our shopping, too—
No one has to tell you how your cost of living has gone up. When you shop or go to market, practically everything you buy costs about twice as much as it did before the war.
In our business, we are up against high prices, too. Just about everything we buy to furnish you with electricity and gas has soared sky-high since prewar days.
Since 1939, a wood pole that cost $13.58 has gone up to $30.10. Copper wire is up from 17¼¢ to 38¢ per pound . . . coal from $4.44 to $9.06 per ton . . . gas pipe from $48.20 to $117.04 per ton.
And these are just a few of the thousands of items we must buy to carry on our opegations.
The cost of installing new generating units is nearly twice what it was in 1939.
The wages we have to pay our production and maintenance workers have more than doubled.
So you see that our cost of supplying electricity and gas, like your cost of living, is far higher today than it was in the prewar period. We are continually searching for new ways to economize and to make our operations more efficient. We have done and are doing everything possible to absorb the greatly increased costs of serving you.
It is our policy now, as it has been for many years, to render the highest grade utility service to our customers at the lowest rates consistent with financial soundness.
