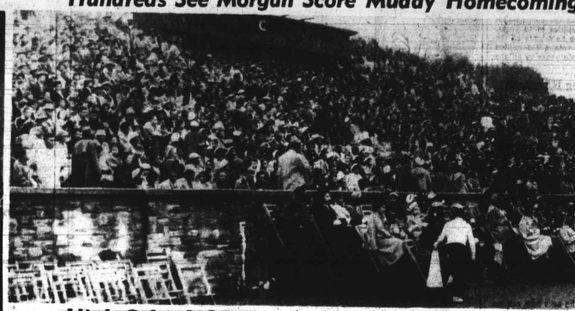
Morgan Queen Crowned

Miss Lucye Stockton, Morgan senior, is crowned by Mrs. Martin Jenkins, wife of the college president, for her reign over campus homecoming activities which took place over the week end.

Hundreds See Morgan Score Muddy Homecoming Victory



More than two thousand Morgan state college homecoming fans saw the Morgan Bears roll to a muddy but lusty 26 to 7 victory over Hampton institute at Hughes stadium Saturday. Three nationally famous athletes, all former Morgan students, were also honored during the week end festivities and high school queens and bands added to the annual college hoopla.

High School Queens At Morgan Festivities

Morgan Extravaganza Offers Top Entertainment

Under a slate-gray Maryland sky, overcast from Friday's nightlong rain, more than 2,000 fans at Hughes stadium Saturday saw a somewhat superior Morgan State college football machine roll over Hampton institute of Virginia.

Aside from gloomy skys, it was almost perfect football weather, and the Morgan eleven's 27 to 7 victory added to the loyalty and enthusiasm of the partisan homecoming crowd.

The celebration had gotten away in fine athletic style on Friday when Joe Black, baseball's 1952 rookie of the year, and three Olympic champions were honored for exceptional achievement in a special assembly program at Morgan, their alma mater.

Citations Presented

In addition to Black, President Martin D. Jenkins presented the citations in Hurt gymnasium to: Vincent George Rhoden, present Olympic 400 meters champion recordholder; Byron Truman Larbeach, winner of several 100 meter dashes in post-olympic European meets last summer in Helsinki, and Arthur George Bragg, former National AAU and NCAA sprint champion.

Typical home - coming hoopla was staged in a full-dress parade extravaganza beginning at 1:30 p.m. and continuing until game time a half-hour later.

Seven bands and six divisions composed the array, and the procession swept around the track of Hughes stadium with 67 physical education students carrying flags of the United Nations countries. A scheduled flag drill was cancelled due to a muddy field.

Band Participants

Participating bands included those of Morgan State, Dunbar high school of Annapolis, Carver of Rockville, and Douglass of Baltimore, Bates Douglass of Upper Marlboro, and Easton.

Though some of the more enthusiastic home-coming celebrants became carried away with the spirit of things and were not around to see it, a half-time show featured the crowning of Miss Lucye Stockton as "Miss Morgan."

High school queens from 24 schools participated in the festivities. They included:

Yvonne F. Holmes of Jarboesville high, Lexington Park. Md.; Mildren Lee Ann Brown, Bel Alton high, Bel Alton; Amy Hynson, Garnett high, Chestertown, Md.; Eva Anita Tittle of Central Consolidated in Bel Air; Vernetta Green of Kennard high, Centreville; Hattie Cherry, Carver vocational high, Baltimore; Sylvia Leona Ward, Carter G. Woodson high, Crisfield; Sonia Roden, Dunbar high, Baltimore; Edith Turner, Salisbury high, Salisbury; Rae Gwynn, Carver high, Towson; and Laura Virginia Murphy of Havre De Grace high.

Others were Marie Proctor of Douglass high, Upper Marlboro; Elsie Morrison, Lincoln high, Frederick; Alberta Marie Harris, Carver, Elkton; Shirley Ann Magruder, Robert Moton high, Westminster; Elizabeth Ann Steward, Bannekerr high, Catonsville; Merilyn Alsop, Bates high, Annapolis;

Frances Byrd, Carver high, Rockville; Rosa Faulkner, Sollers Point high, Sollers Point; Ruby L. Berry, Tubman high, Clarksville; Elaine Hutchins, Brooks high, Leonardtown; Betty Rose Baker, Maces Lane high, Cambridge; Elizabeth Fontaine, Greenwood high, Princess Anne Md.

Maurice (Hot Rod) Hulbert Jr. led the pep squad in its lusty second-half cheering, and the 23-man ROTC drill unit helped spark the show.—MANGRUM.

Mrs. Banton To Represent U. S. At Conference In India

The United States Committee of the International Conference of Social Work has appointed Mrs. Dorothy Banton, superintendent of Druid Lodge, to serve as one of the two United States Representatives on Commission dealing with "Training for Leadership in Social Services" at the Sixth International Conference of Social Work to be held at Madras, India, December 14-18.

Mrs. BANTON

Mrs. Banton will contribute the United States' position to the discussion of the above topic especially - directed to the question "How can training for non-professional leadership in social service be best developed, bearing in mind the need for a wide acceptance of the principle of self-help?"

Briefing Session

Mrs. Banton will attend a briefing session on November 21 at the United States Mission to the United Nations at 2 Park avenue, New York City. The session will be conducted by Isador Lubin, United States representative on the Economic and Social Council and alternate representative to the seventh regular session of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Participants in briefing include representatives of United Nations and of the United States Department of State.

Prior to the meeting of the conference in Madras, Mrs. Banton will represent the National Association of Training Schools in the sessions of the International Study Conference of the International Union for Child Welfare in Bombay, December 5-12.

To Tour Israel

Mrs. Banton is a member of the American delegation that will leave Madras on December 21st and arriving at Lydda airport, Tel Aviv, Israel will proceed to Jerusalem to join the annual pilgrimage for the Christmas service in Shepherds Field and visit shrines of Old Jerusalem—in Hashemite Jordan Kingdom.

The tour of Israel is planned by the Cultural Department of the Israeli Government, to visit various social and cultural institutions, co-operatives and other significant developments. This tour will provide a first hand study of the great problems faced by this new nation and the heroic measures taken to build the new Israel.

These Versatile Women

Speaking of versatility, let's talk about Philadelphia's Dr. Helen O. Dickens.

DR. HELEN O. DICKENS

No one-track career woman is this lady. Aside from being a top-flight physician, she is a wife and mother and along with numerous professional organizations keeps contact with her social connections including the Jack and Jill Club of America and Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

She is the wifet of Dr. Purvis Henderson of Boston, Mass., and the mother of 9-year-old Helen Jane.

Certified Diplomate

Dr. Dickens, a native of Dayton, Ohio, received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Illinois; earned her medical doctor's degree in 1934 and a master of medical science degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1945.

She was certified as diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology in, 1948 elected fellow of the American College of Surgeons in 1950. She has served as resident of obstetrics and gynecology at Provident Hospital, Chicago, and at Harlem Hospital in New York City.

Dr. Dickens is presently chief of obstetrics and gynecology service at Mercy-Douglass Hospital, Philadelphia. She is a member of the Obstetrical Society of Philadelphia, American Medical Association, National Medical Association and the American Medical Women's Association of Philadelphia.

Detroit Women Take Seats In State Senate And House

DETROIT, Mich. — For the first time in 21 years, Michigan will have a woman senator, when Miss Thora M. Brown is seated here.

A second woman will also hold a State seat. She is Mrs. Charlene White, who will be the only woman in the House.

Miss Brown, 38, is a veteran politican and attorney. A graduate of Cass technical high school and Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., she obtained a law degree at Wayne University in 1948.

Was Social Worker

Miss Brown has served with the Old Age Assistance Bureau, the Children's Aid Society, the WPA, and as a housewoman. She first ran for the State senate in 1950, was defeated and lost again in a special election in 1951.

Mrs. White, whose husband, Leroy White, campaigned for the post three times and was defeated, took up the race this year when his health failed.
