Raleigh's Deb Presentation Draws Easterners

9 Coed Sorority on the USA

By Lulu Jones Garrett

We hear that the Baltimore Guardsmen are planning legal action against a national magazine, whose recent issue carried a story to the effect that a G-man came up with stitches following 4 fracas during their Thanksgiving week end parties anent a "kissing situation."

The way we get it, some stitches were required in a victim, a popular young matron, who gained disfavor of her doctor husband(not a Guardsman) following the party.

In the meantime the Guardsmen are sprinting ahead with plans for their New Year's Eve cabaret in Star Arena. The festivities are scheduled to begin at 11 p.m. and roll into the wee hours. That $10 per couple reservation is not even fazing the set that usually sips with the group.

PARTY OF THE WEEK

Party of the week was AKA's debutante ball in Raleigh, N.C., Friday, to which guests from the Eastern Seaboard trekked in gangs ...at which was seen the finest collection of frigs exhibited this season...as well as eye-opening antics.

For instance, Isabell Clark, who quit her post at Shaw University; last year, when she divorced her physician husband in Raleigh, and went on to a position in Washington, was down with a handsome hunk of man, whom she casually introduced as "Donald" and the haut faut were so enthralled in his looks, his togs, his general charm that they never got their mouths closed to ask "Donald Who?"

Also from Washington was Patricia Stewart, who did a spell at Shaw ere going abroad for some years, wearing a silver-bodiced, pointed peplum above pastel blue net affair which she had made herself, from an idea of an Italian original by Palazzo Coppede of Rome. Along with her was Russel Hines of the Nation's Capital. Another pastel pretty was that worn by Marie Cook Jackson, Brooklyn (NY) school marm, who selected a lavender, pink-trimmed net.

Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Pitts of Baltimore (she in a black velvet sheath) and Mr. and Mrs. John Hall (she in a cute ballerina of black and pink striped taffeta, velvet tied at the shoulders) of the same town were about.

The Rudolph Joneses (Mildred) of Washington were admitting that he is going to vacate his post this fall for one at Fayetteville State College. Mrs. Robert Harding (he too) from Lumberton wore a most beautiful red net, studded with rhinestones and such a full skirt!

The William Armstrongs and Dr. Lemon Robinson of A. and T., Greensboro, the Leroy Smiths of Washington and T. C. Nelson of Petersburg, Va. were also around.

Partying started Wednesday, went right on through until Sunday morn. Martha Merritt Wheeler, who gave a dinner party on Saturday night and a cocktailer after the ball, were to the latter affair a frock to end all frocks. Twas a Balenciaga of black broadcloth, with a scarf that began at the decolletage in front to shadow the dress to the knees in back, then burst into manmonth flounces of mauve pink satin that made a blow-train.

The white frock worn by Dr Margretta Adams, of Raleigh, at so featured a drape stole. The James (Minnie) Freemans, who had as house guest, Mildred Freeman of Atlanta, Ga., entertained at cocktail prior to the ball.

The William Strouds' party date early-morn guests.

DEAVERS ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse A. Deaver of Los Angeles, former Baltimoreans, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception at their home 2063 W. 30th street, recently.

Among the nearly 200 guests who called between 4 and 7 p.m. were the following ex-Baltimoreans: Mrs. Eliza Earl, Dr. and Mrs. Curtus G. Carr, Miss Hazel Macbeth, Mr. Alice Macbeth, and Mrs. Carrie Hicks of Penns Grove, N.J., formerly of Baltimore.

Invitations to the celebration were received in Baltimore by many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Deaver, who responded with gifts, cards, and telegrams of congratulations.

Mrs. Deaver wore a white lace dgess embroidered in pearls and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Assisting in the service was Mrs. William Hatcher, whose husband was a comrade-at-arms with Mr. Deaver in the Spanish-American War.

The Deavers, who have been in California 12 years, keep in touch with what goes on in Baltimore, by subscribing to both editions of the Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN.

PEREGRINATORS

Recent guests within Baltimore gates have been Miss Pearl R. Lockhart of Miami, Fla., who was guest of Miss Louis Young; Miss Patricia Bean who deserted her lovely Bermuda for a winter, here, and Mrs. S. E. Raney of Youngstown, Ohio, here for a visit with her son S. E., Jr.

The commissioner of Freeholder County, New Jersey, Stewart E. Hoyt of Atlantic City, has been a-visiting in Boston. Lucilella W. Double Ring Ceremony For Miss Jenkins, E. C. Johnson

BALTIMORE

In a double-ring ceremony in Macedonia Baptist Church, last Sunday Miss Esther Jenkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Jenkins, became the bride of Earl C. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson.

The Rev. W. L. Clayton officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ephraim Jenkins, the bride wore a white gown, her voluminous three-tiered skirt of permanently pleated nylon tulle over acetate satin. Her lace bodice featured a satin cummerbund and long sleeves. A "Peacock" train of the same pleated material flowed from her detachable jacket. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a lace headpiece. She carried a white lace prayer book adorned with a white orchid.

Miss Marion Jenkins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Site were an aquamarine net waltz length gown spiatered with silver sequins and matching accessories.

Bridesmaids were Mesdames Beatrice Bueford, Agnes Reaves and Odessa Dyson. They wore identical waltz length gowns of pink net over shrimp with matching accessories.

All of the attendants wore single strand pearls and pearl earrings, gifts from the bride, and carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums with orchid centers.

Albert A. Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were David Jenkins, brother of the bride, Clarence Dyson, Robert Chase, John Hawthorne and Bradford Powns. Doormen were Irvin Jenkins and William Jones, the bride's nephews.

Little JoAnne Reid was flower girl.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride at which nearly 200 guests were in attendance.

Hostesses at the reception included Mrs. Ruth Powns of Wilmington, Del., sister of the bride, who wore a light blue pure silk dress featuring a decollette neckline and a gored skirt. She wore matching accessories and a pink camelia corsage.

Also hostesses were Mesdames Naomi Jones, sister of the bride, Rosa B. Jenkins and Miss Alice Richburg who was in charge of the gifts.

Mrs. Jenkins, mother of the bride, was attired in blue and wore a white stole. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Eliza Johnson, wore shrimp hat. Both wore orchid corsages

The new Mrs. Johnson is secretary to the chief dietician at University Hospital. Mr. Johnson, a former Army lieutenant, is co-partner in his brother of cleaning establishment.

The newlyweds are at home at 2910 Baker st.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs Lerline Santos of Philadelphia Lt. and Mrs. M. Mason, Fort Bragg, N.C.; Miss Katurah Butler and Mr. Scruggs of Washington and Mr. Mrs. Bradford Powns of Wilmington.

Virginia Debs At Va. State

PETERSBURG, Va. — Delta Omega chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority sponsored its second annual debutante ball on Friday, when 21 were presented to the local community.

The affair was held in Daniel Hall of Virginia State College, and the Ballroom was appropriately decorated with roses and soft lights to set off the beautiful white gowns of the debutantes.

The young women arrived on the campus shortly after noon, in time for the luncheon at the College Grill. Each deb received a compact as a gift from Delta Omega chapter.

Ball in Evening

The ball began at eight o'clock in the evening, and shortly thereafter, the debs and their escorts were presented to the guests by Dr. James A. Moore, head of the department of physical education.

Queen of the ball was Miss Juanita Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Jones of Charlottesville, Va. She carried an arm bouquet of roses, and was led to her dais by her escort, James Buckner.

Her attendants were first lady-in-waiting, Miss June Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Preston of Charlottesville, and second lady-in-waiting, Miss Carce Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Monroe, also of Charlottesville.

All of the debutantes carried identical nosegays of roses, and after they had been presented, they executed a dance figure attended by their escorts. The ball then started with the "Queen's Dance," following which all of the guests enjoyed dancing until midnight.

Debutantes Listed

The other debutantes were:

Misses Mary J. Winston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Winston, Charlottesville; Daisy Wills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wills, Petersburg, Va.; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Stewart, Petersburg; Mildred Tilley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Tilley, Franklin;
