Nigerian Students Find Life In These United States Can Be Good And Bad

Seven Attending College Run Across Jim Crow; They Also Meet A Woman Who Battles For Them

McPHERSON, Kansas — Six African students attending the Church of the Brethren's McPherson College and one enrolled at the Methodists' Central College here found the problem of American discrimination their biggest headache until the town's Democratic postmistress, a widow, took them up as her friends and began making nearly everyone else in town like them, too.

The story of "The One - Town Skirmish" appears as the lead story in the National Affairs section of "Time" Magazine in the Dec. 29, 1952 issue.

Until the arrival of the African students, McPherson "was unaware that it had a segregation problem," according to the article. "Before the students arrived from Africa, it counted only 23 colored residents inside the city limits, and they managed pretty well to keep out of the way," says "Time" correspondent John McCormally.

Arrived Last Fall

Last fall the first of the students arrived when Augustine Njoku-Obi, 22, graduate of a Nigerian mission school entered Central College.

McPherson College took in James Craig, 28, half-brother of Nigerian who wants to be an agricultural missionary; Joseph Obi, 26, one-time math teacher in a mission high school; Isaac Gribo, 21, a surveyor aiming for a civil engineering degree; Daniel Onyema, 28, an accountant studying to be an orthopedic surgeon, and Elijah Odokara, 21, a railway telegrapher, who is taking a pre-medical course.

Craig came across the "problem" when he went into a barber shop for a haircut. The barber announced that he could not cut a colored man's hair.

He's Half-Scotch

"I told him I was half-Scotch. I asked him if he would give me half a haircut," Craig said later. "He asked me to leave."

The "Time" story reports that Njoku-Obi "got a job in a laundry, discovered that he was being paid only half as much as the whites next to him." The first time the boys went to the movies and gloves.

She ran into trouble, too. When one barber agreed to cut the Africans' hair others began spreading the word that "Shorty is cutting n---s' hair.

Preaches Against It

"It hurt my business," Shorty is quoted as saying. "Even some preachers told me I was doing the wrong thing."

Mrs. Switzer said a minister warned her: "We must be careful we're not called Communists."

Slow progress is being made, however, according to "Time's" story. The students can now sit anywhere in the Ritz Theater. Last week they went caroling with the other college students and they now find they can eat in any restaurant in town.

But the students were still going 35 miles away to Hutchinson, Kans. to get haircuts. Some merchants have planned to ask the Chamber of Commerce to look into this matter.

As "Time's" article concludes: "McPherson was trying — as a whole humble people was trying to act like Christians and measure up."

Find Restaurant Violated FEPC Laws

BOSTON, Mass. — One of the largest roadside restaurants in the state has been found to be in violation of the Commonwealth's fair employment practice laws by its failure to integrate colored and white waiters in its dining room.

The discrimination was "as plain as the nose on the face of a Commissioner Elwood S. McKenney of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination who pointed out that an anti-discriminatory policy practiced by the restaurant in its other departments did not relieve them of the responsibility for extending that policy into its dining room.

A complaint was brought against the restaurant by an experienced Boston waiter who claimed he was refused employment because of his color.

After a series of conferences, the restaurant accepted the finding of the state commissioner and the complaint was conciliated.

Youth Confesses He Started Fire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (ANP) — A 2-year-old youth last week supposedly confessed to starting a $250,000 fire which killed 68 horses at Douglas Park race course on Oct. 26.

He is Willie Taylor who said in making his confession, "something just told me to strike a match."

Taylor, an executive boy at the track at the time of the fire, was arrested on an arson charge in a warrant sworn to by Inspector John C. Young of the fire department's arson squad.

Taylor blamed his actions on marijuana. In connection with the October fire, he said: "I knew what I was doing . . . I wouldn't have done it if I hadn't been full of marijuana."

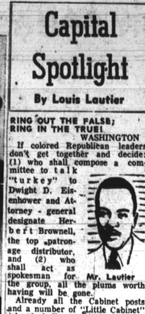
Capital Spotlight

By Louis Lautier



Mr. Lautier

RING OUT THE FALSE; RING IN THE TRUE!

WASHINGTON — If colored Republican leaders don't get together and decide: (1) who shall compose a committee to talk "turkey" to President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Attorney - general designate Herbert Brownell, the top patronage distributor, and (2) who shall act as spokesman for the group, all the plums worth having will be gone.

Already all the Cabinet posts and a number of "Little Cabinet" jobs, including the Secretaryships of the Army, Navy and Air Force and several Assistant Secretaryships in the Treasury and Commerce Departments, have been filled.

Brownell knows the leading colored Republicans because he has been chairman of the Republican National Committee and, as campaign manager for Governor Thomas E. Dewey in his two unsuccessful bids for the Presidency, he has dealt with most of them in rounding up the delegates and getting Taft delegates to switch to Dewey.

A Few Suggestions

Brownell could take the initiative in consulting with them about the type of appointments Eisenhower should give his colored critics, if he prefers, he could consult with Judge Francis E. Rivers of the New York City Court. After all, any qualified colored Republican selected for appointment would have to be cleared by the Republican Senator of the National Committeeman of his State.

If there are any doubts about the kind of jobs for which qualified colored persons should be considered, here are a few suggestions Brownell and his advisers might start the New Year with:

No. 1 — Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern, South Asian and African affairs, the post which President Truman offered Ralph Bunche, which Mr. Bunche turned down for financial reasons as well as race discrimination and segregation in Washington. The Rev. Archie Carey, Chicago minister, has all the necessary qualifications.

The Bureau of Near Eastern, South Asian and African Affairs covers the Near East, South Asia and Africa, including Iran, Turkey, Iran, the Arab States, Israel, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Ceylon, Napal and all of Africa, except Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, Metropolitan France, and the Union of South Africa, which is administered by the European Affairs Bureau. Madagascar is a French possession and is handled also by the European Division. Africa has only three independent countries. One of them, Egypt, is administered as part of the Near East. As a consequence, Africa itself has only two embassies—one in Liberia and the other in Ethiopia.

Importance Of Africa

John W. Davis, ex-president of West Virginia State College, who is now administering the technical assistance (Point 4) program in Liberia, would like to succeed Ed Dudley as Ambassador to Liberia, and Chester K. Gillespie, Cleveland lawyer, would accept a diplomatic post, although he would prefer being one of the eight assistant attorneys generals.

American interests in Africa have increased greatly as a result of increased dependence on Africa for certain raw materials that the United States used to get elsewhere—in the Far East—and which are no longer available there.

Firstance, chrome. The United States gets about a third of its chrome, much of it manganese, and uranium, which is of vital importance, from Africa.

Because of increased interest in Africa, American representation in Africa has been increased and more people are employed in the State Department to work with them on African affairs.

Numerous Legations

In addition to the Liberian and Ethiopian embassies, the United States has a legation in Tangier (Morocco), and consulates general at Casablanca (Morocco), Dakar (French West Africa), Lagos (Nigeria, British West Africa), Leopoldville (Belgium Congo), Lourenco Marquez (Mozambique), Nairobi (Kenya, British East Africa), Salisbury (South Rhodesia), Tripoli (Lybia)1 and Tunis (Tunisia).

It also has consulates in Accra (Gold Coast, West Africa), Asmara (Eritrea), Dar-es-Salaam (Tanganyika), Elizabeth ville (Belgian Congo), Luanda (Angola), Mombasa (Kenya), Rabat (Morocco), and Valette (Malta).

The function of these consulates chiefly is economic reporting on imports and exports and the production of strategic materials. The Asmanic Co-operation administration has offices in the capitals of the European countries which control African territory, and the consulates report on loans ECA is making to the European Powers for the production of strategic

Jury Frees Matron In Husband's Death

WASHINGTON — Following ten minutes of deliberation on Friday, a coroner's jury freed Mrs. Florence M. Frye, 31, of the 100 block U st., who had been charged with the fatal stabbing of her husband, James A. Frye, 31.

The slaying took place early Friday morning, in the kitchen of the apartment occupied by the Frye's and their two children.

According to police, Mr. Frye was stabbed as he and his wife wrestled for possession of a large butcher knife, which she had picked up to defend herself.

Did Not Testify

Mrs. Frye did not testify during the hearing, but sat silently in a chair facing the coroner, as her head moved from side to side and she shifted nervously in her seat.

Details of the slaying were provided by Officer Ernest J. Meyers who testified that he was called to the apartment at approximately 8:20 a.m. and found Mr. Frye lying near the kitchen door.

He said that Mrs. Frye was holding her nine months old baby in her arms, and that the blood stained knife was lying on the kitchen sink.

Argument Started

Later in a statement made to homicide detectives, Mrs. Frye was quoted as saying that her husband woke her up at 5 a.m., and began an argument.

"The quarrel reached such an intensity, detectives reported, that the Frye's five year old daughter went upstairs to a neighbors apartment and went to bed.

Mrs. Frye was also quoted as saying that her husband was drinking during this period, and that he swung at her with a chair but failed to hit her. Finally, detectives said, Mrs. Frye reported that she picked up the knife and in the ensuing struggle her husband was stabbed, but she "blacked out" and was unable to tell who was responsible for the slaying.

Also testifying was Joseph W. Hill, of the 1700 block Sutton st., brother of the slain man, who was the coroner's jury that the dead man had struck Mrs. Frye on seveal occasions.

He said that he had been a guest at the Frye home on Christmas dinner and that the dead man had been drinking at that time.

Husband Held In Wife's Death

Mate Relates Tale From Death Bed

A 40-year-old laborer, who allegedly shot his wife Christmas eve night while in a drunken stupor, then eluded police for 48 hours, was ordered held without bail at Central District Police Station Sunday.

The accused man, James Dobbins of the 400 block Mosher st., charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Anna Dobbins, 42, was arrested by Northwestern District Sgt. Lloyd Slocer, and Patrolman Raymond Farlett, Friday while walking in the 2300 block of Druid Hill ave.

In a preliminary hearing Saturday before Magistrate E. Everett Lane, just prior to the death of Mrs. Dobbins, the accused man was charged with assaulting and shooting, and was ordered held in bail of $500.

Mrs. Dobbins died at Provident Hospital Saturday of a bullet wound in the left breast. Before her death she told police the following about what had taken place.

Around 3:45 p.m. Christmas eve, she stated her husband arrived home and started to make an argument without reason, he then went to the bureau drawer, ale said, pulled out a pistol and shot her.

Two witnesses who were visiting in a second floor apartment of the building, told the police they heard a shot and seconds later saw Mrs. Dobbins run down stairs toward the street and fall.

Dobbins was running behind her they stated with a gun in his hand, but fled out the door when a tenant swung at him with a broom stick.

When police arrived they found Mrs. Dobbins lying in the doorway leading to the kitchen.

Schubert Society In 25th Year

NEW YORK — The Schubert Music Society, 47 colored singers, observed its 25th anniversary last week with a concert at the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

The group was organized by Howard Margetson, its director, who came to Harlem in 1919 from St. Kitts, British West Indies.

Members of the society include dressmakers, milliners, stenographers, laundrymen, chefs, elevator operators and others.

Feud Splits AME Church In Texas

HOUSTON, Texas (ANP)—Dissension within the AME Church here broke wide open last week when some members, dissatisfied with the administration of Bishop Joseph Gomez, organized an Independent AME Church and elected the Rev. L. C. Graves as bishop.

The body received a charter from the State officially recognizing its right to operate in the Texas jurisdiction.

The independent movement had its origin in a feud between a faction of ministers and laymen and the Gomez administration.

During the recent annual conferences a number of the ministers and laymen openly apologized to Bishop Gomez for their participation in the fight against him. The Rev. Mr. Graves, however, refused to do so.

African Officials Get Warm Welcome In India

MADRAS, India (ANP)—A visiting delegation of African officials from Nigeria in India, have met with a warm welcome wherever they have gone.

Obafemi Awolowo, minister of local government in the Western Province of Nigeria and Adisa Ajala, minister of agriculture, accompanied by Secretary Longe, comprise the party.

The Nigerians are studying local methods of government, agricultural processes, the schools, hospitals and other institutions of India.

Woman Sentenced In Slashing Case

Miss Delores Evans of the 900 block Shields pl. was sentenced to six months in the women's prison Saturday after she pleaded guilty to slashing Alberta Bell of the same address with a knife on Friday.

Fines of $50 against both women were suspended by Magistrate E. Everett Lane in Northwestern police court.

A third person, John E. Mattis, of the 900 block Shields pl., did not appear in court on a disorderly conduct charge, in connection with the case, and forfeited $51.45 collateral.

Indians Leave U.S. Irked Over Working Conditions

PORT - OF - SPAIN, Trinidad, BWI (WINS)—News has reached Trinidad that a large number of West Indian workers in the United States have given up their contracts and are returning home.

Many workers arrived in Jamaica a few days ago, and some have already reached Barbados, Trinidad and British Guiana.

It is reported that a large group was held up in Miami, Fla., awaiting instructions from the Resort Airlines as to how they would be sent to their respective homes.

Say Conditions Varied

Those who reached Trinidad stated that conditions varied on the different farms.

They explained that work on the vegetable plantations was very difficult, while work in the tobacco fields was a little better.

They said that under the contracts which they agreed in the first instance to leave their homes, conditions were good. But when such contracts had terminated new ones were offered and accepted. Why found conditions far from good.

In the first case the payments received were less, and jobs were given in piece work at 54 cents per hour as compared with 80 cents per hour in the first contract.

Secondly, as the wages were on the low side the men tried to put in as many hours as possible which caused them to return to camp late at nights after dinner time.

As a result they had to get their own food outside, but the regular amount for boarding, 15 per cent, was still deducted.

Michigan CRC Gets 'Red' Tag

Paul Robeson Jr. And Wife Cited

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA)—The Michigan chapter of the Civil Rights Congress and the National Negro Labor Council have played an important role in fostering the policies of the Communist party in Michigan, the House Un-American Activities Committee declared in its annual report, released Sunday (December 28).

The report, covering the activities of the committee during 1952, states that the committee intended its investigations of Communist efforts and successes in infiltrating vital defense areas.

Infiltrated Auto Union

From its investigations and hearings, the committee reported "it has become more obvious than ever that communism had made dangerous inroads into several unions or union locals which are of strategic importance in our defense efforts."

But the report declared that "for the most part, union members in the United States are completely loyal and patriotic. However, in numerous instances, the average union member has been unaware that, through his own apathy for union affairs, the union to which he belongs is now under the domination of communism."

Robeson Jr. Named

The report also reveals that Paul Robeson, Jr., and his bride, Marilyn Robeson, who was employed at Camp Unity, were identified as Communist by Harvey M. Matusow, who testified before a committee on Communist efforts to control youth groups.

Associated with Matusow as members of the Communist party, the report charged, were Jay Silver and Paul Robeson Jr., who were leaders of the American Youth to attendance at the Berlin Youth Festival in 1951.

Use Of Fraudulent Means

The junior Robeson was denied a passport, the report said, but those who did attend the 1951 festival "obtained their passports by fraudulent means by failing to list their true destination or purpose of their travel."

Others identified as members of the Communist party by Matusow, according to the report, were Abner Berry, editor of the Daily Worker, and his wife, Rosalie Berry, registrar of the Jefferson School; Charles Collins, officer, Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union, New York; Albanus Thompson, director or vice chairman of the Council on African Affairs, and Doxey Wilkerson, former Howard University professor.
