Queen Esther Characters.—Director William Walter Chapman has made a partial selection of the characters for the beautiful Oratorio of Queen Esther which will be rendered in the Lyceum Theatre during the early winter. Those so far selected are: King, Mr. Arlington L. Sparks; Queen, Mrs. W. Frank Jarrell; Haman, Mr. Thomas D. Bowers; Zeresh, Miss Helen Boyd; Mordecai, Mr. J. W. Richards, Church Hill. Dixie D. Badly Injured.—Dixie D., 2.13¼, the handsome sorrel pacer, was brought to his home in Middletown, Del., on Friday last from Byberry, Pa., where he met with an accident in September. He was being warmed up by his trainer, S. P. Peacock, and fell down sustaining what was at first thought to be a strained muscle of the hip. He was blistered and did not improve and was shipped home. Dr. Young, a veterinarian of Newark, made an exhaustive examination on Sunday and found he had splintered one of the pelvic bones. He probably will never be able to race again. He is owned by George H. Johnson, the champion hard-luck horse owner of this peninsula.

An Interesting Case.

An interesting case was on trial this week in the circuit court. William Taylor, of Millington, sued the railroad for a shocking injury he received through the negligent management of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington R. R.'s hand-car which occurred on Christmas Eve, 1910. During the taking of the testimony, the character and extent of Mr. Taylor's injury aroused the sympathy of the entire community, and it is safe to say that if his case could have gotten before the jury he would have received a substantial verdict. It turned out, however, instead of the accident happening Christmas Eve, 1910, it happened Christmas Eve, 1909. Mr. Taylor was mistaken in the year when he was injured. The railroad kept him on its pay roll at $15.00 a month, and then gave him a small place as flagman where he was employed for about 15 months, thus keeping him on small pay for something over two years. Now a laborer on any railroad or any employee of any railroad engaged in Interstate Commerce can bring a suit at any time within two years after the accident, even if the injury he sustained in such accident was caused by the negligence of his co-employee. The Federal Statute requires the railroad shall pay for such damage as the injured man sustained. Under the Maryland law, without the aid of the Federal Statute, a laborer is supposed to assume the risk of any injury which might be caused him by the negligence of his co-employee. As more than two years had elapsed in Mr. Taylor's case, he could not recover. His unfortunate experience should be a warning to every man engaged in the service of railroads doing Interstate Commerce business to seek their remedy within two years from the date of the accident Receiving a small payment and accepting small minor jobs should not be held a bar to recovery by a man injured so seriously and in such a dreadful manner as was Mr. Taylor. In view of his serious condition the railroad settled the case, instead of pushing it to a conclusion by the payment of $150. The Railroad Company was exceedingly fortunate not to have had to pay a verdict for many times this much to the poor man.

OUR DEATH RECORD.

The deceased was the daughter of the late John Russell and was born in Chestertown. It was here that she spent her entire life, enjoying the love and esteem of a host of friends, and in her younger days a devoted member of Christ M. P. Church. ### DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING.

A largely attended Democratic Mass meeting was held in Firemen's Hall on Wednesday afternoon and evening, and the issues of the campaign were discussed with convincing effect by able speakers. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Chas. L. Dodd, chairman of the State Central Committee, who introduced Mr. Arthur L. Harris, of the Third District, as the presiding officer. Mr. Harris occupied the chair with dignity and introduced the speakers in a pleasing manner. Senator Jesse D. Price, the candidate for Congress for the long and short terms, was the first speaker and for three quarters of an hour he discussed the issues of the campaign and the achievements of the Democratic administration in two years of service in a most able manner. Mr. Price impressed his audience with his sincerity and earnestness, and proved his ability to become a member of Congress by the skillful manner in which he discussed the great problems now occupying the attention of the Democratic administration. He was followed by former Congressman L. Irving Handy, who is well-known to the people of this section as one of the most effective campaign speakers on this peninsula. Mr. Handy paid a most beautiful tribute to President Wilson, and told of the record he has made in the first two years of his administration in a manner that impressed his audience greatly. Mr. Chas. L. Dodd presided at the night meeting and introduced the first speaker, Senator Carville D. Benson, of Baltimore county. Mr. Benson is one of the able young men of the State. His knowledge of the affairs of government was manifested by the earnestness with which he discussed the constructive legislation passed by Congress now closing, and he stated, and correctly too, that the great Federal Currency Law is the greatest piece of constructive legislation passed in the last hundred years. He told of the great work of President Wilson and the Democratic Congress, and asked the voters present to give Senator Smith and Senator Price such majorities in November as will let the world know that the vote for these two candidates is but the strongest sort of an indorsement of one of the greatest men this country has produced—Woodrow Wilson. Congressman J. Charles Linthicum was the next speaker. It was Congressman Linthicum's first campaign speech in Chestertown and he was royally received by the audience. He is a most pleasing speaker, flavoring the seriousness of discussion with the humor of incidents. He made a strong plea for the perpetuation of the Democratic party in power, and said that its great record of achievement within two short years under Wilson had entitled it to the confidence of the great mass of the people, and stamped the party as the greatest party in history. The next speaker introduced was the genial Postmaster-General Daniel Roper. It was most refreshing to listen to a speech like that. A typical southerner from the State that has produced some of the country's greatest statesmen—South Carolina—there was mingled in Gen. Roper's speech that fine southern intelligence, and a keen perception of the ideal citizen. Gen. Roper produced a splendid impression, and the audience went away with a satisfaction that President Wilson has gathered about him a class of men whose character and intelligence is such as to make certain the success of his splendid administration. Gen. Roper made a strong plea for the election of Senators Smith and Price, not because of their personality, but because they are the color-bearers of the Democratic party, and because their election means an endorsement of what President Wilson is doing in the interest of the great mass of the people. Gen. Roper stated that in his boyhood days he had formed a desire to see to two places—one of which was Boston, and the other the great Eastern Shore of Maryland. He said his desire had recently been gratified, and it was by no means the last time he hoped that he would have the pleasure to visit the Eastern Shore. Senator Price closed what proved to be a splendid meeting with a short speech urging the people to stand true to President Wilson, and reminding them of the fact that they will be called upon to vote for him twice in November, as his name occurs on the ballot both as the candidate for the short and long terms. The Chestertown band furnished excellent music both afternoon and evening.

Chapter of Accidents.

Little Fritz Jette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jette, was run over by a team on Saturday afternoon and quite badly cut about the head and body. The little fellow was playing on the roadside when struck by the team. He is doing well.

Capt. Joseph Robertson, the genial tomato and keiffer pear buyer, had the misfortune to have his automobile burned in a serious fire which occurred in Oxford, Talbot county, on Sunday night. To add to the Captain's misfortune his wife is in a Baltimore hospital quite sick.

Genevieve, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stouffer, of Worton, fell from the steps of her home on Tuesday evening of last week and struck her head upon a board in which there were some sharp nails. One of the nails pierced the child's eye. Dr. Simpers was summoned and advised her removal to a Baltimore hospital. Dr. Crouch, eye specialist of the Baltimore Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, operated upon the eye, but there is little hopes of saving the sight. The little girl's mother is with her.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S

Instructions to Voters!

1. To vote. Enter room, step up to guard rail, give name and registered residence to the Judges. Wait until your name is found upon the registers, then get ballot from the judge in charge of the ballots. See that he has written your name and number on the coupon attached to the ballot and his own name or initials on the back of the ballot itself.

2. Upon receiving your ballot retire to one of the booths or compartments and prepare your ballot by marking with and indelible pencil after the name of every person, or persons for whom you wish to vote, and to the right thereof, in the blank space provided therefor, a cross-mark, for example (X); and in case of a question submitted to a vote of the people, by making likewise in the appropriate space a cross-mark (X) against the answer you desire to give.

If you wish to vote for some one whose name is not printed on the official ballot you can write the name of such person in the blank space on the ballot provided for that purpose and place the cross-mark opposite such name in the blank space provided therefor.

3. In marking the ballot you may take with you into the polling place any written or printed memorandum or paper to assist you in preparing your ballot, except a facsimile of the ballot to be voted, but in the counties of Anne Arundel, Calvert Charles, Kent, Prince George's, St. Mary's, it is unlawful to take into the polling place any stencil, ruler, measure or any other mechanical device of any material or form as a means of aid, guide or assistance in marking your ballot. You must prepare and deposit your ballot without undue delay. Before coming from behind the curtain in front of your compartment you must fold your ballot in the same way as it was folded when you received it, so that the marks which you have made upon it shall be entirely concealed. You then hand your folded ballot to the judge at the ballot box, give him your name and registered address and wait until he tears off the coupon containing your name and number, and strings it, and deposits your ballot in the ballot box. You must then leave the polling room and can not again go behind the guard rail during the day.

In Baltimore City and all of the Counties of the State except Anne Arundel voting for more candidates than there are offices to fill only invalidates the vote for that particular group in which the mistake occurs, but in the counties of Anne Arundel and Worcester, the whole ballot will be rejected in such event.

4. A voter must not go in any compartment occupied by another or converse with any other voter while engaged in a compartment, nor can he occupy a compartment more than seven minutes if others are waiting.

5. You must not take any ballot outside the guard rail. If you spoil a ballot you must deliver the spoiled ballot to the judge in charge of the ballots and receive another from him. If you spoil three ballots you lose your vote.

6. A voter who is physically disabled from marking his ballot must make affidavit to that effect if he desires assistance. The two polling clerks after such an affidavit has been made, can accompany him into one of the compartments and there mark his ballot as he instructs them, marking only the names of the candidates whom he shall name. The clerks are not allowed to read the ballot to him.

7. Any voter who shall allow his ballot to be seen by any person with the apparent intention of letting it be known how he is about to vote; or place any distinguishing marks upon his ballot, or who shall make a false statement as to his inability to mark his ballot, or who shall interfere, or attempt to interfere with any voter when inside the enclosed space in the polling room, or when marking his ballot, or who shall endeavor to induce any voter before voting to show how he marks or has maked his ballot, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five ($5.00) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars, or by imprisonment in jail for a period of not exceeding sixty (60) days, or by both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.
