White Peddler Held For Attacking Youth

County Police Arrest Suspect On Complaint Of Boy, 13

Baltimore County police have arrested a white insurance salesman on a sexual perversion charge involving a 13-year-old boy.

William J. Arnold, 34, 9 Kelly rd., is free on $500 bail pending a hearing to be determined by the Baltimore County State's Attorney.

Arnold was apprehended after an extensive investigation started when the young school pupil gave first alarm of the incident.

The youngster told police he was going to the store for his mother, one day, when a man he identified as Arnold, called him to the car.

Grabbed By Arms

The boy said that when he went to the car, parked on a side road, Arnold grabbed him by the arms and forced it into get in the car.

The suspect then proceeded to a deserted section of the county, where he, and another youth also in the car, forced the youngster to kneel and commit the act, the boy said.

Upon completion of the unnatural act, the complainant charges that Arnold drove him back near his home, and let him out of the car.

Boy Threatened

Before leaving, however, the boy related, Arnold warned him not to tell anyone of the incident.

Evidently frightened by the man's warning, the boy kept quiet about the affair. Shortly afterwards, however, he mentioned the incident to his principal, who in turn called the police.

Arnold was one of the suspects picked up on the description furnished by the boy.

When police took the lad before a line-up of six persons, including Arnold, the boy pointed out the suspect as the man who had criminally assaulted him.

At a police court hearing before Magistrate John McQuire on December 16, Arnold was ordered held on bail.

Tell Owners That Tenants Due Heat

Landlords have a definite obligation to furnish heat to their tenants during the period required by local custom if that service was included in the rental agreement, Area Rent Director
