Buffet Is Easy Entertaining But Good Planning Is Required

A Touch Of Green

There's a good reason for brussels sprouts being a vegetable choice.

The flavor blends well with turkey, duck or ham, and the color is the perfect contrast for bright red cranberry sauce and snowy mashed potatoes or golden yams.

The recipe below adds crisp croutons and the flavor of bacon to the sprouts. Be careful not to overcook; thus you will preserve the bright color.

Bacon Brussels Sprouts

1 qt. Brussels sprouts
3 slices bacon
3 slices white bread
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
⅛ tsp. nutmeg

Trim brussels sprouts early in the day and soak in cold salted water. When ready to cook, drain and drop in boiling salted water and cook, uncovered, until just tender. Meanwhile, remove crusts from bread. Cut into cubes.

Cut bacon into 1-inch pieces. Fry until crisp. Add bread and fry until delicately browned. Melt butter and stir in nutmeg. Drain sprouts and add to melted butter. Pour into serving dish and sprinkle with bacon and bread cubes. Serve immediately.

If ham is your choice, or if you're having leftover turkey and want a substantial hot vegetable, here's your dish.

Sprouts And Onions Au Gratin

1 qt. brussels sprouts
16 small onions
2 cups cream sauce
1 cup grated cheese
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ cup buttered crumbs

Wash and trim sprouts. Soak for 20 minutes in cold water. Peel onions. Drop onions in boiling salted water and cook until just tender. Repeat, in separate pan, with brussels sprouts.

When both vegetables are tender, drain thoroughly and combine in a baking dish. Prepare cream sauce, remove from heat and stir in cheese. Continue stirring until smooth. Pour over vegetables and top with crumbs.

Cover and bake at 400 degree until bubbly.

When buying sprouts look for firm, compact freshly colored heads. Avoid puffy sprouts, those with wilted yellowish leaves, or those which appear have been trimmed down in the store. Avoid, too, those with a smudgy dirty appearance.

"Having a few people in" is part of winter entertaimntn.

And unless you have a raft of servants, a buffet supper is the easiest and most graceful way to do it.

However, butlet serving does take planning. You'll need food that doesn't require much last minute preparation and is easy to serve and eat. Since your guests are or seem to be satisfied with turkey, ham is a good choice for the meat.

If you're seating at tables, plan sliced ham. If not, choose ham loaf which may be cut with a fork. Au gratin potatoes may be planned way ahead, and for your salad here's something unusual, very seasonal in red and green and truly delicious. It looks lovely on the buffet to balance the ham.

Cauliflower Frosted With Avocado

2 large heads cauliflower
¾ cup salad oil
1/3 cup vinegar
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 large ripe avocados
Juice of 1 lemon
2/3 cup chopped blanched almonds
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. nutmeg

Trim cauliflowers. Soak in cold salted water for 30 minutes. Drain and place each in a large covered saucepan. Pour in ½ inch boiling water. Cover and steam cauliflowers about 20 minutes or until just tender. Drain well and place in bowls. Combine oil, vinegar, salt and pepper and spoon over hot cauliflowers.

Cover and chill in refrigerator. Spoon oil-vinegar over frequently. As soon as possible before serving mash avocados with a fork. Add lemon juice, almonds, onion, salt and nutmeg.

Place cauliflowers on serving plates (you'll want to replace the first with a fresh one during the serving) and frost all over with the avocado paste.

Garnish with salad greens and arrange radish roses, carrot curls, and ripe olives around. Serve with knife and fork so guests may slice a section for their plates.

If you prefer to have a hot vegetable and a molded or tossed salad, cauliflower dressed with sliced almonds and sauted in butter is a good choice. Have the cauliflowerets cleaned and separated, then about 20 minutes before the serving time drop them in boiling salted water. Have the almonds and butter ready and it will only take a moment to drain the cauliflower and toss with the almonds.

Brightening Winter Meals

In the middle of the winter it's often a problem to make meals as colorful as they should be to tempt appetities. Fortunately, fresh carrots are available all winter long and besides their vivid color are long on some very important vitamins.

Ginger Glazed Carrots

8 small carrots
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
½ tsp. powdered ginger
2 tbsps. sugar
Chopped arsley

Boil carrots whole until almost tender. Rub off skins, wash and dry. Heat butter in a skillet. Add ginger. Roll carrots in sugar and place in butter. Simmer until glazed, turning frequently. Sprinkle with parsley.

Carrot curls or sticks are a crisp and nutritious side dish. They contain even more vitamins and minerals than cooked carrots, and they're simpler to prepare.

Children eat them without coaxing, particularly if they're left in a little water in the refrigerator for between meal snacking.

Dressing is an economical way to stretch meat, and is the best part of the meal for a good many people. Carrot dressing has a mild rich flavor and the added advantage of being extra nutritious.

Carrot Stuffing

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups diced celery
2 cups grated raw carrot
2 qts. cubed dry bread
2 tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tsps. poultry seasoning
½ cup water, milk or broth

Melt butter, add onion, celery and carrot. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally until onion is just soft. Blend seasonings with bread cubes. Add onion, celery, carrot and butter. Blend. Pour the liquid gradually over the surface, tossing to mix.

If stuffing a fowl, do not pack tightly. If serving with roast, such as pork, place in a covered dish then in a pan of boiling water in the oven. Baste occasionally with drippings.

EASY DOES IT

BY . . . HELEN HALE

Having those hot, steamed puddings for dessert often these days? They'll taste wonderful with cinnamon sauce which may be served hot or cold. Use juice from drained pears, season with starh and add a bit of butter while still hot.

Have an easy asserole on these busy days. A good one uses a layer of sweet potatoes, covered with thick applesauce and is topped with prok sausage links. Bake in a moderate oven cntil sausage is cokked. about 30 minctes.

Yoor ot roast or leftover beef will take on extra appetite appeal when served with a relish of mixed cranberry sauce or jelly with mincemeat.

Recipe Of The Week

Dark Chocolate Bars (Makes 16)

1½ cps sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
Dash of salt
½ cup shortening
2 eggs, well beaten
4½ squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar and beat well. Add eggs and beat until blended. Add chocolate and blend well. Add cilk, vanilla, then flour and beat until just smooth. Spread thin in shallow loaf pan and bake in a hot (400 degrees F.) oven 20 minutes or cntil cake begins to shrink, spread with chocolate frosting and cut into bars.

A good snack to have after roming in from a cold night uses split Engglish muffins which have been toasted and then topped with sardines spread with mustard and a slice of cheese. Broil until uheese melts. Serve hot.

Serve canned fricit juices as a first course. Mix with an equal quantity of ginger ale, garnish with lemon slices and cherries.

Here's a sauce for ham that looks as good as it tastes: Mix 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ cup sugar, a pinch of salt and ½ cup tart red cherries. Add 1 tablespoon butter and 1 teaspoon ground cloves and cook until thick.

Asparagus is delicious when served with brownd butter and a sprinkling of grated Swiss cheese.

Interracial Marching Unit Can't Stay At YMCA

Three colored members of a Buffalo, N.Y., marching unit bound for the inaugural parade in Washington, were denied permission to stay at the Central Branch YMCA Sunday with 40 white members of their organization.

The trio, Samuel Ivery, 72, Spencer Abrahams, 70, and William Blue, 66, stated Monday that they were told by a desk clerk that they could not stay at the YMCA due to "state laws regarding segregation."

The three men said that they had made reservations were accepted two weeks ago however, when a committee of the Uncle Sam Marching Unit of Buffalo came to Baltimore to arrange hotel facilities.

The YMCA management was shown a picture of the group at the time, they declared.

Started To Return Home

The three men said that they arrived in Baltimore by train late Sunday night, and immediately decided to return to Buffalo after the incident but were unable to get a train out.

Arrangements were then made for them to stay at the Druid YMCA.

The Buffalo marching unit is the oldest of its kind in this country. It was organized in 1884. Mr. Ivery has been a member for 20 years, Mr. Abrams, 35, and Mr. Blue 20 years.

The unit is comprised of 250 members. The rest of the outfit, 210 members is scheduled to join the 40 in Washington.

Fellow Tenant, 23, Stabs Youth, 14

The assault and stabbing of a 14-year-old boy by a 23-year-old fellow tenant, highlighted the heavy $1 case docket at Northwestern Sunday.

The teenager, Robert Powell of the 500 block McMechen st. was stabbed within one inch of his heart Saturday with a switch blade knife by Howard Mason of the 500 block McMechen st.

Witnesses told Magistrate E. Everett Lane that Mason stabbed the boy after ordering him not to open his mouth.

Kidded By Youth

The youth had been "kidding" with Mason they declared, when he became angry and ordered young Powell not to open his mouth anymore. Powell started to open his mouth again but was unable to speak before Mason allegedly stabbed him.

Taken to Franklin Square Hospital his condition was described as serious.

Mason told police that he was "drunk" and did not remember stabbing the youth. He was sentenced to five months in the House of Correction.

Mag Cites Jo Baker As Tool Of Dictator

NEW YORK (ANP) — Josephine Baker, entertainer, was cited in the latest Look magazine expose as one of the tools of a violent propaganda war to weaken American prestige now being waged by Juan Peron, Argentina dictator.

Edward Tomlison, an expert on Latin American affairs, wrote that Peron is using every tactic to blackjack South America into an anti-U.S. alliance.

Revised Loyalty Plan Offered To School Board

An amended plan, proposed to insure loyalty in the department of education, was offered to the board of school commissioners by the president, Rossel C. Thomsen, Thursday.

Mr. Thomsen explained that the reason for the change is that the material in the present application form dealing with subversive activities is confusing, because most people probably have no means of knowing what organizations have been designated by the United States Attorney General as subversive.

Under the proposed new form, the current list from that office will be attached to the application. Thereupon an added 'subject to penalties of perjury' clause would be added.

The proposed rule, to be voted upon at the next meeting of the board follows:

1. Rule applying to Educational Employees with Tenure:

If an educational employee with tenure is found guilty (after trial as provided in the rules) of disloyalty to the United States, he will be dismissed.

2. Rule applying to Persons Other Than Educational Employees with Tenure:

No person whose loyalty to the United States is not clear, shall be assigned, appointed, or elected to any position in the school system, or retained in any position in the school system.

3. That the material dealing with subversive activities on Page 4 of our application form be modified to read as follows:

List your memberships and leadership activities in professional, community, and civic organizations or movements (other than religious, fraternal, and political party organizations):

Are you a Communist?

Are you now, or have you ever been, a member of any Communist Organization?

Are you now, or have you ever been, a member of any organization, association, movement, club, or combination of persons which advocates the overthrow of the constitutional form of government of the United States by force or violence or which seeks to alter the form of our government by unconstitutional means?

Are you now, or have you ever been, a member of any of the list?

If your answer to any of the last three questions is yes, state the name of the organization, dates of membership and extent of participation. An explanation regarding membership in any of these organizations may be attached here to on a separate sheet of paper if you desire to explain the circumstances of your membership.

Post To Mrs. Wright

Mrs. Missouri S. Wright, at present serving as acting principal of School No. 127, was named to serve as principal of the demonstration summer school at Coppin Teachers College.

She will receive an additional $75 per month for the added duties.

Changes In Principalships

The opening of the Josiah Diggs School at Barre and Warner 123, will bring about transfers in principals.

Mrs. Vivian H. Bundy, now at school No. 104, will head the new school. Mrs. Gladys H. Derry, now principal of school No. 101, will take Mrs. Bundy's post. Clifton Murray, principal of school No. 117, will be principal at school No. 101; and Hammond J. Brisbon, now at school No. 123, will go to school No. 117.

Mrs. Missouri S. Wright will be transferred to the vice-principalship of school no. 162. Her salary at that post will be $6400 per annum. Salaries of the principals named above will not be changed.

Mrs. Davis Appointed

Mrs. Elaine C. Davis, who completed requirements, was appointed to a senior high school post at Douglass high school. Miss Dorothy James, who also completed requirements for the position of opportunity class teacher, was made a full - time teacher.

School Named

School No. 157, in Pimlico, was named the Fannie Braxton Lowe elementary school, in honor of the late civic worker of the community.

Mrs. Lowe assisted in organizing the first school in Pimlico. She was a leader in the movement to keep taverns out of the school area and to obtain better streets there. She was, for many years, president of the Pimlico unit of the Co-operative Women's Civic League, and headed the clean block campaign of the AFRO-AMERICAN for her area.

Mrs. Braxton was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Jones of Buckingham County, Va. Her first husband was Charles J. Braxton of Baltimore. Following his death she was married to Archie Lowe of Pimlico. She died in 1944.

Widow Freed In Shooting Case

After spending the holidays in jail on $500 bail, a 26-year-old widow was dismissed, Thursday, on a charge of shooting her friend in the thigh with a .12 gauge shot gun.

Mrs. Alexine Savage, 100 block N. High st., unable to put up bail, was held until her victim, Daniel Butler, 300 block N. High st., was released from Johns Hopkins.

Although the shooting occurred Nov. 29, trial at Pine st. women's court, was postponed four times because of Mr. Butlers critical condition while at the hospital.

Mr. Butler testified the shooting was an accident. "She was trying to eject the bullet from the gun when I walked into the room," he explained. "Then it went off."

Police showed Magistrate Charlotte Main the gun with the discharged bullet still jammed in the chamber. On this evidence and the testimony, she dismissed the case.

Phoebus Worker Wins Sales Award

PRINCESS ANNE, Md.—Webster H. Cane, sales manager of the Phoebus Kaiser-Frazer company who operates the business while his boss, Sen. Harry T. Phoebus serves in Annapolis, is doing a prize-winning job.

Mr. Cane who is assisted by Kenneth E. Ballard as service manager, recently won fourth prize in the "ABC" contest conducted in the Eastern Division of the Kaiser-Frazer sales corporation.

As his award, Mr. Cane won a washing machine and equipment valued at $285.

Congratulatory Letter

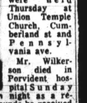
The letter from J. R. Davis, general sales manager of the corporation which notified Sen. Phoebus of Mr. Cane's award said in part:

"He is to be congratulated because he was the fourth-ranking salesman in the entire eastern division for the period of this contest.

"The prize he won will give his family a great deal of pleasure."

Johnny Wilkerson Services Are Held

Funeral services for Johnny Wilkerson, 22, of the 1100 block N. Stricker st. were held Thursday at Union Temple Church, Cumberland st and Pennsylvania ave.



Mr. Wilkerson died in Provident hospital Sunday night as a result of bullet wounds he received earlier in the day as he stood on a street corner in Northwest Baltimore.

An Army veteran of World War II, he was buried in Baltimore National cemetery.

Mr. Wilkerson, a native of Philadelphia, was employed by the Glenn L. Martin company. He came to Baltimore following his discharge from the service in 1946.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Delores Wilkerson, and relatives in Philadelphia.
