The Transcript

R.H.COLLINS, T.D.BOWERS, EDITORS.

CHRISTMAS comes on Friday this year. Do your shopping early and do it with your home merchants.

MR. CHARLES JUDEFIND assumed charge of the Rock Hall postoffice this week, as did also Mr. Washington Finley Collins at Millington.

THE kind of policy that you are all right so long as "you give me what I want and do as I say," don't go in these enlightened days. The winning position is one of reciprocation.

DR. ROBERT P. BAY, of Baltimore, has been appointed chief medical examiner of the State Industrial Accident Commission at a salary of $2,000 per annum.

MR. WM. A. BURK wants to be made a notary public in place of Miss Emma DeCorse, who, we understand, will resign. He is circulating a petition, and is securing a large number of signers. The appointment is made by the Governor. It is rumored that Mr. A. S. Crawford, an Organization Democrat, is to be appointed a justice of the peace here to succeed Col. Samuel L. Wright who has resigned.

EVERY farmer and stock dealer in Kent county should assist the State Live Stock Sanitary Board in its efforts to prevent an outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease in this county. If the plague once gets a start there is no telling where it will stop or what the loss will be. It has made its appearance in Caroline and Talbot counties, and the loss to the farmers in those counties has already been heavy.

AND Senator Blair Lee has had his conference with the President and submitted a slate for the remainder of the Federal appointments for Maryland. The President now knows the wishes of both Senator Lee and Senator Smith, and the President will do the rest. Of course he will recognize Senator Smith. Why should he not do so? But the President is a keen observer and a fine listener and he will settle the Maryland patronage question in the interest of the people, as well as for the good of the Democratic party as a whole.

ON Monday and Tuesday in response to the request published in last week's TRANSCRIPT, L. W. Barroll, Esq., distributed between 20 and 40 Germans, in Kent and adjoining counties, to farmers, who read the announcement in the TRANSCRIPT and called up Mr. Barroll over the phone. Mr. Barroll states that there are about 1000 of these unfortunate Germans in Baltimore city who have no employment, and it would be an act of charity to offer some form of employment to these people. Many of these people can be of much use to our farmers during the winter, and we urge all those who may be needing assistance to call upon Mr. Barroll, Keyser Building, Baltimore, Md.

THE ROCK HALL POSTOFFICE.

Mr. Joesph Ryan, the Rock Hall correspondent of the Kent News, delivered himself of a tirade last Saturday in reference to the naming of Mr. Charles Judefind as postmaster at Rock Hall to succeed Miss Hinson, who was appointed several months ago when the office was a fourth-class office. Of course Mr. Ryan's statement was made for whatever political effect it may have with the friends of Miss Hinson, who, with all the rest of us, regret that she has been a victim of circumstances. But to those who know the real truth of the circumstances of the case, Mr. Ryan's statement is simply amusing. Mr. Ryan must have known that the Organization forces were straining every nerve to oust Miss Hinson from the job as soon as they learned that the Rock Hall office would be raised to the third-class, thereby giving the President the power to name a new postmaster if he desired. And the truth of the matter is that the Organization leaders here in town were making a desperate effort to put Mr Frank Wheatley in the postoffice at Rock Hall, although Mr. Sterling Jones' friends in Rock Hall received assurances that he would receive the endorsement of the leaders here. And we understand that Mr. Wheatley's friends were so confident that he would land the job that some of them had quietly congratulated him upon being the next postmaster at Rock Hall, but didn't say a word about it to Miss Hinson. When, therefore, President Wilson recognized his personal friends, Hope H. Barroll, Esq., and his son, L. Wethered Barroll, Esq., by appointing Mr. Charles Judefind, it so stunned the Organization forces in Chestertown and throughout the town of Rock Hall, that Mr. Joseph Ryan, the correspondent of the Kent News from Rock Hall, was the only man the whole county over, who had the courage to try to make political capital out of a game in which the Organization was a strong "player" and lost out. And mark you, the whole trouble with President Wilson now is, that he failed to give the Organization faction the postoffice appointments at Rock Hall, Chestertown and Millington, and as a consequence, he can never be elected President of this great big United States any more. What a pity for the country at large.

Farm Laborers.

L. Wethered Barroll, Esq., 609 Keyser Building, Baltimore, Md., will be in his office November 23rd and 24th and will, on those days, have a number of German laborers for farmers of this county if they will call at his office on those days, pick out their men, and bring them home with them.

Realizing the fact that these Germans cannot expect high wages through the winter months, when there is very little work to do on the farms, Mr. Barroll believes that he will be able to furnish our farmers with laborers at from $8 00 to $10.00 per month in addition to their board and keep. Mr. Barroll makes no charge for his services and if anyone desires to winter a German to do the chores about the place, we advise them to call on Mr. Barroll.

THE REPUBLICAN SCARE.

Now that the election is over, and the Republicans have failed in their effort to recover the House of Representatives and the State of Massachusetts, and there is no possibility of their making any change in the tariff, will they please cease their malign efforts to depress business or cause a panic.

For two years, ever since the Democrats carried the last national election, the Republicans have been trying to injure business. They met with no success for about a year. During all the time the country was waiting for a Democratic administration to take office, and during all the discussions of the Underwood tariff, the business of the country continued to expand. Then the enforced economies of the railroads and the reduced purchases by foreign countries which were suffering from revolutions or business stagnation began to tell on trade. The Republicans immediately seized upon this, attributed it to the new tariff, and made every effort to convince the business world—and of course with some effect—that the slowing down of business was due to the Democratic tariff, and that no recovery was possible until the Republicans should pass another high tariff measure. It was notorious that they could not do this for many years.

Last summer the country was beginning to emerge from the doubt and contraction due to railroad economies and restricted foreign buying, and then the European war broke out. Of course business was temporarily checked. At once the Republicans seized upon this as another terrible result of a Democratic administration, and there has been consistent and persistent malignant exaggeration of the degree to which business could not revive and that still worse times were in store for us.

Republican business men, who have admitted that their own business was better than ever before, have insisted that the fact must be concealed because its political effect would be bad. Republican manufacturers whose business is always dull in the fall, and who had occasion this fall, as usual, to shut down for a time, or curtail their output, took pains to do it before the election for the sake of the effect it would have on the voting.

There are still directions in which the war has a depressing influence on our business, but there are others in which it is adding greatly to our trade. The West, with its high prices for the biggest wheat crop ever harvested, is booming. Factories East and West are rushed with orders from foreign governments. Exports are exceeding all records. Cotton is moving more freely. There is no excuse for insisting that the winter is going to be a very bad one. Men in the building trade are generally idle in the winter. In some other trades the war's interference with commerce will cause idleness and suffering.

But boot and shoe orders, orders for textiles, for food, for steel products, are keeping many of our mills and factories running over-time. Some more unemployment than usual is inevitable, but the probable amount is grossly exaggerated by Republicans, and it is all charged to the Democratic tariff.

Now that the Republicans have failed in their effort to capture every branch of Congress will they please stop their calamity croaking and give the business of the country a chance to pick up?—Philadelphia Record.

Old Trinity Church, in Church Creek, Dorchester county, was re-opened for service last Sunday, after being repaired and put in order by means of a popular subscription. Old Trinity was one of the first churches erected by the colonists who came to Maryland, being built in 1680 or earlier. The late Bishop Henry C. Llay, of the Diocese of Easton, searching early records in England, found entries mentioning this church as being in existence in 1680.

The attendance at all the churches on Sunday was small on account of the heavy rain.

Plans have about been completed for the erection of a $40,000 church edifice for Starr Methodist Protestant congregation in Walbrook, Baltimore. The new structure will be of Port Deposit granite with white trimmings and will be gothic in style. Rev. Dr. George W. Haddaway has been pastor of this church for the past 13 years.

Do not forget the first concert in the series to be given by the Young Men's Club of Christ M. P. Church, on Saturday, November 25th. The Ladies Orchestra is a remarkably fine entertainment. Season tickets cost $1. They may be secured from any member of the club.

Road Officials Fined.

Chief Judge Albert Constable, in the circuit court for Cecil county, on Tuesday found M. J. Best, subcontractor; his foreman, Charles Fellman, and State Road Inspector Frank W. Truitt guilty of contempt and imposed a fine of $200 on Best and $50 each upon Fellman and Truitt. The fines were paid.

The case came up upon the petition of Wm. H. Brown, of Cecilton, against the Carpenter Company, M. J. Best and others for contempt of court in disobeying an injunction of the court secured by Brown to prevent the filling up of a ditch along his property in Cecilton in building the State road through that town.

OUR DEATH RECORD.

MRS. EMMA HESSEY.

Mrs. Emma Hessey, widow of Dr. J. H. Hessey, died at her home in Hanesville, on Wednesday morning of paralysis, in the 54th year of her age. The deceased had been in feeble health for some months, but not until within the past two weeks had her condition become serious. The deceased was the daughter of the late Robert Nicholson, and was a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families in Worton. When quite a young woman she married Dr. Hessey, and together they trod life's pathway, identifying themselves with their adopted community in everything that pertained to its welfare, and always taking a conspicuous part in the social life of that hospitable section. Mrs. Hessey was a lady of charming manner, and her home was always a mecca for social and church gatherings. She was also actively identified with St. James M. P. Church, and never turned a deaf ear to those who sought assistance. Since the death of her husband, some three years ago, she had lived with her family of splendid children at the homestead until two of them answered the call of the professional world, leaving her daughter, Miss Sarah, as her sole companion. Mrs. Hessey enjoyed the love and esteem of a host of friends, and she will be missed for her many loving kindnesses. She is survived by three children—John H. Hessey, Esq., a prominent young lawyer of the Baltimore bar; Miss Sarah Hessey, one of Kent's efficient teachers, and Miss Morgan Hessey, who is teaching efficiently in Baltimore county. She also leaves four brothers, Messrs. John P., Robert G. and Wm. T. Nicholson, of Kent, Dr. Albert Nicholson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and one sister, Mrs. George W. Hatcherson, of this town.

Funeral services were held from her late residence yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Revs. G. A. Morris and S. B. Tredway, former pastors, the present pastor, Rev. H. B. Jester, being unable to conduct the services on account of sickness. Interment was made in Chester cemetery. The pall-bearers will be her three brothers, Messrs. John P., Robert G. and Wm. T. Nicholson, Robert J. Nicholson and Harry B. Nicholson, nephews, and Wm. G. Jones, of Cecilton. Undertaker C. L. Dodd had charge of funeral arrangements.

ISRÆL FRANKLIN WALBERT.

An Appreciation.

"Having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end." "His own." Christ still has "His own," who watch and walk with Him. In every place there are the faithful who lift up their toil-worn hands to receive the holy Bread and drink of the sacred Cup—not great as the world counts greatness, but not least in that kingdom where "God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty." So each parish has its inner circle; its little company who gladden the heart of the parish priest, and keep alive the fire of love within the church "Until the day dawn and the shadows flee away." To these He gives special tasks. They may be called the honors of the kingdom.

Israel Franklin Walbert was thus honored by being elected vestryman and collector for some years by the parish of St. Paul, Kent county. This task he did because he was Christ's own and was loved of Christ until the end.

Then too, his love for Christ was deep and unwavering, a love which gladly gave in quiet, humble service, and was rewarded with that Presence which follows its own through all the days of joy and suffering of this changeful life. Being loved with the love that passeth understanding, he was called to the higher service and nearer Presence beyond the veil. "We asked life of thee, and thou gavest him a long life, even forever and ever."

"Pie Jesu Domine, dona ei requiem."

ADELBERT MCGINNIS,
Rector of St. Paul's, Kent county.

ISRÆL F. WALBERT.

Notwithstanding the very inclement weather of last Sunday a large concourse of relatives and friends attended the funeral of Mr. Israel F. Walbert, which was held at the home at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Mr. McGinnis, of St. Paul's, and Rev. Dr. Manley Sharpe, of Church Hill. Interment was made in Chester cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Walter Strong, Charles Jessup, Frank Skirven, Wm. G. Smyth, Barclay Kilbourn and J. Page Gale. Undertaker Charless L. Dodd had charge of the funeral arrangements.

GEORGE A. VANNORT.

Mr. George A. Vannort, 83 years old, died on Monday at his home in Port Deposit after a long illness. Mr. Vannort was for years a merchant in Port Deposit. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Mrs. J. Fred West. He was a relative of Messrs. Wm. J. and Samuel Vannort and of Mrs. John H. Simpers, of this town.

ISAAC PARSONS.

Mr. Isaac Parsons died on Sunday at his home in Bristol, Pa. The deceased was a brother of Miss Maria Parsons, of this town. He was unmarried and had been engaged is business in Bristol for some years. Miss Parsons attended the funeral on Wednesday and returned to her home here on Thursday.

Birthday Party.

A delightful evening was spent Tuesday, November 10th, when Mr. and Mrs. John S. Silcox gave a party in honor of the eighteenth birthday of their daughter, Anna Helen, at their home near Still Pond, Md. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shortt and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn and family, from Hurlock, Dorchester county, Md., who made the trip for the evening in automobiles; Mr. and Mrs. John Y. Crew and little daughter, Anna; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Silcox, Mrs. Wm. Nickerson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Horton Silcox and little daughter, Frances; Mr. Edward Myers; Misses Elizabeth Hague, Ruth Baxter, Hope Hackett, Reba Geary, Bertha Hackett, Mabel Cleaver, Catharine Roe, Nellie Jones, Helen Rasin, Martha Rasin, Ethel Roe, Blanche Groves, Mary Melvin, Margaret Myers, Viola Vaughn, Essie Vaugh, Olive Vaughn, Lena Vaughn, Grace Nickerson, Katie Smith, Nellie Shortt, Sarah Taylor, Lula Greenwood, Daisy Greenwood; Messrs. Wilson Groves, Wm. Groves, Lloyd Kennedy, Walton Redmile, Roe Wallis, Edward H. McGinnis, Urie Jones, Ralph Geary, James Geary, Harvey Melvin, Preston Smith, Wm. Dempsey, John Dempsey, Allen Robinson, Rasin Carter, Bennie Robinson, Maxwell Meeks, Harry Meeks, Edward Carroll, Ara Shortt, Albert Vaughn, Ray Silcox, Harry U. Silcox. During the evening the guests were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served. The presents were many and beautiful. Late in the evening the guests left wishing Miss Silcox many more happy birthdays.

Take a drive—and save a five—to the Hub, Millington stores. Hollins says you can do it. Try it.

Mr. B. S. Sutton, Black's prominent merchant, writes that he will pay 45 cents per dozen for eggs next Wednesday, and possibly more, if the market advances. Mr. Sutton's advertisement on page 2 offering 40 cents per dozen, had gone to press before his postal reached us changing the price from 40 cents to 45 cents.

Look up the big adv. of the Lyceum management and see what a splendid bill they offer for Thanksgiving week, beginning Monday night, Nov. 23rd.

Read the "Furniture" adv. of Pollack's on page 5. Mr. C. Stewart Herring, formerly of the well-known firm of O. Herring & Sons, has associated himself with this most reliable Baltimore store, and he asks the patronage of all his old friends in this section. Pollack's is one of the most reliable houses in Baltimore and the class of house furnishings they sell is of the very best. Do not forget that Mr. Herring is with Pollack's since the retirement of the old firm and he will be pleased to give you the very best service.

We call the attention of our readers this morning to the advertisement of Mr. George H. Camp, successor to Mr. James T. DeCorse. Beginning to-day Mr. Camp offers granulated sugar at 5½ cents per pound, coffee for from 25 to 38 cents per lb., and has a new and splendid assortment of canned goods, provisions of all kinds, dress goods, etc. He wants all kinds of country produce and will pay 38 cents per dozen for eggs. Give Mr. Camp a part of your patronage. He is worthy of it.

Mr. W. E. Moody, special representative of the International Tailoring Co., reports his business increasing daily, and in conjunction with quite a large business with the older, middle aged and young men, the boys are learning by comparison the superior service at quite a saving. Call on him if in need of a suit or overcoat.

Mr. J. S. Kreeger, the jeweler, was in Philadelphia last week completing his holiday line. His line will be larger and better than ever this time.

The recital of Eleanor Chase, soprano and William G. Horn, baritone, assisted by Mr. Fred Weaver, of the Peabody Conservatory of Music at the Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday evening, next, promises to be a social as well as artistic success. The program selected for the occasion is one of unusual interest and with the ability of the artists, our people can look forward to a treat of the rarest excellence. Great interest has been aroused over the appearance of the concert representives of this renowned Conservatory, as the Peabody ranks foremost among the musical institutions of the county.

Bargain special and same price as last week at Frank A. Hurlock's big store up town. Eggs 32 cents per doz.

Hog as Road to Wealth.

"A pig for every child will solve more of the farm-life problems than the man looking through purely scientific glasses may realize," says Secretary Jewell Mays, of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture.

"Give every child a pig," he advises, "and let that pig belong to that child in fact, not a play pig. The practical pig club in every home will buy more ponies and books and new clothes and send more boys to agricultural college than all other clubs combined. The boy and girl with money in bank and a pen of pigs at home are not so anxious to ride on street cars and limousines and dangle away their lives on hard streets that lead to No Account avenue. The boy who sticks to the hog game is headed down Prosperity avenue faster than the speed limit in Frog Eye."
