Says Restaurant Owner Set Up Second Household

Mrs. Georgia Mae Jones, wife of Roy Aulden Jones, owner of the Hide Away Cafe, 1701 Ellsworth st., won a divorce from him, this week after testifying that he fell in love with another woman and set up a second household with her.

She told the master of the court that on Labor Day, 1927 her husband left their home saying that he may or may not come back. She said the announcement came without warning. The following week, she said, he returned to visit their daughter, and told her that he would not be back.

Still later, she said, she learned that he was living at 1701 Ellsworth st. and that the other occupant of the house was a woman whom she identified as Elsie.

Mrs. Jones testified further that at first Mr. Jones said that Elsie was his housekeeper, but later admitted that he loved her and that a closer relationship existed.

The wife said that Mr. Jones and the woman now live at 1601 E. Biddle st., where they "hold themselves out to be husband and wife."

Husband Begets Suit

Mrs. Jones won the divorce on a cross bill. Mr. Jones began the proceedings by asking for a divorce from her on grounds of voluntary separation. She "retaliated with a cross bill charging abandonment and adultery.

A Story of the Old South... and Old Discovery
"... And it came to pass that a gentleman from Maryland and a colonel from Kentucky, both distillers and warm friends, finally fell out over the merits of their respective whiskies. Hot words followed, and then, as was the custom of the day, they agreed to settle their differences with duelling pistols.
"Although there are several versions of the story it is said that the duel was averted at the last moment when a mutual friend appeared at the duelling grounds with a flask containing not one, but a blend of three whiskies: This gentleman, a Pennsylvanian, had mixed the fine whiskey of the Maryland distiller with the very best from the Kentucky colonel's cellar, and to these had added some of his own excellent whiskey. The result, all agreed, was superb."
That this great discovery averted a duel and established a fine friendship, is of secondary importance to the fact that this whole incident may have been responsible for the blending of fine Kentucky, Maryland and Pennsylvania whiskies, to achieve a drink unsurpassed in smoothness, flavor and gentleness of character.

WHITED, DILLARD COP INDOOR TITLES

Grand Street Boys 'Dream' Team

Here is that spectacular Grand Street Boys Club relay foursome which would be the answer to the dream of any coach. Champions and recordholders all, they between the world indoor sprint medley record in the National AAU championship at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. Left to right, George Rhoden ran the 220-yard leg, Herb McKenley the 400, Mal Whitfield the 100, and Andy Stanfield the 300, to post a mark of 1:52 a clocking seven-tenths of a second under the record set by Manhattan college last year. Previously, in the Millrose Games, the quartet set an unofficial world record of 3:15.4 in the mile relay. All are medal winners of the Olympic Games and all hold world records at various distances—Rhoden at 400 meters, McKenley at 440 yards, Whitfield at 500 yards and 800 meters, and Stanfield at 60 yards (equalled).

Stanfield, Bragg Beaten In AAU Meet; Gourdine Wins

Grand St. Boys Foursome Sets New World Mark In Medley Relay; Outdoor Meet to Dayton; O.

NEW YORK — Overcoming a near-spill on the first lap of the race, Mal Whitfield surged to a halftime victory over blonde Ollie Sax, of Penn State, to capture the national indoor 600-yard crown in the annual AAU track and field championships at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

A few minutes earlier, Whitfield's fellow - Ohioan, Harrison Dillard, had taken the 60-yard high hurdles title in clever fashion from A. and T. College's ambitious Lee Calhoun.

For Whitfield, it was his first triumph in a five-year quest of the board championship, although he has frequently held the comparable out-of-doors title at 880 yards. For Dillard, however, Saturday's victory marked his seventh consecutive acquisition of the fence trophy.

Stanfield, Bragg Bow

Beaten in what might well be termed an upset were Andy Stanfield and Art Bragg who, between them, have captured all the major sprint events of the current indoor season.

Stanfield, after tying the world mark of 6.1 seconds at the distance, bowed to white Johnny Haines, of Pennsylvania, in the finals. Bragg, Morgan State College's speedy boardman was fourth in the title bracket, finishing behind Johnny O'Connell, of Manhattan.

The broad jump title went to Meredith Gourdine, ex-Cornell university all-round star. Gourdine, second in the 1952 Olympic Games at Helsinki, took the event with a leap of 24 feet, 9½ inches.

Three Get Same Time

In Whitfield's victorious effort, one of which kept him undefeated for the season, the former Ohio State College and Army Airforce representative almost lost his footing as he tripped over Joe Gaffney, of Villanova, on the final turn leaving the first trip around the Garden oval. He recovered and was up to win before the end of the first lap. But experts were unanimous in the opinion he lost several yards in the jam.

Third in the blanket finish of the 600, was Reggie Pearman, a former national champion at the distance. The late-running overtaking the two leaders and, in fact, made it so close that all three were credited with the same 1:10.4 time; just two-tenths of a second off the world record held jointly by Whitfield and the late Johnny Borican.

Dillard was caught in 7.3 seconds as he romped home three feet ahead of the steadily improving Calhoun. The latter, incidentally, was making it two in a row over Olympian Milton Campbell, of Plainfield, N.J., whom the CIAA star whipped in the Evening Star Games in Washington early last month.

Smash World Mark

Following Gourdine's broad-jump win, Whitfield teamed with George Rhoden, Herb McKenley and Stanfield to smash the world record in the sprint medley relay race.

With Rhoden running the 220-yard leg, Stanfield the 300, McKenley the 400, and Marvelous Mal the 100, the Grand Street Boys Club's "dream" foursome captured the event in 1:52 flat, lowering by seven-tenths of a second the previous mark for the distance, held by Manhattan college since 1952.

Before this record got under way, Pioneer Club star barely missed officials of the AAU announced that the outdoor meet will be held June 26-27 at Dayton, Ohio.

At The Ringside

CHICAGO (ANP) — When welterweight champion Kid Gavilan defended his title against challenger Chico Davey the other night it was a case of all-man facing an All-American boy. Gavilan, sensational comet, was a fighting man, and Davey, the college scholar from East Lansing, Mich., was the over-ambitious boy.

In this bout, the Kid was first, the thinker; then the clouter, then the teaser, and finally, the destroyer. Throughout the nine rounds of activity Davey was too often an unwilling second party to the mayhem which saw him sink to the canvas four times and suffer a 10-round technical knockout.

During the first two rounds, Gavilan was the thinker as he sized Davey up and analyzed his style. Chuck did a nice job of pitty patting, but did no damage.

The champion opened up in the third round to become the clouter. After the first heavy exchange of blows, Davey had a seat on the ring floor for the first time in his pro career; The champion had established who was boss.

Following a Davey rally in the fourth, Gavilan became the teaser. He switched to Davey's own style of fighting and came a southpaw. He did this for two rounds and actually had a slight edge. This bit of strategy won the fight for the champion psychologically. Davey, the brain, could not tell what to expect from the champ next.

Kid Pours It On

Unfortunately for the challenger, he got his next installment in the eighth round when Gavilan began to pour it on. He stepped up his pace, and Chuck began to wilt under the pressure.

Chuck virtually fell apart in the ninth round as the champion brutally chopped him down to the floor three times. Chuck was helpless as the bell rang to end the round. When the bell for the 10th round gonged, it was all over as Chuck's handlers refused to let him come out.

Must Grew Up

To climax the whole evening Gavilan danced out of the ring to Latin-American strains from the giant stadium organ. He had proved himself a ringman of true quality, one prepared to take on all comers, be they boy or man.

Davey did his best, but he did not have the weapons necessary to cope with a champion. Chuck's punch carried no power behind it. He was outfought and outthought by Gavilan. He still has lots of growing up to do.

Wage Hot Race For Cage Tourney

Top Cage Gun For Nashville Berths

NASHVILLE—The battles are becoming more torrid for places at the deadline nears, in the 18th basketball tournament at Fisk Gymnasium, February 26-28, sponsored by the District at Large of the National Association of Inter-Collegiate Athletics.

Reports from the several conferences in the local community hands indicate that North Carolina College, West Virginia State and Morgan are in the thick of the fight to represent the Central Intercollegiate Athletic association.

Bethune Ranked High

In the Midwestern conference, Lincoln (Mo.) and Tennessee State will fight down to the wire before the issue is settled. Southern University with a record of 14-6, is running ahead of the field in the Southwestern region.

Bethune-Cookman, 12-0, barring upsets before the February 15th deadline is a cinch to represent that section. However, Fisk and Florida A. and M. are not to be counted out.

Only 2 Teams

Besides the Conference winners, the four other teams for the tournament are to be selected on the basis of their overall season's records and the quality of the competition they have met during the season.

Not more than two teams from any conference can participate in the championship play-off, according to tournament rules.

Falcon Star Sets Terrific Scoring Pace

RALEIGH—St. Augustine College's freshman-dominated basketball team, with Clarence Burke setting a terrific scoring pace, is going all out for a CIAA tournament berth as deadline time nears.

Keying their play behind him, the Falcons have chalked up a 7-4 CIAA record for the campaign, and now have tilts with St. Paul, Winston - Salem and Shaw in the offing.

Burke's sensational shooting has given him 30-point outputs, or better, in six of the 11 conference games played. He tallied 30 against St. Paul, 35 against A. and T., 30 against Shaw, 32 against Bluefield, 34 against Delaware State, and 38 in another tiff with Delaware.

Va. State Runs Roughshod Over Bluefield Quint, 103-77

PETERSBURG, Va.—The Virginia State Trojans went on a scoring spree against the Blues of Bluefield State College to swamp the visitors 103-77 Thursday night in Daniel Gymnasium.

Trojan coach Shelton Matthews emptied the bench in the course of the contest with every player except Gen Rudgins, who was nursing an ankle injury, seeing action. During the second and third periods the regulars watched from the sidelines as their understudies added to the commanding lead the Trojans had taken from the outset.

Bluefield captain Jimmy Wright from Beckley, W. Va., and guard Tommie Harris from Wytheville, Va., led the visitors in a desperation bid during the final period to pick up 26 points. But the Trojans who chalked up 37 of their own were not to be headed.
