THE very best Christmas present which Old Kris can leave on Chestertown's doorstep on Christmas morning will be a standpipe and more water pressure for use when it is so much needed.

THE Democrats of Pennsylvania, lead by Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer and former Governor Vance McCormick, have started a movement for State-wide prohibition, which is said to be the forerunner of a movement for national prohibition which is being advocated by Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan.

HON. J. CHARLES' LINTHICUM has been in the town and county during the week in the interest of his candidacy for Governor. He met a number of prominent Democrats at the Voshell House on Monday night and conferred with them concerning the political prospects in Kent.

THE County Auditing Committee, Messrs. Edgar R. Pennington, P. A.M. Brooks and Wm. G. Smyth are at work auditing the accounts in the office of the Board of County Commissioners. Clerk to the Board Samuel Hicks had every item of the business in excellent shape for the committee before it began its labors.

CONGRESS will reconvene on Monday and will continue until March 4th next. President Wilson has about completed his message, which will contain some important recommendations. Many new faces will be seen in the House and some of the old liners who went down to defeat in 1912 will "come back," the most notable of which is "Uncle Joe" Cannon from Illinois and "Nick" Longworth from Ohio.

THERE are some very interesting developments in the Organization camp. It looks very much like there are two "combinations" in a strife over the real thing. There are many moves on the political chess board, and it looks like a stiff fight on in the "Old Guard" camp to sidetrack some aspirants for political honors. Dixon, however, holds the trump card, and we have it from mighty good authority that he will play his card when the time comes. It looks like an effort is being made to eliminate some would-be bosses from the Organization camp.

THE liquor interests of the country are much disturbed over the prohibition conference held at Niagara Falls recently by the Catholics. This is said to have been the first Catholic organization in the United States to go on record in favor of nation-wide Prohibition. Aside from effecting an organization, resolutions were adopted which, for comprehensiveness, seem to leave nothing unsaid or implied in denunciation of the liquor traffic. Among the resolutions were the following: "Favoring nation-wide Prohibition, exclusion of liquor advertisements through the mails, making it illegal to ship liquor through dry States, barring liquor dealers from jury duty, making abstinence one of the civil service requirements, excluding drinkers from political offices, making temperance a subject to be taught in public and private schools, and favoring equal suffrage, with the provision that all persons convicted of intoxication be disfranchised for five years."

JUDGES Adkins and Hopper, sitting in Denton last week, granted an order for the issuance of a mandamus compelling the school board of Caroline county to reopen Furman's Grove school and other schools which had been consolidated with the Ridgely schools. It was shown that the Furman's Grove school had been conducted 27 years and that its attendance last year was 19. At a hearing before the State Board of Education, to which the patrons appealed after the court had dismissed the first petition for a mandamus in September, the board was directed to fix the boundaries and comply with the new school consolidation law, which makes the consent of 60 per cent. of the patrons necessary to the closing of a school with more than 12 pupils. The appeal from the decision of the lower court in the mandamus case was then pending in the Court of Appeals and in June Judge Burke wrote the decision reversing the lower court and declaring the State Board of Education to be the final determining body in all controversies as to public school administration.

THE Republican newspapers all over the country, now that the election is over, are whooping up the very general and apparent restoration of business confidence. Some of them are even going so far as to advocate the elimination of the tariff from the realm of politics. Great industries are resuming business all over the country, and many factories are working overtime to supply the large orders coming in daily. The export trade is increasing by leaps and bounds and prospects point to a record-breaking year of prosperity in 1915. All this the Republican newspapers acknowledge as a fact. But wait unti 1916 and they will begin to preach hard times again with the same degree of deception they did in the last campaign. But the people of the country are waking up. They are beginning to see the beneficent effects of the new tariff and of other constructive legislation which the last Congress enacted, and there is every prospect of an era of unprecedented prosperity in this country. Don't be fooled again by the deceptive campaign arguments of the Republicans. The Republicans could never think of offering such prosperity as the Democrats will hand out in 1915.

THE State Tax commission, composed of Senator Arthur P. Gorman, Judge Leser, and Lewin W. Wickes, were in conference here yesterday with the Board of County Commissioners relative to the adjustment of property assessments. The commission is visiting every county in the state, having started down the shore.

SENATOR LEE now has tucked securely away under his belt the appointments of Joshua W. Miles as Collector of Internal Revenue; Mitchell Digges, as Naval Officer, and W. W. Stockham as United States Marshal. The Collector of Internal Revenue is the plum, because of the great number of appointments to be handed out. Watch Senator Lee land others.

SENATOR John Walter Smith has landed his friend, Mr. Samuel K. Dennis, of Baltimore, in the United States District Attorneyship. We told the reactionaries in Kent county that Senator Smith would get more out of the three Kent postmasterships than they would, and Senator Smith is a far better loser than the Kent county reactionaries. President Wilson has done the proper thing in recognizing Senator Smith and his following in the State, by the appointment of Senator Smith's closest friend. That's Wilson politics and it's mighty good kind of politics to tie to. Before the Kent county postoffices were handed out, Wilson was a great man in the estimation of the Organization forces here. After the postoffice appointments were made you could hear "Wilson can never be elected President again." Since Dennis' appointment it has been "I tell you Wilson is the stuff."

THE shippers and people generally of the Eastern Shore should lend every assistance to the investigation now going on in Baltimore by the United States government officials relative to the right of the Pennsylvania Railroad to control steamboat lines. The Panama Canal Act prohibits any railroad owning steamboat lines, and there is no question that the transportation and freighting facilities on the Eastern Shore, due to Pennsylvania control of every line doing business on the Shore, are a great detriment to our shipping interests. A virtural monopoly has been created through the Pennsylvania ownership, and there seems to be a decided discrimination in freighting and passenger traffic facilities in favor of Philadelphia and northern markets. The people should follow the investigation closely and give every assistance towards a satisfactory adjustment of existing difficulties.

TOYLAND, Dec. 4, 1914

of Chestertown, Md.

GENTLEMEN AND LADIES: I am coming to visit you again, and will arrive in your town by the morning train on Wednesday, Dec. 23rd, and I want all the children in your and the adjoining counties to meet us. Yes, I say us. Actually I have made a special effort for this occasion, and I will come in my two big sleighs and bring all my family. A jolly time for us. Children, I want to meet you all, and I am going to hand out to you, each and every one, a nice little Christmas present. Just think of it, 2,500 presents, and all to be given away free, and we want you to come and get them.

A night or two ago, during the moonlight, I slipped into your town and just took a look at the stores. Those merchants are all right, and gee, but they have the good things, from one end of the town to the other, and I notice a good variety, and I don't see any need of the old folks going away from home to buy. Buy at home. I will leave with each merchant a baloon, and on Thursday, Dec. 24th, they are to have Baloon Day. Baloons go up with a present attached to each and every one. Get the baloon and return to us and get your present. OLD KRIS.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop John Gardner Murray, of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Maryland.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a costume of serpentine blue broadcloth and velvet, trimmed with fur, and her hat was of blue velvet with chamois crown and ostrich plumes. She wore a corsage bouquet of lillies of the valley and orchids. The best man was Mr. Henry Shephard Foster, brother of the bride. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Price left for the Army-Navy game and an extended trip North. On their return they will reside at 3029 Clifton avenue, Walbrook.
