Big Numbers Case Ends Just A Bust

State Charges 13 Too Frightened To Cooperate

By JOSEPH A. OWENS

HARTFORD, Conn. — 'The' numbers racket is such an important part of the social life of the North End of Hartford, that the accused have been threatened and frightened from cooperating with us. As a result we feel unable to prove our case in that respect."

So stated assistant State's Attorney Douglas B. Wright this week as he requested the nolle pressing of conspiracy charges against 13 persons who were arrested last October and charged with operating a $750,000-a-year numbers syndicate.

Then pleas of nolo contendere were accepted in Hartford Superior Court from all but the one person who failed to appear and the three whose cases were nolle prossed after pleas of not guilty.

Gets Six Months

Kingpin of the syndicate, George Swan, a dapper figure in New England night life circles who has maintained that he is being framed, received the maximum penalty for operating a lottery in Connecticut, six months in jail.

At the trial, though the state failed to name Swan in the conspiracy charge, it did point out that the vast syndicate which police authorities claim extended throughout Connecticut and parts of Rhode Island and Massachusetts involved two rings. The relationship of the rings was the laying off of large bets against each other.

Swan, a 38-year-old resident of Bloomfield, a Hartford suburb, was nonchalant throughout the proceedings. He returned from New York City for the case.

Repeats Statement

In the courtroom he repeated the statement he made when arrested by the police last October. "I don't have anything to do with no policy writing business. I'm a respectable law abiding citizen."

William L. Johnson, 47, received a similar sentence to the one given Swan. Johnson was described as Swan's first lieutenant. It was at Johnson's home that members of the Hartford Police Department's Vice Squad found the books belonging to the ring.

John R. Shelton of Bloomfield received a three-months jail sentence. The 49-year-old Shelton was believed to be a one-time boss of the ring.

John Marshall received a six months suspended jail sentence while Arthur T. Ellison, James B. Stewart, James R. King, Mrs. Trudy Beckman Bey and Eveyrette George Ware were sentenced to two months in jail for being policy salesmen.

The case of Walter B. (Sonny) Frederick who was originally thought to be one of the top man's right hand men was nolle prossed. The state had no evidence that Frederick was involved in either ring at the time of the arrests.

Others who went free were Dolores Johnson and Joseph Shelton. Their cases were nolle prossed for lack of evidence. Haddie Scrutse failed to appear in court for the trial. Police are searching for him.

Swan and his group had been scheduled to appear during the early weeks of the January session of Superior Court. However, due to the heavy docket they did not face the judge until this week.

With each passing day interest in the case mounted since the arrests were made rumors circulated throughout Hartford that all of the accused had received threats from New York mobsters.

Swan has been reported as boasting in night clubs that he would not go to jail. The sporty figure who drives a powder blue 1952 Cadillac maintained throughout that he was "innocent."

'Cops And Robbers' Casualty

An unidentified ambulance attendant is shown treating Juan Medina, 10, for a wound received from a .22 calibre pistol, last week. Godfrey Crespo, 6, center, accidentally shot him with the pistol they found in the street in New York. They decided to play "cops and robbers" and Juan was shot in the arm.

Ethiopian Soldier Here For New Limb

NEW YORK — A member of Emperor Haile Selassie's Imperial body guard who lost a leg fighting with the UN in Korea arrived here Friday on his way to a New Jersey hospital where he will be fitted with an artificial limb, thanks to a blond Army nurse.

The soldier, Private Bahremariail Tumebo, lost his leg in a booby-trap explosion last March. At a Tokyo hospital he was taken care of Lt. "Sonny" Leclaire of the Bronx.

Since there's a shortage of artificial limbs in Korea Tumebo had to go home without one. But Lt. LeClaire wrote to the American Veterans Committee in New York offering to pay for his limb. When doctors advised it was practically useless to try to fit the leg by remote control, the AVC arranged to pay Tumebo's fare to the United States.

The 22-year-old soldier will be examined by Dr. Henry H. Kessler, orthopedic surgeon and director of the Kessler Institute in West Orange, N.J. Kessler will fit the leg and provide a complete rehabilitation program.

N.Y. Congressman Attacks Government Appropriations For Jim-Crow Schools

WASHINGTON (NNPA)— The effort of Rep. Adam C. Powell (D., N.Y.) to keep the House from amending the Second Supplemental Appropriation Bill to provide $24,000,000 for payment to school districts for the maintenance and operation of schools in federally impacted areas failed last Thursday.

Mr. Powell opposed federal aid to schools in federally impacted areas on the ground that it was federal subsidization of segregation.

As the Second Supplemental Appropriation Bill finally passed the House it carried the sum of $20,500,000, added to the measure on an amendment offered by Rep. John E. Fogarty (Dem., R.I.).

Passed While Away

Mr. Powell told the House that the law authorizing appropriations for maintenance and operation of schools was reported out of the House Education and Labor Committee, of which he is a member, while he was away from Congress on a three-month sick leave.

Under the law, he said, sons and daughters of colored men in the armed forces are not allowed to go to schools built with federal funds. He also charged that there has been "a tremendous waste of taxpayers' money to support separate schools on the basis of race" under the law.

Powell said he was surprised to find how many requests had been made for funds to build colored schools by officials from South Carolina and Georgia when the Atomic Energy Commission began building its Savannah River plant.

Raid On Treasury

"The problem of inadequate schools for colored children had been there all the time," he said, "but these State officials apparently decided that while everybody was excited about spending money to make the H-bomb, it would be a good time to raid the Federal treasury to do a job they should have been doing all through the years out of their own State and local taxes."

Powell said he had complaints from families of servicemen who are forced to send their children to segregated schools outside the military post, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Fort Bliss, Texas, Fort Sill, Okla., and Fourt Belvoir, Va.

The fundamental question facing members of Congress, Powell said, is whether the Congress shall "continue to use tax money collected from the entire country to support a wasteful system of segregation in schools such as those located in Arlington County and nearby Maryland?"

"If we assume that the money is to be divided in half for the purpose of providing duplicate buildings, extra teachers, and extra equipment for colored children," Powell said, "it means that we are called upon to take at least a quarter of a million dollars out of the pockets of taxpayers who live in those parts of the country where there is no segregation in schools to pay for racial segregation in Maryland and Virginia."

HEALED THEIR MOTHER'S GOITER:

Teachers Give 13G Mink Coat To Prophet Jones

CHICAGO—Prophet Jones of Detroit really added to his many fabulously expensive gifts from his followers last week when two Chicago public school teachers gave him a $13,500, full length, satin-lined white mink coat.

The teachers said they gave the coat to the Rt. Rev. Dr. James F. Jones, dominion ruler of the Universal Triumph, Dominion of God Church, because they were convinced his mystic powers saved their ailing mothers life in 1949.

Donors of the luxurious garment were Misses Evelyn and Esther Jackson, known in the "dominion" as Princesses Brutella and Esserstina.

First For A Man

The sisters live at 703 E. Oakland blvd. Evelyn teaches in the Shoop school and Esther is assigned to the Douglas school. They both went to Detroit to present their gift which they explained was made on special order in New York. "the first white mink coat ever designed for a man."

"We paid $2,000 down and our monthly payments will be $375 each," the sisters said "And the mink coat is only the beginning of many presents which we plan for Prophet Jones," they added.

The Jackson sisters said that in 1949 their mother, Mrs. Esther Jackson, 70, who lives with them, fell desperately ill with goiter.

54-Room Castle

They had given up hope for her until she visited the prophet's 54-room French castle in Detroit.

"Seven physicians had failed to aid her goiter ailment," Prophet Jones said. "I instructed the patient to go to Gary, Ind., and get a drink of water in a bus station.

"Then I told her to sit in a chair till God told her to walk. She did and two days later she was cured."

TAX PAYERS OWE IT TO THEMSELVES TO:

Pay No More Than Their Just Share To Uncle Sam

The AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers, this week, are publishing the first of a series of three articles concerning income tax problems and the answers to queries concerning them.

The questions and answers were composed by a director of the Internal Revenue Bureau and can be regarded as completely authoritative. While the series is being published, the AFRO will be glad to answer any additional questions our readers may see fit to send us.

Must File By March 15

The question and answer sequence follows:

Question — When must I file my final return for 1952?

Answer—Generally speaking the final return must be filed on or before March 15, 1953.

Q—Where do I send my tax return?

A—Director of Internal Revenue, Custom House, of locality nearest you.

Q—How do I draw a check or money order in payment of my taxes?

A—Director of Internal Revenue.

Q—Where can I go to get assistance in the preparation of my return?

A—Internal Revenue Building, any locality.

Q—What days and between what hours may I get assistance in the preparation of my return?

A—Monday thru Friday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Q—What forms may I use in the preparation of my return?

A—Form 1040A, short form 1040, long form 1040.

Q—May I claim my wife as an exemption on my return if she earned less than $600, and may she file a return and receive a refund of taxes withheld?

A—Separate returns may be filed; however, husband could not claim wife as an exemption. Generally speaking a joint return would be the most economical way to file.

Q—I earned less than $600 and income taxes were withheld. How may I get my refund?

A—By filing Form 1040 or 1040A.

Q—My husband is overseas in the U.S. Army. When must he file his return?

A—June 15, 1953.

Q—Is a dependent over 65 entitled to an extra exemption for over age?

A—No. Such over age exemption may only be taken by the taxpayer and his or her spouse.

Q—I was married on June 17, 1952. May I file a joint return with my husband?

A—Yes, a joint return may be filed; however, neither may be claimed as a dependent of another person.

Q—My son was born on Dec. 17, 1952. May I claim my son as a dependent for the whole year?

A—Yes, a $600 exemption may be claimed for the entire year.

Q—My wife died during the year. May I file a joint return?

A—Yes, a joint return may be filed provided the surviving spouse does not remarry before the end of his taxable year.

Q—What items are deductible if I itemize my deductions?

A—Church contributions, Red Cross, Community Fund, March of Dimes, T. B. Seals, interest paid on mortgages and other borrowed funds. State income taxs, retail sales Real estate taxes, gasoline tax of state, auto tags of state, taxes.

Medical and dental expenses over 5 per cent adjusted gross income. If either taxpayer or wife is over 65, 5 per cent limitation does not apply. Funeral expenses not deductible. Safety equipment, union dues.

Q—My husband died last year and I received payment from life insurance policies. Is such payment taxable income?

A—No. Such payment made on life insurance because of the death of the insured is not taxable income.

Q—How much exemption do I get for my wife and children?

A—The taxpayer is entitled to a $600 exemption for himself, $600 for his wife and $600 for each person qualifying as a dependent.

Q—Are tips taxable income?

A—Tips or other gratuities received for services rendered are taxable income.

Q—I have a savings account on which I received $23 interest. Am I required to include this interest on my return?

A—Yes. This interest is a part of your taxable gross income and should be included as such.

Q—How may I get a refund on Social Security taxes withheld on earnings in excess of $3,600?

A—Such amount may be taken as a credit together with amounts withheld for income tax.

Q—May I deduct Federal excise taxes on cosmetics, jewelry, furs?

A—No. Such federal excise taxes are not deductible.

Q—I am a widower maintaining a home for my unmarried daughter who is employed. May I claim status as head of a household?

A—Any unmarried person who qualifies as a head of a household is entitled to special tax treatment for the calendar year 1952 and for other taxable years beginning after Oct. 1951.

To obtain this special tax treatment you must file either a long or short Form 1040 return, completing Schedule J on page 2 of that form. Such special tax benefit is not available to taxpayers using Form 1040A.

A person qualifies as head of a household, for Federal income tax purposes, if you are unmarried on that last day of the taxable year, and furnish over one-half of the maintenance of a home which, except for temporary absences, is the principal residence of and is shared during the entire taxable year with one or more of the following dependent persons:

1—Any person for whom you are entitled to an exemption, or

2—Your unmarried child, grandchild or unmarried stepchild even though he does not qualify as a dependent.

In determining whether you qualify for head of household status, it is important to note that the individual who enables you to claim such status must meet the requirements of a dependent unless he is your unmarried descendant or unmarried stepchild.

Q—I sold my personal residence in 1952 and made a profit. Do I have to include this profit on my tax return?

A—In 1952 and prior years, if a taxpayer's personal residence was sold at a gain, it was taxable even though he replaced the old residence with another one which he purchased or constructed.

The Revenue Act of 1951 provides a new rule to give relief in such cases.

If, on or after Jan. 1, 1951, you sell at a gain your principal residence and within one year before or after the sale you purchase and occupy another residence, none of the gain is taxable if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the sale price of the old residence.

Q—What items are deductible if I itemize my deductions?

A—Church contributions, Red Cross, Community Fund, March of Dimes, T. B. Seals, interest paid on mortgages and other borrowed funds. State income taxs, retail sales Real estate taxes, gasoline tax of state, auto tags of state, taxes.

Medical and dental expenses over 5 per cent adjusted gross income. If either taxpayer or wife is over 65, 5 per cent limitation does not apply. Funeral expenses not deductible. Safety equipment, union dues.

Slayer Scheduled To Be Electrocuted Misses Death In Chair By 5 Minutes

By JOSEPH A. OWENS

HARTFORD, Conn. — George W. Dortch, convicted slayer missed his rendezvous with death this week by five minutes. The 33-year-old native of Westerly, R.I. who confesses to the slaying of Mrs. Doris Sebastain of Pawtucket was slated to be executed in the electric chair at the Connecticut State Prison at Wethersfield.

While the onetime U.S. Army war veteran was speaking what he believed to be his last words to the Rev. J. Bernard Gates, prison chaplain, Gov. John D. Lodge called Warden Ralph H. Walker and ordered the execution postponed.

2 Month Reprieve

Warden Walker told the newsmen and witnesses of the telephone call at 10:29 p.m. He said, "The governor has told me that he is in possession of new evidence and has ordered the execution held up because he feels everything possible should be done to give Dortch a fair chance."

Actually the postponement, which developed into a two-month reprieve the following day, came about through a technicality in the state laws. Attorney Francis E. McGuire of New London, who has represented Dortch throughout the four year ordeal, has pointed out to Governor Lodge that when he attempted to win commutation of the death sentence for his client before the Board of Pardons the presence of Supreme Court Justice Ernest A. Inglis on the board has made their ruling illegal.

McGuire told the governor, "The presence of Supreme Court Justice Ernest A. Inglis, a board member, made it improperly constituted when the denial was made. General statute 3019 prohibits any judge who has tried a case in court from sitting on the board in connection with the same case." Judge Inglis was one of the five Supreme Court justices who upheld the Dortch conviction.

The defense for Dortch also revealed that it has discovered new evidence in the "jealous rage" stabbing. Attorney McGuire claims that he has uncovered proof that Dortch was hospitalized about two hours after the fatal stabbing, Sep. 3, 1949.

Though he has not revealed the name of the doctor who administered the treatment, McGuire claims the client was treated for stab wounds.

If You Do Wrong

Meanwhile, the condemned slayer has remained silent, save to say, "If you do wrong, you have to pay the penalty." Dortch has even refused to plead his own case to Governor Lodge.

George's father, a refuse collector in Westerly, R.I.' has pleaded for mercy for his "junior" for the past four years. "It would have been better if he had been killed in the war, than have him die in the electric chair," sobbed the father Dortch the night of the scheduled execution.

When the postponement came he said, "Our prayers have been answered. Back home everyone, even the 'whites' have been praying for my boy."

The murder of Dortch's girl friend, Mrs. Dorothy Sebastian, was one of the bloodiest ever recorded on police files in Connecticut. She was stabbed 23 times.

Planned To Marry

After his discharge from the U.S. Army, Dortch divorced a war-time bride and associated himself in business with his father. He met Mrs. Sebastian and fell in love.

She promised to divorce her husband and marry Dortch. In 1947 he purchased an engagement ring for her and began buying furniture for their home. And though not legally married it was a known fact they were living together.

Dortch was convicted, Feb. 23, 1950 and sentenced to die the week of June 22, 1951. He received his first stay of execution pending an appeal to the Supreme Court of Errors. The appeal was turned down last December and he was resentenced to die this week.

UNDER SPELL OF 'HOLY SPIRIT'

Woman Hurt 'Shouting,' Sues Church For $15 G

By FRANK SANTOS

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.— A fractured shoulder, suffered while under the "influence" of the Holy Spirit, was the basis of a $15,000 suit against a local church filed in Superior Court last week.

Mrs. Mary Ruth Burks, of 220 Natoma street, filed the suit against St. John Missionary Baptist church, after she alleged that her shoulder was fractured during a church service on March 9, 1952.

Was Forcebly Restrained

The incident came about she said, when two members of the church forcibly restrained her while she was under the "influence" of the Holy Spirit.

The Rev. James Morgan, pastor of St. John's could not be contacted by the AFRO for a statement. However, George R. Anderson, attorney, representing the church, said an answer to Mrs. Burks' suit would be filed soon.

Church Disclaims in Suit

Mr. Anderson asserted there was no doubt that Mrs. Burks was injured on the church premises, but that the church believes she has no grounds for a suit."

According to Mrs. Burks, the retraining gesture took place on the eve of March 9, when she attended services to partake of the Lord's Supper and to hear a sermon by a visiting preacher.

Also Lost Purse

She became happy and inspired during the service, Mrs. Burks said, and two men of the church grabbed her and restrained her with such force that her shoulder was fractured. She also lost her purse, she said.

Later that evening she became ill, suffered intense pain and was treated by a doctor. Further x-rays revealed broken bones. Her medical expenses subsequently were about $350, Mrs. Burks said.

Real Estate Board Installs New Officers

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — The 100-member Golden West Real Estate Board last week installed its officers for 1953 during the 15th annual banquet held at beautiful Wilfandel clubhouse.

The officers are H. A. Ward, president; Bernard C. Herndon, vice-president; Yolande C. Billingsley, secretary; Frank L. Green, treasurer and H. A. Howard, president of the board of directors.

Name Attorney To Tell Aim Of St. Louis Body

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (ANP)—Richard E. Burns last week was appointed as a representative of the Mound City Bar Association to report to circuit court the purpose and proposed functions of Civic Progress, Inc., an organization which plans a comprehensive program of necessary municipal improvements.

Randolph Protests Treatment Of Japanese

NEW YORK — It was announced at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, 217 W. 125th st., by A. Philip Randolph, International President, that at the request of Yoichi Yamato, president of the National Railway Workers' Union of Japan, a cablegram was sent to Prime Minister, Shigeru Yoshida in Japan.

The wire protests against the dismissal of three top trade union leaders of the aforementioned union because the union had fought against arbitrary invasion of their rights as workers while they sought a wage increase for their members.

It's wonderful the way Chewing-Gum Laxative acts chiefly to REMOVE WASTE —NOT GOOD FOOD
Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about regularity, the gentle chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why Feen-a-mint's action is so wonderfully different!
Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "thinking" action too soon, in the upper intestines, before being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.
But gentle Feen-a-mint, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it remains mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, "let-down" feeling. Instead, you feel "up and down" peppy! Energetic and full of life! Get Feen-a-mint! Notice how little—still 25c, 50c or only 10c.

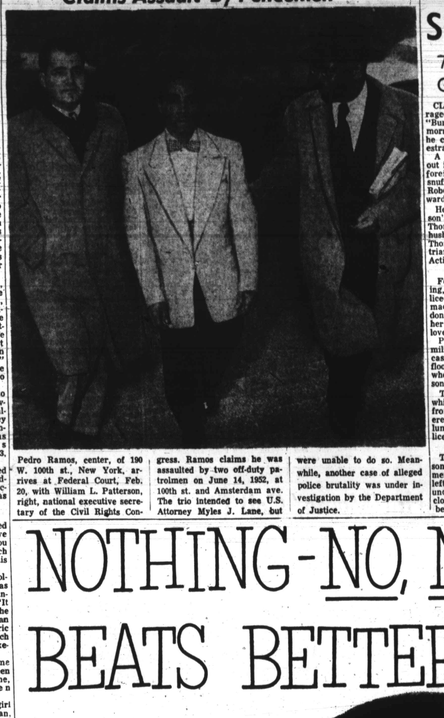
Claims Assault By Policemen



Pedro Ramos, center, of 190 W. 100th st., New York, arrives at Federal Court, Feb. 20, with William L. Patterson, right, national executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress. Ramos claims he was assaulted by two off-duty patrolmen on June 14, 1952, at 100th st. and Amsterdam ave. The trio intended to see U.S. Attorney Myles J. Lane, but were unable to do so. Meanwhile, another case of alleged police brutality was under investigation by the Department of Justice.

Caldonia, Lover Surprised In Bed

7 Blasts From Machine Gun Break Up Triangle

CLEVELAND, Ohio — An enraged plumber used a German "Burp" gun early last Saturday morning to blast to death a man he caught nude in bed with his estranged wife.

A stream of seven shots rang out in staccato fashion from the foreign make machine gun to snuff the life out of Charles Roberson, 25, as he walked toward the angry husband.

Held without bail in Roberson's death is Clough Henry Thompson, 46, a plumber and husband of Mrs. Caldonia Thompson, the third party in the triangle, pending Grand Jury Action.

Gave Self Up

Following the 4:30 a.m. shooting, Thompson calmly called police and gave himself up. He made no attempt to harm Caldonia who is another stricken in her bedroom as she watched her lover slain.

Police found a 45 calibre nine millimeter automatic cartridge case that holds 25 bullets on the floor leading to the hallway when they entered Mrs. Thompson's bedroom.

The murder weapon, the type which an estimated 20,000 men used in World War II, was discovered later underneath a pile of lumber near Thompson fed police to it.

Were Only Undershirt

The murder scene revealed Roberson was shot in the lower abdomen, left heel, right hip and left chest. The man were only an undershirt when shot. His other clothes hung at the end of the bed he shared with Thompson's da wife.

Police reconstructed the shooting as follows:

Thompson and his wife, married for six years and parents of four children, separated about two weeks ago after he learned she was keeping company with some other man.

Saw Rival's Car

Saturday, Thompson passed his wife's home and saw Robinson's car parked outside. He allegedly told the police he then went to the home of his father and mother-in-law where he obtained the machine gun.

Returning to his wife's home, the angry husband kicked open the door and saw "Caldonia and Roberson in bed together."

Roberson leaped out of bed and advanced on Thompson.

"That's when I let him have it," Thompson is quoted as saying.

Tells Same Story

Detectives quoted Mrs. Thompson as telling virtually the same case that holds 25 bullets on the floor leading to the hallway when they entered Mrs. Thompson's bedroom.

The murder weapon, the type which an estimated 20,000 men used in World War II, was discovered later underneath a pile of lumber near Thompson fed police to it.

Bulge In Pants Trips Bookmaker

DETROIT—When Will Bracey, 44, was stopped by Patrolman Luke Mathis last week for investigation of a minor traffic violation, the officer said he noticed a bulge in Bracey's pants, and Bracey seemed nervous.

When the officer inquired about the lump in the trousers Bracey admitted being loaded with mutuel bets.

Search Reveals Cache

The policeman quoted him saying, "Take me to the police station. I can't reach the bets here without being embarrassed."

Patrolman Mathis said at the station he confiscated 35 current dated mutuel bets neatly enclosed in a small bag, which was tide to Bracey's leg inside his pants.

In addition, the officer confiscated a 1950 model automobile and $45 in cash.

Recorder's Judge O. Z. Ide found Bracey guilty and fined him $25 or 30 days in the House of Correction.

13 States Do Not Name Race Or Color On Driver Licenses

CHICAGO (ANP)—Some 13 states do not require information about race or color on driver license applications, according to a recent survey made by the Illinois Commission on Human Relations.

Of this numbers, seven formerly required this information, but no longer do, and the remainder never did, the report of the states noted that racial designation serves no useful purpose in efficient operation of motor vehicle departments.

The 13 states which do not require information about race are: California, Idaho, Illinois, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont and Utah.

NOTHING—NO, NOTHING—BEATS BETTER TASTE!
"LUCKIES TASTE BETTER
Cleaner, Fresher... Smoother!

National League "Rookie of the Year"
LUCKY STRIKE (L.S./M.F.T.) CIGARETTES
You can even see why Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother
You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment—just as Brooklyn pitcher Joe Black does. And Joe says, "You can take it from me—Luckies taste better."
Yes, Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! You can see why when you strip the paper from a Lucky by tearing down the seam.
First, you see that your Lucky is made better, because it remains a perfect cylinder of fine tobacco—round, firm and fully packed.
Second, you see Luckies' famous fine tobacco itself—long strands of fine, light, truly mild tobacco with a rich aroma and an even better taste. Yes, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco.
Nothing—no, nothing—beats better taste, and Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother. So . . .
