Ex-Howard Student Named Army Corporal

WITH U.S. FORCES IN FRANCE—Lionel G. Smoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Smoot, 4715 Dix st., nw, was recently promoted to corporal while serving with the European Command Communications zone in France.

Corporal Smoot, a clerk with the 589th Quartermaster Petroleum Depot Company in Perigueux, France, attended Howard university and was employed by the U.S. Government before entering the Army in March, 1951.

Louis' Ex-Manager Protests Tax Bill

Julian Black, Wife, 8 Others File Appeals

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — Julian A. Black, formerly comanager of ex-heavyweight champion Joe Louis and his wife, Mrs. Russell Black, are among nine Chicagoans who have filed petitions in the U.S. Tax Court here for a re-determination of income tax deficiencies and penalties assessed against them by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The others are Earl B. and Roberta White, 1301 Hyde Park blvd.; Reuben and Virginia Black, 5111 Drexel blvd.; Armond Hanley, deceased, and Bessie Hanley, 4353 S. Parkway, and Harold L. and Beatrice Jackson, 5053 S. Drexel blvd., all of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Black, who live at 423 E. 60th st., Chicago, are contesting a claim totaling $138,564.13 in taxes and penalties for the years 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1951.

Penalty For Fraud

The additional tax claimed by the Government for this period is $88,153.34, added to which is a 5 percent penalty for alleged fraud, totaling $44,076, and an additional penalty of $6,334.12 for allegedly underestimating their taxes in the declaration of estimated tax.

Mr. and Mrs. Black state that their principal income was from a partnership, the records of which, to the best of their knowledge, reflected the true and entire income of its operators as well as the distributive shares received by them.

In addition to the income from the partnership, the Blacks state, part of their income came from the rental of real estate they owned and interest on stocks and bonds, the records of which also reflected their entire income from these sources.

Payments Broken Down

The declarations and payments of estimated taxes and the final liability for the years under consideration, as shown by their tax returns were as follows:

1948—estimated, $4,650; final tax paid, $21,135.44. 1949 — estimated, $4,650; final tax paid, $5,426.78. 1950—estimated, $4,650; final tax paid, $4,111. 1951—estimated, $4,650; final tax paid $3,373.10.

The Blacks ask that the Internal Revenue Commissioner be required to furnish them a bill of particulars showing the sources from whom they received the alleged additional income and the amounts received from each source in each taxable year.

$113,678 Assessment

Mr. and Mrs. White are contesting additional income taxes and penalties assessed against them of $113,678 for the years 1948, 1949, 1950, and 1951. Of that sum, $72,565.63 is for alleged deficiencies in income, $36,282.04 represents a 50 percent penalty for alleged fraud, and $4,830 represents penalties for alleged underestimation of their taxes.

Filibusters Helped Kill 38 Civil Rights Bills In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (ANP) — Of the 38 pieces of legislation defeated in the U.S. senate by filibusters, nine bills were aimed directly at helping colored citizens.

Three anti-lynch bills were "talked to death" the first one in 1922; the second in 1935; the third 1946; fourth, 1948. Two fair employment practices bills were gassed; the first in 1946, the second in 1950.

For the AME Church, Bishop Gregg was to begin his second term as president of the Bishops Council, the highest body in the church. He had served as prelate of the 11th district since 1948. Before coming to Florida he was presiding bishop of the Fifth district, 1938-36, and of the Fourth district, 1936-48.

Bishop Gregg was a member of the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Sigma Pi Phi, and Alpha Phi Alpha. He also was an excellent writer of tracts, his most noted being, "Christian Righteousness" and "Of Men and Arms."

He was married twice during his lifetime, but both of his wives died. His first wife was the former Celia A. Nonion, he married in 1900, and his second was the former Melberta McFarland, whom he married in 1926.

At one time Bishop Gregg was offered a job as president of Howard university, but he turned it down. This was during the time he was president of Wilberforce.

He is survived only by Miss Naomi Cherot, his adopted daughter who teaches in Kansas City, and two nieces and a nephew. He also is survived by a host of cousins.

THREE-ALARM BLAZE SATURDAY:

Fire At Scurlock Studio Does $20,000 Damage

WASHINGTON

A three-alarm fire caused considerable damage early Saturday morning at the photography studio owned by Robert S. Scurlock at 1813 18th st., nw., where the Capitol School of Photography formerly operated.

Scurlock estimated that the total damage was fixed at $20,000 and $25,000. The blaze not only destroyed camera equipment and supplies but also damaged the rear rooms on three floors of the four-story establishment.

Lt. E. D. Swanner of Engine Company No. 9 which responded to the first alarm at about 4:10 a.m. Saturday said that the cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Tenants Next Door Alarmed

He said the blaze had made considerable headway inside the building before it was discovered by tenants of an apartment house next door who saw smoke and thought their own building was on fire.

Scurlock, notified at his home at 3804 Kansas ave, nw., arrived at the scene of the blaze shortly after the third alarm.

He said on Monday that the Capitol School of Photography ceased operation last June and that since that time his building on 18th st. had been devoted entirely to commercial photography, chiefly color finishing.

Discounts Fan Report

Scurlock discounted a report that a wire from a second floor window fan may have ignited camera supplies and caused the fire. He said that there were no fans on the second floor and that fans which do operate in the building were not in use, being stored in a closet.

"We really don't know yet what caused the fire," Scurlock added, "except that it seems to have started in one of the laboratories."

Physician's Wife Commits Suicide

N.Y. Woman Turns Gas On In Swank Apartment

By JAMES L. HICKS

NEW YORK — Mrs. Lillian Kilpatrick, 35-year-old wife of Dr. William Kilpatrick Jr., was found dead Monday night in the kitchen of her apartment with two of her gas stove's four jets open, apparently the victim of suicide.

Mrs. Kilpatrick, an admitting clerk at Harlem Hospital, was discovered by guards of the swank Riverton apartment where she lives when tenants of the building detected the odor of gas coming from her apartment.

Her husband, Dr. William Kilpatrick, who had only returned home from military service five days earlier, did not learn of her death until 8 o'clock Wednesday morning when he returned to their apartment after being out all night.

Death Stuns Riverton

The woman's death stunned the glamorous housing development in which some of Harlem's most prominent families live and at the end of the week police were searching for a motive which might have caused Mrs. Kilpatrick to end her life. She left no notes.

The AFRO, which kept an all night vigil at the home of her husband was a native New Yorker, had talked with one of her cousins by telephone for five minutes before she decided to snuff out her life.

Dr. Kilpatrick is said to have left the house around 10:30 p.m. Monday. According to reports, Mrs. Kilpatrick talked with her cousin at about 10:15. Sometime after that hour the gas was detected and by 11:15 guards of the apartment had located the source and were in the apartment trying to revive Mrs. Kilpatrick.

Dead At 12:30 a.m.

After efforts to revive her failed, Dr. John Holloman, a friend of the family who occupies the apartment across the hall, pronounced Mrs. Kilpatrick dead at 12:30 a.m.

Mrs. Kilpatrick's body remained in the death apartment until 1 p.m. the following day awaiting a medical examiner to come and make his report.

Meanwhile, the AFRO was on an all-night vigil over the apartment while awaiting the arrival of the medical examiner.

It was learned that Dr. Kilpatrick and his wife, who had no children, at one time occupied two apartments in the building located at 2160 Madison ave. When he was called into the service, however, they gave up one apartment and moved into the one they now occupy.

Friends reported that Dr. Kilpatrick returned after being discharged from the army last Thursday and that the couple appeared to be on the best of terms.

The couple both have relatives living in either the same building or in nearby buildings in the Riverton project. Mrs. Kilpatrick, the former Lillian Henderson, has a brother living in the same building.

Dr. Kilpatrick's father also lives there. Dr. Kilpatrick attended Morehouse College and did his interne work at Harlem Hospital, where he is said to have met Mrs. Kilpatrick.

Police reports said Mrs. Kilpatrick was found in the kitchen of the apartment with two gas jets turned on. The pilot light out and all windows and doors locked.

As an educator he served as president of Edward Waters college 1910-20 and as president of Wilberforce university, 1920 - 24. He also served as president of the board of trustees of Payne Theological Seminary.

Toured War Front

Probably his most famed achievement of a lifetime was in his visit to various war fronts in 1943 during World War II. Appointed to this job to build morale in American armed forces by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Bishop Gregg through his 10,000 mile tour did much to improve interracial relations. He was considered to be one of the most popular church men among America's GI's during the war.

His work in this field probably stemmed from his background as a volunteer for service in the Spanish-American War with the 23rd Kansas Volunteers. He rose to the rank of second lieutenant with this unit.

As a result of his world tour of war fronts, Bishop Gregg was presented the Medal of Merit from the secretary of the army in 1947. He represented the Protestant Council of Churches of America.

Bishop Gregg also was active in numerous other interracial activities. He served as a missionary to the Union of South Africa, 1905-06 and as bishop in the 17th district of the AME Church in South Africa, 1924-28. In 1939, he delivered the keynote address to the Eighth World's Christian Endeavor meeting in Berlin, Germany. He also has worked with the World Council of Churches and the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA.

WASHINGTON

Attorneys for the Rev. Earl L. Harrison apparently won the opening skirmish of their legal battle in the Municipal Court of Appeals this week.

The AFRO learned Monday that a copy of the record of the celebrated Harrison paternity case requested by the Appeals Court bore out the defense attorneys' contention that a prior record was in error.

The record, it was stated, failed to show that Judge Nadine Gallagher, who heard the paternity trial, entered judgment and denied the pastor's motion for a new trial on last Sept. 11.

The entry has been changed to Sept. 17, it was reported.
