The Transcript

OLD KRIS is going to bring Chestertown one of the best Christmas presents it has ever received—an elevated tank and an adequate fire-fighting system. Hurrah, for Old St. Nick.

FRIDAY next is Christmas day. The TRANSCRIPT wishes EVERYBODY a merry and joyous Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year. In the midst of our joy and happiness let us not forget those who may not be so fortunate as ourselves, and let us carry even a little sunshine into the hearts of those who need it on this joyous Christmastide.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL BURLESON submitted his annual report to President Wilson this week. Gen. Burleson declared that the Postoffice Department is on a self-sustaining basis for the first time in the history of the department, and the past fiscal year shows a net balance of more than $4,000,000. Gen. Burleson submitted a number of recommendations to Congress which will be included in the postoffice appropriation bill.

THE TRANSCRIPT thoroughly agrees with the position of Judge Leser of the State Tax Commission in his position as to the illegality of the counsel to the commission. We not only believe that the State Tax Commission is an absolutely useless and very expensive luxury, but in view of the fact that every member of the commission is a lawyer of standing, and one of them, Judge Leser himself, for years regarded as the leading authority on taxation, the appointment of two counsel at a salary of $1500 a year is nothing short of the baldest sort of an imposition upon the tax-payers. If Mr. Beck or Senator Hammond ever has to turn his hand to earn his pay, that character of the work they do should be heralded in letters of gold from one end of the State to the other.

AFTER three or four years of hard effort, and sometimes a great deal of abuse because of our anxiety for the welfare of the people of the town, the TRANSCRIPT has at last succeeded in securing, through public sentiment created by our persistent efforts, a supply of water and adequate protection against fire. If the "power behind the throne" had listened to the appeals of the TRANSCRIPT the property holders would have had this protection without wasting $10,000 of the people's money in absolute foolishness. Our people will find out shortly that the TRANSCRIPT never misrepresents a condition which is so important to the interests of the tay-payers of the town and county, though we are often accused of doing so by those who should have far more interest in the people's welfare than seeking to deceive them in matters so vital to their financial interests. Mrs. Clifton L. Jarrell's beautiful home on Washington avenue would never have been destroyed by fire had those in authority heeded the TRANSCRIPT'S advice three years ago.

Rock Hall Items.

Cold and rough weather has made it hard for the oystermen to work on the water but they have found employment cleaning up the plot of ground on the steamboat lane, belonging to Mr. Joseph Downey, grubbing out brush and otherwise clearing the lots.

Capt. Charlie Kerr presented a handsome American flag to the Boy Scouts last week. This was hung in their headquarters.

Joseph Ayres, late of the U.S. Navy, is home after serving nearly four years. This is the first time since he left Rock Hall to enlist. Mr. Ayres has been stationed in China during his entire service. He has a most interesting collection of kodak pictures taken around the Asiatic Station and tells many funny stories of the "Chinks."

B. I. Ashley is getting in his winter supply of corn. Several large wagon loads were hauled in this week.

Mrs. Walter H. Davis has returned home after an extended visit to friends and relatives in Baltimore city and Harford county.

A very cozy room has been built in the electric power house for the engineer.

Mr. Liddell and his assistant, after a very successful revival of three weeks at the M. E. Church, has gone from here to another church up the county. His many friends wish him every success and compliments of the season.

Mr. Main and his amusement company gave an interesting performance in the Grange Hall, Fairlee, one night this week.

Several large boxes were seen on the wharf the last few days consigned to the Belgian Relief Committee, Baltimore. Some one has been working hard here for the relief of those poor souls.

Max Alexander and M. T. Miller declare this to have been the best Christmas opening they have experienced in their line. They use the TRANSCRIPT'S printers' ink. See?

The current question in Rock Hall. When will the commission on the building of the new school meet? And where will the same be located?

The post office in this town has been wired for electric lights. Quite an improvement.

Mr. Moffett a Winner.

At the big Philadelphia Poultry Show held this week in the Quaker city, Mr. John H. Moffett, of Hanesville, this county, out of four entries, won 1st prize on single comb Rhode Island Red cock; 5th on cockerel and 3rd on Rose Comb hen, in one of the strongest contests ever gotten together. His fourth bird, a grand cockerel, which the judge stated was the best colored Red in the show, was taken sick and disqualified. Mr. Moffett sold two of his birds for $50. Mr. Moffett says that he was in competition with some of the best breeders in the country, all of whom wanted to know where he came from. He told them that he hails from Kent county, Md., the Garden Spot of the World, and if they want to know how to grow the winning Rhode Island Reds, come to Kent. Mr. Moffett has one of the finest breeds of Reds in the country and they are a source of much profit to him.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Barrett observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage on Sunday. In anticipation of the happy event a large number of the members and friends of the M. E. congregation assembled at the parsonage on Friday evening last, and tendered the doctor and his wife an informal reception, at which one hundred or more guests were present. A delightful social evening was spent and light refreshments were served. A joyous feature of the occasion was the presentation of a purse of $65 in gold to the popular pastor. The presentation speech was made by Prof. Mark Creasy, of the High School, to which Dr. Barrett feelingly replied in the following beautiful poem:

December 13, 1864,
We pledged to each other faith evermore;
1914—December eleven,
Finds us well advanced on our way to heaven.

Days, weeks and months have speedily flown,
Since the moment the minister pronounced us one;
Down by the rivers, up through the towns,
In all kinds of weather, and in all kinds of homes.

From New Castle's hills to Accomac's sand,
We've traveled and lived without owning the land;
In Wilmington city, and in middle Delaware,
We have found peace and contentment year by year.

In all of these places we could but remember,
In Maryland, my Maryland, the 13th of December,
Witnessed the blest union of hands and of hearts,
That has grown but the stronger as the seasons depart.

Grand old Eastern Shore, with its rivers and bays,
Have whispered to us of the by gone days,
When we smiled o'er their surface, and I looked into eyes,
That answered me back with the blue of the skies.

Then we settled down in fair Easton town,
And little prattlers came to gladden our home;
Their cooings and wooings lightened our cares,
And time swiftly passed in the flight of the years.

But clouds overcast our fair home sky,
And into baby's life came the command to die;
And tonight while this charming reception is given,
Five beautiful cherubs await us in heaven.

Then we took up with the itinerant plan,
Resolved to bring blessings and hopes to man;
By preaching Christ's gospel, and living His life,
Assuage the waters of sorrow, and calm the world's strife.

The one little boy who was spared out of the six,
Has reached up to manhood, and is now healing the sick;
He is our comfort and stay, and as we near the sunset,
He stands ready to help, and not to forget.

How grateful we feel upon this December eleven,
For our grandchild so sweet, the beautiful Helen;
She comes with gladness our journey to beguile,
And our pathway illumine with her beaming smile.

For half a century we've sailed the matrimonial seas,
And our lives have been passed in mutual efforts to please;
While storms have swept over us, no thunder has rolled,
For we've never learned how each other to scold.

While all our appointments have been pleasant to serve,
And not one made a heavy draft on our nerves;
While all have received us with open arms of delight,
And bade us God speed when we passed from their sight.

Yet the fair town on Chester's bright stream,
Has vied with them all in such glad acclaim,
That we seem to be rooted in their life and love,
And favored with blessings like showers from above.

Six years of service and loving regard
Have passed all too swiftly in the service of our Lord;
His grace, all sufficient, has ne'er been denied,
And to pastor and people He has been a true guide.

And now, the Bride and Bridegroom, in the freshness of youth,
Extend to you welcome in deed and in truth;
Your kindness and sympathy, and true Christian love
Will keep us glad company wherever we move.

Our welcome is cordial to one and to all,
And in years to come we will ever recall
This happy occasion, and the friends gathered here
To greet the itinerants and give them good cheer.

Other speeches were made by Rev. Dr. Watt, district superintendent, and Rev. Dr. Henry B. Martin, of Emmanuel P. E. Church. Dr. Barrett is closing his sixth year as pastor of the Chestertown M. E. Church, a longer pastorate than any other pastor has ever enjoyed here. He is one of the most prominent members of the Wilmington Conference of the M. E. Church, having entered the conference in March 1867. During his ministry he has served the leading charges in the conference, including Dover, Milford, Wilmington, Middletown, Elkton, and has enjoyed several terms as district superintendent. He has had a number of calls to other conferences and was strongly considered as the successor of Dr. Wilbur Sheridan, when the latter resigned as pastor of Mt. Vernon Place M. E. Church, Baltimore, some years ago. Dr. Barrett is one of the most popular pastors the M. E. Church has ever had, and he enjoys the respect and esteem of the entire community. The TRANSCRIPT congratulates the popular pastor and his wife and offers the following verses as an evidence of our esteem:

For fifty years their tale have told,
Years of days of shade and sun,
Since a tiny band of gold
Made of twain forever one.

And through all the changeful years,
By the Master Weaver spun,
Bright'ning joys and light'ning fears,
Hath a gold thread ever run.

By the Master Weaver spun
Thro' the days of shade and shine
Hath this gold thread ever run
Faithful hearts more close to twine.

Friends, I bring ye golden flowers,
Blossoms tinted like the sun;
May this day bring golden hours
Unto hearts that beat as one. I. E. C.

Nicholson, W. W. White; "What is the best household device in your home", Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Anderson; "What is the value of an attractive home in influencing a child's character", by Mrs. Anderson; "How can the Grange exert the greatest influence for good", general discussion.
