

CUT THE CORDS

that bind you to your kitchen

Come down to-day and see a graphic picture of conditions that apply in kitchens that lack Hoosier convenience. The whole story is in our window.

THE NEW HOOSIER CABINET

Puts your whole kitchen at fingers' ends, and cuts your work in two. We'll put one in your home to-day FOR A SINGLE DOLLAR.

We start to-day to explain the new HOOSIER PLAN by which we are permitted to sell a few of these famous cabinets on surprising terms.

MOST OF THEM ARE ALREADY TAKEN

This plan differs from any other on which furniture was ever sold. Note the details.

1. One dollar puts any Hoosier you select in your home.
2. One dollar weekly dues quickly pay for it.
3. The low cash price fixed by the factory prevails absolutely.
4. The is under the direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.
5. When this allotment is taken, the sale closes.
6. If you are not delighted with your cabinet we will gladly refund your money.

When you think of the miles of steps this cabinet saves you every day, can you daily postpone looking at these cabinets until it is too late to enroll? The time is getting short. Come in today and look at these Hoosiers. You place yourself under no obligation.

You will not be asked to buy.

unless you realize yourself the need of this cabinet in your home. But if you do not enroll, remember, some other woman will enjoy the privilege that is now yours if you enroll to-day.

Nothing you have seen will save you so much labor in your kitchen, if you act to-day.

COTTONSEED MEAL IS ECONOMICAL DAIRY FOOD

Market Conditions Favorable To Use Of Cottonseed At This Time.

G. E. WOLCOTT, Maryland Agricultural Extension Service.

Owing to the conditions brought about by the war in Europe, a large part of the cottonseed cake hitherto shipped to foreign countries will be placed on the American market this winter. The large supply available has already reduced the price several dollars per ton.

Cottonseed meal is one of the richest protein feeds offered to the dairyman, containing as it does, 45 per cent of protein and 84 therms of energy. Ordinarily it is not advisable to feed more than 2 to 2.5 pounds per day.

As it is constipating, some laxative feed should be used in the ration with cotton seed meal, such as bran, linseed meal, or the legume hays. Since cottonseed is rich in protein, it will be economy to supply a large part of the protein needed in the ration from this feed.

The following grain mixtures are suggested for grain production:

300 lbs. corn or hominy chop
100 lbs. wheat bran
100 lbs. cottonseed meal.

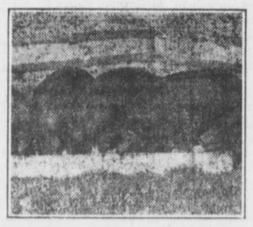

The above ration is calculated to be fed when the roughage is made up of silage and alfalfa or some other legume hay such as clover, cow peas, or soy beans. A part of the silage may be replaced by cut fodder. In case no legume hay can be had the following mixture will more nearly fill the requirements:

200 lbs. corn or hominy chop
100 lbs. bran
100 lbs. cottonseed meal.

The grain mixtures should be fed at the rate of one pound of grain to three pounds of milk produced. The cow should be given all the roughage she will consume without waste.

MARYLAND EXPERIMENT STATION ISSUES VALUABLE FREE BULLETIN ON THE HOG INDUSTRY.

It is common knowledge that the swine industry of Maryland is and has been for a number of years at a very low ebb in so far as the production of pork is concerned. Instead of raising on our farms enough hogs to supply the citizens of our towns and cities, we are actually importing every year from sister States vast quantities of pork and pork products to meet their demands. Yet in the face of this evidence practically every hog breeder within our borders will tell you that for the money invested there is no other animal on the farm which will yield so large a profit. If he merits this reputation, why is it that our farmers pay so little attention to him? To answer the question is difficult, but it is quite probable that the extension and spread of hog cholera and diseases generally are largely responsible for existing conditions. Then again it is obvious that there are any number of farmers who actually do not realize the monetary possibilities of swine production, for even in localities where hog cholera has not been at all prevalent, there are many farmers that produce barely enough pork for home consumption. In many other instances not even this quantity is home grown.

PROFITABLE PORKERS.

It is the purpose of this bulletin to show that substantial improvement can be made in this industry in our State and to offer suggestions and plans for bringing about this desired end. Copies may be secured by writing to the Experiment Station, College, Park, Md.

ROY H. WAITE, Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

Economy is one word that the average poultry keeper hasn't had much use for. I am glad, however, to note that he is beginning to have more use for it. One of the most flagrant violations of economy has been in house construction. Elaborate and expensive buildings have been built for housing poultry and unnecessary capital tied up. Expensive feeds have been used when much more simple ones would be just as efficacious. Plants have been so planned and laid out that a lot of extra labor has been expended in caring for the birds.

Nor has the violation of economical principles been all on the side of unnecessary expenditure. Houses have been too cheaply and ill-constructed or too many birds placed in them. Too simple feeds have often been used. A maintenance ration fed to a flock that should be laying is very poor economy. Many farmers feed their hens all winter and get no returns from them, when by simply adding perhaps a little protein feed they would turn a loss into a profit. I often hear this statement from persons whose hens are idle: "I can't afford to buy meat scraps," but the great question is: "How can they afford not to buy them?"

OUR FIRST MILLIONAIRES.

Only Nineteen of Them In 1845, and Astor Led the List.

Had an income tax law been in effect in this country in the forties of the last century there would have been only one man in New York city who would have paid on an income of $1,000,000, says the New York Times. That was John Jacob Astor, the founder of the present Astor fortune. In 1845 he was credited with $25,000,000. His name heads the list of wealthy citizens contained in a pamphlet published in 1845. This was a slightly enlarged edition of a list of rich Manhattan residents which had been issued a few years before.

The entire list contains but nineteen millionaires. Next to Mr. Astor came Stephen Whitney, credited with $10,000,000. He began life by retailing liquors, says the compiler of the 1845 list, but the great impetus to his fortune came from fortunate speculation in cotton and then in real estate.

Next to him came William B. Astor, son of John Jacob, with $5,000,000. Then comes Peter G. Stuyvesant with $4,000,000. The old Peter Stuyvesant farm in the vicinity of St. Mark's church and Second avenue, which he owned, had increased enormously in value with the growth of the city, and many collateral members of the family now trace their wealth to the Stuyvesant acres.

James Lenox, the founder of the Lenox library, was said to be worth $3,000,000; the Isaac Bronson estate was worth $2,500,000.

Many of the wealthiest families of today were far down in the list in 1845. For instance, Commodore Vanderbilt is said to be worth $400,000, Alexander T. Stewart had not yet attained his great wealth, but was close to the million mark, with $800,000, while T. P. Barnum, who is called the "guardian of the celebrated Tom Thumb," is rated at $150,000, and William Niblo has the same rating.

SOLDIERS IN THE MAKING.

How Australian Boys Are Trained For Military Service.

Australian lads of twelve years begin a more or less voluntary form of military training. It is an indulgent, happy-go-lucky sort of thing, designed primarily to be of physical advantage. When the lads are fourteen years old a limited military service is severely compulsory, with penalties for evasion and fines laid upon employees and parents who interfere, and thus continues, with physical exercises, drill, parades and rifle practice, for four years, whereupon these cadets are passed into the citizen forces.

Four whole day drills are required each year and twelve half day drills and twenty-four night drills. A perfunctory attendance upon these grave obligations—inapt, sullen, frivolous behavior—counts for nothing at all. If the cadet fails to be marked efficient by his battalion officers he must perform his service all over again.

In Kalgoorlie, in Western Australia—a great dust storm blowing that night—we watched a column of these "little conscripts" march past with rifles and bugles and drums, and they were smart to see—brown uniforms, with tricks of green, and wide brimmed Australian hats caught up at the side in the Australian way. It is no farcical affair.

When we were in Brisbane, in Queensland, a score of truant youngsters were packed off to the military barracks for ten days of close confinement and drill, and away they went in a big Cape wagon in charge of a sergeant major and under escort of some brilliant artillerymen, a melancholy little crew, these truants, then, facing ten days of absence from home and six hours of drill on the hot parade ground under a sergeant major who doubtless knew how to improve the patriotism of small culprits and would do it with a switch.—Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine.

Mitten Money.

Sometimes when the weather is very cold and the pilotboat is rolling in a heavy sea off the Ambrose channel lightship the old pilot will think twice about the precarious ride in the small boat and the icy, strenuous climb up the ship's side on a sea ladder. And if he does think twice about it the old fellow may give one of the younger pilots a chance to take his turn. Should this bargain be concluded in the snug cabin the younger man receives besides the regular fee the sum of $4, and this is called mitten money.—New York Sun.

Why the Hired Girl Left.

"Why," asked the weary looking woman, "do you constantly refer to yourself as the goat of this household?"

"Because," replied the irritable man, in a loud tone of voice, "a goat is supposed to be able to eat any old thing and act as if he enjoyed it."—Washington Star.

A Place of Refuge.

"Her husband is a brute."

"Why, what did he do?"

"You know how superstitious she is. Well, when she started to throw a plate at his head during a quarrel the heartless wretch stood square in front of a mirror."—Boston Transcript.

The Trouble.

"The only trouble with my speech," said the remorseful man, "is that I didn't know when to stop."

"It's worse than that," replied Mr. Growcher. "The trouble is you didn't know when not to begin."—Washington Star.

Unless a man works he cannot find out what he is able to do.—Hamerton.

IMPORTANCE OF HEAITHY KIDNEYS.

Chestertown Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed of poison matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a cold chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the acting frequently begins and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urine—too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles 50 years. You will make no mistake in following this Chestertown citizen's advice.

Mrs. Frank Robinson Front St., Chestertown, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills certainly live up to the claims made for them. They benefited me after doctors' medicine and all else had failed. I was often dizzy and nervous and my back and head ached. The kidney secretions also annoyed me. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I immediately began using them and they did their work well, giving me prompt relief. I am now strong and well."
