Easter Dinner Slated

MILWAUKEE— Sister Albina, principal of St. Benedict School, 1004 W. State st., announced this week that parents will be guests at a dinner to be held at the school on Easter Sunday.

Special Cake For Easter Table

The Easter parade cake comes with a delicious golden frosting — flavored with Minute Maid fresh-frozen orange juice. Chocolate bunnies parade round the cake and carry out the Easter theme.

Crab Cocktail

Suggestion for the first course of your Easter Sunday dinner is this tempting Crab Cocktail de Luxe.

Its zesty sauce will sharpen the family's appetite for the rest of the meal. Ready-chopped ripe olives are added to the well-seasoned tomato sauce and poured over crab meat and chopped celery.

Crab Cocktail de Luxe
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
½ cup tomato catsup
¼ cup chili sauce
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 (6½-ounce) can crab (or 1½ cups flaked fresh crab)
¼ cup chopped celery

Blend together olives, catsup, chili sauce, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and horseradish. Combine crab and celery, and divide among five serving dishes. Pour sauce over each serving. Chill thoroughly. Serves 5.

COOKING FUN

If you have a small family, you probably don't buy roasts, except for special occasions. Usually there's too much left over, and the family tires of it before it's all gone.

But have you thought of buying one large cut, such as a leg of lamb, and having it cut into different pieces? Each cut requires a different cooking method, says the General Electric consumers Institute, and furnishes a completely different meal.

Lamb Special

The next time leg of lamb is the weekend-special," ask your dealer to remove the shank end and several good-sized l a m b steaks (about 1-inch-thick) from the upper part of the leg.

You can roast the remaining middle section for Sunday dinner, and there will be little or no left-over cooked meat.

Use Steaks And Shanks Later

Wrapped in heavy waxed paper, the lamb steaks and shank can be stored in your refrigerator for three or four days. For longer storage perids, t h e y should be wrapped in moisture-vaporproof freezing material and placed in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator where they will stay market-fresh up to two weeks. And if you have a refrigerator-food freezer combination, they may be kept frozen for many months.

Shank Used

The shank end of the lamb can be boned and combined with onions, carrots, potatoes and spices to make your favorite lamb stew or meat pie. And the tender seaks can be broiled and will taste so good that you'll be proud to have the boss stay for dinner.

Here's how to broil the steaks:

Lamb Steak Broil

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

2 1-inch leg of lamb steaks (about 8 ounces each)
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup finely crushed cereal flakes
2 teaspoons finely grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon salt
8 cooked small whole carrots
8 pineapple chunks, well drained
8 green minted cherries

Wipe steaks with damp cloth, and score fat at 1-inch intervals. If the bone in the steak is large or seems to have a large amount of membrane, snip membrane around the bone with scissors to prevent steak from curling during broiling. Place steaks in center of broiler so the top of the steak is 4 to 4½ inches away from broiler unit.

Broil 9 minutes. While steaks are broiling, place salad oil in a shallow plate. Combine cereal flakes, Parmesan cheese and salt in a deep layer (or similar) pan and mix well. Dip carrots in salad oil; then coat with cereal flakes. When meat has cooked on one side, turn, and place 4 carrots on each end of boiler rack.

Drizzle with salad oil and broil 3 minutes. While food is broiling, alternate 2 pineapple chunks and 2 cherries on each of four 2½ to 3 inch skewers. When carrots have broiled 3 minutes, turn, and drizzle with salad oil.

Place skewers with fruit on broiler rack, drizzle with salad oil, and broil 3 to 4 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Recipe Of The Week

Once a week, at our house, we have a "surprise" treat for dinner. It's not always a new dish, of course, because my family doesn't really like something too different.

Usually, it's a favorite dish with something special added—or I try a new way of making something we all like. T h a t way, we have more variety in our meals and I'm never disappointed because they don't like it. Take cherry pie, for instance. I've been baking cherry pie for years, using the same recipe. But last week, I tried it a new way—using the Pet Milk recipe for Old Fashioned Cherry Pie—and it really made a hit!

The whole family liked the taste of it so much better and it looked like a "company-dinner" pie. In spite of that, this Old Fashioned Cherry Pie is very easy to make and costs much less than you'd think—the topping looks like rich whipped cream but costs only about one-third as much. Here's the recipe. I hope you'll try it . . . I know you'll like it!

Cherry Pie Supreme

½ cup Pet Evaporated Milk
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon (can omit)
No. 2 can sour, pitted cherries
2 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Few grains salt
1 cup powdered sugar
1 nine-inch baked pastry shell

Put milk into ice tray of refrigerator. Chill until ice crystals begin to form around the edges. Mix in a saucepan the cornstarch, sugar, ¼ teasp. salt and cinnamon. Drain cherries and save juice. If necessary add enough water to juice to make 1 cup. Stir juice into cornstarch mixture. Cook and stir over medium heat until very thick, about 7 min. Cool thoroughly. Mix butter, lemon juice, few grains salt and powdered s u g a r until smooth.

Put ice cold milk in cold bowl. Whip with cold rotary beater or electric beater at high speed, until fluffy. Beat in powdered sugar mixture, about ¼ at a time. Add drained cherries to cooled cornstarch mixture, then take out 18 cherries to decorate top. Pour filling into baked pastry shell.

Chicago Chapter Of 'Girl Friends' Installed

Chicago 'Girl Friends' Officers

8 Cities Represented; Lavish Socialties Spark Ceremonies

CHICAGO—The Eastern seaboard, where the now nationally-famed Girl Friends, Inc., was organized, was represented here Saturday when the organization welcomed its 18th chapter.

A series of brilliant social activities attended the impressive installation of 25 of this city's socially prominent women in the Gold Room of downtown's famed Hotel Sherman.

Here to welcome the new chapter was the national organization's president, Mrs. Anna Murphy of New York City.

New Yorkers Attend

The New York delegation also included Mesdames Sylvia Hunter Dorothy Roark, Henri Young Vivienne Marshall, Mabel Randolph, Connye Cotterell, Mildred Edwards and Dorothy Bostic.

Other visiting Girl Friends converging on the city from eight other chapters were Mesdames Toki Schalk Johnson, Ethel Ramos Harris and Marie Harris of Pittsburgh; Loura Holland, Buffalo, N.Y.; Jennie Lovell and Edith Elliott of Bridgeport, Conn. and Horatia Johnson of South Norwalk, Conn. Iris, social worker and artist designer; Eunice W. Johnson, wife of John H. Johnson; B. Mae H. Jones, wife of Theodore Jones, certified public accountant.

Also Mesdames Virginia L. Lewis, principal of Wendel Phillips high school, whose husband Robert is also a school principal; Lois R. Lowe, wife of Walter L. Lowe, igurance broker; Henrietta H. McMillan, professor at Chicago's Teacher's college and wife of Dr. Elmer McMillan, a dentist.

Still other members are Mesdames Sylvia Labat Randall, teacher and wife of William A. Randall Jr., a musician; Myrtle P. Stengstacke, vice president and secretary of a publishing company whose husband, John H. Sengstacke, is a newspaper publisher.

The roster of Girl Friends here also includes Mmes. Faye Thompson Thatcher, wife of Dr. Harold Thatcher, dermatologist; Evelyn D. Wilson, certified public accountant, and Nematilda Ritchie Woodard, high school music instructor and wife of William L. Woodard, government employee.

Cleveland Girl Friends attending the gala and festive parties for the Chicago chapter included Mesdames Mary Boyd, Martha Collins, Margot Dyson, Lillian Gregory, Belle Hendricks, Winifred Lambright, Hazel Lucas, Eleanor Sutler, and Cecilia Ward.

Mrs. Harriet Evans, formerly of Cleveland and wife of the Rev. Joseph H. Evans, minister of Good Shepherd Congregational Church here, transferred her membership and is now affiliated with the Chicago group. Mrs. Marjorye Rye Jackson represented the Brooklyn chapter.

Enjoy Morning Brunch

Joining the new "girl friends" at lavish festivities, the visitors gathered Saturday morning at 11:30 in the home of the local president, Mrs. Irvena Harvey Ming for an elaborate brunch. Mrs. Ming is the wife of Dr. W. Robert Ming, professor at the University of Chicago.

Other courtesies with the Windy City chapter serving as hostess were the installation banquet in the Hotel Sherman and an after-party in the home of Mrs. Faye Thompson Thatcher.

Presiding at the installation ceremony, closed to the public, was the national president, Mrs. Anna Murphy. The welcome by the local chapter's president, Mrs. Ming was followed by greetings from national officers and remarks by the Chicago Girl Friends' sponsor Mrs. Eunice Shreeves. Mrs. Maudelle B. Evans gave the closing talk. Mrs. Shreeves, forgerly of New York, is one of the three original founders of the national organization.

Officers Listed

Other officers are Mrs. Evelyn Evans Spencer, vice-president; Mrs. Yolande Johnson Cheatham, secretary and Mrs. George Bridgeforth White, treasurer.

The roster also includes Mesdames Osbeth H. Adams, wife of the psychiatrist, Dr. Walter Adams, Hazel Renfree Anthony, art instructor; Alice M. Beasley whose husband Dr. Edward Beasley is a pediatrician.

Others are Mesdames Catherine G. Boswell, medical social work supervisor and wife of Dr. Paul Boswell, noted dermatologist; Elizabeth Stubbs Davis, whose husband, Dr. Allison Davis is professor at the University of Chicago and renowned anthropologist; Virgil M. Dixon, probation officer and wife of Lawrence Dixon, an insurance broker and Maudelle Bousfield Evans, whose husband, Leonard is an advertising executive.

Others On Roster

The chapter's membership also includes Mesdames Hazel T. Gassaway, wife of Antonio Gassaway, Atty.; Isabelle C. Gibson, wife of Truman K. Gibson Jr., attorney; Mildred M. Gibson, whose husband is Harry Gibson, attorney; Elise E. Har-

Mrs. Maise Is Council Director

WASHINGTON

The appointment of Mrs Naomah Williams Maise as executive director of the National Council of Negro Women was announced last week by Dr Dorothy B. Ferebee, president.

The Council embraces 20 national women's organization, including sororities, medical auxiliaries, educational societies, women's fraternal and professional organizations, c h u r c h councils and groups with special civic and cultural interests.

A total of 93 local councils, spread geographically over the United States with a membership of 850,000, participate actively in the program.

Organized By Mrs. Bethune

The NCNW was organized and incorporated in 1935 under the leadership of Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune.

Mrs. Maise, the new executive director of the Council, was director of the Friendly Inn Settlement, Cleveland's largest and oldest settlement from 1948 to August 1952. She had served as program director of this Red Feather agency for three preceding years.

On Spelman Faculty

The appointee, a native of Anniston, Ala., is a graduate of Spelman College in Atlanta, and holds a Master's Degree in Social Administration from Western Reserve University in Cleveland. She has studied at the Juilliard School of Music and at the Bennington School of The Arts.

For a number of years before preparation for the social work profession, Mrs. Maise was a member of the music faculty of Spelman College.

Mrs. Maise succeeds Mrs. Ruth Mueller, who resigned several weeks ago.
