Fashion Trends

by Freddye S. Henderson

NAFAD Designer, Otis Caver of Birmingham, Ala., being a man, naturally had no interest in being seen in any Easter parade, but Mr. Caver was certainly well represented on the glorious Ressurection Day, for his very cleverly-original fashions were seen in the Main Streets of many a southern city, worn, of course by women of discriminating taste.

One of the most talented designers in the National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers, Mr. Caver has designed and made clothes in his native Birmingham for a number of years.

Recently, he has marketed his wares in nearby cities like Atlanta, and others as far as Houston, Texas, and his customers are unanimous in their praise of his originality and craftsmanship.

Showing before a full house at the Royal Peacock in Atlanta a week before Easter, he delighted everyone with his unique costumes which were later to be seen in the Easter Parade.

Beige A Favorite

The collection featured much of the spring favorite color—beige, along with the much talked about citron yellow, pink and the classic navy blue. The silhouettes ran the gamut from the full easy skirt so comfortable in hot southern climates, to the sleek, sophisticated ones.

He does not depend upon traditional silhouettes when he makes up a collection. Rather he makes his own silhouettes.

For instance, there was a clever umbrella dress which featured a very simple halter top with the outstanding feature of the costume being the exaggerated peg top skirt, which was inspired by an umbrella, and looked exactly like a closed one.

Gown Scores

Then there was a gorgeous flamingo colored gown with the entire skirt gored and tucked diagonally to form an uneven hemline and a highly dramatic effect. Incidentally, this gown attracted the attention of noted Hollywood designer Howard Greer, when he was on a trip to Birmingham, and the possible outcome looks very promising for young Mr. Caver.

Not only does the NAFAD designer have a store of new silhouettes, but he is equally adept in thinking of clever details. Interesting yokes, pockets, and button placements all attest to the versatility of the designer. His question mark dress is one of the cleverest thing you ever saw.

I am very happy to salute a young man who has ventured into a field too often thought of as a Woman's World.

Miss Enoch wears pedal pushers, Miss Arrington has on slack suit with Eton jacket; and Miss Shaw displays pedal pusher suit that also has matching skirt.

Global Jottings

By LOU LuTOUR

NEW YORK — It was an honor to be presented in concert at Kimball Hall in Chicago, Ill., under the sponsorship of Zeta Zota Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

My good friend Barbara Goodal McDougal was chairman of the affair. Chicago also welcomed the New York chapter of the National Junior League, which was organized out there on March 28.

St. Louisians enjoy moments in New York, the latest having been the very charming little X-ray technician, Alberta Reeves, who spent a week with your Lou before she went out St. Louis way to spend Good Friday and Easter Sunday with sisters, Sarah, Pearl and Vernadine. Lou Ange les misses Mary Ford, who reads her beautiful poems every Monday afternoon over radio station WHOM.

To Aid Children

Beta chapter of Beta Kappa Beta sorority and fraternity was organized in New York last Sunday. They are plunging right into a program to establish a camp for children. Gladys Joyner was lected basileus and the dynamic Maudie Gadsen, founder and president of the New York State Beauty Culturists Association, was right on hand to give the group her encouragement.

The Smart Set had its grand affair on Palm Sunday in the Skyline Room of the Hotel Theresa, and everybody had a lovely time.

The New York Chapter of AKA had a meeting on Sunday in the interest of hospital children. Ida Jiggetts is chairman of the speakers bureau, and is assisted by Estelle Osborne and Lelia Campbell.

Delta's program service, of which Alyce Marshall is chairman, is also doing a good job furnishing entertainment, speakers and program planners for various organizations. Alida C. Dailey, superintendent of nurses at Harlem Hospital, is getting ready for her guests at her summer resort down in Long Branch, N.J.

Designer Linda Lloyd had some exquisite fashions in her show at Small's Paradise, recently. Harlem's Town Hall, a weekly discussion group at the YMCA, brings outstanding personalities to its meetings each week. Professor H. S. Williams is leader of the group.

"Laugh The You Feel You Want To Cry," seems to be the song hit of the month. Mattye Jean Johnson, will soon appear in several song recitals along the Eastern Seaboard. She is one of the charter members of the New York chapter of the National Junior League.

Talented Sarah West, weaver and designer of textile rugs, makes lovely stoles that anyone would like to wear with one's "best" clothes.

Is there someone in your community whom you consider an outstanding personality? If so send along a brief biographical sketch of your favorite local personality.

Alpha Kappa Alpha First On Pennsylvania State Campus

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Delta Gamma chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha became the twentieth sorority on the campus of the Pennsylvania State College, and the first non-white one, when it received its charter from the North Atlantic Region, on Saturday, at the College.

Mrs. Lillian Parrott, director of the new chapter of the AKA chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha. The move was initiated three years ago at the instigation of Nadine Howard, then a coed, and now a teacher in the Darlington, S.C. public schools. Miss Howard is a native of the city of Philadelphia. She was joined in efforts to get the group started by Charlotte Page, Ardmore, Pa.; Yvonne P. Carter, of Philadelphia; Anna Layton, Chester, Pa. and Carolyn Morris, Titusville, Pa.

Mrs. Tyrance Advisor

Mrs. Evelyn A. Carter, Philadelphia, member of Omega Omega chapter of that city, was sponsor. This year the group has been advised by Mrs. Marian Tyrance of Washington, who has been on the campus since September.

The charter was presented at a public program at which the Rev. Luther Harshbarger, College chaplain, gave the invocation. Mrs. Tyrance introduced Mrs. Parrott who made the presentation. Miss Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, accepted the charter on behalf of the school.

The audience was welcomed by Ethel Brown, of Chester, Pa. and Ellen Wandel, president of the Pan - Hellenic Council responded. Misses Layton and Page gave the National and local history of the sorority. Acknowledgements were made by Miss Carter.

Members Listed

Charter members of the chapter are:

Miss Brown, president; Miss Layton, vice - president; Moan McClane, Philadelphia, recording secretary; Miss Page, corresponding secretary; Delores Battle, Philadelphia, treasurer; Audrey Austin, New Kensington, Pa., dean of pledges; Delores Wilson, Coatesville, Pa., chaplain; Miss Morris, Miss Carter and Miss Joan Ripley Philadelphia.

Easter Garden At St. Martin's

NEW YORK—An Easter Garden was a special feature of the Easter services at St. Martin's Protestant Episcopal church, 230 Lenox ave.

The garden was planted in the Lady Chapel and included the Hill of Calvary with the three crosses as a background and a replica of the Holy Sepulcre.

The rocks from which the sepulcre was built were collected from various parts of the world to illustrate the theme of brotherhood among all men. They were sent from Britain, France, Canada, Spain, the West Indies and the United States.

A broken piece of stone taken from a bomber site at the time of the Doriore-Dieppe Raid of 1942 at Dieppe was included, together with a piece of lava from a volcano in Iceland.

ASHEVILLE BRIDE

ASHEVILLE, N.C. — Miss Jacqueline Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Feimester Moore, 171 Hill st., became the bride of Theodore Hadden, son of Mrs. Marie Hadden of West Asheville, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. A. Brown. The bridegroom is serving in the Army and will leave soon for Korea.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

DANVILLE, Va. — Miss Joan Rattley was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party last week at the home of Miss Valerial Henderson. Miss Naomi James was co-hostess.

Mrs. Anderson, Galloway Wed

DALLAS, Texas (ANP) — Friends all over Texas and the nation are sending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Galloway, well known Dallasites whose marriage announcement was made early this week.

The couple established their home at 2835 Dathe st., in Dallas, March 31, according to the announcement card.

Mr. Galloway, now a special representative of the ordinary life department of Universal Life Insurance company with home offices in Memphis, Tenn., was at one time assistant to the director of agencies of the Excelsior Life Insurance company of Dallas.

The bride, formerly Mrs. Pearl Carina Anderson, widow of the late Dr. J. W. Anderson, is an outstanding civic leader in the state of Texas, a life member of the NAACP, and YWCA as well as the donor of three annual scholarships to deserving graduates of the two Dallas high schools.

Alpha Gamma Holds Ceremony

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — The home of Mrs. Clyde Johnson was the center of activity on Sunday when members of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Alpha Gamma Chi, interracial sorority, held a ceremony in a setting of green and yellow flowers and decorations, colors of the sorority.

Field representative Charlotte Hunter presented the jewels in an impressive ritualistic ceremony to Mesdames Virginia Stepteau, Clyde Johnson, Lula Mae W. Brown, Willie M. Porter, Louise Watkins, Thomasena Green, Sadie Grigg, Thera Garvin, Carrie B. Fair and Arlena Roper.

Officers installed after the ceremony were:

Mesdames Stepteau, president; Johnson, vice president; Brown, recording secretary; Porter, corresponding secretary; Watkins, treasurer; Green; historian, Grigg, educational director; Thera Garvin, program chairman, Carrie B. Fair, ways and means, and Roper, sponsor.

A fashion show will be held at the next meeting.

NACW Holds 30th Session In Gary

GARY, Ind. (ANP) — The National Association of Colleges Women met here for its 30th annual convention, April 3-4, in Methodist church.

Theme of the meeting was "Today's College Woman Faces Tomorrow's World." Delegates from 14 states and the District of Columbia, representing some 32 local branches, attended the confab.

Dr. Sunder Joshi, assistant professor, division of adult education, Indiana university, was the guest speaker at a banquet on Friday at the Lake hotel. "Where is India Going?" was the subject of his address.

Other program activities included a panel discussion, a luncheon, a sightseeing tour and a reception in Chicago for convention guests and association members.

It's wonderful the way Chewing-Gum Laxative acts chiefly to REMOVE WASTE —NOT GOOD FOOD

★ Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about ex-lax—a sure, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why ex-lax's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon ... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives please digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, upset.

But gentle, mild ex-lax acts so relaxingly it works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, run-down feeling. You remain active and feel your "peppy," energetic self—full of life! Get ex-lax—accept No Substitute in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

By VIVIAN TURNER

(By Mrs. Emory Smith for Mrs. Turner who is ill)

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Cabot were the honored guests at a black tie reception given at the Haitian Embassy, Tuesday night.

Receiving with Ambassador Jacques Leger and his guests of honor were the Counselor of the Haitian Embassy and Madame Colimon.

Among the guests were:

Hawthorne Arey, chairman of the Export - Import Bank and Mrs. Arey; the ambassador of Nicaragua, Dr. Guillermo Sevilla - Sacasa, the Peruvian Ambassador, Dr. Guillermo Sevilla - Sacasa, the Peruvian Ambassador and Madame de Berckmeyer, the Mexican Ambassador and Senor Tello; the Chilean Ambassador and Senora de Thomen and the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Conchesco, other representatives of the OAS (Organized American States): Monsieur Christian Aime' president of the Bank of Haiti; Monsieur and Madame Hogan Nicholas, rectnl bride and bridegroom, of the Haitian Embassy, Miss Nane Leconte and Miss Miot both attaches, and many other charming Latin Americans guests that your scribe cannot relate at this time.

This was one evening that I wished I had been a linguist, for, as you can see from all of the countries represented, there was more than English and French languages spoken.

The ladies' gowns vied so much with each other, that I won't attempt description but rare laces, silks, chiffons and taffetas with brilliancy of colors, made a beautiful picture.

Jewelry was distinctly different. Some of the Latin guests explained that certain necklaces were of great family history and of course we of the feminine sex can understand and appreciate such sentiments. The Latin gentlemen were very much as our American gentlemen, handsome in their "tucks and black ties."

The reception room was made more beautiful with large pink magnolia blooms, while the center piece on the dining room table were American Beauty roses, red candles, and silver candelabras.

The table was plenteously laden with sea foods, pheasants, chicken en fricasse, baked stuffed ham, rice and mushrooms, rolls, coffee tea and other beverages, pickles, olives, mints, ice cream and cake.

Letters Please

Many members were made happy at Phelps School last week because a letter mail bonanza; were letters of appreciation for their untiring and unselfish services, from Commissioner P. Joseph Donohue to those who had served 20 years or more in District Public Schools.

Parks Sends Sausage To White House

The White House became acquainted with one of America's most popular delicacies, last week, when President and Mrs. Eisenhower were presented with ten pounds of well-seasoned sausage from the Parks Sausage Company of Baltimore.

The spicy pork sausage is known up and down the Eastern Seaboard as "the sausage that made the pig famous." Henry G. Parks, president of Parks Sausage, said that the gift was made to the Eisenhowers "as a token of the confidence that the small businesses and small people of the land have in our country's leadership."

"I learned early in life while working under Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune," Mr. Parks stated, "that 'only the best has the possibility of being good enough.'"

It was with this thought in mind that Mr. Parks authorized the gift to the White House through Clay Wilson, Washington manager for the firm.

Mr. Wilson made the presentation Wednesday morning to Cpl. J. M. McCarthy, White House guard.

The Baltimore sausage firm was recently featured by Mrs. Alice Dunnigan in an article in the March issue of Service Magazine, official organ of the National Culinary Association.
