Sentence Harlem Lawyer, 8 Clients

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — A Harlem lawyer who incurred the wrath of one Connecticut judge in his defense of a client accused of assaulting a white woman was sentenced Thursday by another judge to three to 10 years in State Prison as the principal in an interstate divorce racket.

The attorney, John B. Pharr Jr., a native of New Haven and Howard University honor graduate, pleaded guilty to 10 counts of perjury and a charge of obtaining fraudulent divorces in New Haven.

Eight of Pharr's clients, all New Yorkers, who lied about their addresses in obtaining the divorces, were sentenced to nine months in jail for perjury. Six women and two men, they all broke down and wept when Superior Court Judge Howard W. Alcorn announced their sentences.

Four Others Involved

State Attorney Abraham S. Ullman said four other defendants involved in the divorce racket are expected to be arrested shortly.

Pharr was liable to maximum prison terms totaling 60 years. He faces automatic disbarment in Connecticut.

Thomas R. Robinson, engaged as counsel by Pharr, made an impassioned plea for the 38-year-old attorney whose father, the Rev. John B. Pharr Sr., is pastor of the Community Baptist Church in New Haven.

Went To Lincoln

He recited Pharr's life history, stressing his hard work in getting through college and law school. Pharr attended Lincoln University (Pa.), Virginia Union and Howard University Law School.

He was the fifth colored attorney to be admitted to the Connecticut bar and was admitted to the New York Bar in 1943. With offices in New York City, he is a member of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, an Elk and prominent in Harlem social circles.

Lawyers here and in New York voiced the opinion following Pharr's arrest that he was "getting the works" as a result of objections he raised in the assault trial of James Higgs, accused of attacking a white woman in Stamford, Conn. in November, 1951.

Refused By NAACP

The New York attorney had been retained by the Bronxville branch NAACP to defend Higgs who was convicted on January 28. The presiding judge was angered at Pharr's defense tactics and told him so at the end of the trial.

Pharr was arrested April 10 in Superior Court with Mrs. Priscilla McClain, 28-year-old New York socialite immediately after the court had awarded her an uncontested divorce. The arrest followed an alleged anonymous telephone call from New York.

Pharr was accused of arranging a false New Haven address for Mrs. McClain and four days later her divorce was vacated.

One Of Eight

Mrs. McClain was one of the eight Pharr clients who receive nine-month sentences.

The others include: Stella Shelley, 515 W. 129th st.; Edyth Caldwell, 683 Jackson ave., Bronx; Gloria Hendrix, 460 W. 143rd st.; Orcelious Rawls, 55 W. 128th st.; Willie B. MacDowell, 350 Manhattan ave., all of New York City; Pedro N. Yanes 208 Hancock st., Brooklyn, and Edna E. Jackson, 70 Orchard st., Roslyn Heights, L.I.

To Deport Kenyatta Defense Attorney

NAIROBI, Kenya (NNPA) — Peter Evans, 42, the London lawyer who assisted in the defense of Jomo Burning Spear) Kenyatta, was declared a prohibited immigrant by the Kenya government on May 8.

Unless he leaves Kenya within a reasonable period, he may be deported as an "undesirable person." The government said it was satisfied that Mr. Evans had Communist sympathies and since his arrival in Kenya had been associated with persons suspected of being engaged in subversive activities.

The principal immigration officer, J. A. Palfreman, said Mr. Evans had violated the terms of his visitor's pass, issued for a holiday. He said he did not obtain permission before accepting employment at Kenyatta's trial.

Branded Cops Murders

Mr. Evans had sent to Sir Evelyn Baring, governor of Kenya, for forwarding to Oliver Lyttelton, colonial secretary of the British government, a file of statements and photographs alleging that Kenya police or the military had murdered two African prisoners.

A government spokesman said it was "completely coincidental" that Mr. Evans was asked to leave the colony so shortly after sending this file to the governor. Mr. Evans, a bearded lawyer, came to Kenya last December. He said he had acted only as a part-time member of the Kenyatta defense team and accepted no fees.

"I have been asked to investigate over 30 cases involving alleged deaths at the hands of police or the military," Mr. Evans said. "The first case I investigated resulted in a prima facie case of murder against the police or an army officer whom the Kenya police could have no difficulty in identifying."

S. African Government Orders Teacher From U.S.

JOHANNESBURG, S. Africa —The South African government has refused to renew the passport of Dr. Zachariah K. Matthews, South African native educator, a visiting professor at the Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Officials refused to give any reasons for the action which means that Dr. Matthews must return home before Wednesday or be without a valid passport.

(In New York, Pan American World Airways said that Dr. Matthews and his wife were on board a Pan American Air liner which left Idlewild Airport on Friday and estimated the couple would arrive in Johannesburg Saturday evening.)

Hit Malan Regime

Dr. Matthews recently told a Methodist Church missionary group at Buck Hills Fall, Pa., that the South African election which returned the anti-black government of Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan to power was a victory for the "forces of reaction."

He predicted that the non-white majority which was not permitted to vote, would eventually win freedom because "no people will be satisfied to remain in bondage forever."

The 51-year-old educator was the first native to win the bachelor of arts degree from the University of South Africa and later became the first native head master of a high school.

He was twice elected to the South African Native Representative* — a powerless native body set up by the government to compensate for the natives' loss of franchise— which was dissolved by the Malan regime in 1950.

Dr. Rufus Clement Wins In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga.—Dr. Rufus E. Clement, president of Atlanta University and first colored candidate to win a major office over a white opponent here since Civil War Reconstruction Days, declares it was a "victory for the people" more than a personal victory.

Dr. Clement was elected to the Atlanta Board of Education by an 8,000-vote majority Wednesday in the city primary. He defeated his white opponent, J. H. Sanders, a School Board member for 26 years by a vote of 22,142 to 13,800.

"It isn't a personal victory," Dr. Clement said. "It's a victory for the people. I've been feeling for some time that the people of the South are far ahead of what some think they are."

Carried 8 Wards

He pointed out that he carried eight of the nine wards in the city-wide election as evidence that his selection was not the result of "bloc voting." There were about 82,000 whites and 18,000 colored registered, but there is no way to tell what percentage of each race voted.

Mr. Sanders, a member of the school board since 1927, was among the first of many whites to congratulate Dr. Clement.

Dr. Clement's victory was also hailed as a "signal victory" by Walter White, executive NAACP secretary. In a wire of congratulations to the 52-year-old university president, Mr. White said that "the entire city of Atlanta will benefit by your services on the Board of Education."

Further Comment

Expressing himself further on his election, Dr. Clement had this to say:

"The white population is ready to try to work constructively with the colored population. There is a very solid core of good will in the middle of each group and given a chance to express itself things will happen as they did."

Almost overlooked in the enthusiasm of Dr. Clement's election was the fact thatnine colored candidates were also elected to the 16-member City Executive Committee.

The two were A. T. Walden, a lawyer, who was unopposed in the predominantly colored Third Ward and Miles Amos who defeated Rod Harris, another colored candidate.

The City Executive Committee is not actually a part of the municipal government but controls primaries, sets qualification fees and rules and generally wields considerable political power.

Case Attacks FBI Part In Draft Issue

WASHINGTON, (NNPA) —The alleged conduct of an FBI agent in getting a draft registrant to waive one claimed exemption in order to claim another is under attack in a case now in the United States Supreme Court is asked to review.

The case is that of Marshall Neal Jr., a Jehovah's witness, who was convicted of refusing to submit for induction into the armed forces and sentenced to three years in prison. His conviction was affirmed by the Fifth United States Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

"Illegal Policy"

His petition attributes to the FBI the "illegal policy" of representing to ignorant registrants by agents, who are lawyers, that it is advisable to sign waivers of the conscientious objector claim where the main claim of the registrant is the ministry.

The petition asserts that this is a "fraud" and results in a denial of the process of law. The petition also charges that the Federal District Court duly entered Neal's selective service file and turned up "irrelevant and prejudicial matter."

New Party Promises Vote To S. Africans

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (NNPA)—Virtually the whole leadership of the ex-Servicemen's Torch Commando in Natal, a province including Zululand—supported by other leaders of the movement in the Transvaal and the Cape, two other provinces, have decided to break away from the United party and form a new "Union Federal party."

Aims of the new party include a more liberal native policy and, as an interim measure, the immediate group representation of Indians in Parliament in the same way as natives.

The most significant characteristic of the new party's program is that it lays down as a long-term policy, subject to safeguards, "the ultimate placing of those non-Europeans who have passed a suitable test of a high standard upon the common roll of voters."

Haitian Ambassador Leaves Post June 30

WASHINGTON (NNPA)— The White House last week announced the resignation of Howard K. Travers, Ambassador to Haiti, effective June 30. Ill health was the reason given for the resignation.

No indication of a successor was given, but Mrs. Robert L. Vann, Pittsburgh publisher, and fraternal leader, has been prominently mentioned for the post.

Cut Freedmen's Budget $496,000

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — The Republican - economy drive hit Freedmen's Hospital when the House Appropriations Committee last Friday reported a cut of $496,000 in President Truman's budget for the hospital for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, as reported, carries a total of $2,750,000 for the hospital. President Truman had recommended $3,246,000. The revised Eisenhower budget requested $3,104,000.

The amount allowed, $2,750,000 represents a reduction of $110,750 from the appropriation for the current year. The committee reduced by $446,000 the Truman budget for salaries and hospital expenses, and eliminated entirely an item of $50,000 for facilities planning.

Mau Mau's Drive Spreads New Terror

NAIROBIA, Kenya. (NNPA) Three ominous signs have added to the terror which the so-called Mau Mau are spreading in their campaign to drive Europeans from East Africa. They are:

1. A battalion - sized Mau Mau band operating in the South Nyeri Reserve. 2. Police say they have captured a cache of explosives, fuses and detonators. 3. An African politician, who is not a Kikuyu tribesman, has been arrested on a charge of attempting to spread the Mau Mau movement to North Nyanza.

A pro - European Kikuyu, who escaped from a Mau Mau band by whom he was captured in the Tetu of Nyeri Reserve, maintains that the force was 500 strong. Although the police regarded this figure as exaggerated, an official spokesman said the possibility of such a large organized force could not be ruled out. The largest force previously reported has been about 250.

Mau Mau Band Kills 5 Guards, Injures 3

NAIROBI, Kenya (NNPA) — A large Mau Mau band, chanting "Attack everything," early May 10, charged a Kikuyu Guard camp set up in South Nyeri Reserve by Chief Ellud, one of the best known pro-European chiefs. Five guards were killed and three wounded.

Chief Ellud and his bodyguard of five escaped to Karatina police station. This was the four attempt on his life. The attacking band burned down the post and the chief's home and set fire to his motorcar. They also freed several prisoners who left with them.

Howard's Budget Request Total Cut $2,615,000

WASHINGTON (N N P A) — Budget requests for Howard University were further slashed by the House Appropriations Committee, which last Friday reported the appropriation bill for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Of the original estimates of $4,875,000 submitted by ex-President Truman on Jan. 9, the bill carries only $2,260,000 for the university, which is $2,615,000 less than Mr. Truman's request, and $1,787,000 less than the appropriation for the current fiscal year.

The Truman requests were first cut by Mrs. Oveta C. Hobby, secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

$215,000 Reduction

Mrs. Hobby submitted to the appropriations committee revised estimates, reducing by $215,000 the recommendation for salaries and expenses, and reducing by $25,000 the recommendation for plans and specifications for buildings and grounds.

As reported by the committee, the bill carries for the university the sum of $2,240,000 for salaries and expenses, which is $295,000 less than Mrs. Hobby recommended and $510,000 less than the amount requested by Mr. Truman.

The items for plans and specifications, $30,000, and for construction of buildings, $1,900,000, were eliminated by the committee.

The bill includes $20,000 for the purchase and installation of a vacuum pump in the steam system. That is the only amount allowed of Mr. Truman's request for $170,000 for the alteration and improvement of the power plant facilities at the university.
