UNDER the heading "Democratic Factions in Maryland" the Wilmington Every Evening makes the following very pertinent statement:

"There are indications, especially in the columns of the Democratic newspapers of the Eastern Shore, that the old Democratic factional fight—the opposition of a considerable number of voters to the party organization—will figure prominently in the Democratic primaries for this year's election. It is evidenced by bitter opposition, in nearly every county, to the candidates of what is called the State machine, which means the regular organization of the party in the State and in most of the counties.

"It is at times difficult for a party organization to avoid being a party machine, although this is one thing above all others it should not be. For once the official organization of the party becomes a dictator and applies its powers and energies to controlling the party nominations, it is bound to incite bitter opposition among the party followers, and in the end will go down in defeat.

"It is no part of the official organization of the party to interfere with the party's nominations for office. It is its duty to attend to all the primary election arrangements, and see that all candidates have a fair show in appealing to the voters and an honest count of the votes. After that it is its duty to do all that may be within its power to elect the candidates thus nominated by the party voters.

We regret to state that the condition of County Superintendent of Schools L. J. Smyth, is critical. He is in Mercy Hospital and an operation was to have been performed on Thursday afternoon but his condition was such that it could not be done. It is sincerely hoped that a change for the better may take place and that he may be restored to health.

NUPTIAL EVENTS.

THOMAS—MINIFIE.

Miss Sarah Gertrude Minifii, daughter of Mrs. James Woodfin Minifie, of Baltimore, and Mr. Robert Earle Thomas, son of Mr. G. Hines Thomas, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Brice, of this town, were quietly married in Baltimore on Wednesday. Owing to a recent death in the family of the bride the wedding was extremely quiet, only the immediate relatives and a few close friends witnessed the ceremony. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left for Atlantic City for a short stay. They are expected to reach Chestertown this evening where they will spend the week-end with Mr. Thomas' grandparents. They will be at home after May 10th at 514 Arlington avenue, Govans, Md. Mrs. James Brice, Mrs. Fannie Moore, Mrs. James H. Brice and daughter, Adele, and Miss Ella Watkins attended the wedding from Chestertown.

MORGAN—LUSBY.

Mr. George G. Morgan and Miss Ellen M. Lusby, of Cecilton, were married at St. Stephen's P. E Church, of that town, by the Rev. W. A. Coale, on Tuesday of last week. Because of the recent death of the bride's mother the wedding was very quiet. A wedding luncheon was served at the bride's home, after which the bride and groom left for a short trip. They returned Saturday and are receiving congratulations and good wishes from their many friends.

Court Interprets Harford Fish Law.

Judge Harlan rendered a decision in Bel Air on April 10th which clears up the legal tangle which has embarassed up the Bay fishermen. The court, in releasing Lotan H Raisin and W. M. Watkins on a writ of habeas corpus, held, that the State Fish Law of 1908 supersedes the Local Harford County Fishing law passed during the last century, and that fishermen from other counties than Harford may place fyke or pound nets in the waters of the Chesapeake Bay off the shores of Harford county.

The accused men had been arrested at the instance of Stephen Cohee, keeper of the Poole's Island Light House. The offense charged was placing fish nets in violation of the Harford Co. Local Law prohibiting non residents of Harford county to fish in the county waters. It appearing that the fish nets in question were placed between Lego Point and Robins Point off the Harford county shores, but in the waters of the Chesapeake Bay; the Court discharged both Raisin and Watkins. James J. Archer and L. Wethered Barroll represented the accused.

Rich Neck Farmers.

The Rich Neck Farmers Club held an enjoyable meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton L. Jarrell, on High street, Thursday evening of last week. After the meeting the club members and guests enjoyed a delightful dinner.

During the meeting a resolution was passed requesting President Patterson, of Maryland Agricultural College, to remain as the head of that institution. President Patterson has made an efficient official and it is to be hoped that he will remain.

A resolution was passed congratulating Mrs. Jarrell on the donation of her front room for a rest room for country ladies.

The leading subject discussed was the new system of slacking lime with saw dust instead of lime and Messrs James T. Anthony and W. Irving Walker, upon being interviewed, think that the matter is well worth investigation.

The meeting was one of the most successful and largely attended for sometime.

Mr. Koeler, farm demonstrator of Queen Annes, was among the guests.
