Drive On To Promote State's Amateur Sports

A committee of civic and community leaders headed by Carl C. Hauswald Jr., is planning an intensive campaign during the first half of June to stimulate interest in and support for amateur athletic events.

Working on behalf of the South Atlantic Association, Amateur Athletic Union of the U.S., the committee hopes to raise $15,000 to carry on educational work and recreational activities.

Free Recreation

Funds will be used to expand the Physical Fitness program of the A.A.U. This program offers physical test to all groups — scouts, schools, church organizations, etc. at no cost. In addition the South Atlantic Association provided the judges, referees and officials for all sanctioned amateur athletic events in this area.

Sports covered under the S.A.A. program include: basketball—men and women; boxing; diving, gymnastics, handball, horseshoe pitching, ice hockey, junior olympics, long distance running, physical fitness, swimming, synchronized swimming, track and field, tug-of-war, volley ball, walking, weightlifting, women's sports, wrestling.

TV Glamourizes Fees

"The intensive promotion of professional sports, plus the interest stimulated in them by television and the newspapers has taken some of the glamour away from athletic competitions," Mr. Hauswald said, "but it remains for amateur events to provide the physical training, spirit of good sportsmanship, a universal recreation that is a basic art of our American living," he added.

All Marylanders are urged to support the drive by sending contributions to "S.A.A.A.U."—531 N. Charles Street, Baltimore 1, Maryland. Individuals who contribute $10 or more will receive a year's subscription to "The Amateur Athlete" magazine.

Harlem Swimmer To Challenge Channel

NEW YORK (ANP) — This summer, Willis Hanks, a Harlem born youngster, may see his fondest dream come true. For the past 20 years, Hanks has been dreaming of the day when he would swim the English Channel, becoming the first colored person to achieve this aquatic feat.

Hanks has tried before to get a sponsor for the effort and once, he thought he had succeed. But the would-be sponsor backed out when he did not see a quick buck in it for himself. Now Hanks has through his own efforts, reached the point where he is almost assured of making the trip this summer.

Hanks has secured a passport; he has been entered as a Channel contestant, and he has obtained the services of an expert and outstanding trainer. The trainer is Sam Rockett, who taught only trained Florence Chadwick, but is instrumental in promoting the annual swim.

If Willis Hanks does make the effort, he will be the first colored person to get that far. Hanks has been swimming all his life in and around New York. As a youngster, he won a sprint competition sponsored by the Daily News in Central Park and from that start, he has gone on to capture many other win honors.

Magried and making his home in the Colonial Village project, Hanks has a young daughter Nancy, just turned 8, who is his staunchest supporter and fan. He says it is for her sake he intends to go through with the project.

Eagles Win, Lose With N. C. Foes

DURHAM, N.C.—North Carolina College's baseball team closed its season here May 15 with a 7 to 5 win over the Shaw University Bears.

The NCC lads dropped their second game of the season to the A. and T. Aggies in Greensboro on May 13 when the Greensboro boys licked the locals, 10-4.

Playing jam - up ball behind Eagle ace righthander Linwood Johnson, the NCC diamondsmen packed up three runs in the eighth frame to put the Shaw deal on ice. The Bears racked up even hits to the NCC team's six, but their scoreless 1st three innings sealed their doom.

At Greensboro earlier in the week, the Eagles committed 5 errors after piling up a 3-1 lead in the first three periods. However, Tom Tapscott, Aggie fastball artist, permitted the visitors to score their last run earlier in the seventh frame. The Aggies unleashed a savage run-scoring spree in th ninth to heap up 5 tallies. Bill Lowe, Eagle frosh hurler, was charged with the defeat.

Defense Setup Holds Public School Drills

The Civil Defense Organization of Baltimore City and the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the Department of Education, arranged a systemwide practice air raid drill on Monday, May 25.

Yokeleys Break Even, Streak Snapped At 4

The Yokeley Stars had their winning streak halted at four Sunday, when they dropped the second game of a double-header by a score 9-5, to the U.S. Hoboes, after trouncing them in the opener 9-2 at Westport stadium.

The local aggregation put seven hits together in a big nine-run fourth inning, that saw righthander Hubert Simmons capture his third victory of the season without defeat. Simmons aided his own cause with two singles, good for two runs batted in.

In the second contest, the Hoboes took the measure of Lem Watkins, scoring in each of the five frames he hurled. Velbert Gholston, lanky 23-year-old southpaw, was impressive as he finished the last two innings by striking out four men.
