24TH CONVENTION:

Lambda delegates poised to elect national officers

PHILADELPHIA

The leaders who shape the educational trends of this country ought to re-dedicate their lives for public service.

This was intimated, Sunday, by Dr Uvee Mdodana, secretary, United Church Women, New York City.

She was guest speaker at the educational meeting, national convention, Iota Phi Lambda sorority. Delegates are in attendance from 32 states.

The meeting, held the second day of the national confab, was at Bellevue Stratford hotel.

Dr. Mdodana spoke on the subject: "Education For What?"

She told the sorors that today there are four million uneducated persons in the United States.

She asked: "What are we going to do about them? What can be done about teacher education?"

The speaker urged that more college graduates select teaching as a profession.

Decrying current educational trends, Dr. Mdodana said the stark realities of the current age are proving too much for even the most educated.

In support of this contention, she referred to the tragic death of the late secretary of defense, James Forrestal.

"Are we re-dedicating our lives for service. Are we able to face life unafraid?"

Other speakers on Sunday's program included:

Mrs. Lola M. Parker, founder and president emeritus of the sorority, who discussed the purposes of the organization.

Acting Eastern Regional director, Miss Evelyn D. Wilkey, who welcomed the guests.

Mrs. Mahala Evans, who explained the national educational program of the sorority.

Mrs. Jeanne S. Scott, national president, who introduced the national officers.

The social agenda included a twilight garden party with 300 in attendance Saturday at the Skidmore Garden.

Also there was a sightseeing tour of the city, a reception at the Mayor's office; a summer frolic at the Plaisted hall, a banquet at Broadwood hotel.

At press time the sorors were getting underway with their business meetings which will conclude with the election of national officers.

NAPE renews fight on loyalty purges

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. —The National Alliance of Postal Employees voted overwhelmingly to continue its all . out fight on the "postal purges" which began in 1949.

The action was taken at the recent 21st biennial convention of the NAPE here, attended by some 500 delegates and visitors.

Representing many thousands of the 95,000 colored employees in postal service, the NAPE took vicious swings at the loyalty program which has seen 14 NAPE members again threatened with loss of their jobs.

It blasted the appointment of Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina to the UN and transacted business aimed at improving the lot of colored workers in the postal field and to strengthening the NAPE itself.

Sby B. Carter of Chicago, president of the NAPE, bitterly criticized former Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson, accusing him of dishonest tactics NAPE men caught in the "postal purges."

Addressing the public meeting at the opening of the convention, Attorney Howard Jenkins Jr., of the Howard university law school faculty, to their security, and called the old loyalty program — now the new "security" program — "a long-cution."

He said that prejudiced officials were using the hreat of Communist hysteria as a weapon with which to silence colored members who demanded their rights as first - class citizens.

The NAPE voted to continue complete cooperation with all other colored groups fighting for full civil rights. It gave its president added concessions to enable him to handle the group's work.

Jersey hotels keep JC alive

NAPE editors barred, I gets in

ATLANTIC CITY—Ashby C. Smith of Chicago, editor of The Voice, official organ of the Chicago Branch, National Alliance of Postal Employees, and his wife, last week were refused accommodations by a local hotel which had granted a reservation for them.

Mr. Smith had made the reservation at the Wiltshire Hotel, 170 S. Virginia ave., in July.

When he and his wife arrived for the biennial convention of the NAPE, Aug. 17-22, they were refused accommodation on the ground that the hotel "had no room for them."

Second Case Different

The Smiths eventually were lodged in a private home.

Another NAPE editor was confronted by the same type of discrimination at another hotel, but the management yielded after weighing the merits of a legal battle.

In this instance, Snow F. Grigsby of Detroit, editor of The Postal Alliance, official organ of the NAPE, was also refused accommodation at the Lafayette Hotel on North Carolina ave. where he had a reservation.

After Mr. Grigsby insisted on his civil rights under the New Jersey anti-discrimination laws, the manager finally agreed to "find" him a room.

LARGEST NAACP CONTRIBUTION:

W. Coast church gives $1,500 to legal fund

A minister, who fights segregation and the Devil with equal vigor, boosted the NAACP Legal Defense Fund by $1,500 last week.

The amount was received from the fiery Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of the Second Baptist church, Los Angeles. Thurgood Marshall, fund director, acknowledged the contribution.

Dr. Henderson raised the money as an after-offering at a Sunday morning service. He wrote Mr. Marshall:

"It has given me great pleasure to do this and our church deserves justifiable credit."

Marshall Overjoyed

Overjoyed, Mr. Marshall asserted: "This is the largest contribution to these cases that has come from from a local group anywhere in the nation.

"When the great issue of public school segregation is finally decided by the Supreme Court, the Rev. Mr. Henderson and the Second Baptist church will have the satisfaction of being in the forefront of those who made the fight possible.

"A large staff of lawyers and research workers has been at work right through the summer on the material that must be submitted to the highest court before our oral argument now set for Dec. 7.

"The fight is a costly one, and we trust that the generous gift of the Second Baptist church will inspire other churches, organizations and individuals to send contributions.

"The entire race has a stake in these cases and if we win, the entire race wins."

The Rev. Mr. Henderson and his church were hosts to the 40th annual NAACP convention in 1949. Dr. E. J. Robinson, chairman of the church's trustee board, is also president of NAACP.

Meanwhile donations continued to come in from readers in support of the AFRO's Dollar or More to Open the Door Campaign.

With the addition of $30 more, the New Jersey AFRO raised its total collected to $195.

Last week's contributors were George Eggleston, $25; Clinton Hill Day Nursery, $5; and Mr. and Mrs. William Milwitsky, $2. All are from Newark.

The Washington AFRO reported $13,75 received from the Legal Aid Fund last week.

A check for $7 was sent in by the Alpha Pi Tau Sorority of which Mrs. Mabs Kemp is president. Stafford L. Coleman gave $2. An anonymous donor sent in $1.50.

One dollar contributions came from Robert E. Wood, Johnnie Jones and Kelly L. Laskey while a $25 gift came from Mrs. Ida Dimmie, all of Washington.

In other developments, New York's Senator Irving M. Ives, who authored that state's FEPC law, gave his endorsement to the NAACP's drive for funds.

"The current drive takes on added significance in view of the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation to be celebrated in 1963," Senator Ives said.

Bigotry In Many Areas

While great strides have been taken in giving concrete expression to the principles of equality and justice which are cornerstones of our democracy, there remain areas where bigotry and intolerance are all too prevalent.

"That such practices still exist should fortify our determination to further the work of the NAACP and similar organizations engaged in the preservation and extension of the civil liberties which are part and parcel of our great heritage."

A total of $727.24 in special contributions were received by the NAACP's "Fighting Fund for Freedom" in a two-week period ending Aug. 18.

On the list of contributors and the amounts given were:

Paul R. Williams, Los Angeles, Calif., $252.24; San Antonio, Tex., NAACP branch, $100; Dressmakers Union, Local 22, ILGWU, New York, $100; Kimball, W. Va., NAACP branch, $50; United Furniture Workers, New York, $50;

Richmond, Calif., branch NAACP, $50; United Packinghouse Workers, District 6, New York, $50; Middletown, Ohio, NAACP branch, $25; Schenectady, N.Y., NAACP branch, $25; and Brazos County, Tex., NAACP branch, $25.
