Tips given on VA insurance

Three tips on how to save time and money when paying National Service life Insurance premiums were listed this week W. L. Limburg, mgr., of the Baltimore regional office of the Veterans Administration.

Most important, said Mr. Limburg, is to pay premiums when due. He added:

Second, a veteran can save himself and the government time and money by paying NSLI premiums on a quarterly, semi-annual or annual basis instead of paying premiums each month.

Third, Mr. Limburg said, never send cash through the mail. He stated that veterans should always use a check or money order made payable to the Veterans Administration in mailing premiums to the VA district office holding insurance records.

For Maryland veterans, the address is V.A. district office, collection department, PO Box 7787, Philadelphia, Pa.

400 expected to die in holiday traffic

If the findings of the National Safety Council are to be judged correctly, 400 Americans will die on the nation's highways this labor day week end.

It is believed that the majority will lose their lives from 6 p.m. Friday (Today) through midnight next Monday.

As a safety measure, holiday motorists are advised to adopt these rules this holiday week end.

Double check before passing or changing lanes; Cut down on the usual cruising speed; Don't compete in traffic, let the other fellow go first for at least forty million cars are expected to move over the highways this week end.

Remember School Kids

With the opening of school less than one week away, Maryland safety authorities have started reminding drivers to pay strict attention to traffic signs.

Strict attention they point out is even more vital this time of year because many children will be attending school for the first time.

The majority have not as yet had the benefit of safety instruction in the classroom. The safety of the first year students, they claim will depend upon the care with which cars are operated.

Exercise Caution

Not only must caution be exercised in the vicinity of schools but on all streets where children are walking to and from classrooms.

In connection with the drive, Baltimore traffic police are cracking down on the haphazard motorist.

An indication of this move was given clearly in part two of the city traffic court at Central Wednesday, when a total of 400 traffic cases were scheduled on the docket.

According to a traffic officer, the easiest solution to the local traffic problem is through the pocket book.

On the bulletin board at Central the following memo has been posted. "The horrifying toll on the highway does not seem to alarm a large number of motorist as much as the jolt in the pocketbook when the insurance rate goes up."

Major league ball clubs told of stadium features

Although running behind schedule in construction work on the "new" Memorial Stadium, city officials have bolstered their efforts to bring big league baseball to Baltimore.

In a four - page brochure prepared by the Board of Recreation and Parks for submission to owners of American League clubs, more than 50 virtues of the new park were pointed out.

With permanent seating facilities available for 51,750 fans, the nations sixth largest city will feature a stadium with public assembly rooms, a compressed air cleaning system, an electric scoreboard, and motion picture and radio broadcasting rooms.

Features

Also, a first aid and police rooms, administration offices, public address system, umpire and referee rooms, public comfort stations, concession facilities, press room, and television studios.

On the field 200-foot light towers will illuminate the entire playing surface. For other sports events seating facilities can be raised to 62,600. Construction was planned to permit expansion, if desired, to a total of 92,000 seats.

Located in the heart of the city with enough parking space to accommodate 4,000 cars, the stadium is designed to provide adequate shelter for capacity attendance.

Vacated In 20 Minutes

Through the use of ramps on all elevations the entire park can be vacated in 20 minutes.

In addition to a large and modern structure, the city will be in a position to offer major league clubs television and radio stations with national hookups.

There is also a potential of at least 2,000,000 people in the metropolitan or trading area, with 1,000,000 more in the city proper, the brochure points out.

Bureau gives financial report

In a report released this week by the Baltimore County Recreation Bureau at Towson, a financial analysis by communities of tickets sold for the first benefit baseball game on July 31, disclosed the following:

That out of 750 tickets distributed in the Turner Station area, 364 were sold. From Banneker where 250 tickets were distributed a total of 39 were sold.

According to the bureau, the county's first benefit game results in the following:

Results

United 27 recreation councils representing as many different county communities for a common purpose.

Spotlighted the strength resulting from a cooperative effort and provided a specific example of "In union there is strength."

Gave each participating recreation council practical experience in selling tickets, collecting money and reporting sales.

Gave each recreation group first hand information on the importance attached to baseball by local citie nse as ?s? . xvd local citizens. Provided a base for evaluation of a recreation program.

Provided the county government and officials with first hand information on the importance attached to baseball by a large segment of the county's population.

$5,788 Earned

Earned $5,788 for recreation councils to spend on supplies and equipment for more baseball for more boys."

Emphasized the county's recreation plan for sharing the costs between county government and local groups.

Publicized a specific method of "helping communities to help themselves.

Provided a "springboard" for additional functions of this type.

Gave the game of baseball for youth a more prominent place in the minds of county people.

Barmaid Found Strangled

Cherry Hill youth drowns, marking 4th summer death

Boy seeking job to help mother with seven other children, takes fatal swim

By BUDDY LONESOME

While four companions looked on in horror, a 14-year-old Cherry Hill boy drowned, Wednesday afternoon.

The death of Norman Murray, 14, 3212 Cherryland rd., came less than a week after NAACP lawyers filed an injunction asking the court to open municipally owned outdoor swimming pools to all citizens.

Young Murray left his home shortly before 9 a.m., Wednesday morning in company with four other boys. The youth told his mother that they were going to get a job in a canning company.

The job-hunting group included James Partlow, 18, 2830 Denham circle; Elmer Miles, 17, 2833 Spelman rd.; Joseph Graham, 14, 119 Exeter st., and Eugene Harris, 18, 864 Bethune rd.

There were no jobs available at the canning factory so the boys hitch - hiked a ride back home. Enroute they decided to go for a swim in the water off Fairfield.

In Water Alone

While the other boys were sitting on the ground of property owned by the Arundel Sand and Gravel co., Murray went into the water alone.

The youth was swimming and in no apparent distress when he dove beneath the water. The other boys waited and when SLAIN—Mrs. Emily (Joyner) Friday, well-known Pennsylvania ave. barmaid, was strangled to death early Wednesday. Two men, one of them her husband, were taken into custody and questioned.

Body found half nude; 2 men quizzed

Criminal assault faked; victim was expectant mother

By LOUIE ROBINSON

The half - nude body of a well-known Pennsylvania ave. barmaid was discovered Wednesday morning lying in a grassy backyard a few doors from her home in the 1100 block of W. Lafayette ave.

Mrs. Emily Friday, who also had gone under the last names of Joyner, Johnson and Berry at one time or another, had been strangled to death, the Medical Examiner's office reported. She was between 30 and 34 years old.

Her body, found by police officers who answered an anonymous telephone call to the scene about 9:35 a.m., found the woman clad only in a blouse, brassiere and coat half of a light tan checkered suit. The clothing was thrown back over her shoulders, exposing her entire body which was sprawled upon a bed of newspapers.

Few Body Marks

The only marks on her body were a bruise on the left side of her mouth and a slight cut under her chin. A thin smear of blood was in the corner of her mouth.

Police said the woman had definitely not been criminally assaulted, although an apparent attempt had been made to make the scene look like it.

Mrs. Friday's estranged husband, Frank C. Friday, and an unidentified man were taken into custody and questioned by police.

The victim had been employed for many years as a barmaid at the Alhambra cafe in the 1500 block of Pennsylvania ave., and for the last three years had worked at the Frolic cafe at Pennsylvania and Lafayette aves.

Preferred To Walk

Mrs. Friday went to work at 6 p.m. Tuesday and remained there until 1:30 a.m. Wednesday. Fellow employees said that when she left the cafe, she declined to take a taxi, preferring to walk the five blocks to her home.

She started out alone, walking up Lafayette ave.

Somewhere along the W.B.T.

'Now is the time—' the walrus said, to check lucky Dillies

Now is the time to look in your pockets where you may find a bill worth as $200.

Yes, winning $200 in the AFRO's Dilly Dollar game is that easy.

Another Super Dilly worth $200 is now in circulation as 20 more Dillies were issued today in Baltimore and vicinity. Those with serial numbers comparing with the numbers listed below are worth sums ranging from $5 to $200.

And there is no cost, no payment, no charge to play this money making game which has all Baltimore talking.

The only work involved is checking the list in the AFRO with the dollar bills in your pocket or pocketbook.

If the serial numbers check with those listed below you better get on the telephone right away and call the AFRO at Mtlberry 5-5015. Tell the Dilly editor, "I've got a Dilly," and make arrangements to come to the AFRO office at 628 N. Eutaw st. to pick up your money.

The office is open Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

A word to the wise is sufficient, so you better check these $1 bills right away—they may be worth more than a buck.

Mother of 2 collects $100

15 AFRO readers cash in on Dillies

A 25-year-old housewife and mother of two children, Mrs. Vivian Williams of 1624 N. Calhoun st. cashed in a $100 AFRO Dilly Dollar this week.

Mrs. Williams got Dilly No. Q 57 11 685 G from a visitor who called on her aunt, Mrs. Annie Williams, veteran business woman in the neighborhood. She was among 15 lucky winners this week.

She said the money would be spent for clothes, most likely. She and her husband, James H. Williams, a Signal Depot employee, are parents of two youngsters, 2 and 3 years old.

They attend Metropolitan Methodist church.

'Feels Mighty Good'

"I've been checking the Dilly Dollars for weeks, but never had any idea I would get one. It feels mighty good," declared Robert W. Collier, storekeeper who cashed in a $25 bill.

Mr. Collier found lucky Dilly No. Q 57 111 665 G in his till

JC school cases may be delayed

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson may have a decisive effect on the five school segregation cases which are set for reargument before the United States Supreme Court on Dec. 7.

Several possibilities which may affect the decision of these cases arise out of the death of Mr. Vinson:

1. If President Eisenhower does not fill the vacancy before Oct. 5, the date the court convenes for the 1953-54 term, Associate Justice Hugo L. Black, the senior justice, will preside.

Justice Black is one of the outstanding liberals on the court. He and Justice William O. Douglass will undoubtedly vote to end racial segregation in the public school systems of southern states and the District of Columbia.

Justices Felix Frankfurter and Robert H. Jackson will probably vote to do so. That leaves one other vote necessary to outlaw school segregation, since five votes will be required to overturn the decisions of the Fed-

HONOR GRADUATE OF DUNBAR:

St. John's accepts 1st Baltimore coed this fall

By SHIRLEY KYLE

Dunbar High school will send another "first" to historic St. John's College in Annapolis this fall.

Joan Cole, 18-year-old June honor graduate, will be the first colored coed to enroll in the world-famed institution, Sept. 25.

In September 1948, Martin Dyer Jr., honor graduate of Dunbar, was the first colored male to enter the school as results of a resolution passed in April of that year.

Voting 162 to 27, the white male students of the school moved to drop the racial barriers at the college. In September 1951 the doors were open to female students.

Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dyer, 1742 E. Oliver st., received his B.A. degree from the institution, June, 1952.

2 Students Enrolled

Other colored males now enrolled at the school include Everett H. Wilson, Parsonsburg, Md., and Leo Simms, Annapolis.

Miss Cole, who lives at 307 E.

'I didn't cry today,' murder victim's son says after school

"I didn't cry today," became a clean-faced, 5-year-old youngster Wednesday as he met the woman friend who was to walk him home from school.

Neatly dressed in a brown vest, green shirt, aqua trousers and brightly-polished brown and white shoes, and munching on a candy bar, Everett H. Berry Jr. reflected happily that his second day away from home had not been half as bad as his first.

The youth did not know that on that day his mother had been murdered.

He knew before leaving school that morning that a woman's body had been found two doors from his home, but he didn't know who she was. He thought his mother was out of town.
