Engineer acquitted of maid's charges

Judge declares 'suspicion' as to guilt on assault claim

TOWSON, Md.—A 45-year-old white Dundalk engineer was acquitted Wednesday on charges of assaulting a young woman who went to his home to accept a job.

Judge Howard J. Murray, admitting that he had "strong suspicions" as to the man's guilt declared nevertheless that he was not convinced "to a moral able doubt."

The charges against Bernard P. Carroll of the 3000 block Dundalk rd. grew out of a complaint filed by Mrs. Mary Smith, 22, 700 block W. Saratoga st.

Mrs. Smith testified here in the Third Judicial court that she went to a Baltimore employment agency early in July in search of a job as a domestic, and was told to meet a man at a gas station on Dundalk rd. near Liberty highway.

The man's name, Mrs. Smith said she was told, was "Mitchell."

Mrs. Smith said she met the man and was taken by his home, where she went into the cellar to change clothes before beginning work as a maid.

'Brush' Claimed

The young woman testified that upon leaving the cellar, the man brushed his hand across her back, and when she questioned his action, he told her was reaching for something and apologized.

The man then left the house and returned a short while later under the influence of alcohol, Mrs. Smith said. The young woman testified that the man, then completely undressed, came into a bedroom which she was cleaning and pushed her across the bed and attempted to assault her but that she fought him off.

Mr. Smith said she managed to flee from the house after getting on her belongings with the man in pursuit, armed with a stick.

Wrong Phone Number

Mrs. Smith also said that during the mah's absence from the house, she had used the telephone to tell her husband that she had got a job, and at that time noticed that the phone number was different than that given her by the employment agency. She told the court she then tried to call the agency, but the line was busy.

Col. James Pierce of the Dundalk police testified that a call was received by police that same morning from Mrs. Charles Dobinsky of the employment agency, saying that she had attempted to call Mrs. Smith about sending a contract, and had discovered that the agency had been given a false telephone number by "Mitchell."

Investigating officers went to the address given and learned Carroll's real identity.

Denial Revealed

"It was evident that he had been drinking but he was not intoxicated," the officer testified. He added that the man at first denied having picked up anyone and brought them to his home, but later admitted"it, saying he did so at the request of his sister—whose last name is Mitchell.

Carroll testified that he offered to meet whoever the employment agency sent out at the service station because his house was difficult to locate.

After picking up Mrs. Smith, he said, he decided to have her clean his place first.

"I told her what to do and went in to take a bath," Mitchell said. "When I got through, she was sitting down drinking a beer. I asked her when was she going to get started and she said-I'm going to get started in a minute."

Says He Fired Her

Carroll said he then left home to go to a bank and returned about half an hour later to find the woman drinking another can of beer.

"I told her I didn't want her turned home that evening to find two beer cans and a lipstick-smeared glass sitting on the kitchen stove.

Mrs. Carroll said her husband had not told her that morning that he planned to call for a maid, although they had done so several times in the past.

Judge's Statement

Judge Murray, after listening to a strong argument by the defendant's lawyer, Irvis S. Friedman, declared:

"It is not a difficult task to belabor a number of points in the cause as unusual. There is no doubt about the suspicion. There is no doubt that a colored person has a certain amount of reluctance to charge a white man with impropriety. She would feel—erroneously—that such a complaint would be considered lightly.

The judge then declared that the case was serious and the suspicion "strong, very strong," but, he said, "suspicion is not enough, probability is not enough. I am just not convinced to a moral certainty and beyond reasonable doubt.

The judge then declared the defendant not guilty.

Foes question Rosewood setup in transfer row

The argument regarding the transfer of 280 mentally retarded patients from Crownsville state hospital to Rosewood Training school was brought out in the open again this week, when opponents filed a questionnaire in Baltimore county circuit court.

The questions, which concern conditions at Rosewood, have been directed to Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, state commissioner of mental hygiene, and Dr. George Mednick, superintendent of Rosewood.

The transfer was to have been made last Jan. 12, but was halted by an injunction granted by Judge John B. Gontrum

The opponents have consistantly argued that there is no room at Rosewood for the additional patients, pointing out that the school does not have the adequate facilities to care for its present patients and those on the waiting list.

Questions To Be Answered

Among the long list of questions are the following:

1. Give the number of patients presently at Rosewood.

2. Give the number of employees now at Rosewood . . . and the work each actually performing at this time.

3. List each of the buildings used for patients; the number of beds set up and the number of beds in use in each building.

4. Is it the policy at Rosewood for any of the beds to be kept vacant for emergency treatment and care of the sick? If so how many beds are so reserved?

Capacity For 412 Patients

5. Give specific reference to the authority for your statement that the seven new buildings completed have a capacity for 412 patients.

6. According to the records, how many beds for patients were set up on or about Jan. 1, 1952?

7. In your opinion, is there presently, at Rosewood, sufficient trained personnel to supervise and conduct a well-planned rehabilitation program necessary to accomplish the training of higher grade patients toward eventual return to their homes, and the training of salvageable defective patients with a view of self-feeding and the caring of bodily functions in an orderly manner?

8. As of Jan. 1, 1953, and as of June 1, 1952, how many applications for admission, or requests for admissions, were there on file at Rosewood?

New three-cent stamp honors servicewoman

A new 3-cent stamp commemorating the 15th anniversary of women's branches becoming permanent components of the Armed Services is now on sale in Baltimore and other post offices throughout the country.

The stamp, blue in color, pictures four members of the women's components with the Capitol in the background. The new issue honors the WAC, WAVES, Women Marines, WAF, SPAR, the various Nurse Corps, the women doctors, dentists, veterinarians, and medical specialists in the Services.

Old Crow makes history with a lighter, milder bottling at a lower price!

To meet the demand for a lighter, milder prestige bourbon, the famous Old Crow distillery offers an 86 Proof bottling of the finest Kentucky whiskey ever put into glass, in addition to the traditional 100 Proof Bottled in Bond.

The Old Crow Distillery announces a bottling of celebrated Old Crow at 86 Proof. This bottling not only meets the growing demand for a lighter, milder prestige bourbon, it enables you to buy Old Crow at a much lower price. The savings in Federal excise taxes and other costs of this 86 Proof bottling are passed along to you.

Old Crow bourbon has been on the American scene now for well over 100 years. It was a favored libation on the front porches of magnificent plantations—it was one of the few pleasures enjoyed in the long treks of California-bound Conestoga Wagons—it was consumed with great relish in the elegant drawing rooms of the East—and deemed indispensable in many well-regulated families. Daniel Webster proclaimed it "the finest in the world." Henry Clay had it sent to him in Washington as well as to his home in Kentucky.

Now, in a history-making move, this famous bourbon is made available to you who have been wanting a lighter and milder prestige bourbon (ask your dealer for the 86 Proof). Of course, the 100 Proof continues to be available to those of you who prefer a Bottled in Bond.
