officials, William M. Passano, president of the Urban League, issued the following statement:

"As president of the Baltimore Urban League, I can speak for the board and membership in saying that we are most gratified by the appointment of 10 colored men by the Baltimore City Fire Department.

"President Bauer's announcement that the 10 citizens, one of whom we note headed the eligibility list, would be appointed to existing fire companies seems to me the best kind of affirmative statement in behalf of American democracy.

"Since the Fire Department is one of those unique and most valuable municipal services which throughout the years are engaged in the protection of all our citizens, it seems only right that this step should be taken.

"We of the Baltimore Urban League, who have worked for the betterment of the entire community, salute the Fire Board, the officers and men of the Baltimore City Fire Department for their recognition of the fact that the colored community and all of Baltimore stand ready to participate in the improvement of the community.

"We of the Urban League are confident that all Baltimoreans will comply with the June 18 statement of hope, by Mr. Bauer in his letter to the Urban League, that the Board of Fire Commissioners 'will have the help and understanding of everyone to the end that the program may be successful.'"

Lejins, professor of Sociology, University of Maryland; Dr. Arthur Lichtenstein, director of special services, Baltimore Department of Education; Miss Mazie F. Rapaport, division supervisor, protective services division, Baltimore Department of Public Welfare.

November 3

Subject: Who Turns Criminal and Why?

Moderator: Miss Evelyn R. Girardin, principal, Montebello School; speaker; Samuel R. Slavson, consultant in group therapy, Jewish Board of Guardians, New York City.

Panel: Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, chief medical officer, Supreme Bench of Baltimore, moderator; Dr. Robert M. Lindner, chief consulting psychologist, Maryland State Department of Correction; Dr. G. Wilson Shaffer, professor of psychology and dean of the Homewood Schools, Johns Hopkins University.

November 10

Subject: The Control of Crime—A Sound Program.

Moderator: C. Boyd McDivitt, executive director, Prisoners Aid Association.

The Role of Official Agencies: Richard Clendenen, chief, juvenile delinquency branch, Division of Social Services, U.S. Children's Bureau.

What Are the Implications for Baltimore?—John R. Ellingston, University of Minnesota Law School.

"Meet the Press" type of interrogation; interrogator: Louis Azrel, columnist.

November 17

Subject: Prevention: An Effective Community Program.

Moderator: C. Keating Bowie Jr., Baltimore attorney and secretary of the Pratt Library's board of trustees.

The New York Plan: Sylvan S. Furman, director of community relations, New York City Youth Board.

The Philadelphia Plan: Dr. F. Preston Sharp, executive director, Youth Study Center, Juvenile Division of the Municipal Court, Philadelphia.

"Meet the Press" type of interrogation: interrogator: Edwin J. Lukas, American Jewish Committee, New York City.

November 24

Subject: The Community's Responsibility: What the Citizen can do.

This will be a workshop session to review the findings of the previous meetings and relate them to Baltimore. Watch for later announcements.

Church group gives garden party, tea

The Young Matrons of New Metropolitan Baptist church will give a garden party at 8 p.m. tonight (Friday) at the church.

A second garden party, combined with a musical program and mother-daughter tea will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday. Program chairmen are Mrs. Constance Austin and Mrs. Rosa Pierce. The Rev. John L. Tilley is pastor.

FACE GRAND JURY — Mrs. Bernice Wilkins, right, of the 1600 block Edmondson ave., accompanied by a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Lewis, 1600 block Edmondson ave., and Milton Allen, attorney, substituting for W. Emerson Brown jr., defense counsel, appeared before the federal grand jury, Tuesday, to testify to the alleged brutal tactics of two Northwestern police officers, Sgt. John Dunn and Officer Bernard Zilinski. The federal grand jury, however, did not indict the officers.

who was also involved in the Roberts' arrest was also dismissed from the police force when the investigation revealed that he had lied about his age in applying for the job.

Couple Fined $10

At the time of their arrest, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were charged with disorderly conduct, destruction of property, resisting arrest and assault on officer Trott.

The couple was fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct, but cleared of the other charges.

Their complaint concerning the brutal treatment by the policeman was taken to police authorities through interest of NAACP attorney, Franklin Bourne of Washington and Annapolis city councilmen, Norwood Brown and Roscoe Parker.

In Baltimore Case

In the case involving the Baltimore officers, Mrs. Wilkins of the 1600 block Edmondson ave. testified before the grand jury for 30 minutes, late Tuesday afternoon.

The FBI has also made an investigation of the case, filing a report with the Department of Justice.

A neighbor and witness in her case, Mrs. Mary Lewis testified for about 15 minutes. They were accompanied to the courthouse by Milton Allen, attorney, who appeared on behalf of W. Emerson Brown Jr., who has been handling the case for the NAACP.

Mrs. Wilkins' arrest created community indignation when she was dragged from her home in nightclothes which became torn and soiled during the tussle.

Repair Work Cause

Cause for her arrest was that she had refused to permit the policemen to allow a workman to enter her home to make repairs on a roof next door.

Recovering from the birth of her third child, Mrs. Wilkins had been confined to her third-floor apartment when the incident occurred. She was taken to the stationhouse, leaving the three children and a lighted gas stove unattended.

Disorderly conduct charges against her were dismissed during the police court hearing.

Complaints about behavior of the arresting officers were filed with Commissioner Beverly Oliver who ruled after his investigation that the policemen were not responsible for creating the disturbance.

got the report from the police.

Asked if his Department had known of any misconduct being carried on at the Langley playground, Mr. Christiansen said that they had received rumors of such activities. As a result, Mr. Christiansen said, the Department requested an investigation by the sex squad about two weeks ago.

A school official also reported the alleged activities to the sex squad, the AFRO learned.

Under Investigation

Although the incident allegedly occurred some three weeks ago, charges were not placed against the blond director until Tuesday. He had been under investigation since Saturday by Detective E. V. Tate, attached to the sex squad Metropolitan Police Department.

The boy's guardian, who stated that she has had him since he was five months old, declared that she did not know why there had been a delay in bringing charges against McGinnis.

WESTFIELD HONORS STATESMAN:

UN best hope for peace, Dr. Bunche advises 1,000

WESTFIELD — "The United Nations is far from perfect and making it work is not easy.

"But I believe it represents our biggest hope of averting World War III and its atomic horrors."

This plea for continued faith in and support for the United Nations was made Sunday, Oct. 11, by Dr. Ralph J. Bunche at a benefit rally for the Community Center held at the Senior high school.

Explains UN's Work

The distinguished director of the UN's Trusteeship Division and Nobel Peace Prize winner told an interracial audience of 1,000 citizens from Westfield and surrounding communities:

"The work of the UN is predicated on the universal desire of the peoples of the world for peace and to translate this desire into practical application so that peace will become a reality."

The statesman emphasized that "all human problems are soluble."

He added that "We must have faith in the future, and our ideals must be based on high morals and ethical standards, and our efforts must be continuing in the cause of peace."

Mayor Charles P. Bailey welcomed Dr. Bunche on behalf of town officials and all the citizens.

Albert Hally, general chairman of the United Campaign drive, made a brief appeal for its support.

Presentations Made

The Rev. William P. Kennedy, pastor of St. Luke AME Zion church, gave a prayer for peace. Leroy Scurry, director of the community center, was master of ceremonies.

Alan Bruce Conlin, attorney, a member of the Lions Club and former American Legion state commander, presented Dr. Bunche with a silver tray on behalf of the Westfield Community Center Association.

Miss Ruth D. Young, president of the center, presented the UN statesman with a leather billfold as a gift from the ladies.

On the musical program were Miss Fanni Leslie Jones, a soprano of Scotch Plains, and James Boswill, a baritone of Newark.

Sponsoring Groups

The benefit program was sponsored by the Business and Industrial Women's Club of the center, with The Service to Others Group co-operating.

Tenants moving into new housing project

Families began moving this week into the city's second post-war public housing project, the Claremont Homes on Sinclair Lane near Erdman ave.

The $3,156,000 project, containing 292 dwellings in 36 two-story row houses, will have white tenants.

The first post-war project built by the Baltimore Housing Authority was the 637-unit addition to the Cherry Hill Homes which was opened last December and is now completely occupied by colored families.

Under Construction

The third project in the current development program is the 816-unit Lafayette Courts project now under construction. This too will be occupied by colored families.

Construction bids for the fourth project, the 490-unit Flag House Courts are due to be opened on Nov. 12. This will be established for white families in downtown Baltimore, a few blocks south of Lafayette Courts

VA asked to hurry end of hospital ban

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The American Veterans Committee has called upon the Veterans Administration to set a date for ending racial segregation of patients in certain of its hospitals.

In a letter to Harvey Higbley, VA Administration, the AVC pointed out that the Army had announced on October 12 that the last all-colored military units would be abolished in eight months.

The VA still maintains racial segregation of patients in 17 hospitals in the South, where it conforms to local custom, despite President Eisenhower's stated position against segregation in any federal institution.

New Gilmor Homes Club plans Halloween party

The "Polly Pigtails," a preteen age social club recently organized at Gilmor Center, will hold its first social, a Halloween party on Oct. 31.

Officers of the club are Yvonne Patterson, president; Vera Taylor, secretary; and Brenda Taylor, treasurer. Mrs. Clarissa Mathews is advisor.

Members are Barbara Fowler, Elizabeth Venie, Berneta McCloud, Rosie Hopkins, Lydia Hopkins, and Lois Wright.

Safety Patrol

The Gilmor Homes Safety Patrol group is now meeting each Monday at 5 p.m. with its advisor, Mrs. H. B. Smith.

The following are patrol members: Melvin Hopkins, Jackie Robinson, Lawrence McCloud, Waymand Taylor, Lawrence Hopkins, Ronnie Smith, Sterling France, and Joseph Perry.

Also William Tolson, William Holland, Paul Kersey, John Stevenson, Ricardo Ambush, Ronald Locks, and Paul Alexander.

Show Schedule Changed

The magician's show at Gilmor, featuring the original "Black Herman," has been postponed until Nov. 12.

The Golden Age club is presently engaged in making gifts for Christmas. Plans have also been made for a devotional program on Thanksgiving day.

Beginning next week, movies will be shown in the Gilmor Homes Center each Thursday. A matinee costume dance has been scheduled for Wednesday from 4 to 6 p.m.

Balto. sailor on way home escaped explosion on Leyte

A Baltimore sailor, Herbert N. Butcher, of 3215 McTeague st., escaped injury in the explosion which rocked the U.S. Aircraft Carrier, Leyte, last Friday because he was on his way home to his brother's wedding.

Seaman Butcher's brother, Leonard Butcher, was married here Friday night to the former Miss Mildred Newey.

The lucky sailor who has three other brothers and three sisters is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Butcher of the McTeague st. address.

Thirty-six naval and civilian workers were killed in the ship explosion. Thirty were injured.

Civil Defense signs half-way installed

The new Civil Defense highway signs which are to be placed intermittently along all Civil Defense highways in Baltimore city are approximately fifty percent installed, according to Colonel Frank Milani, director of Civil Defense.

Exactly 533 out of 1,000 signs have not been placed.

The installations are practically complete on designated streets north of North avenue: some of the principal streets marked thus far being: Belvedere avenue, Reisterstown rd., Pimlico rd., Falls rd., Roland ave., Charles st., York rd., Loch Raven blvd., Belair rd., Cold Spring Lane, Hilton st., Hartford rd., North ave. and Liberty Heights ave.

YM membership drive a success

The Druid Hill YMCA completed its annual "Enrollment Campaign." The "100th Anniversary Year" was also a banner year for the branch.

The campaign closed with a total of 1,357 members and an amount in cash in excess of anything heretofore raised.

The success of the membership enrollment, according to YMCA officials, was due to top leadership and a host of loyal workers.

The 10 highest producing campaign workers were:

Dr. Louis E. Harmon, Truly Hatchett, Wilbur G. Valentine, Frank J. Ellis, the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, William K. Clarke, Harold J. Jennifer, George Lee, James G. Dashiell, and Mrs. Myrtle Cole.

NAPE officials study postal developments

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Two officials of the National Alliance of Postal Employees, Stanley Burrell, Chicago, and Harold Thomas, were visitors here last week.

Their purpose was to get a close-up of the recently re-organized Bureau of Postal transportation and its promotional policies.

Policewomen's jobs vacant

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced a new examination for policewoman positions in the Woman's Bureau of the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington, D.C. The salary is $3,900 a year.

Appropriate college study or experience which has shown a familiarity with methods used in solving personal adjustment problems and with the causes and treatment of delinquency, is required.

A written test will be given. Applicants must be in excellent physical condition.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Commission's Examiner in Charge, Charles S. Fleming, located at Post Office, Baltimore 2, Md., or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until further notice.

Pair held in bail on burglary counts

Charles E. Cooper, 20, 1100 block N. Gilmor st. was ordered held for the grand jury in $1,000 bail Thursday in Northwestern police court on charges of burlarizing an apartment in the 500 block of Biddle st. Oct. 19.

A radio and a pair of men's shoes were taken, police said.

Theodore Wave, 24, 900 block Argyle ave., was also placed in $500 bail on a charge of receiving stolen goods. Ware allegedly bought the shoes from Cooper.
