SMATHERS WARNS IKE

WASHINGTON (CNS)— Florida's Sen. George A. Smathers issued a warning to President Eisenhower that he would risk losing southern Democratic support if Republicans tried to pass civil rights legislation next year when congress convenes.

city and by representatives of the Mt. Royal Association, 12 persons spoke in favor of the armory location.

Primarily concerned with the problems of relocating tenants and the small businessmen, four persons representing various organizations in the area, spoke as opponents.

Mr. Hughes spoke on behalf of property owners in the fringe area and for the NAACP.

He said:

"There has been talk about the facility and ease with which people can be relocated. That is not a fact. The colored resident is just about becoming a displaced person in Baltimore.

"The Urban League made a survey of some 55 families among the 192 who were displaced in the Waverly project. The ratio was 2/3 colored and 1/3 white.

"The survey showed that the average payment by the city to colored families for their homes was $3,726; to white, $4,180.25.

"The average cost to colored families for repurchasing was $7,836.64; for white, $6,128.25. This difference borne by the colored population is attributable to contributions in Baltimore.

Cities High Prices

"You propose to displace 1,000 family now. Where are they to go? If the city pays them adequate prices, the amount is not a drop in the bucket for new housing at today's skyrocketing prices.

"Other areas, at in present in better condition, will face an influx of these residents, creating more overcrowding. It might clean one slum area to create another.

"If you want to create a buffer community, you cannot stop arbitrarily at Dolphin st., go at least as far up as McMechen st. The state center might well be established on Mt. Royal Terrace without so much difficulty in relocating.

"You talk about building a 17-story apartment house and some new 3-story walk-up apartments. How can you justify tearing down the existing 3-story walk-up apartments at great expense to build more 3-story walkups?

Can't Move Back

"We know that when the project is completed, the people who have been dislocated will not be allowed to move back into the new apartments.

"Property owners are being unjustly and unconstitutionally discriminated against.

"Why is it that Eutaw Place Baptist church will be spared by the project, but Trinity AME and the old Enon Baptist buildings must go?

"The apartment house my mother owns has to go, but the Cecil Apartments and Hampton Courts can remain. Laundries and other substantial, though small businesses, must go, but Western Maryland dairy can remain.

Why Not Take All

"If it is necessary for the state to have this particular area, then take everything in it. Take it all. If the area is to be taken over under the guise of its being a blighted area, then stop only where the blight stops."

Mr. Hughes contended that the Mt. Royal association would do well to clean up its own "back yard."

He pointed out that the association argues now that the armory section is a "slum area," the exact opposite position it took four years ago when arguing in support of restrictive covenants.

"We're not opposed to slum clearance as a general principle, but where vast numbers of people must be displaced, we must consider the human elements and the moral issues," he pointed out.

Support Mr. Hughes

Taking the same tack on behalf of the property owners, corner merchants and other small businessmen were Saul H. Brotman, attorney; Bernard M. Savage, and Daniel K. Broyles.

Mr. Brotman said, "This involves the wholesale eviction of families who are ineligible for low rent housing, but cannot afford to pay high rents. They are caught right in a squeeze play."

Speaking for the armory development were Charles C. W. Atwater, attorney and president of the Mt. Royal Association; and Pleasant L. Conquest, president of the Residential Protective Association, both organizations having white members only.

Mr. Atwater said, "As residents of the area immediately to the north of the armory site, we feel that that location for the state center will be beneficial in improving the entire area.

Lawyers' Convenience

"It will co-ordinate the state agencies, activities, be convenient to lawyers downtown and also serve a slum clearance purpose."

Mr. Conquest said, "We are trying to restore our community and this project is the key to this community development.

"We do not desire to discriminate against anybody who wants to return to this area. We would work hard to see that they got back in the area they now occupy, but in better homes. The rights of the people now living in this section certainly must be respected."

Near Bus Stations

Other speakers maintained that the armory site is the best choice for the state center because of its proximity to bus and railroad stations, the downtown business and entertainment district and that it would do away with the present ghetto condition.

They included Philip R. Sachs of the Citizens Planning and Housing Association; Joseph Claudice, secretary, Association of Commerce; Harry M. Berman, representing Charles st. and Mt. Royal ave. property owners; and Miss Medora Donahue, the Women Democrats, Inc. of the 3rd and 4th Districts.

Also supporting the armory site were A. Gordon Boone and Jerome Robinson, members of the State Legislature who expressed resentment that site changes were considered without informing the Legislative Council in compliance with a resolution adopted by the House Ways and Means Committee which had approved a $10,000,000 bond authorization for the state.

Clark S. Hobbs, Redevelopment Commission chairman, pointed out that in asking the cooperation of this agency, the State had said it wanted the armory site whether or not the federal funds were forthcoming.

Now the state is backing down because it has no indication of exactly how much in Federal money will be granted.

Formal application for the federal assistance was made on Oct. 22 and an answer is expected on Nov. 27, "speedy action when you consider that we're dealing with the federal government," according to Mr. Hobbs.

Mr. Hobbs and Richard L. Steiner, commissioner director, reviewed the months of work which had been put in on behalf of the armory project and revealed that the city has no other redevelopment plans for this specific area.

The state's position was explained by Mr. Smith, Robert O. Bonnell, head of the state office building committee, and Albert B. Blackhaus, chief building engineer in he department of public improvements.

The council committee which heard the pro and con arguments is expected to vote on the resolution on Monday.

Councilman Ambrose Kennedy, chairman, presided. Other committee members are James J. Duffy, Maxwell Alpert, Frank J. Flynn, William Hundnet, John J. McMenamen and C. Lyman Schueler.

WINS NAACP AWARD—Raymond A. C. Young, welfare director of the Baltimore Branch, National Alliance of Postal Employees, receives gold trophy from Miss Mildred Bond, director of the 1953 membership campaign of the Baltimore NAACP. Mr. Young was engineer of the Northwestern campaign division which secured 3,165 new members at $2,722.50, the largest number reported by a single division.

—Officer Glass

Northern district and remained there until his suspension, Oct. 13.

His Record

AFRO files show the following record of Patrolman Glass:

In February 1950, Glass fired at a stolen automobile and killed Elonzo Adams, 23, a backseat passenger who was shot in the back of the head. Glass declared he was shooting at the tires and was exonerated.

In October, 1950, the same officer shot and killed James Hargrove, 27, as the man was running from a gambling game in the 500 block Oxford st. In this case Glass pleaded self-defense.

April 28, 1950, Henry Wellington, 17, was shot twice after he allegedly broke a window in a Pennsylvania ave. store.

In 1949, Glass fired four shots at a 32-year-old man who, he stated, kicked him in the stomach and threatened him with a pistol.

In August, 1950, Glass exchanged shots with 23-year-old James Banks, and felled the man with a bullet in the leg. In this case Glass boasted, "I am an expert marksman."

August 4, 1949, Joseph Ridley, 50 block W. Biddle st., complained that he and two friends were approached by the patrolman at 2 a.m. and that he asked where they lived and where they were going.

Struck In Eye

Dissatisfied with Ridley's answer the officer struck him in the eye. No charges were placed against Mr. Ridley.

October, 1949, Mrs. Elva Prann, 1500 block N. Fulton ave., reported that she saw four officers beating a man at Fulton ave. and Baker st. and was placed in the patrol wagon when she exclaimed "isn't that terrible."

April, 1950, Charles Phillips, 1100 block Pennsylvania ave. was walking in the 1100 block Shields place when three officers rode up in a car and inquired, "N—r, what are you doing on my beat?" Phillips ended with a cut lip, loosened teeth and injured hands, he said.

In police court the officer said a jitterbug had jumped on Phillips and he had brought the man in for safe-keeping. He asked the magistrate to dismiss the case.

December, 1910, NAACP complaints filed against Glass, a month after his second killing, that of Hargrove, prompted a grand jury probe of police brutality.

Shoots At Car

Shortly after he was transferred from the Northwestern district to the Northwestern Annex, in 1950, Glass fired at a car which contained two white youths, later charged with car larceny.

July, 1952, Glass was involved in an assault case, but this time received injuries which sent him to Mercy hospital with multiple body bruises. The incident happened in the 800 block St. Dunstans rd., when the officer tried to quell a domestic squabble between Karl Ingebrigtsen and his wife.

September, 1951, accused by Jeff Royster and Miss Lillian Pulliam of accepting $10 bribe to avoid their arrest for parking in restricted zone in Gwynns Falls park. Charges were confirmed by park police but no action taken by Commissioner Oder.

Shortly after this incident, he was transferred to the Northern district.

knew nothing of the charges and denied that he had been arrested.

A check of police records, however, corroborated the arrest.

Dr. Wade later issued the following statement:

"I was arrested by Baltimore County authorities on narcotics charges. I am innocent of the charges and in due time my name will be cleared.

"I can only ask that my friends and acquaintances stand by me at this time."

Dr. Wade has resided in Turner Station for eight years, and has built an extensive practice in the area.

It is reported that the physician is suffering from a serious illness which makes him deathly ill at times. He is reported to have told friends he feared surgery because of the small chance of recovery. Dr. Wade himself told the AFRO he was confined to a hospital for two months, January and February of this year.

A colleague, Dr. Eugene Byrd, Turner Station dentist, told the AFRO that the accused physician is "a swell person. I hope everyone will withhold judgment until all the facts are in.

"Dr. Wade has done more than his share for the community." Dr. Byrd added.

Dr. Byrd is president of the Turner Station Progressive Association, which was formed in his office in 1946. Dr. Wade was one of the original organizers. The community group serves as a watchdog for the area and concerns itself with improved lighting facilities, better police protection, and sanitation facilities.

Aided YMCA Fund

Dr. Wade was also in the small group which united to conduct a campaign to erect a $7,000 building in Turner Station in 1948. This building houses the Turner Station YMCA, and was completely paid for in June, 1953.

In 1951, 1952 the organization experienced difficulty in meeting mortgage notes on the building. Dr. Wade was among five persons in Turner Station who used personal funds to keep the building from going on the auctioneer's block.

He was also among a group of Turner Station residents who appeared as a delegation before the Baltimore YMCA Board to request "Y" facilities for the area. This resulted in the founding of the Turner Station YMCA.

The Rev. William Jeffries said Turner Station is very much distressed because of charges filed against Dr. Wade.

"He is one of the leading physicians and citizens in our community, Rev. Jeffries said.

"Our community knows him as a good man, a dependable physician, and one who is never too busy to accommodate his patients."

Dr. Wade is a graduate of Howard University, and Meharry Medical school. He interned at the Homer Phillips Hospital, St. Louis.

He is married to the former Miss Lucille Patterson, who resigned as Morgan College physical education instructor in February of this year. They have two children, a boy eight, and a girl, three years old.

some shoes for his expectant wife.

Finding the store crowded, he left, he said, and returned during the afternoon. The fireman stated he purchased the shoes and stepped at another counter to look at children's clothing.

Surprised At Charge

Mr. Taylor said that it was quite possible that he brushed against a woman to examine the article, because the counters were crowded, but it was not intentional.

The fireman said that he was surprised when a lady store detective asked him to accompany her to a third floor where he was questioned.

Mr. Taylor stated that Miss Steele told the detective, when she was first questioned, that she had not noticed anything unusual.

He asserted that the whole thing was pressed by one of the store detectives who insisted that Miss Steele prosecute the case.

Under $500 Bond

The AFRO learned that Miss Steele, an employee of the department store, was on lunch hour when the incident occurred.

Judge Edward A. Beard set a jury trial for the case for December 9 and released Mr. Taylor under $500 bond.

Fire Chief Millard H. Sutton suspended the fireman after the charge was filed.

Mr. Taylor said the fire chief informed him that such a practice was automatic when a fireman was involved in a criminal procedure.

George E. C. Hayes is representing the fireman.

snatched a piece of metal spring from his cell bed and picked the lock on his door. When in his cell at Northwestern Wednesday he tried the same ruse with a piece of cloth.

In making his escape from Pine Street, the boy crawled through a ventilator in the women's rest room to the roof.

"Houdini" met his waterloo three days later when Ptl. John Gardner found him riding a motor scooter on Linden ave. In his pocket the officer found nine dollars.

"Easy To Open"

While at Northwestern the youth showed nothing but contempt for his cell when he told an officer, "these locks are easy to open."

The first person to visit him Thursday morning was his mother. "Worried sick because my boy is in trouble," she wanted to know if he was well taken care of.

A tall, slender, partially blind woman, she was told that her son was well. While talking with an officer she said, "that boy needs a whipping."

In unison most of the people within the room agreed. Others voiced an opinion that she had waited a "little too late." At least three charges of burglary have been filed against the teenager.

client, Miss Daniels.

Turpin, who claimed that "domestic troubles" caused him to lose a middleweight title fight with Bobo Olson two weeks ago, was arrested on Monday and charged with assault in a complaint by Miss Daniels, which alleged that the fighter had entered her apartment at 750 Riverside drive on Oct. 26 and beat and kicked her.

Turpin had no statement to make as he boarded the boat with his party of eight, but spokesman for the International Boxing Club said "Turpin admits nothing. The man is innocent."
