MADE TRIP IN VAIN—This group of property owners and tenants from the 15-acre site near the 5th Regiment Armory went by bus last Thursday to a City Council committee hearing to protest the use of the section for a new State office building center. Their trip proved in vain when on Monday the Council unanimously voted to support those who want the office center built in that area. Nine hundred fifty colored families face eviction if center is erected there.

Christmas seals go on sale Monday in TB drive

The joyful face of a singing child, wearing red mittens and an old-fashioned stocking cap and holding an open book of carols, will adorn this year's Christmas Seals, which go on sale Monday, Nov. 16, when the Maryland Tuberculosis Association opens its 1953 Christmas Seal Sale.

In a preview of this year's seal at Christmas Seal headquarters (900 St. Paul st.), Dr. Russell A. Nelson, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, recalled the 1,500-year-old tradition of singing associated with the Christmas season.

Carol singers, or "waits," as they are called in England, come to your door, bundled against the cold in overcoats, knitted mittens, mufflers and caps, "bringing Christmas!"

"Almost literally," Dr. Nelson said. "This year's Christmas Seals the same thing. They will help bring Christmas to all who purchase them."

On Sale November 16

Baltimoreans will get their first glimpse of the 1953 Christmas Seals on Nov. 16 when thousands of city residents receive their seals in the mail.

All who receive them will be urged to share in the fight against tuberculosis by buying the seals sent them. They will be urged to use them on all holiday mail to evidence their contribution to a crusade against tuberculosis which began nearly 50 years ago.

This will be the 47th Annual Christmas Seal Sale conducted in this country since the first campaign was conducted in 1907 by Miss Emily P. Bissell in Wilmington, Del., to raise funds to care for tubercular children.

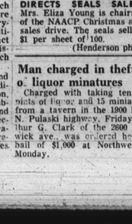
While tremendous progress has been made against tuberculosis since that time, Dr. Nelson pointed out that tuberculosis is still our greatest infectious disease killer, taking the lives of 30,000 Americans each year or one every 17 minutes. In addition, 115,000 new cases develop each year.

437 Deaths—1952

Dr. Nelson cited figures which show that in 1952 there were 437 deaths from TB in Maryland, of which 416 were Baltimoreans. Add to this the fact that 2,682 new cases were discovered in Maryland, of which 1,493 were from Baltimore.

The program of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association is directed toward the prevention, detection and treatment of tuberculosis, through its year-round program of tuberculosis detection; medical research, education and information, and rehabilitation and social services to tubercular patients.

RED CROSS FAVORS—Mrs. Mildred F. Wehrle, art specialist of the Baltimore City Department of Education, demonstrates to Miss Rosalie Sachs of School No. 42 and Miss Dorothy Stem of School No. 146 on the front row and Miss Carol Taylor of School No. 136 and Mrs. Edith A. Myers, secondary school supervisor, some fine points on making attractive Junior Red Cross favors. This workshop was held at the Baltimore Chapter Junior Red Cross Teacher Sponsor Workshop Supper, at St. Mark's Methodist church.



DIRECTS SEALS SALES—Mrs. Eliza Young is chairman of the NAACP Christmas seals sales drive. The seals sell for $1 per sheet of 100.
