award, were elected as delegates to the 1953 boule to be held in St. Louis, Mo., December 26-30.

Flossie Dedmond was elected as an alternate delegate.

Vivian Cook, chairman of the history committee, gave an explanation of the planned AKA scrapbook, which will contain articles, clippings and records of outstanding events of the sorority's past and present activities.

Dorothy Booze gave a report of the activities of the American Council On Human Rights. Ruby Walker gave tenative plans for the sorority's annual Founders' Day celebration, which will feature a week of activities to be culminated with a worship service, a radio and television program, and a buffet supper.

Visitors at the meeting included Sorors Frances Drive of California, who is visiting Prudence Burrell; and Constance Woody of Brooklyn, N.Y., an interne in psychology at Crownsville State hospital.

A feature of the social hour was a travelogue, "Europe In Miniature," which took the sorors to England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France, as Sorors Rosalyn and Elizabeth Allen relived experiences from their recent vacation in Europe.

Soror Mary Young read birthday greetings to the following sorors born during the months of October and November: Beatrice Meyers, Elizabeth Carr, Rosalyn Allen, Mabel Frisby, Jean Batts, Bonnie Peasant, Margaret Land, Mary Adams, Constantia Jackson and Sarah Sampson.

Sorors welcomed back to the sorority included Elizabeth Carr, Wilhelmenia Garner and Gladys Reid.

Hostess for the November meeting were Margaret Buck, Prudence Burrell, Rachel Carroll, Florence Carroll, Gloria Carpenter, Leona J. Carpenter, Alice H. Coleman, Ida Collick, Vivian Cook, Beatrice Butler and Flozella Clarke.

Zetas Meet Dr. Partridge

Dr. Deborah Partridge, a member of the New York chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority, who came to Baltimore to be the guest speaker at the Women's Day at Grace Presbyterian church on Sunday, was feted by the members of Alpha Zeta chapter on Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Taylor.

Dr. Patridge whose home is in Cranford, N.J., is teaching at Queens college in New York and is a visiting lecturer at New York university and the University of Michigan. For many years she taught at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

Zetas who came to meet Dr. Patridge were:

Magdalene Rice, Esther Johnson, Katharine Johnson, Althea Cornish, Beatrice Hall, Ethel Payne, Mary W. Fortune, Thelma Ashe, Lillie Ross, Evelyn Jefferson, Hazel Phillips, Cornelia Miller, Camille Vaughn, Jane Fields, Catherine Banks, Bandelle Bicase, Elizabeth Demby, Beatrice Pitts, Mary Taylor and Beatrice A. Mayo; and Archon Anna Means. A tray was presented to Dr. Patridge by Mrs. May W. Fortune, basileus of the chapter.

MISS PURVIANCE FETED

Visual evidence of the esteem and affection with which colleagues and friends regard her personality, and achievements was the beautiful dinner given by Alpha Zeta chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority in honor of Miss Florence Purviance, retired art specialist in the Baltimore City school system.

Alpha Zeta chapter, of which Miss Purviance is a long time member, gathered at Memorial Refectory at Morgan State college on Sunday, and amid what may truly be termed "A feast of wit and flow of reason" assured the honoree that although her formal work in education has been completed, her work and accomplishments will live on in the lives and careers of the hundreds of young people whom she has helped and with whom she has been associated.

Florence Purviance is a Baltimorean, a product of its public schools, and although she diligently perfected her education in schools of higher training, it is significant that she returned to the scenes of her childhood training and triumphs, and over a span of forty-nine years in the teaching profession, demonstrated that a "home town girl can make good."

One of the highlights of the dinner was the presentation to the honoree of a beautiful engraved tray with matching tumblers presented by Mrs. May W. Fortune, basileus of the chapter.

Speaking with laughter that was almost tears, Miss Purviance expressed her gratitude to her sorority sisters and attributed to their loyal friendship and constant support much of such success as may have attended her work over the past years. She outlined briefly her plans for the future and assured the gathering that while she had stopped, she was by no means through.

Mesdames Alice Hall and Geraldine Powell rendered musical selections, while Miss Ethel Thompson gave highlights and achievements of the life of the honoree. Miss Lillie Ross served as toastmistress and Miss Beatrice A. Mayo served as chairman of the committee for the affair.

Present to greet the honoree were:

There's no getting around it but turkey and ham are the most popular meats for holiday entertaining.

For a buffet supper we like to serve thin slices of both meats, and to go with it a big casserole of piping hot baked California dry limas. Not only are the limas hearty and delicious but they are an inexpensive food to balance off the more expensive things on the menu. To give the limas a holiday garnish, just before serving top the casserole with stars cut from slices of canned cranberry jelly.

Filled cookies are great holiday favorites, and one of the best . testing fillings for them is a honey - coconut combination. Combine ½ cup each sugar and water with 1/3 cup honey, 3 cups shredded coconut and pinch of salt. Cook about 10 minutes and mix in 1 tablespoon butter and ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Rich moist fruit cakes, lavish with walnuts, almonds, candied fruits, raisins and dried fruits, should be enjoyed throughout the entire holiday season. Serve it in a variety of ways. Cut thick fingers of fruit cake to pass with eggnog, wine or hot whole fruit nectar. Cut inch-squares to coat with dipping chocolate and serve as a confection.

A holiday dinner just wouldn't be complete without a bowl of pickled peaches. Treat them this easy way by starting with a can of cling peach halves. Then add whole spice and vinegar, and heat them in their own syrup. In less than 10 minutes they're ready to serve or to store in the refrigerator for serving at a later date.

For Chafing Dish

Serve favorful curried turkey in a chafing dish for one of your fireside suppers during the holidays. It's an excellent way to use left-over turkey.

Make the sauce for it with a can of condensed cream of chicken soup thinned down with a small amount of milk and seasoned with a tablespoon of curry powder. Pass the condiments — salted almonds, shredded coconut, raisins, chopped hard-cooked egg, chutney, chopped green onion and crumbled cooked bacon—in a lazy susan.

Here's something a little different to do with acorn squash for your holiday menus. Cut the squash into circles about an inch thick. Remove seeds and pulp but leave on the rind. Arrange on a greased baking sheet. Drizzle with honey and sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake in a hot oven. About 15 minutes before removing from oven sprinkle with chopped walnuts.

Tempt your buffet party guests with a hearty salad of cooked California large dry limas, diced cooked ham, crisp sliced celery and chunks of flavorful ripe olives. A mayonnaise dressing accented with a bit of mustard and grated onion is perfect for this salad. Serve it in a large pottery bowl —add decorate the top with rows of chopped parsley and pimiento.

For a quick pick-up during the rush of holiday shopping and preparations try a glass of flavorful apricot whole fruit nectar and a cooky or two. Keep a can of the nectar in the refrigerator so it will be refreshingly cool.

Potato Treat

We like to fix our candied sweet potatoes this way. Arrange a layer of thick slices of cooked sweet potatoes in a greased baking dish. Cover with a layer of cooked dried apricots or prunes.

Sprinkle generously with brown sugar. Repeat layers. Sprinkle with a little grated orange rind and a blend of half melted butter and half-cooking liquid from the fruit. Bake in a moderately hot oven about 45 minutes. Top with chunks of walnuts 5 minutes before removing from oven.

Another interesting way to fix sweet potatoes is to mash them and season with butter and orange juice. Stir in some plump seedless raisins and stuff the potato mixture into hollowed out orange shells. Press a marshmallow into the top of each and bake in a moderate oven to brown the marshmallow and heat the potato puffs.

An eye-catching salad for any festive meal is a jellied cranberry ring filled with canned cling peach halves. Make the cranberry ring with fresh cranberries.

A traditional salad for holiday menus is grapefruit and avocado. We like to use pink grapefruit sections for it and arrange them on individual glass salad plates with alternating slices of delicate green Calavo avocado. Garnish with greens and sprinkle with a few colorful pomegranate seeds.

Serve with a lemon and honey French dressing. The same combination makes a delightful appetizer courtesy too. Arrange the fruits in pretty sherbet glasses, and serve ice cold with the same dressing.

Gnocchi

Baked gnocchi, a specialty of the Italian cuisine, adds a pleasing romantiness to Fall menus when served with appropriate accompaniments.

Boon companion of the meal ball and a lusty mushroom sauce, it is ideal to serve the hungry board that gathers at your house after the football game.

Gnocchi can also be served dumpling style; but we consider it more versatile when baked. For instance serve the latter style for brunch with little sausages and jam. For lunch, it would be tasteful with a meat or vegetable sauce and a salad.

Baked Gnocchi

2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cream farina
3 tablespoons Nucoa margarine
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 egg, well beaten

Scald milk with salt. Add farina slowly, stirring constantly. Cook 10 minutes, stirring almost constantly. Add 1 tablespoon Nucoa and half of grated cheese. Remove from heat and beat in egg vigorously. Roll dough out on a floured board. Allow to cool slightly then refrigerate 30 minutes or let stand at room temperature for two or three hours.

In a greased baking dish arrange a layer of gnocchi, sprinkle with grated cheese, dot with Nucoa and cut with a sharp knife into triangles or squares. Repeat layer until all the gnocchi is used. Bake in a very hot oven 450 degrees (F.) for 20-25 minutes. Serve hot with a tomato- meat or mushroom sauce. Serves 6.

Tomato Mushroom Sauce

1 can tomato soup, undiluted
1 small can mushrooms and juice
¼ teaspoon finely minced onion
Pinch of sugar
Pinch of salt
2 tablespoons Hellmann's or Best Foods Real Mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients but real mayonnaise and heat 5 minutes. Pour some of hot liquid into mayonnaise and ing hot sauce and heat 1 minute. Yield: about 2 cups.

outstanding professional golfer, pauses between rounds to refresh with ice-cold Coca-Cola.
One of the most important elements of a good golf game is timing. A champion knows instinctively when to put on the pressure, and when to relax and ease up.
The same thing is true in everyday living. There are times for pressure, and times for relaxation. One of the best ways to take the pressure off . . . is to enjoy the pause that refreshes with delicious, ice-cold Coca-Cola. Make sure you have an ample supply of Coke—always on hand at home. By the case—by the carton—buy Coca-Cola for refreshment.
